On Wednesday, evening when going to a fire in the south end, the fire team attached to the hose wagon was driven over a number of barrels, boxes and such like obstructions just below Charlotte on George street. The escape of the men was nothing short of miraculous. This should have proved a warning to the contractors, but such apparently was not the case, as there was no light placed there last evening.

A DANGER ON GEORGE STREET.

The Open Areas Should be Protected by Gratings at Once.

Great danger exists in the fact that a number of the areas on George street have not yet been protected by gratings, and the result may be a suit for damages against the town at any time.

Last evening the Chief of Police had to assist a little girl out of one of these traps, into which she had fallen. Fortunately no bones were broken, but with a heavier person the result might have been different. Dozens of these areas are only covered with a few loose boards at present, and at night particularly the danger cannot be over-estimated.

The specifications call for the contractor to place the gratings in position, but the gratings must be furnished by the property owners.

PROHIBITION MASS MEETING.

A Meeting Under Independent Auspices in the Opera House To night.

A third party is as possible in relation to the prohibition plebiscite as in relation to politics. This is shown by the fact that a meeting to discuss the forthcoming plebiscite from an independent point of view is to be held in the Opera House to night.

This seems to be the ideal sort of meeting for arriving at the truth, which should be the aim of both parties. A meeting held either in the interests of prohibition or contrary to, these interests is pretty sure to be very largely composed of sympathisers of the respective sides. Therefore nobody is convinced, for the auditors hear only what they desire to hear, The other side of the question is not presented.

At the meeting to-night ample opportunity will be presented and in order that as many opinions as possible may be presented, the remarks of a speaker in the general discussion will be limited to ten minutes. This will give all who desire the opportunity to deliver their minds upon the subject either for or against.

The meeting begins at the usual hour. The general public is cordially invited.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1898.

A PETERBOROUGH BOY OUT IN THE YUKON.

THE PARTY IS CAMPED ON THE OTHER SIDE OF GLENORA,

The Distances are Underestimated in the Reports, and Consequently Many Run Short of Food.

GLENORA, B.C., Sept. 3, 1898.

DEAR MOTHER,—We are now camped half-way betwen Telegraph Creek and Glenora, on the north side of the Stickeen River, both very small places. Regular stayers are just a few white men and the rest Indians. There are quite a number of tents—about 200; but perhaps in a few days there will not be half so many, as they are a moving population. I may say that we are all in the very best of health. I have gained in weight and now weigh as much as I ever weighed at home in the winter. We came out here expecting hardships, and we have got them. The distance between Ashcroft and Teslin Lake is advertised as 940 miles. We have travelled 1,054 miles already and it is 200 miles more to Teslin Lake. The trail is only a narrow path, through dense forests, over mountains and through swamps, and in many places not wide enough for two pack trains to pass one another. Nothing but mud and bog-holes all the way, and strange to say, the worst are sometimes on the tops of the mountains. There have been about 2,000 pack horses, mules and jacks on the trail, of which about 70 per cent. have been lost. The Benley & Mills syndicate, of Montreal, started with 58 horses and have now 22 left. We started with eleven and have five left. We have walked all the way from Ashcroft; every step through mud, creeks and everything else. Sometimes we would hang on to the horses' tails in crossing a stream for fear of being carried off our feet. The bogs are something awful. The horses would sometimes get into them and could not get out. We would have to take the packs off and drag them out by force; pack them again and move on. Sometimes they would be so weak that we would have to shoot them. There was a place for 30 or 40 miles where there was no feed for them except moss and a few ferns; that was through dense forests. A great many horses were poisoned by some kind of weed. Grease and salt will cure them if given in time. A Sir Arthur Curtis, one of a party of Englishmen, was lost at Mud river and never found. They found tracks of him as though he had been running, and bear tracks also; but if the bear did not get him the flies would. They were something fierce. They almost ate me up for a while, but they are scarce now. They started with 28 horses and while hunting for the man lost all but four. There was another party who undertook to go down the Buckley river in a boat to Hazleton so as to ease their horses, but the boat upset and they lost half their cargo. We got to Hazleton July 7th. It is a small place, just the Hudson Bay store and another small store, and a few Indians. The Indians have totem poles in front of their houses. You have seen them in Stanley's book. Their graveyard is very pretty. They have little houses built, glass in some, painted in bright colours. Some have blankets, pistols, clothes and other things. We crossed the Sheena river 7 miles above Hazleton, where there is another ranchree. The Indians here are more civilized than any we have passed. The Rev. Mr. Cole, the missionery here, has got quite a number converted They have the belief that there is a future home awaiting them, which I am glad to say there is if they do what is right. Then came more hardships; first 40 miles of good feed and then about 70 miles with very little except moss, but mud to the knees and sometimes worse. The poor horses were left standing in the mud with their packs on, we could not get them out and had no other horses to carry their packs. We then reached Ground Hog mountains, that is where we crossed our first snow, but we have had snow on all sides for four or five hundred miles. This is where things began to look rough, provisions were getting scarce. We provided for 275 miles, but it was advertised as only 230 and when we got through we made it 435 miles, so you can imagine the state of hundreds of gold seekers, nothing to eat and no place to buy it. We had guns which did good work. We killed ground hogs and eat them, honey sweet, and every body else did the same. Some killed Caribou and shared it with the rest. Our assortment all through was dried beef, partridge, ground hog, caribou, bear and horse meat, so you see all the horses did not go to waste. We have been travelling 300 miles with a Chicago party, a nice lot of fellows. One started to worry a little. He thought he was not travelling as fast as the others around him. I think he threatened to do away with himself, so we travelled together so as to help him. We reached here alright, but shortly after he got one of the boy's pistols and blew out his brains. There was another fellow hung himself in Glenora and one drowned in the river, Mr. Pringle was at our tent to-day (Sunday.) We sang a few hymns and had prayer. He is a nice fellow, and said he would be around to-morrow. Four women recently came over the trail, two from Idaho, one from the West and one from Chilloten. A halfbreed met one that had just come from Teslin Lake. I was talking to her. I learned since that she was married, and the next day started over the ice to Wrangle and then to Teslin. Well, mother, we are all in good health, and will winter perhaps at Wrangle or some place where there will be something doing. We are determined to make something, never fear. I will do what I think is best, and take good care of myself. The boat pulls out very slowly in the morning. I have to walk six miles to post this letter, but that is as nothing. I hope you are all in good health. I am not at all discouraged. I believe that if I put my trust in God, all will turn out for the best, and if you do not here from me for some time, do not worry yourself.

From your loving son,
W. T. EDMONDSON.

CRESSMAN'S FINE NEW STORE

A GREAT DISPLAY OF DRYGOODS, MILLINERY AND MANTLES.

A New Firm with Nothing But New Goods on the Shelves—Large Numbers of Ladies Attend.

Cressman's big George street drygoods, millinery and mantle emporium was opened to the public last evening and for hours the spacious store was tenanted with ladies, who all seemed most favourably impressed by the magnificent display which was made. From cellar to garret everything is brand new, and this fact had its due weight with the ladies, as was evidenced by the business which was done on the first evening. Being a new business, everything on the shelves had necessarily to be new, too, and naturally the latest designs only were shown in every fabric. From top to bottom the premises are splendidly illuminated with electric light, and the handsome fixtures and prettily-coloured shades add much to the general effect of the richness which is prevalent. The experience of many years in business could alone enable Mr. Cressman to open business in Peterborough with so varied and complete a stock.

In the cellar are stored away heaps upon heaps of white and grey cottons and sheetings, and through the purchase of such an enormous quantity the proprietor was placed in a position to buy direct from the mills, thus saving to his customers the middleman's profit.

THE FIRST FLOOR.

The office has been moved from its former location in the rear to a central position in the store, from which Mr. Cressman can overlook the entire ground floor, and where the latest American cash carrier will be attended to by the cashier. The roomy apartment formerly utilized as an office has been transformed into a housefurnishings department, and a fine display is made of tapestry and lace curtains, quilts and comforters. The rear half of the store is reserved for dress goods, silks and trimmings, which are imported direct. A specialty is being made of Priestly's celebrated dress goods, and a full line will always be kept in stock, the new designs being received as soon as they come off the looms. Having so complete an assortment of these rich fabrics should prove a strong drawing card. The front half of the store, on the south side, is devoted to staples, and on the north side are the small wares.

THE SECOND FLOOR.

On the second story exists the attraction which drew out so many last evening in spite of the inclement weather—the millinery and mantles. Miss Stevens, of London, who has a wide experience in American and Canadian millinery rooms, especially the former, is in charge of a bewilderingly beautiful array of the very latest designs in hats and bonnets.

Last evening the millinery rooms looked very attractive, being most tastefully arranged for the occasion and beautified by streamers of delicately shaded muslin stretching from the corners of the room to the centre and looped up to the ceiling. Graceful plumes encircled the electric light globes, and altogether the rooms presented a very taking appearance, which was further increased by such a show of ladies' headgear as would reflect credit on the largest city salesrooms. The "Dewey" sailors are a very fashionable little hat and seem to be the favourites, the "Oregon" also being quite popular.

THE "SURAH" IS

a large black hat rolling at the right side, brought into a sharp point at the front and flat at the back. It is made in blue mirror velvet with black feathers and ospreys. The "Marquis" is made in blue also, and is covered with veiling dotted with large spots and is trimmed with grebes. Another popular hat is the "Napoleon," quite military in appearance, being made in grey with black sequins and black ospreys. The collar and necktie hat is quite striking in blue and white. The "Louis" bonnet is very rich in appearance, being made in purple and black brocaded velvet with long purple and black two-toned feathers on either side. The "Leo" is a black with a fancy crown of black and white, trimmed with a white bird and white tips. A large Spanish hat in pink and black attracts a good deal of attention. It is trimmed with wings and Louis rosettes. Another novelty is a black walking hat with bee-hive rosettes and black wings. The "Crescent" has a mushroom crown. It is a pretty purple hat trimmed with wings and plaid ribbon.

LADIES WRAPS.

Miss Robson, formerly with J. C. Turnbull, is in charge of a most varied array of mantles, wrappers and ladies readymade costumes.

The platform on which the new firm proposes to do business is set forth on the wrapper of every parcel that goes out of the store. The goods have been bought for cash only and will be sold for cash only. Any article that has been purchased and is afterwards found to be unsuitable can be returned and the money will be cheerfully refunded. The proprietor makes a particular request that if any customer is dissatisfied to the smallest extent with any article purchased or with the treatment shown by employees, that he be made acquainted with the facts.

The opening will be continued to-night and to-morrow night.

First Fall.. Millinery Opening.

CHOIR EXCURSION.

George Street Methodist Singers Take a Trip Down the River.

Yesterday afternoon the choir and trustee board of the George street church went down the river on the steamer North Star.

The weather looking unfavourable quite a number did not go, but nevertheless about thirty availed themselves of the last outing of the season, and a very pleasant and enjoyable time was spent.

Returning rather late, it was decided to have choir practice at 7 30 o'clock to-night.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Mark Smith and daughter, of Barret's Terrace, Port Hope, are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Miss Sadie Hyneman, who has been the guest of Miss Ada Stenton, Park street, leaves to-day for her home in Picton.

Mr. John Stenton, who has been visiting his nephews, George and Robert Stenton, of Park street, leaves to-day for his home in Chatham.

A fashionable wedding in St. James Cathedral, Toronto, took place on Wednesday. Miss Smart, daughter of the late David Smart, Port Hope, was united in marriage to Mr. Conrad Marion, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Thomas G. Anderson, who has been in the employ of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, for the past six years, leaves on Saturday for Dundas, where he has been engaged by John Bertram & Sons, tool makers, of that place.

The Globe says: Mr. J. W. T. Fairweather (J. & J. Lugsdin), hatters and furriers, arrived home last evening from New York, where he has been doing the markets. He reports big purchases of high quality latest style American hats, silk and felt. Some specially desirable lines have been hurried along to be in time for the Hunt Club meeting.

WITH A LUNCHEON.

A pleasant affair took place yesterday at at noon, when the large wine and liquor house of Lawrence A. Wilson & Co, was formally opened. Mr. Wilson took this opportunity of inviting all his friends to accept his hospitality and inspect the new premises. Mayor Prefontaine presided at the luncheon and among the two hundred guests present were Mr. C Beausoleil, M.P., Mr. J. H. G. Bergeron, M.P., Hon. James McShane, ex-Ald. Gauthier, Mr. M. R. Davis and Hon. G. A. Nantel. Many pleasing speeches were made, and it is needless to say that Mr. Wilson's reply was to the point, and brought forth rounds of applause. The stock carried by the firm is the largest and best that money could buy. All Europe has been laid under tribute; Spain sends her sherries, Portugal her ports, Holland her gins, Scotland her whiskies, and so on down the list, till all the wines and liquors of the civilized world have been represented. Many feet underground are the vaults, and the inspection showed they were well filled and modern in all particulars. The ground floor, which contains the business offices, is handsome in its decorations and commodious in its arrangement. In the second story are located the labelling and capsuling department, the third and fourth flats are reserved for general stock rooms. There are also three bonded warehouses in the building. Mr. Wilson employs a staff of fifty and his corps of commercial travellers penetrate to all parts of the country ■

All parties favourable to the cause of Prohibition, who can assist in the way of work and furnishing conveyances for polling day will please leave their names and addresses with the Secretary, Water Street, next to Mrs. Appleby's store.

THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.

BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 6 boxes for $2, at Druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

A SHREWD LITTLE GIRL.

She Prompted the Question Which Saved an Old Woman's Life.

Elizabeth Janfield, afterward Lady Falkland, was called an "odd child." Sometimes her father, who was a judge, took her with him to court. On one of these occasions a woman was brought before him on a charge of witchcraft. It was said that she had bewitched two or three persons to death. The frightened creature, when asked if this were so, fell on her knees, and, weeping, confessed that the accusations against her were true.

"Did you bewitch —— to death?" asked the judge.

"Yes," was her reply.

"Did you come in the form of a black cat and breathe on him so that he languished away?"

"I did."

And then the grave judge heard a whisper at his ear, and his little daughter—she was only 10 years old—begged him to ask the woman if she had bewitched John Symondes to death.

The question was put and immediately answered in the affirmative. How had she done it? Then she told one of her former stories, at which all the company laughed. The reason of the merriment was that John Symondes was the judge's brother-in-law and at that moment was standing near him in court. The judge then asked why she had made such a statement.

"Alas, sir, I knew him not," replied the woman. "I said so because you asked me."

"Are you no witch?"

"No; God knows I'm not."

"Nor did you ever see the devil?"

"No, never in all my life."

On further examination she said she had been told that if she did not confess she would be tortured until she did, but that if she admitted all the accusations mercy would be shown her. She was thereupon acquitted, and she owed her release and probably her life to the shrewdness of a little girl.—Youth's Companion.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

An Interrupted Flirtation.

A nearsighted, bashful youth, whose father is a well known commission merchant in Cincinnati, while walking along Fourth street dimly discerned a young lady across the street whose face he could not distinguish, but whose figure was so striking that for a moment his bashfulness vanished. He determined to indulge in a mild flirtation. With mincing step he followed, and when nearly up to her, fortunately for his plans, she dropped her parasol. In a jiffy he picked it up and, raising his hat, was about to present it with a stammering speech, when the young lady exclaimed:

"Why, George, is that you?"

"Ye-yes, Susie. Won't you have some soda?"

She accepted, and this was the first time in many a day George had shown himself so gallant to his sister.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PAY FEES OR SUFFER

TIPS THAT MUST BE GIVEN ON THE BIG OCEAN LINERS.

The Passenger Who Seeks to Evade This System of Mild Blackmailing Has His Life on Board Made Miserable by the Employees of the Steamship.

The fee system is more rigidly enforced on a big passenger steamship than anywhere else. It is one of the places where servants demand their fees and tell you the amount that they think you ought to give them. While the waiters at restaurants and hotels expect fees for their services and will hint and may perhaps make it embarrassing for you if they are not paid they have not gone so far as to tell you that they want a fee and prescribe the amount. Even porters do not do that. They come around, brush your coat and hat and run the whisk over your trousers, but it is seldom that they ask you for any money, let alone a specified amount.

On the passenger steamers the stewards regard their fees as a matter of right as much as the steamship company regards your passage money. It is possible to avoid paying the fees, as they are not collectable by law, but the passenger who does not pay them will have trouble in getting his luggage off the steamer, and it would be well for him to keep off steamers afterward where any of the servants of that boat are employed.

The stewards seem to have some sort of fee guidebook or black list of passengers who do not give fees, so that they can make them suffer on future trips. Certain fees are regularly fixed and expected, irrespective of the cost of the stateroom or the style in which a man travels, while certain other fees depend on the style. For an ordinary passenger there are fees to be given to the stateroom steward, the saloon steward, the deck steward, the smoking room steward and the barber and bath man.

The fee to the steward who looks after your stateroom is about 10 shillings. The steward who waits on you at the table should receive the same fee. The deck steward, for bringing you an occasional drink and looking after your steamer chair and rugs, expects 5 shillings, but he will take half a crown. The smoking room steward expects 5 shillings, and if you are in the smoking room a great part of the trip he feels that he is entitled to as much as the stateroom steward or your waiter. A bath every day on the passage can be had for a 5 shilling fee.

These rates are fixed by long custom. The stewards can tell whether or not a man understands the rates and if he will pay at the end of the trip. If they do not think that he will, they give him hints from time to time until they get some assurance on his part that he recognizes the obligation of the fee system. If they think he will not pay, he will have a hard time of it. He will find that his stateroom is not well made up; that he does not get care when he is seasick; that he is served last at the table and does not get the things that he ordered; that the wrong drinks and cigars come to him in the smoking room, and that his steamer chair is constantly lost. The servants are as effective as seasickness in making a man's trip miserable.

These fees are not to be paid until the last day of the trip. The servants very speedily find out at which place a passenger is to get off. If making his first trip, they are pretty sure to know it. It is advisable for him in that case to tell his stateroom steward and his waiter that he will give them the regular fee at the end of the trip if they serve him properly and that if they do not they will not get a penny. If he tells them this in the proper way, he will get as good service as the man who is well known.

The last morning of the trip the stateroom steward comes round for his fee. If the passenger does not offer it, the steward suggests that it is customary to give him a fee, and that the regular fee is half a sovereign. If anything less is offered him and he thinks he can get a half sovereign by refusing to accept less, he will at once hand the proffered sum back and say in an insolent way that he never takes less than the regular fee.

With many passengers, particularly women, this remark and the tone extract the 10 shillings. The saloon steward does the same thing. The stewards work in with each other, and if a man succeeds in avoiding the statercom steward the saloon steward will ask him for both himself and the stateroom steward. As a man cannot get off the ship until it stops, there is no way of escaping these demands, which will be repeated during the last day of the trip until the passenger succumbs.—New York Home Journal.

The Englishman's Sports.

English officers carry their tools for tennis, polo and golf with them to war as religiously as they carry their swords and pistols. But that is not to be wondered at, since they carry these toys everywhere that they go except to bed. If they go to luncheon at a country house or start on a fishing or shooting trip or for a run on the continent, wherever they go, even upon purely business trips, they are sure to carry their tennis rackets at least, for every Englishman plays tennis, whether he be an admiral on the China station or a general in India, a shopkeeper in a village or a clerk in the city. No man over here is too exalted or important to play tennis once a day as a means of indulging in the open air and exercise, the getting of which is a madness with these people.—London Letter in Providence Journal.

An Appropriate Name.

"What did you say was the name of your horse?"

"What induced you to give the animal such a queer name?"

"Nail is the most appropriate name imaginable. My wife can't drive him."—Montgomery Advertiser.

Plants That Hate One Another.

Fancy two plants being so unfriendly that the mere neighborhood of one is death to the other. Yet this is the case with two well known English plants. These are the thistle and the rape. If a field is infested with thistles which come up year after year and ruin the crops, all you have to do is to sow it with rape. The thistle will be absolutely annihilated.

The common impression that all persons in English upper classes are entitled to coats of arms is erroneous, for there are instances of noble and ancient families who have no right to use hereditary coats of arms and scorn to take a grant at this late day.

There are 890,000 maidservants in London—that is to say, they are nearly equal in number to the whole population in Sheffield.

Why it pays.

Strength in the hidden parts is the keynote of a good shoe.

Without it the shoe can not be comfortable—cannot wear well.

Weak spots cause uneveness under the foot—pain.

When one weak spot wears out, the shoe is done. One piece of poor material—workmanship—spoils the whole shoe.

Uneveness from any cause—weakness, threads, tacks or lumps under the foot—is painful, and the wearer unconciously wears out other parts of the shoe more quickly by exerting extra pressure upon them in the effort to relieve the tender places.

So a shoe to give greatest wear must be comfortable,—Goodyear welted—strong in the hidden parts.

Its economical to wear that kind of a shoe.

The "Slater Shoe" is Goodyear Welted.

It is made by specialists who work on nothing but one kind of men's shoes.

Everybody knows that a workman who does one particular thing all the time does that thing well and quickly.

Every operation in the making of a "Slater Shoe" is performed by men who do nothing but that identical thing.

The "Slater Shoe," a speciality, is therefore better and made with less cost than common shoes made in a factory where all kinds of shoes are made.

The saving in cost is put into quality of material and workmanship.

The materials used in Slater Shoes—the hidden parts as well as those seen—must be the best obtainable, because the makers stamp their name on the soles and guarantee the workmanship and quality and they could not afford to do so if the shoes were not faultless.

Because of these reasons it is economical to wear "Slater Shoes."

Price, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00 stamped on the soles

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & Co., 17 to 27 King St., East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, the policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

A woman's hair is her glory. Like her complexion, much of its beauty depends upon her general health. Nine times in ten a woman's general health is dependent upon her local health in a womanly way.

It is an impossibility for a woman to be pretty or attractive who suffers from general ill-health. The skin, the teeth, the eyes, the hair and the carriage will tell the story when a woman is ailing. It is impossible for a woman to be in good general health when some local trouble is continually nagging at her nerves and disarranging the natural functions of every organ of the body. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for women who suffer from local weakness and disease peculiar to their sex. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned. It makes them strong, healthy, vigorous and elastic. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain, tones and builds up the nerves and banishes the usual discomforts of the expectant months. It makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It enables every organ of the body to perform its natural functions without unnatural interference from a pain-tortured nervous system. It corrects all irregularities. A woman who is made well in this way will recover her natural beauty of form and feature and her natural amiability of character and temper. Thousands of women have testified to its merits. An honest dealer will not urge a substitute for a little extra profit.

Mrs. Rachel Clark, of Houlton, St. Croix Co., Wis., writes: "Iam in good health since I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I gave birth to a 13½ pound boy last June. He is six months old now and weighs 30 pounds."

How to preserve health and beauty are told in Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. It is free. For a paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps. To cover customs and mailing only; cloth binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUSINESS WAS BUSINESS.

How a Paymaster In Our Navy Took a Fall Out of the Bank of England.

The late Paymaster Clark of the United States navy, of Delaware, was attached to one of the ships on the European station during the period of the civil war. It may have been the Kearsarge, but it is not important. She was an armed vessel and had been long at sea and came in for coal, provisions and to give the men a liberty day on shore. To meet these and other expenses it was necessary to have some £8,000 (men are paid in the currency of the country they may be in when on foreign stations) and Paymaster Clark drew sight drafts on the subtreasury of New York through the government agents, J. S. Morgan & Co., bankers, in old Broad street, London. Accompanied by the vice consul, he went to the Plymouth branch of the Bank of England, and, presenting his drafts, asked to have them changed for notes and gold. The bank manager, not content with exercising proper commercial scrutiny, was very nasty and finally said:

"Well, I do not know the subtreasury. I do not know the paper nor you, and I have never had business with the gentleman who is United States vice consul here, so I won't cash your drafts. You say J. S. Morgan will indorse them. You had better go up to London and let him cash them."

Mr. Clark went out to the telegraph office, put himself in communication with Mr. Morgan, and Mr. Morgan went to the Bank of England in London, the manager sent word to the Plymouth branch manager and that gentleman came personally to the Royal hotel and with his hat in hand begged to be of service to Paymaster Clark in any way that gentleman would suggest. The apparently placated paymaster, accompanied by his clerk, accompanied the bank officer to the bank. The drafts were duly passed over and a large bundle of Bank of England notes placed before the paymaster.

"What are these?" said Clark.

"Those are Bank of England notes."

"Yes, I see they are notes signed by Frederick May that the bank will pay bearer, etc. Well, I do not know Mr. May, and of course I do not know you. This paper may be good, but I have no assurance of that. I'll trouble you for the gold."

The humiliated bank manager had to hunt it up, and Paymaster Clark carried it down to the boat in triumph. "I would have preferred part of the money in notes," he said, "but I couldn't refuse the chance of getting even."—Philadelphia Times.

A Historic Wreck.

"In the harbor of Santiago de Cuba," says Maturin M. Ballou in Due South, "a sunken wreck is pointed out, partially visible at low tide, not far from the shore. Only the ribs and stanchions are still held together by the stout keel timbers and lower sheathing. This wreck has lain here unheeded for years, yet what a story these old timbers might tell had they only a tongue with which to give voice to their experience—literally the experience of ages."

Reference is made to the remains of the old St. Paul, one of the ships of the great Spanish armada that Philip II sent to England in 1588, being one of the very few of that famous flotilla that escaped destruction at the time

DYING BY INCHES!

But Dodd's Kidney Pills will Yet Renew Life.

Thousands of persons die in the prime of life because doctors think Bright's Disease and Diabetes incurable. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them both. They have cured thousands of cases.

These diseases and other Kidney complaints are as common as ordinary colds. But people don't realize that they are afflicted till the disease has eaten deep into the system. Even then, Dodd's Kidney Pills will positively cure.

Thousands of people are dying on their feet, but do not realize it. They notice one or more of these symptoms: shortness of breath, loss of memory, failing sight, ravenous appetite, pale or reddish urine, with brick-colored deposit, scalding when urinating, constipation, nervousness, pains in the loins. Their only hope is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They won't fail. They never do.

What a historical memento is the old wreck! After a checkered career, in which this ancient craft had breasted the waves of innumerable seas and withstood the storms of nearly three centuries, she was burned to the water's edge here in the harbor of Santiago a few years since and sunk, where her remains now lie, covered with slime and barnacles—a striking emblem of the nation whose flag she once proudly bore.—New York Tribune.

The "Wicked" Lonsdale.

At a meeting of the Poor Clergy Relief society in London a story was told of Bishop Waldegrave of Carlisle and "wicked" Lord Lonsdale. The bishop rode well, and on his going up to Lowther castle Lord Lonsdale admired his horse and his management of it. The bishop pleaded the cause of a clergyman passing rich on £40 a year, whose well educated wife took in tourists' washing to add to their scanty income.

Lord Lonsdale said: "Everybody looks on me as a very sinful man, beyond all possible hope of salvation. You have spoken to me as a gentleman; you have spoken to me like a good servant of the great head of the church; you have spoken to me encouragingly about the salvation of even my poor soul; you have pleaded the cause very nobly for that young clergyman. Here is my checkbook. Put down what you like, and I will sign it."

The bishop said, "No; that is a matter between God and you."

Lord Lonsdale gave the bishop a check for £10,000 and afterward two further checks for £20,000 for poor clergy of the diocese of Carlisle.

The Power of Modern Shells.

A 12 inch rifle is 38 feet long, with 4 feet external diameter at the breech, and weighs 48 tons. Its 850 pound shot, driven by a 430 pound charge of brown prismatic powder, leaves the muzzle with a velocity exceeding 1,400 miles per hour and would reach a target at its effective range of 5½ miles in 24 seconds, while it would take the report of its discharge 27 seconds to traverse the same distance. At a range of 1½ miles this shot would perforate 19 inches of solid steel.

The 250 pound projectile of the 8 inch rifle will penetrate a foot of armor at the range of a mile. The six 4 inch rapid fire guns within the superstructure each deliver eight 40 pound projectiles in a minute, while the twenty 6 pounders distributed over the vessel can be relied upon to clear an enemy's decks or to disable torpedo boats by maintaining a terrific hail of explosive shell, capable of destroying any unarmored position. The final offensive resources of the citadel are the four torpedo tubes, each prepared to launch automatic and dirigible destroyers containing 150 pounds of gun cotton.—Chautauquan.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 19—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co. tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that today I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

The Answering Peacock.

Beckford, author of the once famous "Vathek," and his daughter possessed extraordinary vocal gifts. The father took it into his head to practice in a back room the shrill cry of a peacock. He had noticed that when one peacock screamed another on the opposite side of the house screamed defiantly. At last believing himself proficient, he gave his peacock cry, hiding himself behind a tree. To his great delight the peacock on the opposite side of the lawn screamed defiantly. Immediately after this, which occurred just before breakfast, he came into the breakfast room, saying with triumph to his daughter, "And, Susan, the other peacock answered me."

To his great annoyance his daughter burst into a fit of laughter. Rather provoked at this, he said, "Well, I think you might have congratulated me."

And then, though still hardly able to speak for laughing, she said, "Why, papa, I was the peacock that answered you!"

An Outrageous Slandering.

The public may not know the good story, which has been a joy for many a long day among musicians, which tells how a celebrated conductor, admired and beloved by every one who knows him, accused his wife, in broken English, of conduct the reverse of admirable (to put it mildly). He was refusing an invitation to an afternoon party for her on the plea of her delicate health, but he evidently got a little mixed during his explanations, for he made the following sounding statement, which was news indeed to the world in general: "My wife lies in the afternoon. If she does not lie, then she swindles!"

N. B.—"Schwindeln" is the equivalent in German for "feeling giddy."—Cornhill Magazine.

Queer.

Queer that a little inland state like Vermont, whose only seaport is Bellows Falls, where they make you wait three hours for any train you want, no matter which way you are going, should have furnished to the navy two such thorough sailors as Dewey and Clark. It must be the granite in their systems that makes them what they are.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Poet's Son.

"Why, Freddy, how dirty you are, and only yesterday you wrote a verse for papa's birthday, promising always to wash your hands clean."

Mr. M. T. Wigle

Of Kingsville, Essex Co.

CURED OF ITCHING PILES OF 23 YEARS STANDING

M. T. Wigle, better known to every one in the vicinity as "Uncle Mike," was troubled for over 23 years with itching piles. At times he was so bad he would have to quit work. The irritation became so intense with constant rubbing that they became ulcerated and would bleed. He had been treated by many physicians, but found nothing that gave him relief. Reading in the paper the cure of a friend who had suffered in a like manner, and been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, he procured a box. After the third application he got such relief that he had the first comfortable night's sleep he had enjoyed in years. The one box made a complete cure, and he says he would not be without it for $50 a box if it could not be replaced. Mr. Wigle is a wealthy farmer, well known in the community in which he resides. It is over two years since he was afflicted, and he has never been troubled since.

Physicians fail to make a cure when Dr. Chase's Ointment gave Immediate Relief. . . .

SOMETHING ABOUT WOMEN.

Woman is the Sunday of man.—Jules Michelet.

Have a useful and good wife in the house, or don't marry at all.—Euripides.

Woman has a smile for every joy and a tear for every sorrow.—Germain Francois Poullain de St. Foix.

The woman we love most is often the one to whom we express it the least.—Edme Pierre Chanvot de Brauchene.

Maids must be wives and mothers to fulfill the entire and holiest of woman's being.—Frances Anne Kemble Butler.

All the evil that women have done to us comes from us, and all the good they have done to us comes from them.—Almi Martin.

Women always show more taste in adorning others than themselves, and the reason is that their persons are like their hearts, they read another's better than they can their own.—Jean Paul Richter.

Women and clergymen have so long been in the habit of using pretty words without troubling themselves to understand them that they now revolt from the effort, as if it were impiety.—John Ruskin.

Easy Enough to Tell.

Griggs—Yes.

Briggs—And can you readily distinguish his German dialect from his Irish brogue?

Griggs—Oh, dear, yes. The programme tells when he is going to imitate German-English and when he is going to give us a little Irish brogue.—Boston Transcript.

A CARRIAGE MAKER

Suffered ten years from weak heart action and nervousness.

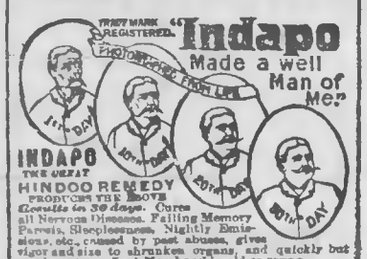
Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

No trade or profession is exempt from disease or derangement of the heart and nerves. The pressure of work and the mental worry are bound to produce serious consequences sooner or later.

"Mr. Donald Campbell, the well-known carriage maker of Harriston, Ont., giving an account of his sickness and restoration to health, spoke as follows: "I have been troubled off and on for ten years with weak action of my heart and nervousness. Frequently my heart would palpitate and flutter with great violence, alarming me exceedingly. Often I had sharp pains in my heart and could not sleep well at night. I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and from them derived almost immediate benefit. They restored vigor to my nerves and strengthened my entire system, removing every symptom of nerve or heart trouble, and enabling me to get restful, healthy sleep."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills never fail to do good. They cure palpitation, throbbing, skip beats, dizzy and faint spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, weakness, female troubles, after effects of grippe and all conditions arising from disordered nerves, weak heart or watery blood. Price 50c. a box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all druggists. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and Dyspepsia. They do not gripe, sicken or weaken. Every pill acts perfectly.



A Funny Mistake.

A servant lass at an inn once made a funny mistake. Opening the door of one of the rooms, she saw, as she thought, the handle of a warming pan sticking out near the foot of the bed. "Bless me," she said, "that stupid Martha has left the warming pan in the bed! She might have set the place on fire." Taking hold of the handle, she gave it a violent jerk, when up jumped an awakened traveler, shouting lustily: "Hello, there! Leave my wooden leg alone, will you?"—London Fun.

Gravestone Emblems.

In a cemetery in a neighboring state lies buried a family of the name of Rose. Upon each headstone is cut this flower, broken at the stem, while upon the babe's tomb is engraved a bud. Curious as this is in itself, however, it is emphasized by the neighboring plot, where lies a family of the name of Fish, who have followed the example of the Roses by having a small specimen of the finny tribe cut upon each of their gravestones.—New York Sun.

Penny For a Priceless Book.

A workingman purchased for a penny an aged looking volume bearing date of 1540. The man tried to read it, but threw up the attempt apparently in disgust, and the volume was relegated to the cupboard. A friend of his happened to see the book and took it to the British museum authorities, who promptly made an offer of £90, the highest sum the librarian is allowed to expend without a special vote of the trustees. Had the man known what he was about he would have stood out for more, as the authorities would have paid almost any price rather than allow the volume to slip through their fingers. It was, in fact, the first book printed by Gutenberg and was therefore almost priceless.—London Tit-Bits.

Did it ever occur to you how systematic nature is in cleaning up the remnants of one season to make room for the blossoming of another? She always employs the sharp blasts of winter to cut loose the Autumn leaves, rather than have them on the trees to be pushed off by spring buds. READY FOR THE WORK OF 1898-9.

Last Night's Formal Opening—Classes and a Programme of Aggressive Work Arranged.

Last evening was the formal opening of the work of the Y. M. C. A. for the season 1898 99. Commencing next Monday the gymnasium classes will be resumed. The following week the evening school will open, and during the week beginning Oct. 10th the Bible classes will be set in running order. Unfavourable weather affected the attendance at the reception last evening to the young men of the town, though a goodly number attended and enjoyed a pleasant social evening.

An excellent musical programme, which lasted through the entire evening, was given in the parlours. Those who took part were Messrs. A. G. Smith and E. Stone, who furbished piano solos; Mr. Pidgeon with the mandolin; Mr. Evy Hall, whistler; and Mr. James Browne sang several numbers in a pleasing manner.

After fruit had been served a basket ball game took place in the gymnasium between the "White" and "Blacks." The teams were composed as follows:

Blacks—S. Hall, R. Irwin, H. Morgan, C. Matthias and W. Maguire.

Whites—J. Sheridan, J. Cox, T. Glover, H. Goldey and M. McDonough.

Score 12 to 6 in favour of the "Whites."

The programme of the gymnasium classes, as they begin next week, is as follows:-

Young Men's Senior Class—Tuesdays and Fridays, at 8 o'clock.

Business Men—Mondays and Fridays, at 5 o'clock, and Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Intermediate (boys employed during the day, from 14 to 17 years of age,)—Thursdays and Saturdays, at 8 o'clock.

Collegiate Boys—Wednesdays, 4.15 to to 5.15 p.m.; Saturdays, 10 40 to 11.20 a.m.

Boys—Tuesdays, 4.15 to 5.15 p.m.; Saturdays, 9.30 to 10.20 a.m.

Members are urged to be present at the opening of the classes.

Mr. Archie Froude will lead the boys' meeting to-night at 7.30. Topic—"Watching."

Mr. E. Anderson will lead the young men's meeting on Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock.

The Prospectus will be out to-morrow. Every young man should secure one and read it.

LACROSSE.

A telegram received from President Lennox of the C.L.A., to-day, orders the final match in the Peterborough-Orillia series to be played off in Stouffville on Wednesday, Sept. 28th.

A meeting of the Executive will be held to-morrow evening at seven o'clok, in the secretary's office, to talk the matter over. A charge has been made that the Peterborough are afraid to play Orillia again, and under these circumstances the club may reconsider its determination to disband for the season and give the Orillias another whirl.

The Orillia Packet gives the following account of the Orillia vs. Markham game.

As our old friend George Whiten used to say when he was the champion amateur oarsman of our inland waters, and had disposed of an opponent, "He was a good man but I beat him." So we say of the Markham lacrosse club, "they are a good team but we beat them." They caught us in bad shape last week, and came near defeating us on our own grounds, but a few day's stiff practice, and a liberal application of liniment, healed the Peterborough bruises, limbered up the joints, and made the boys once more fit to do or die.

About fifty supporters accompanied the team to Markham on Tuesday, and witnessed a great game of lacrosse. Stouffville ran an excursion down, and cheered for Orillia, and it is safe to say the visitors had as many friends on the ground as the home team. Mr. Stark again refereed, and gave unbounded satisfaction. The game was fast and furious, but neither team indulged in rough play, and only one pair—Query and Churchill, went to the fence during the match. The play was clean, there was no interference from outsiders, and only five minutes lost time in the two hours, which is probably a record. Orillia started to score from the drop of the hat, Watson notching the first game in three minutes. Barlow scored the second for Markham in 7 minutes, then Armstrong, O'Connor, Wilkinson and O'Connor scored for Orillia in 3½, 14, 6 and 1½ minutes. Notwithstanding an adverse score of 5 to 1, Markham was still playing and got the next two games in 1 and 11½ minutes, by Wilson and Latimer. Curran scored Orillia's sixth game in two minutes, and then the spectators were treated to half an hour's steady play in which neither team had any the best of it, and in which it was impossible for either to score. Ed. Dunn succeeded in getting the ball between the goal posts, but the goalkeeper took it out so quick that the umpire did not see it and the Orillia's made no claim for the game, being satisfied that they had the match won.

Everybody speaks highly of the treatment received in Markham, and next to themselves there is no team Orillia would sooner see win. The people, too, treated our boys royally, and escorted them to the train, giving three rousing cheers for "The Intermediate Champions."

"Dobbin" Went played his old position at point for Orillia, and played it well, Mike O'Connor going inside home, which greatly strengthened the team.

In the Intermediate series, Fergus is the only club remaining to defeat, and we will have to try and do it. Home and home games may be played, or the clubs may agree to meet at a central point and let one match settle it.

FOOTBALL.

There will be a Rugby practice on the P.A.A.A. grounds to-morrow afternoon, at 4 o'clock. A full attendance requested.

LAKEFIELD HAS ITS USUAL GOOD SHOW.

where they were sawn and converted into elaborately constructed canoes, built to special order.

Mr. Strickland has had the pleasure of including among his patrons the Royal Family of England, as well as numerous members of the aristocracy, and other influential circles it London.

Mr. Strickland is an ardent Canadian, and during his residence in London took every opportunity to promote the introduction of other Canadian manufacturers and products besides Canadian canoes. He was instrumental in interesting a number of influential men of London in the Canadian gold fields in the Yukon and Klondike districts, and through his perseverance the first English exploring company was floated, which is now operating in the gold fields under the management of his son, Mr. Arthur Strickland.

The "Klondike" Special Canoe was an outgrowth of the rush to gold fields. This form of boat has been found to fill the need of a serviceable and convenient canoe for such hazardous work. Combining the maximum of lightness and strength and large carrying capacity. Over 100 of these canoes were sold for the Klondyke service last winter.

The company also exhibited one of their patent lawn tennis markers propelled on light trucks, which is exceedingly convenient, simple, effective and cheap.

GRAFTON & CO'S CLOTHING.

In the main building, in a prominent location, directly opposite to the entrance to the grounds, Messrs. Grafton & Co. made an effective display of their stylish clothing. It was not only the largest but the best-arranged exhibit which the representatives of the Peterborough branch have ever made at this Fair The skilful dressing and decorating of this display was the handiwork of Mr. Joseph Maher and Mr. Herbert L. Conway of the regular Peterborough staff, and the ingenious arrangement of the goods made such an attractive appearance that everybody praised the taste displayed. Both light and heavy garments for fall and winter wear, were arranged in a slim octagon circle and filled up three tiers of shelving, giving scope for displaying the varied styles of suits and overcoats for men, young men and boys. The effect of the exhibit was enhanced by the interspersing of fancy chromatic cards and other appropriate decorations that were ingeniously fitten in spare spaces. It was a most forceful display of Grafton & Co.'s handmade and tailor-cut clothing, which has beceme so well-known throughout the district for its reliaable character. Mr. W. E. Conway, the local manager, was on the ground during the afternoon of the second day and appeared to be one of the best known men among the farmers.

THE PETERBOROUGH MUSIC CO'Y

Had the musical exhibit of the Fair. They showed a richly designed Berlin piano in French birl walnut, and a superb Bell organ, piano case, in extra rosewood. These speimens attracted much interest, and music-loving visitors were delighted with the excellent music which was prodeced by the skilful playing of Mr. Foyd, who was in charge of the exhibit. Mr. Cunningham, of the firm of Turner & Cunningham, was present, and reports some satisfactory results from the exhibit. The company also showed two Raymond sewing machines—a folding and a plain case—which were operated by a practical machinist.

GOUGH BROS., CLOTHIERS.

A Lakefield Fair without Gough Bros. in evidence, would be like Hamlet with Hamlet left out. "The Wonderful Cheap Men" were represented, right in the swim of business, by a new palace clothing car, which was the most striking advertising feature on the show grounds. In construction it took the form of a car on wheels, with sloping roof, rear end being closed and front end open, with platform for the driver and conductor. An artist's brush had effectively emblazoned the entire structure with attractive lettering in harmoniously blended colours, radiant with well executed shadings and designs. The car after parading the streets of the village, was drawn up in the show grounds and occupied this conspicuous position during the rest of the day. Mr. James Tully, the "head push" in Gough's mammoth store, Peterborough, was ubiquitous, jostling familiarly with the farmers and horsemen, and quietly smiling over the numerous prospective sales which his industry has secured. Uncle Sam on stilts stalked in an exalted position through through the main building and show grounds, dilating on the many excellencies of Gough Bros, clothing. Across his shoulder was swung a satchel of attractive advertising cards, handy little measures and other useful devices bearing the Gough imprint, which he liberally distributed to the crowds of people who flocked around him. His outfit faithfully represented the "Yankee" with his tall white stiff hat, striped trousers and blue vest, and studded with stars galore, his chin adorned with the usual long-visage making goatee. It "took" well.

Old England's Flag, vs. Dr. A. W. Chase

The virtues of Dr. Chase's remedies are known the world over and like old England's flag the sun on them never sets.

Dr. Chase's Ointment, Kidney-Liver Pills Catarrh Cure, Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and Liver Cure enjoy the confidence of everybody. They have won their way into the public favor on merit. Their sterling qualities and high standing and purity have made them the household word all round the world. All dealers sell and recommend them.

Severe colds are easily cured by the use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup a medicine of extraordinary penetrating and healing properties. It is acknowledged by those who have used it as being the best medicine sold for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs, and all affections of the throat and chest. Its agreeableness to the taste makes it a favourite with ladies and children.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE—Who sells the cheapest goods — the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold? Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

OUR LUMBER AND LOGS

Bring American Lumbermen to the Quebec Conference.

DON'T WANT DUTY REDUCED.

Hon. A. S. Hardy, Premier of Ontario, and Hon. G. W. Ross, Have a Conference With the American Commissioners on This Important Question—Alaska Boundary Question Nearer a Settlement.

Quebec, Sept. 24.—At the adjournment of the International Commission yesterday a recess was taken till Monday. It must not be supposed, however, that this means a suspension of the work of the commissioners. As a matter of fact, most of the work is being done by joint sub-committees, and these little groups are meeting at all hours and hammering away at the issues presented. The fisheries difficulties and the Alaska boundary are in sub-committee, and it is believed, although, of course, the commissioners are as silent as ever, that the boundary matter is near a settlement. There seems to be ground for the statement, very generally circulated yesterday, that the American and British commissioners have not only completed the informal interchange of opinions that marked the opening sitting, but have got so far as to place their proposals and counter proposals in writing for consideration. This means that the preliminary work is over, that each side now knows what the other wants and what it is prepared to yield. The task is now to reconcile diversities, a somewhat difficult but by no means hopeless task. The work of the commissioners who are dealing especially with the trade question is by far the most difficult, and certainly also the most tedious, for representations by deputations and in writing are made from all quarters of the continent.

Capt. Cox, official agent of the B.C. sealers, has been in town for several days. He is authorized to sell out their schooners, as well as any future right to engage in pelagic sealing in Behring Sea. His demand for $750,000 from the United States is regarded as modest. The American Commissioners seem disposed to settle the question on a satisfactory basis.

The Bonding Privileges.

Col. Albert Clarke, secretary of the Home Market Club of Boston, and Hon. C. R. Hamlin, ex-assistant treasurer of the United States, representing the Boston Merchants' Association, desire to have the existing legislation respecting bonding privileges continued. Col. Clarke will also, in another capacity, urge that the present American tariff be maintained, unless Canada abolishes the preferential tariff in favor of England and grants the United States manufacturers liberal access to the Canadian markets for equal privileges. He is also prepared to allow in a limited list of agricultural products in order to cheapen the food supply of the New England people.

Col. Walker, Indiana, who is reported to be the legal adviser of a southern transcontinental railway, will come into conflict with the Boston visitors. He wants the question of bonding privileges placed under the operation of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. His motive bodes no good for the Grand Trunk and the C.P.R., which are, however, represented here by influential agents, who are without ostentation doing effective work. It is a significant fact that Hon. Mr. Coolidge, one of the American Commissioners, congratulated Col. Clarke of Boston for his presentation of the New England view of the bonding question. The ideas of the people of Maine and Massachusetts are in accord with those of the Canadian railways.

Our Lumber and Logs.

Hon. A. S. Hardy and Hon. Geo. W. Ross held a conference last night with the American commissioners on the lumber and log question.

Congressman Tawney of Minnesota had an hour's conference yesterday morning with Senator Fairbanks. He is the official spokesman of the Western American lumbermen. He is renewing his efforts to prevent any arrangement which would enable the Canadian lumbermen to ship their product to the United States at a reduced rate of duty.

Mr. Aaron Jones of the American Patrons of Husbandry, has received a memorial from the Populist party heartily endorsing the opposition to reciprocity in natural products.

A big delegation from Buffalo, Detroit, Chicago and Duluth will be here next week to urge the abolition of Canadian canal tolls.

Conference Notes.

The commission, after an hour's sitting yesterday, adjourned at 12.30 until Tuesday next. This was necessitated by the stage which negotiations have assumed after the exchange of written statements. The members of sub-committees in the meantime will meet in joint session daily.

The written statements exchanged by the Americans and Canadians deal with 20 questions.

ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD.

The Opening Sessions of the Annual Convention at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Sept. 24.—Delegates from all parts of Canada are in the city for the Dominion Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which opened here yesterday. Among the visitors are Bishop Dudley of Kentucky, Bishop Sullivan of Toronto, James L. Houghteling of Chicago, G. Harry Davis of Philadelphia, Rev. J. G. Waller, Canadian missionary, of Japan; Rev. J. A. Cabauck, Truro, N.S.; Rev. W. J. Armitage, Halifax; Rev. O. S. Newham, St. Stephen's, N.B.; Bishop Courtney is expected.

At Christ Church Cahedral 200 delegates were present and heard a very interesting and impressive sermon from Bishop DuMoulin, who delivered the annual charge to the members.

At noon a business session was held in Association Hall and President Farrar Davidson delivered an address. G. Harry Davis of Philadelphia also delivered an address, in which he presented the greetings of the Brotherhood of the United States. E. H. Taylor of Winnipeg presented the greetings of the Northwest. Committees were then appointed.

R. B. Street, the General Treasurer, reported receipts and expenditures of the general fund to have been $694.09 and $581.11, respectively, and of the extension and revival funds $231.49 and $84.89. The total assets of the council amount to $332.58.

At the business session in the evening General Secretary Young read the annual report, which showed that there were about 1,200 Brotherhood men in the Dominion.

Owing to the inclement weather the attendance at the public meeting in the evening was not large. Judge Senkler of Perth was chairman. The speeches were full of force

LAY BLAME ON THE FLY.

Cause of the Spread of Typhoid in American Camps.

Washington, Sept. 24.—At last the blame has been placed where it belongs. It was the common, busy housefly that caused the typhoid fever in the camps, and is directly responsible for the deaths of hundreds of brave soldiers.

This is the scientific conclusion of a commission of scientific men appointed to investigate the condition of the camps, the cause of typhoid fever in them, and authorized to recommend measures to prevent its spread and for its prevention in the future. The commission is composed of Major Lee, Dr. Vernon C. Vaughan and Dr. Shakespeare of Philadelphia, all prominent surgeons and members of the Army Medical Corps.

The commission is a unit in the declaration, and brings forward apparently indisputable facts to support its conclusion. The report is considered of the greatest importance, not only to the War Department and the army, but to science itself.

The commission found that flies, as was naturally the case, were present in the camp by the millions. The surgeons looked into the matter further and found that the flies fed off the foecal matter from the hospitals, and then at mealtime shared the hardtack and bacon of the soldiers. In the first instance the fly picked up on his six hairy little feet infinitesimal particles containing the germs of typhoid fever, and as he merely promenaded over the hardtack and bacon he deposited them there. One fly could do little harm, but millions of them conveyed a sufficient quantity of germs to inoculate large numbers of the soldiers. The inoculation was slow but sure.

54 MINERS ENTOMBED

Terrible Results of an Explosion of Fire Damp.

EICHT DEAD BODIES TAKEN OUT

The Umpire Coal Mines Near Brownsville, Pa., the Scene of the Tragedy—Work of Rescue Going On—Touching Incidents of the Catastrophe—Hardly Possible to Save Them.

Brownsville, Pa., Sept. 24.—Fifty-four men were entombed in the Umpire Mine, Gould & Company, one-fourth of a mile below Brownsville by an explosion of gas at eight o'clock yesterday morning. Two dead bodies have so far been taken out. The dead are: James Hall and John Bennett.

Searching parties are making frantic efforts to reach the entombed miners, but their progress is slow and there is great danger of another explosion which might bury them also under tons of rock and earth.

Immediately following the explosion of gas there was a second explosion of fire damp. There were 140 men in the mine at the time of the explosion, work having been begun for the day a short time previous. Of these, 58 were in entries Nos. 9 and 10. Four men, Jacobs, Davis, Whetzell and Walker, were near the mouth of the entries. The others were far in. When the explosion came these four men made a rush for the main heading, which they succeeded in reaching, though all were more or less injured. They finally crawled out to the open air. Of the 58 men in entries 9 and 10 these are the only ones who are known to be alive.

Intelligence of the disaster soon spread and crowds gathered around the mouth of the mine. Terrible scenes of grief and horror were presented. Wives and children of the entombed men were frantic with grief, and their shrieks and wails were frightful to hear. Notwithstanding the great danger, the rescuing parties are working bravely, but their efforts have so far been fruitless. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon five more bodies were recovered, and it was feared that none of those still entombed would be taken out alive.

At 1.30 p.m 27 of the entombed miners returned to town, having escaped by traversing a mile and a half of underground passages, coming out at an opening near Lynn station on the red stone branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. This point is four miles from the opening of the mine on Monongahela River. Another body, that of Robert Davis, has been recovered, making eight dead. Nineteen miners are still unaccounted for.

John Baker and his son George, who escaped by the back way, are terribly burned about the face, but will likely recover. Nearly all who escaped are injured or burned, either slightly or seriously. The dead are unrecognizable, being burned and mutilated. A hastily improvised morgue was arranged at the entrance of the mine. The coroner was sent for and the bodies will be removed to the undertaking establishment of Brownsville, where the inquest will be held.

The explosion is said to have been caused by the loosening of a large block of coal, which opened a pocket of gas. The entry where the explosion occurred is located about a mile and a half from the pit mouth. The mine is an old one and pretty well worked out. The men wore open lamps, such as are used in all the Monongahela River mines.

Hundreds are surging around the mine entrance imploring for news of their loved ones away back two miles and two and a half miles in the bowels of the earth. The hillside is black with people and the excitement is intense. Old miners who are present say there is not one chance in a hundred of finding the missing men alive.

WORK ON CORNWALL BRIDGE.

The Old One Will Be Rebuilt—The Government Engineer's Report.

Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 24.—Work is proceeding on the O. & N.Y. bridge over the north channel, and will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible. It has not been decided what course will be followed with regard to the south channel where the recent disaster took place. This bridge will be rebuilt, but whether on the site of the wrecked one, or in a new location, is a question that is at present under consideration. The removal of the wreck would entail a large expenditure and occupy considerable time, and it may therefore be found advantageous to erect the bridge on a new site. The Dominion Government engineers have concluded their investigation in the south channel around the collapsed pier and forwarded their report to Ottawa. They will make no statement for publication, but it is currently rumored that the hardpan bottom of the river was found to be very thin and the substratum is of blue clay.

Trouble in Samoa.

San Francisco, Sept. 24.—By the steamship Alameda from Australia comes the news that there may be trouble between England and Germany over the control of Samoa. It is declared that after the recent death of King Malietoa, had not the British cruiser Ringdove been at Apia, the Germans would have hoisted their flag. It is also reported that the Germans are bringing back Mataafa, and are determined to seat him on the Samoan throne, as they can make him do as they please. The Germans practically control the trade of the islands, having driven out the English and American planters and traders. Good judges of the situation assert that there will be trouble should the Germans persist in a high handed course.

Porte Wants the Christians Disarmed.

Constantinople, Sept 24.—The Porte has addressed another circular to the four powers controlling affairs in Crete, protesting against the disarmament of Mussulmans in that Island unless Christians are also disarmed simultaneously. There have been a great many arrests of Mussulmans here within the last few days. The motive for the arrests is not known.

COLONIZATION ROADS.

One favourite object of attack of the Ontario Opposition is the expenditure on Colonization Roads. While the politicians carp at this expenditure, the settlers in the newer districts appreciate the advantages derived from it, and are grateful accordingly. A few days ago a Peterborough gentleman was enjoying a visit in the Haliburton district. He noticed a splendid stretch of road extending from the village about eight miles. He met a settler and asked how it came that they had such a good road. The reply was that it was due to the liberality of the Ontario Government. The settler added that he was a Conservative, and had always opposed the Government, but he would say that the Government had been liberal in looking after the wants of the settlers in the matter of Colonization Roads; they had expended the money to excellent advantage, as could be seen by the road in question, which the gentleman mentioned says was as good as the average highway in the older townships. The Conservative settler spoke in the highest terms of the work done by the government, and said that the settlers appreciated the benefits represented by good roads. If one expenditure more than another is to be approved it is that upon Colonization Roads. Settlers in new districts labour under many disadvantages and hardships, and it is due to them that in the matter of good roads they should be considered, and no man actuated by interest in his neighbour's welfare, will grudge the expenditure of public moneys for the purpose of giving highways to the settlers, which their limited means do not permit themselves to construct.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

The problem of how to keep young girls off the streets at night, gives no end of trouble to social reformers. They should begin at the beginning. Prevention is easier than cure. Unhappy or squalid homes, involving an absence of the rational enjoyment of social diversions, which is the right of everybody, is one of the great causes. Unhappy homes and exasperating bareness of living, are largely caused, when not due to drink, by the difficulty of making money enough by the most arduous toil, even if the opportunity for such toil was abundantly available, for comfortable subsistence. Social conditions that permit the few to exalt and enrich themselves at the expense of the many has its share, and a chief one, in making the problem of living a hard nut for the masses to crack, and is, therefore, at the bottom, and more or less directly responsible, through the train of reasoning suggested, for the presence of young girls on the streets, with all the social, and moral ruinous results so deplorably prevalent. The remedy submitted by the best thinking sociologists, for the causative condition referred to, is simply the application of the single tax system, which will remove the cause and, perforce, the effect, and, besides, a great many other, at present, unmanageable social troubles.

"A DISCREDITED PARTY."

This is the heading under which the Mail and Empire places the following quotation from the New York Sun, to show that the Liberal party in Canada is in a state of collapse and cowering under popular condemnation:

"The general feeling among Liberals is that their leaders have been ruined by success, and that the only way for the party to recover its strength is for it to go back to Opposition and allow the Tories to come back to power again.

"Their boasted surplus has been faked by borrowing and leaving enough unspent to make an apparent excess of income; but the trick is so crude that it imposes on none except the most ignorant among the electors, and no Government organ ventures to dispute the analysis of the budget made by the Opposition press.

"The country is ripe for a change, but it must get a strong lead from outside.

"The people are ready to take the side on which their interests lie if the way is unmistakably pointed out to them.

"The self-seeking leaders must follow or be left out in the cold."—Montreal correspondence of the New York Sun.

The Mail and Empire may be content to take its political information from Yankee sources, but the Canadian people are quite capable of managing their own affairs, as evidenced from the position the party the organ represents occupies in the country. Is it not possible that there may be some slight confusion of identity of the Montreal correspondent of the Mail and Empire and the correspondent of the Sun?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the North Waterloo election contest, Mr. Seagram, M.P., paid five dollars a treat and would accept no change. This action is charged as bribery, and may be an element in depriving one of Mr. Whitney's supporters of a seat.

Dr. Lackner, of North Waterloo, may claim to be a constable elected member. A constable employed by the deputy returning officer on polling day swore to receiving $2 from a prominent supporter of the Conservative candidate.

True greatness is modest. One of the clauses of the Great Gladstone's will, referring to the burial of his body, reads thus:—"I desire that on no account shall any laudatory inscription be placed over me."

The serious illness of Mr. Evanturel, Speaker of the Assembly, will be generally regretted. In his official capacity he has earned the good opinion of both parties, and proved himself an efficient presiding officer. The anxiety said to be felt by his relatives will extend over a wider circle.

The Guelph Herald says that "Hon. William Mulock's penny postage achievement is, at best, a cheap performance." The London News remarks that if that is meant as a pun, it is a good one. If it is intended as a sneer, it is unworthy. The penny postage scheme may not prove a universal benefit, because a great many people have no foreign correspondence, but it is none the less a step forward in the march of civilization.

A tribute to the Canadian respect for law and order is furnished by the fact that five murderers have been sentenced to die according to law in the Yukon district. Under American mine methods these convicts would not have had a chance for their lives implied in the reference of their sentences to executive clemency. They would have been condemned without a trial and strung up without shrift by a mob. In the case of the Yukon murderers they were arrested by the mounted police and had a fair trial, which resulted in their condemnation to death.

COLD STORAGE V. ORDINARY CARGO ROOM.

Prof. Robertson in his report says: One shipment of apples was sent forward with 337 packages, sent in cold storage; and 116 packages sent as ordinary cargo. The fruit arrived in good condition. The apples shipped in cold storage were of the Baldwin, Ribston Pippin, Cranberry Pippin, and Northern Spy varieties, and were wrapped in paper. They were reported as sound and firm on arrival. The same varieties shipped as ordinary cargo and packed in the same way, arrived in fair condition; but were reported as "not so solid and firm as the apples shipped in cold storage, and showing some signs of early decay." Where a spot or scab existed, signs of decay were seen under the skin.

All the fruit from the cold storage on the steamship, while sound and firm, showed moisture on the surface when removed from the cold storage; while the fruit shipped as ordinary cargo in the hold of the vessel was quite dry, but not so firm and solid as the other. The moisture was no doubt produced by condensation from the air by the sudden change of temperature.

When fruit is removed from cold storage to a warm moist atmosphere, the cases should be left closed until the fruit has become gradually warmed up to near the temperature of the air.

AN ITEM OF INTEREST, BY GUM.

Almost every second girl you meet has her jaws going gum chewing like the gills of a black bass resting himself in the shade of a deceased log.

"The Chatham Planet does not say where this undesirable condition of things exists," says the Ottawa Free Press. "But that paper is wrong. The action of the bass is natural and consequently becoming. The action of the gum-chewing girl is unnatural and most unbecoming. The action of the bass is evidently dictated by his instinct and is doubtedless beneficial. As was shown in these columns not long since, in an extract from the Medical Record, the gum-chewing habit is most injurious physically in more ways than one. The Planet libels the black bass."

What Will You Do?

Your Life is Precious, Save It!

Paine's Celery Compound Can Restore You.

'Tis Folly and Madness to Defer the Use of the Great Medicine.

"I am tired and weary of this continued life of misery and suffering!" This is the heart wail of thousands of poor, nervous and sleepless men and women crazed with headache, rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia and blood troubles. Such people usually are filled with gloom and despondency—memory fails, and they are often found on the straight path that leads to the dark grave.

Have courage, suffering brother and sister! Paine's Celery Compound has cured thousands of cases in the past far more desperate and terrible than yours. It has proved an agent of life to others, and it will certainly do as much for you in this your time of adversity and distress.

What will your decision be, sufferer? Will you allow the many symptoms of disease and death to more fully develop, or will you, by the aid of nature's medicine, Paine's Celery Compound, strike just now at the root of your trouble and be made, sound, healthy and happy?

The ablest physicians admit that Paine's Celery Compound is the only true nerve food and medicine that has ever been given to suffering humanity. It strengthens and builds up the nerves, tissues and muscles, it purifies the life stream, casts out disease of every form, giving a fresh existence and a long and happy life. A trial of one bottle will convince you that Paine's Celery Compound is a life-saver and a disease banisher.

CLEARING THE WAY AT MANILA.

Wrecks Being Blown Up—Ships Drawing 15 Feet Are Now Safe in Entering the Harbor.

San Francisco, Sept. 24.—An Associated Press correspondent writing from Manila says: The work of setting the wheels of business in the harbor of Manila in motion has been entrusted to Captain Henry Glass, of the United States ship Charleston. One of the first duties was that of taking an inventory of all the shipping that fell into Admiral Dewey's hands on the 13th inst. This includes everything afloat, either on the bay or river, which means a radius of 10 miles, and its value is about $1,500,000.

Ensign Moffat has been busy with gun cotton and dynamite blowing up the wrecks that were sunk in the Pasig River and the outer harbor and of the 20 or 30 wrecks in the river nearly all have been destroyed, so that ships drawing 15 feet of water may now enter and come to the wharves.

Madrid, Sept. 24.—One of the Ministers has declared that the United States Government has no right to a protectorate over any of the Pilippine group, and that the Spanish peace commissioners will energetically defend Spain's right to their possession.

THE EMPEROR'S DEATH REPORT.

A Despatch From Shanghai Says It Is Not Confirmed.

London, Sept. 24.—A despatch to the Central News from Shanghai says that the report of the death of the Emperor of China is not confirmed. It seems, however, that his life has been endangered. The laiton (governor) of Shanghai yesterday offered a reward of £3,000 for the capture of Kung Ku, jr., the leader of the reform party, who is accused of being the leader of a plot to murder the Emperor, but whether this was an actual attempt to kill him is not known.

The authorities are now searching vessels arriving here from the north in the hope of arresting Kung and his confederates. A Pekin advice received in Shanghai says the city gates are closed to prevent the escape of Kung. Search was made for him throughout the city, but without success.

The Emperor in Danger.

London, Sept. 24.—According to special despatches received from Pekin, members of the European community there believe the life of the Emperor of China is in danger. It is added that the Dowager Empress desires to place Prince Kung's grandson on the throne. The Emperor, it is added, realizes the strength of the conspiracy against him, and has ordered the guards at the palace to be strengthened.

The Threatened Insurrection.

The Times' Pekin correspondent says: "The Government is increasingly anxious regarding the northward movement of the anti-dynastic insurrection, which has already entered the Hunan Province."

ASTHMA PERMANENTLY CURED.

A Well-Known Canadian Notary Public Suffered for 35 Years. Permanently Cured by Clarke's Kola Compound.

R. D. Pitt, Esq., Kamloops, writes: "I had suffered for at least 35 years from the great oppressiveness of asthma and shortness of breath. I had during these years consulted many physicians and tried all the remedies until the doctor told me I might get temporary relief but would always be troubled. I tried Dr. Clarke's Kola Compound and after taking the first bottle I became greatly relieved, and three bottles have completely cured me. I can now breathe as naturally as ever, and Asthma does not trouble me in the least. I feel it my duty to bear testimony to the marvellous effect this remedy has had in my case, and would urge all suffering from this disease to try Clarke's Kola Compound, as only those who have suffered all the years as I have can appreciate what a blessing this remedy must prove to sufferers from Asthma." Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are guaranteed to cure any case of Asthma. A free sample will be sent to any person troubled with Asthma. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church-street, Toronto, and Vancouver, B. C., sole Canadian importers. Sold by all druggists. When writing for sample, mention this paper. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Two Petitions Disposed Of.

Toronto, Sept. 24.—The end of the petition and cross-petition in South Wellington was reached at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning before two judges of the election court, Messrs. Osler and Maclennan. Col. A. H. Macdonald, Q.C., of Guelph, was present on behalf of the petitioner, Mr. William Slater, against Major John Mutrie, the Liberal member, and announced that no evidence would be offered. Mr. Hugh Guthrie of Guelph, for the petitioner, Molloy, against Henry Hortop, the Conservative candidate, made a similar announcement in regard to his petition, whereupon both were dismissed.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervous ness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

A WOMAN SHOOTS,

And Adds to the Intricacies of the Dreyfus Plot—Woman Wounded M. Ollivier With a Revolver.

Paris, Sept. 24.—Madame Paulmier, wife of M. Charles Ernest Paulmier, member of the Chamber of Deputies from the Department of Calvador, has added another tragedy to the bewildering intricacies of the Dreyfus plot. Madame Paulmier yesterday entered the office of La Lanterne and asked to see M. Millerand. M. Millerand was absent and M. Ollivier, who was present, stepped forward to receive the lady, who, without waiting for any explanation, whipped out a revolver and fired twice. M. Ollivier fell to the floor wounded. He was taken to a hospital. Madame Paulmier was taken into custody, and, when questioned, coolly announced: "I wished to kill M. Millerand." She explained that La Lanterne had slandered herself and her husband, because her husband had written a letter to General Chanoine, the Minister for War, with reference to putting a stop to the attacks upon the army provoked by the Dreyfus affair.

SICKLY WOMEN

Find Health, Strength and Vigor in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the Truest, Best Friend of Women of all Ages, from Girlhood to Old Age.

Upon the women of Canada rests a tremendous responsibility. In their keeping, to a great extent, lies the well-being of our future population. Upon them depends the strength or weakness of the men and women of the coming generation.

Unhealthy mothers cannot bear healthy children.

Unhealthy mothers do bear sickly, puny children, and such children grow up to be puny, unhealthy men and women, or else they die during their childhood or youth.

It behooves the women of Canada, then, to retain their health and strength. Unfortunately they are a thousandfold more liable to disease than men are.

Kidney Disease finds thousands, yes, hundreds of thousands of victims among women.

And no other disease has as terribly baneful an effect upon the children of its victims as has Kidney Disease.

Yet Kidney Disease is very easily cured. It yields, surely, rapidly and permanently to the power of that great Kidney Cure—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of women of Kidney Disease and Female Complaints (the latter being, as a rule, merely different phases of Kidney Disease.)

Dodd's Kidney Pills root the disease out of the system, by causing the Kidneys to do their work thoroughly.

Dodd's Kidney Pills build up the system, by ensuring a full and sure supply of pure blood to make bone and muscle, nerves and tissue, to create strength and vigor. Dodd's Kidney Pills are women's truest friends.

CHICAGO WHEAT DOWN.

Speculative Interest Almost Nil, and Broad Support Is Necessary to Maintain Prices—Quotations.

Friday Evening, Sept. 23.

On the Liverpool board to-day spot wheat closed at an advance of 1½d to 2d per cental over the previous final figures. This month's delivery reflected a gain of ¾d and the remoter options improvements of ½d to ¾d per cental. Paris wheat advanced 30 centimes with flour up 15 to 30 centimes.

The favorable cables to the above effect failed to maintain in the Chicago market the strength which characterized it yesterday. Liverpool receipts at St. Louis and in the Northwest, together with a drop of a cent a bushel in the cash article, caused a sag in prices and all deliveries fell off ⅝c to 1⅛c per bushel. The trading was very narrow. At the close this month's option was ⅝c lower than the previous final figures, with the December and March options ⅝c to ⅞c lower respectively.

On account of wet weather receipts of grain were light, three loads each of wheat, barley and oats being the amount of deliveries. Prices were unchanged.

Toronto Live Stock.

The run of live stock at the Cattle Market was very large—84 carloads, which, with 64 on Thursday, made a total of 148 carloads for the two days, filling every available space around the market. The 84 loads of to-day were composed of 1500 cattle, 1575 sheep and lambs, 2500 hogs and 75 calves. With this large amount of livestock, it is needless to say the market was depressed. It was bad on Tuesday, worse on Thursday, but to-day was the worst of the season thus far.

The Equinoctial Storm.

Our semi-annual meteological blow-out, due Sept. 21st, was a day or so late, but it made up in vigour for its trifling tardiness. Yesterday the rainfall amounted to 1 33-100 inch and that of the previous day to 34-100, a total precipitation in 48 hours of 1 67-100 inch. This drenching visitation of rain will be of great benefit to farmers by making fall ploughing easy and by improving the pasturage. With improved pastures and the cessation of cheese-making operations we should have, although such may not be the case, a drop in the price of butter.

YESTERDAY'S EXCURSION.

The Progress Which Has Been Made on the Balsam Lake Section of the Canal.

The excursion under the auspices of the Board of Trade took train to Lindsay yesterday morning, and on arrival there boarded the steamer Alice Ethel, and proceeded down the Sougog through Sturgeon and Cameron Lakes to Fenelon Falls, where dinner was partaken of, the party afterwards going to the head of Balsam Lake, where two piers five hundred feet in length marked the entrance to the Onderdonk section of the canal. The crib substructure of the pier is completed and ready for the superstructure of concrete. The canal starts from the northwest bay in Balsam Lake, and the Onderdonk section covers about five and a half miles. The first mile is a rock cutting sixteen feet deep in places, then for three miles the canal winds through flooded lands. A cut of a mile and a half follows, which is twenty-five feet deep most of the way. The amount of material which has been taken out can be estimated from the fact that on either side of the canal the rocks are piled to the height of thirty feet, with an eighty foot base.

The work which is being done at present is the blasting out of the rock to make the connection through the height of land separating the Balsam Lake waters from those fallwing into Lake Simcoe. This is about all the work on this section of the canal which remains to be done outside of a general cleaning up. It is calculated that the work will be turned over to the Government in about six weeks.

The excursionists were well satisfied with what they saw of this portion of the work. On the return trip to Peterborough supper was served in Lindsay and the party reached town on the 8 45 train in the evening.

WEDDED IN HASTINGS.

The Colquhoun-McCracken Nuptials—Will Reside in Havelock.

On Wednesday evening, in the brilliantly illuminated residence of Mr. Wm. Mc Cracken, Alnwick, the joyful strains of music, the gayety and bustle which prevailed, led to the supposition that an event of great importance was taking place, which upon enquiry proved to be the case, the occasion being the celebration of the nuptials of Miss Louise, the youngest daughter of the house, to Mr. Jas. Colquhoun, of Havelock.

The ceremony was performed at Hastings by the Rev. R. J. Weaver. The bride was assisted by her sister, Elizabeth, while the groom was supported by Mr. Wm. Beatty, of C. O. Junction.

After the ceremony the contracting parties returned to the residence of the brides' parents, where a magnificent wedding dinner was partaken of, and the celebration of the event kept up until the wee sma' hours. The happy couple drove to Havelock the following morning, where they will reside in future.

CONTRACTORS DISCLAIM RESPONSIBILITY.

They Always Hung out Red Lights—The Town Authorities Have Charge of Certain Plants.

The pavement contractors say that the paragraph in yesterday's EXAMINER, referring to the accident to the hose wagon by reason of the failure to place a danger light on some boxes on George street, is incorrect. The contractors say they are not responsible—they had finished work on George street and had removed all their own plant to Charlotte street. The town, they say, furnishes the crushed granite and is responsible for the placing and removal of the boxes containing it, one of which left on the street, and not indicated by a red light, caused the accident to the hose wagon.

DRIVING ROD BROKE.

The Flying Pieces Cut the Ends off the Ties and Tore up the Ground.

As the 9.10 evening train was pulling out for Lindsay the other evening, an accident occurred which under other circumstances might have been fraught with serious results.

The train was just pulling around the bend past Whyte's pond, when the driving rod of the locomotive broke. The two flying ends acted as a powerful brake and brought the train to a standstill almost immediately, tearing up the ground and cutting off the ends of a number of the ties as they rapidly revolved.

After the train came to a standstill, temporary repairs were effected and a return made to the station to procure another engine.

WAS BADLY BURNT.

A Little Girl's Dress Catches Fire Whilst She is Trying to put Wood in the Stove.

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. John Spinks, who reside at Blairton station, left home to do some shopping in Havelock, leaving the house in charge of their fourteen-year-old daughter and Maggie, four years old.

While the eldest daughter was putting out some clothes, the little tot endeavoured to put a stick in the stove, and while doing so her dress caught fire and in an instant she was enveloped in flames. Her cries and screams quickly brought her sister to the spot, who with great presence of mind seized a bucket of water and quenched the flames, but not until the little girl was very severely burnt.

The sufferer is now in charge of Miss Eva Denne, trained nurse, of Peterborough, and is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

The Order Established on a Substantial Basis in Peterborough.

Mr. W. J. Graves, official organizer for the Woodmen of the World, has been in town for the last two weeks, booming the local membership, and has succeeded beyond all expectation, actually securing forty-nine applications.

The initation of a number of the new members took place last evening and was a most impressive ceremony. At the conclusion all adjourned to W. J. McCallum's restaurant where a capital supper was served, and several hours passed very pleasantly in social intercourse. During the evening a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Graves for the good work which he had done during his stay in Peterborough.

Mr. Bert Wallace, Council Commander, occupied the chair during the evening.

THE INDEPENDENT PLEBISCITE MEETING.

Jupiter Pluvius Vetoes the Movement.

There was too much of the chief element of prohibition abroad last night to permit of the advertised independent prohibition plebiscite meeting in the opera house. A few persons turned out, but as the hall was not opened, they wended their way home, absorbing whether they were prohibitionists or otherwise, a satisfying sufficiency of cold water.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL.

Its Scope and All Pervading Usefulness—A Model Hospital, Home of Providence and Orphan Asylum.

One of the most useful and beneficial institutions, not only in Peterborough but in all Central Ontario, is the hospital conducted by the devoted Sisters of St. Joseph. It is conducted on the broadest lines of charity. Patients of all classes are admitted and no question is made as made as to creed or nationality. Suffice it only that some one is suffering and the good Sisters are ever ready to receive them. Large as the building appears in its commanding situation overlooking the town, it is all too small for the many calls made upon it and for the far reaching and ever-spreading scope of the work which the sisters are called upon to perform, for in addition to the work of the hospital proper there are the labours incident to the proper carrying on of its two noble annexes, viz, the House of Providence for the care of the aged and infirm persons of both sexes, of whom there are quite a number, and recently the care of a number of orphan children has been added to the care of the Sisters in charge. A small house near the hospital has been rented for the little ones, who form a bright, happy and healthy little colony on the crest of the hill. But though the labours of the Sisters are ever increasing, the same cannot be said of their income. With the additional work comes of course additional expense, with no prospect of corresponding increase of income, other than the good will of the charitably inclined, and this has been never-failing, and every appeal made has always met with a ready and generous response. The building used for a House of Providence is quite unsuitable for the purpose and a new one is urgently needed, but impossible to provide at present, but it is hoped that this may be remedied in the near future.—COM.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. James Davidson in Campbellford on Tuesday.

Campbellford Herald.

Heart failure, as the physicians term it, has claimed another victim in the person of Mrs. Davidson, wife of Mr. James Davidson, sr., whose death came suddenly on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Davidson was apparently in good health last week, but on Sunday evening she complained of severe pain, and a physician was called to see here. No danger was apprehended on Monday, and during the night she seemed to sleep soundly, except to complain a few times of pain. In the morning her condition had not improved, and at half-past seven she suddenly expired without showing any symptom that the end was near.

Mrs. Davidson was a native of Hawick, Roxborough, Scotland, and was born in the year 1831. She was married to her surviving husband in the old country at the age of 20 years. Four years subsequently she came to Canada and joined Mr. Davidson, who arrived one year earlier. The young couple settled in Northumberland county, and in the spring of 1856 they moved to Campbellford and have resided here continuously ever since that date.

Of a family of ten children there are eight who survive: James and Lizzie of Campbellford, Andrew Davidson and Mrs. John McNaughton of Norwood; Walter Davidson of Brighton; John Davidson of Fort Collins, Col.; Heatley of Detroit, Mich.; and Mrs. H. Morrison, of Havelock.

The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church from her youth, having been converted at the early age of 15 years. Her sudden call to the other world has caused deep grief to her husband an children, and sorrow to a large circle of friends. Her remains were interred at St. Andrew's burying ground in Seymour east.

It is a grand remedy for tetter, salt rheum, eczema and all skin diseases, and a never-failing cure for piles." The strongest evidence of its virtue is that doctors can so highly recommend it. WHO MAY VOTE ON SEPT. 29.

INFORMATION THAT WILL BE OF USE TO MANY CANADIANS.

The Provincial Lists for 1897 to be Used Save Where Revisions Have Been Made.

"What lists are to be used in the vote on the plebiscite on Thursday, Sept. 29th?" asked a Globe reporter of Mr. Alex. Smith, the Liberal organizer.

This is a question asked quite frequently," was the reply, "and I shall endeavour to answer this and other questions that seem to come up regularly. Without referring to the clauses of the act I may say that the law is that any person under the franchise act of any Province entitled to vote on August 1st, 1898, for a candidate for the Legislative Assembly is entitled to vote on the plebiscite unless he has become disqualified.

"In the Province of Ontario some of the municipal lists were finally certified to before August 1st, and in every such municipality the lists for the year 1898 will be used. In all other municipalities the lists of 1897 will be used."

"What about registration?"

"The law provides that when a registration list is not more than a year old (so to speak) it shall be the list to be used in any municipality where registration prevails."

"Are there any exceptions to the Provincial lists?"

"Yes, there are additions. Take the franchise act of Ontario. It specially mentions some classes of officials as not entitled to vote, but according to the new Dominion franchise act such persons, if otherwise qualified, are entitled to vote without being on the list, provided they do not refuse to take the oath as set forth in the act."

"Are the returning officers appointed for Provincial ridings or Dominion constituencies?"

"They are appointed for Dominion constituencies, but the polling divisions to be adopted are those established for the purposes of Provincial elections. Where there are no Provincial polling divisions the places fixed by the laws of the Province for taking the vote and the lists used at such places for a Provincial election shall be the places and lists to be used."

"I have seen it stated that the lists to be used in this Province are the lists used on March 1st last."

"Yes, that is true, wherever the lists have not been revised for 1898 by August 1st."

"Do I understand you, then to say that the returning officers are appointed for the Dominion constituencies; that the polling divisions to be followed are the Provincial polling divisions: that the lists to be used are the Provincial lists of 1897 or the lists of 1898 wherever the latter were completed on or before August 1st?"

"Yes, that is the law in brief (without mentioning the exception above noted, with reference to certain classes of official); but it does not always necessarily follow that because a man's name is on the list he is entitled to vote. He may, by change of residence or from other reason, have become disqualified from voting."

"Where are the lists obtained?"

"The lists for the plebiscite vote are obtainable from the local custodian. The custodian in our Province is the Clerk of the Peace."

TO ROSA D'ERINA.

Ireland's Queen of Song.

The subjoined poem, will be interesting in view of the fact of the recent attention directed to the poetical writings of Isabella Valancy Crawford, who was a resident of Peterborough 18 years ago, conjoined with the fact that Rosa D'Erina will sing in the cause of sweet charity at St. Joseph's Hospital concert on Wednesday evening, Oct. 5th:—

Ah Rosa! in that distant isle,
Where only echoes from the past,
Th' dying strains from broken harps,
Which breaking sounded to the last,
What spirit smiled upon thy birth;
What angel in thine infant ear
Sang day by day, as slumb'ring sweet
Thou smiled'st the seraph's strains to hear?
And dumbly in that infant soul
The sounds of Heaven found a rest;
Until time worked his wizard spell,
And Erin was supremely blest!

An angel winged her way at dawn,
When rosy flush'd the bright'ning wave,
Across the Isle once, still the home
Of hearts as true as they are brave!
The seraph's eyes were dewy bright,
Her pearly pinions stay'd their way,
And pausing in her starward flight,
She looked where Erin shining lay.
A land of flowers, an isle as fair
As those which float in rose and gold
Across the sunset's quiv'ring air!

"Oh, fair and blest," the spirit said,
"What added charm can I be-tow?"
When by her side a babe sent forth
One single wailing note of woe.
And by her, like the phantom mist
Which curls Lough Neagh's blue wave along,
Ere by the dawn to rose 'tis kiss't,
The spirit of departed Song
Passed pensive with her broken lyre,
And breath'd "Oh Angel! yet bestow
The priceless gift, the tuneful fire,
The voice of song, the minstrel's glow!"

The phantom faded in the dawn,
The Angel floated down and smil'd,
And stay't her flight; but where there lay
A rosy dimpled, infant child
She paus'd, and bending o'er the babe
She sang such strains of melting power
They echo'd in the infant's soul.
Thro' all her life from that sweet hour.
When Art and Time released the tones,
The echoes of that Angel strain,
Thro' Erin ran that gladsome cry,
"Departed song has come again!"

Ah Rosa! need I name the babe
Who, sleeping, caught the Angel's view—
And warbles in that seraph's voice?
Ah, Songstress Rosa! it was you!

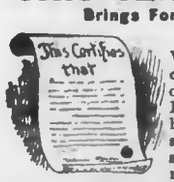
THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.



BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 3 boxes for $2, at Druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

SPAIN LIVED IN A DREAM

And Now Has to Face Reality—Statement of Admiral Cervera.

Madrid, Sept. 23.—In an interview here yesterday Admiral Cervera said he had a clear conscience regarding Santiago, "but," he added, "nations grow great by their victories and not by their defeats, however glorious they might be. Spain," he continued, "had lived in a dream, and she now had to face reality. The Spanish Admiral added that his warships were not destroyed in battle, but were destroyed by fire. General Toral, the Spanish commander who surrendered his forces at Santiago de Cuba, has also arrived here. He did so without attracting any attention and is now sick in bed.

The marked coolness of Admiral Cervera and his officers towards the Minister of Marine, Senor Aunon, is much commented upon here. Senor Aunon and his staff, in uniform, met Admiral Cervera and his party at the railroad depot.

The Admiral halted before the Minister, saluted and said, stiffly: "I am at the orders of Your Excellency. I shall present myself to the Ministry to-day, as is my duty."

The Admiral then started to leave, after embracing Capt. Eulate, the former commander of the Vizcaya, and his other comrades.

The Minister of Marine offered the use of his carriage to Admiral Cervera, but the latter declined to accept it, and entered another carriage.

THE SITUATION GRAVE.

Conflict Between Civil and Military Authorities Becoming Acute.

Paris, Sept. 23.—The situation here is generally admitted to be grave by the press and people. The conflict between the civil and military authorities is becoming acute. The sudden and unexpected action of General Zurlinden, the military governor of Paris, in prosecuting Col. Picquart on the charge of forgery, and using forged documents, assumes a grave aspect on account of the circumstances attending this intervention of the military authorities in a civil court. At the present moment, when the political atmosphere is surcharged with dangerous electricity, generated by the Dreyfus affair, the General, who has just quitted the Cabinet, defying civil authority, takes, without consulting his successor or the Premier, an important step. In ordinary circumstances, the military governor is empowered to act independently, but now that the Dreyfus question has become a great, national matter, every proceeding in the affair has state importance. General Zurlinden's ignoring this obvious fact is very significant. He comes forward as the defender of the army, the prosecutor of its supposed calumniators, and the resolute opponent of a revision of the case. From this to an appeal to the public in the line of the establishment of a dictatorship there is no wide step.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

A Session of an Hour's Duration—The Atlantic Fisheries—Many United States Delegations.

Quebec Sept. 23.—The International Commission sat for an hour yesterday morning. It is understood that the Atlantic fisheries was one of the subjects briefly considered. The festivities of the past two days have retarded business. The city is full of United States delegations, here to represent their various interests. Mr. Jones of Indiana and a delegate from New Hampshire, representing the grangers, are here to protest against the free admission of agricultural products from Canada into the United States.

Col. Tawney of Minneapolis is representing the United States lumbermen. He wants the American duty of $2 per thousand retained and wants Canadian logs free of export duty, and is pressing his views very strongly on the sympathetic American commissioners. Premier Hardy and Hon. G. W. Ross are also making their views known on the log and lumber questions and had an interview with the Canadian commissioners yesterday.

Hon. Mr. Hamlin, ex-assistant treasurer of the United States, and Colonel Clarke of the Massachusetts State Legislature, who is also secretary-treasurer of the Home Market Association of the United States, had an interview yesterday with the United States commissioners. They want it continued as it is now, while Col. Walker, who speaks for the central and southern railroads of the United States, wants the bonding privileges abolished in the interests of those who are rivals of the Canadian railways.

The citizens' ball was a great success. All the dignitaries were present from Parliament, the army and the navy. The old citizens say there was nothing to equal it since the ball to the Prince of Wales in 1860.

Yesterday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6.30 o'clock Madame Jette, wife of the Lieut.-Governor of the province, was at home to a very large number of ladies and gentlemen.

VIGOUROUS OLD AGE.

MR. WM. ELLIOTT TELLS HOW TO OBTAIN IT.

He Has Been Subject to Fainting Spells and Cramps—Was Gradually Growing Weaker and Weaker.

From the Echo, Plattsburg, Ont.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have attained a most enviable reputation in this community. Probably no other medicine has had such a large and increasing sale here. The reason is that this medicine cures. Old and young alike are benefitted by its use. Recently we printed an account of a remarkable cure of a well known lady of this place through the agency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and since publishing that we have heard of another similar case. Mr. Wm. Elliott, a farmer living near Bright, is a well-known figure there. Although an old man he almost daily walks to the village, a distance of nearly a mile, for his mail. Many years ago he came from Scotland to the farm on which he now lives and cleared it of forest. In conversation with him, he related to an Echo reporter the following: "I am 78 years of age and strong and healthy for an old man. Mine has been a vigourous constitution and up to six years ago I hardly knew what it was to have a day's illness. But then my health began to fail. I became subject to cramps in the stomach. I was treated by doctors, but received no benefit. I gradually grew weaker, and as I was past the threescore and ten I thought my time had come. Then I took fainting fits and often I would have to be carried back to the house entirely helpless. The doctors said my trouble was general weakness due to old age, and advised me to carry some stimulant with me to use when I felt a faintness coming on, but this I refused to do. I had read in the papers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and thought that they would be especially adapted to my case. I tried one box but they did not seem to help me. In fact I thought I felt worse. I decided to continue them, however, and after taking four boxes there was a marked improvement. My strength returned, and I was no longer troubled with fainting spells. In six months time with this treatment I had gained 15 pounds, taking in all eight boxes of the Pills. To-day I am a well man and I owe my complete recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills cure not by purging the system as do ordinary medicines, but by enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves. They cure rheumatism, sciatica, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, heart troubles, erysipelas and all forms of weakness. Ladies will find them an unrivalled medicine for all ailments peculiar to their sex; restoring health and vigour, and bringing a rosy glow to pale and sallow cheeks. There is no other medicine just as good. See that the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, is on every package you buy. If your dealer does not have them, they will be sent postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, New York.

PITTSBURG FORGER DISAPPEARS

After He Had Supplied Himself With Funds at Another's Expense.

Windsor, Sept. 23.—A young man giving his name as R. O. Webb of Pittsburg, Pa., came to Windsor yesterday afternoon for a few hours, and when he left he had $50 of Holton & Co.'s bank in his possession. The latter called at the bank and presented a cheque on a Pittsburg bank for $50. H. W. Holton, the acting cashier, asked the man to secure some person in the city to endorse it. He returned in a short time with the name of Arch. McNee, editor of the Record, written on the back. The money was paid over and the stranger disappeared.

Soon after it was found that Mr. McNee's endorsement was a forgery. The police were notified, but could not locate Webb.

FINISHED ITS LABORS.

The Methodist Conference Has Closed Its Session for Another Four Years—The Last Day's Work.

Toronto, Sept. 23.—Yesterday morning the Methodist General Conference resumed the consideration of the Discipline Committee's report. The election of fraternal delegates makes the Rev. W. J. Hunter, D.D., the representative to the M. E. Church of the United States, and the Rev. Dr. Breckon to Methodist Church South. Seven Ministers were also elected to the Board of Directors of the Ontario Ladies' College, and then the General Conference Committee and Court of Appeal were elected. After some sharp cross-firing between Dr. Potts and Judge Chesley, the recommendation to admit women to the offices of the church and representation in conference was squelched. The recommendation that ministers do not be allowed to join the Freemasons or similar orders was voted down. A tribute was paid to the services of Dr. McDonald, who has labored for a long time in the Japan missions.

In the afternoon everyone seemed to realize that time was money and the way the reports were disposed of looked decidedly like business. The following reports were adopted without delay: The reports on course of study, on the Sunday School and Epworth League Board, on state of work, on church property and on systematic beneficence. A fire insurance company is to be organized to carry risks on the churches, parsonages and schools belonging to the Methodist Church. The report of the Temperance Committee, which name has been changed to that of Temperance, Prohibition and Moral Reform, was also adopted.

At the evening session Rev. Dr. Rose, Rev. Thomas Crosby, Rev. T. Nixon and Dr. Bolton were chosen to present to the Dominion Government the views of the conference regarding the sale of liquor in canteens and the granting of liquor permits in the Yukon district.

The following are the other committee reports adopted: Church Union, Statistics and Schedules, Civil Privileges and Sociology.

The meeting of the next General Conference will be arranged by the General Conference Special Committee.

The thanks of the conference were tendered to all and sundry who had contributed to its success or the comfort of delegates.

And now the great conference was over. The assembly rose, gathered in groups, and, with hearty handshaking, wished their friends "godspeed."

To-day these men will return to their homes, and for another quadrennium care for the spiritual welfare of their flocks.

PERHAPS "THE DEWEY ISLANDS."

Congressmen Favor This Name if Philippines Are Secured.

Washington, Sept. 23.—If all the Philippines are taken by the United States, Congress will probably rename them. Many of the Senators and Representatives who have visited here lately have suggested that the new possessions be called the "Dewey Islands."

Congress will have the task of renaming all the islands which have recently come into possession of the United States. The Republic of Hawaii will be changed into the "Territory of Hawaii," and the Island of Porto Rico will probably be known as the "Territory of Porto Rico."

In Custody Again.

Hamilton, Sept. 23.—A. L. Stares, the furniture dealer, and his clerk, W. B. Cook, found themselves once more in custody yesterday. The adjourned charges against them, conspiracy to defraud creditors, and theft, were called at the Police Court, and as no witnesses were called for the defence, they were sent up for trial. The magistrate declined to accept bail and application was made to the County Judge, who fixed the amount at $1,200 and to $600 sureties for each. Bail was not forthcoming and the defendants were held.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 19—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co. tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that to-day I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

HE WILL LIVE.

Because There Is No Law for Hanging in Switzerland—Prison for Life Is Luccesi's Fate.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 24.—Luccesi, the Anarchist slayer of Empress Elizabeth, will not suffer death for his crime.

Capital punishment is not inflicted in Switzerland, and there is no longer talk of extradition. The Swiss are too conservative to disregard their national constitution, which provides in precise, positive language that persons who commit crimes in Swiss territory must be judged by Swiss courts. It is not believed that extradition will be demanded, but if it is it will be refused.

Luccesi's fate is settled. He will be confined for life in St. Antoine Prison, in Geneva. He will have to work at shoemaking every day, except Sunday, and he never will be permitted to speak a word to anybody except the prison guard.

It is a miserable existence.

The only other life prisoner in Geneva is a parricide, who is said to be rapidly giving way under the terrible strain.

It will be particularly hard for Luccesi, for he loves, above all things, to talk.

The trial probably will not take place before November.

Much of the artificial coloring of foods is traditional and not meant to deceive. Thus candies are colored obviously to please the eye and add to the attractiveness of the confectioner's showcase, and likewise butter and mustard are colored with no intent to spoil their purity.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, same policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

The drummer who tries to talk a merchant into purchasing a bill of goods may be handicapped by a face rendered unsightly by pimples and blotches and by a foul breath. Some men imagine that bad health does not handicap them in business. A bigger mistake was never made. The slightest disorder may be the biggest kind of a detriment to a business man. An unsightly skin is caused by impurities of the blood. A foul breath means a weak stomach, an impaired digestion and an inactive liver. A sweet breath means that the stomach is sweet, the digestion good, the liver active and the bowels regular. It is an indication of a thoroughly constitutional sweetness. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach, facilitates the flow of digestive juices, gives edge to the appetite, makes digestion and assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It is the great blood-purifier. It makes the eye brighter, the skin clearer, the breath sweeter and the step more elastic. It imparts both mental and bodily activity. It cures all diseases resulting from impurities in the blood. Found at all medicine stores.

"I was a complete wreck; appetite gone, nervous system impaired; could not sleep; and was so weak that I could not stand on my feet ten minutes," writes Miss Ella Bartley, of No. 213½ South Grant Ave., Columbus, Ohio. "I only weighed 95½ pounds. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured me and now I have an excellent appetite, sleep soundly and my friends say they never saw me so well."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."

The Northwest Indian and His Ways.

The Indian of the plains is a far more picturesque individual than his brother or cousin of the coast. He does not erect totem poles and has no timber for the purpose if so inclined, but he is sufficiently spectacular himself without resorting to grotesque carvings and painted wood. His saddle, with its leather hangings and wooden stirrups, is in itself a remarkable aggregation, and when set off with his goods and chattels tied in bags, rags, strings and straps, the effect is remarkable. He wears the cast off garments of his white brother in such original combinations that he looks like the personification of a secondhand store. Sometimes the adoption of a pair of guernseys as an external covering gives him quite an athletic appearance. He wears his hair in Gertrude braids, and prefers earrings about the size of half dollar coins. A mosquito net or handkerchief is his favorite head covering, and if he assumes a hat it is as an additional and purely ornamental appendage.—Detroit Free Press.

APPALLING DEATH

From Kidney Disease Prevented by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? It means that the kidneys are either rotten, or rotting; the blood is full of poisonous, death-dealing corruption; that the Kidneys can't do their work; that the victim is a walking charnel-house; that his hours are numbered; that the victim MUST take Dodd's Kidney Pills if he does not want to die.

Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

THE COOL GAMBLER.

HOW HE BETS, WINS AND LOSES AT MONTE CARLO.

A Scene by Night In the Great Gilded Den at Monaco—Tempting Fickle Fortune as a Cold Blooded Business Transaction—A Lucky English Couple.

Not to see the gambling rooms at Monte Carlo by night would be to miss the grand show of the place. There are not people enough in the town to make up the crowds that press through the big corridor and the atrium in the evening. They come in trains from all the neighboring places—from Cannes, Nice, San Remo, Mentone, sometimes from as far as Genoa. People ride down from Paris, 20 hours in the rapide, just for a little "shy" at the tables. All outside is as bright as day, though chilly.

When I set out for the casino, I came upon a young English couple standing near the big fountain, discussing something with great earnestness. They were good looking, well dressed, with something of an air of a bridal couple. What became of them at the moment I did not notice, and inside I stood for a few minutes watching the roulette tables. Ten minutes later I went into the trente et quarante room and met them just inside the big arched doorway. They were on their way out. Her rosy cheeks were rosier than before, and her face was wreathed in smiles. He was fairly radiant and looked "very fit," as the Londoners say. In one hand he held a great bundle of French notes, all stretched out at full length, just as they came from the tables. It took no great shrewdness to see that for ten minutes they had been leading active, industrious lives and had reaped the reward of industry and virtue and were getting out of the place before they were tempted to try again and lose.

One elderly gentleman was at the moment doing the leading business in that room and attracting the most attention by risking ten 1,000 franc notes ($2,000) at every dealing of the cards. He was particularly interesting to me, because he was beyond doubt an American. He was a fine looking man, with gray hair, iron gray beard, well trimmed, a shrewd eye that watched every move the dealer made, and of course in the regulation black evening clothes. His face showed him to be a man who had made his money, not inherited it. I think that lumber was the foundation of his fortune in the northwest somewhere, but long enough ago to give him time to have the sawdust brushed out of his clothes, for he was very smooth and well groomed. Not a word was said around the table, so there was no chance to hear what language he spoke. He was one of those men who would not look at all out of place leading a prayer meeting, but who might be depended upon for a ready revolver if he caught the dealer at any foul play.

The notes came out of one of his vest pockets, but not carelessly. There was none of the usual effort to look as if risking $2,000 every three minutes was an everyday affair with him. He did everything with caution, always deliberating over what square he should lay his money upon, and sometimes changing it to some other square after he had laid it down. But whether he won or lost he showed no emotion whatever. He won oftener than he lost while I watched him, putting the winnings always into the same vest pocket. At one time the banker made a mistake in duplicating a pile of his notes that had won, but this did not bring a word from him. His eyes were open, and instead of picking up the pile he merely pushed it back toward the banker, which was a sufficient hint for a recount. When the mistake was corrected and the missing note supplied, he added the pile to the big lump in his pocket.

Like almost every player around the trente et quarante tables, he was there strictly for business. It was not a few dollars laid on for the novelty of the thing, but a deliberate speculation in the hope of winning. My experience of gambling houses is fortunately rather limited, but I have seen the big places of Saratoga and Long Branch and one or two in New York and some very large ones in Cuba and Mexico. Never have I seen such a businesslike air in any gambling room as there is here. You may not be wicked enough to know that generally a great deal of smoking and drinking and some eating go with fashionable gambling, but that is the case. The sideboard is almost as necessary as the tables, and George and Sambo and Henry are kept busy carrying champagne and cocktails to the thirsty players. This is pure business with "the house," even where these things are not charged for, for does not a man become the more reckless the more alcohol he absorbs?

But there is none of that here. There is no smoking in the rooms, and no drinks are served at the tables. As far as I have seen, there is no place in the casino building where drinks can be had, though possibly there may be some cozy corners that I have not discovered. It is as much a business house as a wholesale dry goods store, and the profits are larger for the firm. This gives it a very cold blooded atmosphere, for there is not a particle of interest in either of the games outside of the financial risks involved. They are stupid games of doctored chance that a navvy can play as well as an arithmetician.—New York Times.

COMES TO THE AID OF

Catarrh Sufferers

SUCCESS in life is almost impossible for a man with bad breath. Nobody wants to do business with him. Nobody wants to associate with him. He is handicapped everywhere. Offensive breath comes from Catarrh; sometimes from Catarrh of the Stomach, sometimes of the lungs, sometimes of the head, nose, and throat. It is from Catarrh somewhere, and Catarrh is another name for uncleanness.

Many men understand this, and make every effort to cure it, but it is beyond the reach of ordinary practice.

No self-respecting man can ignore Catarrh. If he has it in any form he makes constant effort to be rid of it.

There is something about the manner of life and the climate of Canada that seems to breed diseases of the mucous membrane. Medical science ordinarily doesn't try to cure Catarrh; it "relieves" it; but Dr. Chase has been curing Catarrh for over thirty years, and his name is blessed by thousands who have shaken off the grasp of this insidious disease.

Sold by all dealers, price 25 cents per box, blower free.

THE ROYAL BOX.

It is said that the Duchess of Fife is very nervous and shy when in the presence of her grandmother.

The queen of Roumania has been made a member of the St. Petersburg Academy of Science in recognition of her literary talents.

The emperor of Austria intends to create a new order for ladies only in commemoration of his jubilee and to associate it in some way with the empress. There exists already an order of Elizabeth-Theresa.

The most striking necklace worn at any European court is said to be one owned by Princess Dolgorouki of Russia. It is composed of innumerable diamonds, rubies and emeralds strung on tiny wires, woven into the form of a snake.

ANIMAL ODDITIES.

Ornithologists have discovered that crows have no less than 27 cries, each distinctly referable to a different action.

The bloodhound, it is claimed, is not a ferocious animal; but, on the contrary, an exceedingly benevolent one, ranking in this respect with the St. Bernard.

Fire will frighten almost any creature, but it has no terrors for the driver ant, which will dash at a glowing coal, fix its jaws in the burning mass and shrivel up in the heat.

Among the queen ants captured in and around Bulawayo, for which a prize of half a crown is paid by the sanitary board, have been some specimens measuring 4½ inches and as thick as a man's thumb.

"SLEEP AND REST"

Are Necessary to the Full Enjoyment of Perfect Health and Strength.

A Sick Stomach Cannot do it's Work Properly—Dyspepsia Results Unless You Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

There's a time for work and a time for sleep.

This rule applies to man and beast.

It was made by the All-Wise Creator who knows what is best for us.

When we are sleeping our organs should be resting. If they do not get proper rest, they become "played out," just as we do ourselves.

Thousands—yes hundreds of thousands of persons refuse their stomachs the privilege they grant to their horses and dogs—rest.

They keep late hours, attend late dinners, etc., and force the stomach to do ten times the work it is able to do.

The consequence is that the stomach breaks down. It can't digest the food. The supply of rich blood is decreased. The nerves, muscles and bones are starved.

And yet people wonder why they have Dyspepsia or Indigestion!

It is useless to ask people to give up late hours, late dinners, their clubs and other Dyspepsia-breeding pleasures.

But they can enjoy these so-called pleasures, and yet escape their penalties.

How?

By using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—one or two after each meal.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tone, strengthen and invigorate the stomach, and enable it to digest the food properly. They themselves digest the food until the stomach can do so.

Thus they keep the body in uniform, robust health. Try them and prove to your own satisfaction that this is so.

THE COOKBOOK.

A few grains of salt sprinkled on coffee before adding the water bring out and improves the flavor.

A few thin slices of sour apples added to a salad of water cress, dressed with a French dressing, will be found an improvement.

To keep parsley a good color for parsley sauce, tie it into a bunch, throw into boiling water and boil after the parsley has been added.

Cold boiled, baked and broiled fish may be made into devilled fish, fish croquettes, a la creme or may be served on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing for luncheon salad.

Tongues, whether smoked or corned, should always be soaked in cold water for at least 18 hours before covering. Then put into cold water, simmer slowly till tender and let stand in the water till cold. Serve cold and cut in thin slices.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Keep big lumps of charcoal in dark, damp corners to purify the air.

New irons, such as sadirons, frying pans or waffle irons, should be heated slowly, or they will be likely to crack.

Bamboo splits when it gets very dry, as it will in steam and furnace heated houses. A rub with oil will prevent its drying and will keep it fresh looking.

To put wide wicks in lamps or oil stoves thoroughly starch, dry and iron the wick, and it will slip in easily without interference with its duty as conductor of oil.

To clean sewing machines, cover all the bearings with kerosene oil, work the machine quickly for a few minutes, then thoroughly rub all the oil off with rags and apply machine oil to the parts which need oiling.

Did it ever occur to you how systematic nature is in cleaning up the remnants of one season to make room for the blossoming of another? She always employs the sharp blasts of winter to cut loose the Autumn leaves, rather than have them on the trees to be pushed off by spring buds. Shall we be less enterprising and allow summer Hats and Caps to remain until pushed aside by the heavy stock of Fall and Winter goods? No indeed! So here they go.

These Hats and Caps are the remaining summer stock; fine for fall, because present styles are very much like them, all the difference is most of the Summer Hats are a little lighter in weight and colours, but, we offer all $2.50 qualities for $1.25, all $2.00 qualities for $1.00, all $1 50 qualities for 75c. These prices stand for more hat-goodness than we ever offered at the price before—cost is not considered.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

THE WHEEL.

Bicycle racing records have suffered severely at the hands of American riders this season. The result is that, with a few minor exceptions, all of the important world's records are now held by Americans. American riders had been trying for years to bring two important world's records back to America—records for the one mile and for the greatest distance in one hour. Both feats have been accomplished recently. "Major" Taylor, the negro rider from Indianapolis, established a new record for the mile in July, when he covered that distance, in competition, from a standing start, in 1 min. 41 2 5 seconds. This record has been held abroad for four years. Taylor is a picturesque and interesting figure among the racing men. As long as the racing is controlled by the League of American Wheelmen, the "colour line" is not likely to be drawn, and if a negro is fast enough and his epidermis is thick enough to withstand the epithets and remarks of the white-skinned competitors, his entry cannot be refused. Taylor has been racing several years. Last season he finished well up in the percentage table and this year he has lowered the colours of every professional in the circuit—Bald, Cooper, McFarland, Gardiner, all have been defeated by him—and he is pushing Bald closely for the championship of 1898. Bald is the only man who can defeat the sturdy negro and the latter would not, probably, have occupied the position he does, had it not been for an accident which befel the Buffalo champion and put him out of the circuit for over two weeks. Taylor is out to win this year's championship when his revenge would be complete for all the indignities he has been subjected to and which were borne uncomplainingly. He has been "pocketed" and jockeyed, but he has kept his temper and his conduct has been unimpeachable. At the same time he has been riding like a perfect demon, to use the words of the racing reporters, and it will be necessary for Bald to avoid an accident before or during the St. Louis meet on October 8th, when the championship races with the extra points are run, and to defeat the negro, if Taylor's name does not head the list at the close of the season.

Harry Elkes, in his recent match race with Tom Linton, of Wales, covered 31 miles 1,220 yards in one hour, eclipsing the new-made record of Edouard Taylore, the Frenchman, who has been riding in this country this year. When it is stated that all but the first mile were ridden inside of two minutes each, an idea of the achievement is given. The two new world's records, Taylor's and Elke's were eagerly welcomed by American wheelmen, as they were the only two of any consequence that did not decorate the American list.

Tom Linton and Harry Elkes have both lowered middle distance records many times this year. Elkes is a rider of great promise, and came to the front rapidly. Linton is Great Britain's pride as a paced rider. The two men were believed to be evenly matched until Elkes rode his record breaking hour race against Linton at Manhattan beach in July.

In unpaced bicycle racing Fred Titus of New York has done much to make American records the world's records. He is considered to be the best man in the world at that form of the sport, and seldom fails to win such competitions. Middle-distance racing without pacemakers is much more difficult and less spectacular than paced racing. It does not arouse so much interest in the contestants. But careful students of the subject maintain that it is the real test of ability; that in an unpaced race a man must depend upon himself and resources alone. In paced races he follows his pacing crews by an unusual influence over his will power. Be that as it may, the fact remains that men make better time in paced races than when riding alone.

Edward A. McDuffee, a young New England rider, holds the palm this year for world's record breaking in middle-distance paced racing. He has cut into existing figures 66 times since the opening of the racing season, and scarcely understands what defeat means. The climate in the Eastern States, in the summer months seems to be conducive to fast riding. That fact is admitted by the British and French racing men who have been competing here this summer. They say also that the American pacing teams have shown such remarkable improvement during the past twelve months that their work excels that of any other teams in the world.

Unquestionably, the most successful follower of pacing machines on the race track is Jimmy Michael, the Midget Welshman, who has enveloped himself in the Stars and Stripes and now claims to be an American. He has not broken as many records this year as McDuffee or Linton, but that is because he has not taken part in as many races as either of the other men. Michael's work is pleasing always to the spectators, because he is in such thorough accord with his pacemakers and follows them as though he were a part of their machine. One of the most attractive sights on a bicycle track is to see Michael change from one pacemaking machine to another without losing an inch of ground, and apparently without special effort.

George Banker, the Pittsburg professional, did as much in one act at the world's championship meeting at Vienna on Sunday, September 4th, to maintain the superiority of the American racing man as the followers of the banked track at home have done all summer. The one-mile professional world's championship is the most important cycling event of the year, and it was won by Banker against a field which included the most famous racing men of the world. Pitted against him in the race were Meyers (Dutch), Chinn, Barden, Jenkins, Parlby, Chase (English), Arend (German), Vanden Born, Delu, Broka, Crogna and Protin (Belgian), Jaap Eden (Dutch), Thorwald and Ellegard (Dadish), and Bourillon, Morin, Deschamps and Jacquelin (French). The international meet was was held for the first time in this country in 1894, at Chicago, under the auspices of the L.A.W. In 1895 it was held at Antwerp, in 1896 at Copenhagen, in 1897 at Glasgow, and in 1898 at Vienna. The one-mile championship of the World for amateurs was won by Zimmerman in 1893, by August Lehr in 1894, by Jaap Eden in 1895, by Reynolds (Irish) in 1896, and by Schrader (Danish) in 1897. The one-mile championship for professionals, dating from 1895, was won first by Protin, the Belgian, over Banker. Owing to a dispute the race was ordered run over at Paris a short time later, when Banker had a walk-over. Protin refused to compete. Bourillon won the event in 1896 and Arend in 1897.

CUTICURA

WORKS WONDERS.

A Remarkable Cure of Sore Eyes And Sight Restored.

I am a graduate of Oberlin College, taught long enough after I graduated to have them give me the Honorary degree, and I have a great many acquaintances in and around Boston. About three years ago my son brought home a box of CUTICURA (ointment), and I picked up the circular that was around it, and learned about the CUTICURA SOAP, and told him to get me a cake. When I got it, the circular advised its use for the bath, teeth, scalp, etc. I had been a great sufferer all my life from sore eyelids, the whole lid outside and in was red as a beet. I had to sit in a dark room, evenings, for eight and a half years, and wear black spectacles to keep the sun from my eyes in the daytime. When I got the CUTICURA SOAP, I got a fine, soft cloth, dipped it in hot water and rubbed it on the soap and washed my eyes with it. I can't tell you how much good it has done me, although it smarted very much at first. My eyes are as clear and bright as when I was a young lady. I had to go backwards in getting spectacles and wear No. 15, the same as I did twenty years ago, I can read medium sized print in daylight without any spectacles. As a matter of course I am kind of a walking advertisement of CUTICURA. People will call to me when I am going along the street and tell me how much good my CUTICURA SOAP has done their eyes.

Mrs. M. R. CONGDON,
Jan. 18, '97. 26 No. Cedar Avenue, Oberlin, O.

☞ We take pleasure in publishing this testimonial as showing the interest taken in CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the various uses made of them not anticipated or suggested by us. We cannot, of course, anticipate how CUTICURA SOAP will work in cases similar to the above, but to those who desire to try it we would suggest beginning with a very weak solution or "suds" of warm water and CUTICURA SOAP until its action is determined. For inflamed, granulated, or eczematous eyelids, light applications of CUTICURA ointment will in most cases be found to work wonders.

MILLBROOK BURGLARY.

The Clever Scheme by Which the Thieves Were Detected and Caught in the Act.

(Millbrook Reporter.)

For some time past Mr. A. Leach, proprietor of the liquor store on Tupper street, Millbrook, has had very good reason for believing that some of his choice brands were disappearing without necessary increase of the contents of the till, and supposing that the wine clerks of the establishment were strictly temperate, the only explanation that presented itself was that ousiders in some mysterious manner had access to the building. Accepting this supposition Mr. Leach at once set a trap for the capture of the supposed burglars, and a scheme of ingenious invention was contrived through which electric bell communication was arranged between the store and a vacant room in the block close by, and comfortable quarters furnished for the chief of police, who, we understand, has occupied the apartment for the past month, but without the capture of the manipulators of the false key. On Friday night last, however, Mr. Leach's sons, Lieut. Wm., George and Charles, thought they "smelled a mouse," seeing the parties whom they had looked upon suspiciously in the neighbourhood of the store, cunningly put in motion the necessary strategy to mislead the suspects, which they succeeded well in doing, as after events proved. They announced their attention of going home for the night and immediately started in that direction, but no sooner entered the front door than they left by the back and made a bee line for their signal room the back way. They only had time to screw up their courage and see that their weapons of defence were in working order when the "gong" sounded and they were made aware that their presence was required below. Upon reaching the store and entering the front door, which was already unlocked, they were confronted by two residents of our own town, having in their possession no less a luxury than about a dozen sealed bottles of Birch's Irish Whiskey. Lieut. Leach immediately presented his "little musket" and ordered the enemy to "face about and disgorge their plunder." One of them made for the cellar while the other started for the front door, but Billy took him in his arms, laid him gently down on the floor and sat on him. In the meantime Mr. Leach and the Chief arrived on the scene and after the man in the cellar was brought forth and a verbal castigation administered the guilty ones were allowed to depart. Mr. Leach, out of the tenderness of his heart and respect for the friends of the parties has refrained from putting the law in motion to effect their punishment, and whether this is the most sensible course to pursue we are not prepared to say, but there is one thing certain some action should be taken to put a stop to the petty thieving that has been carried on in the village with impunity for a number of years past. The chicken roost abomination has commenced again and we understand the season opened with all the old-time festivities, and no doubt some of our citizens are minus at least a portion of their flock of spring chickens, as lock and key is no barrier to this class of marauders and we have been informed that their principal rendezvous this year is situated in the north-east portion of the town, and perhaps a police raid some night, if as well arranged as the recent capture, might tend toward a discontinuance of the annoying practice.

LAKEFIELD.

Unusual Enterprise by Merchants in Displaying Their Goods.

(From Our Own Reporter.)

During the days of the Fair our merchants vied with each other in making attractive store displays of their goods. A number of them were quite enterprising in the special efforts put forth to attract the visiting farmers, who patrolled the streets in large numbers, and from enquiries made, they were well repaid for their trouble.

Mr. W. H. Casement made a large and varied display of cooking and heating stoves and family ranges. The store, on the east and south sides, was surrounded with the different makes of the most popular stoves for the farmer, and while it has been generally remarked by merchants that the farmers don't come to buy on fair days, but to see the fair, this was not true on this occasion, as Mr. Casement had a very busy day.

Messrs. Graham & Son took advantage of the occasion to hold their millinery opening, which was well attended by the ladies. The decorations of their millinery parlours were very creditable to Miss Symington, the head milliner, and her staff of assistants. The red, white and blue bunting over the mirrors was quite suggestive of how patriotism can be appropriately blended with millinery, and the display of coloured silks, satins and pretty drapings give a gay appearance to the display of goods. There were shown numerous examples of the trimmers' skill in trimmed hats and bonnets, introducing the fashionable styles for autumn wear. There was also a large selection of the newest hat shapes feathers, tips, spangles, shirred silks, sapphire and other shades of velvet, tartan ribbons, etc. Graham & Son also show a fine selection of imported jackets and capes, fancy dress goods, neck wear, underwear, gloves, etc., together with pretty designs of children's tams and toques. The rooms attracted a large crowd of interested ladies.

None of the furniture dealers exhibited at the show this year, but instead made made an attractive display in front of their stores.

Mr. Joseph Doughty, who recently moved into Lakefield from Warsaw, and started a new stove and tin store in one of Mr. Thos. Hendren's buildings on the front street, also made a good store display of his wares, inside and outside. Mr. Doughty reports numerous sales during Thursday and is well pleased with his prospects for business.

The waggon and buggy builders were kept quite busy. Mr. McWilliams had a display in the main building, which was a centre of attraction by all interested. Mr. J. H. Davis is preparing for a brisk fall's trade. He has now a well equipped carriage shop, and orders are coming in quite merrily from various sections of the country.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE—Who sells the cheapest goods — the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold? Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

BRITISH AT FASHODA.

French Refused to Go, But the Sirdar Hoisted the Flags

AND LEFT TROOPS ON GUARD.

The British Chinese Squadron Sails Under Sealed Orders—Ominous Appearance of Matters in the Far East—The Dowager Empress and Li Hung Chang Again in Power.

London, Sept. 26.—The Daily Telegraph's Cairo correspondent, telegraphing to-day (Monday) says: General Kitchener found the French at Fashoda. He notified Major Marchand that he had express instructions that the territory was British, and the French must retire, and offered them passage to Cairo. Major Marchand absolutely declined to retire unless ordered to do so by his Government. No fighting occurred. Major Marchand was given clearly to understand that the British insisted upon their claims, and the rest has been left to be settled by diplomacy between the respective Governments.

General Kitchener sent a long official despatch to London, hoisted the Union Jack and the Egyptian ensign, and left as a garrison the 11th and 13th Soudanese Battalions and the Cameron Highlanders to protect the British flag. Col. Jackson commands the garrison.

Kitchener at Omdurman.

Cairo, Sept. 26.—General Kitchener, commanding the Anglo-Egyptian expedition, has returned to Omdurman, having established posts at Fashoda and on the Sebat River. The troops did no fighting except with a Dervish steamer on the way south, which was captured.

Last of the Dervishes Crushed.

Suakim, Sept. 26.—The only organized remnant of the Khalifa's army was defeated and its last stronghold, Gedaref, captured on Sept. 22, after three hours' hard fighting, when an Egyptian force numbering 1,800, under command of Col. Parsons, routed 3,000 Dervishes, of whom 500 were killed. Three British officers were wounded and 37 Egyptian soldiers killed and 50 wounded.

Gallant 21st to Have a Rest.

London, Sept. 26.—It is reported that the War Office has granted to the 21st Infantry a short furlough in recognition of its bravery at Omdurman. Otherwise the regiment would have gone direct from Egypt to India for a two years' stay. According to report, it has now been arranged that the regiment shall first come to London and march with full equipment from the docks to the Knights' Bridge Barracks, receiving an ovation throughout the march. A committee, composed of all branches of the military service, are making arrangements to present the regiment with a gold shield commemorative of its famous charge at Omdurman.

KANG YUWEI'S STORY.

China's Emperor Warned Him to Leave —Chinese Ins and Outs.

London, Sept. 26.—The Times' Shanghai correspondent telegraphs: "On the arrival of Kang Yuwei at Wu Hung he was placed on board the steamer Ballarat, which sails for Hong Kong to-morrow. In the course of an interview yesterday he stated that he left Pekin on Tuesday in compliance with a secret message from the Emperor warning him of his danger and urging him to obtain assistance from those interested in the country's welfare. He further stated that recent events were entirely due to the action of the Manchu party, headed by the Dowager Empress and Viceroy Yung Lu, and including all the high Manchu officials. The latter were displeased by the Emperor's leaning toward the reform party, and decided to restore the regency of the Dowager. The Dowager Empress' party is bound by an understanding with the Russians, whereby the latter, in consideration of support of Russian interests, undertake to preserve Manchuria as the seat of the dynasty and to maintain Manchu rule in China. In pursuance of this compact the gradual substitution of Manchus in all high offices and military commands began last year, under the direction of the Dowager, thus creating a series of friction with the Emperor, whose dethronement was frequently threatened. The present Government is entirely Manchu as opposed to Chinese. The influence of Li Hung Chang is now subordinate to that Yung Lu, and is likely to decrease.

"The Emperor's health is excellent and his capacity for work and eagerness for progress are remarkable. His Majesty is convinced, however, that it will be impossible to overcome the opposition without the assistance of England, which he endeavored to obtain for his recent progressive measures.

"Kang Yuwei urges that England now has an opportunity to intervene and restore the Emperor to the throne, by doing which, he asserts, she will earn the gratitude of the Chinese people. He also observes that unless protection is afforded to the victims of the coup d' etat it will be impossible henceforth for any native official to support British interests."

British Consul Protests.

Shanghai, Sept. 26.—The British Consul has entered a protest against the action of the Chinese officials in stopping the steamer Eldorado and searching her for Kang, the Cantonese reformer.

It is reported that Admiral Seymour, the British naval commander, contemplates landing a party of sailors and marines at Ta Ku. The Taotai (governor) has asked the assistance of the British Consul in capturing Kang, whom he describes as a degraded criminal. There is no doubt that if he is arrested he will be promptly executed.

Railroad Communication Stopped.

Berlin, Sept. 26.—The Frankfurter Zeitung's Tien Tsin correspondent says that railroad communication between that place and Pekin is stopped. There are serious rumors concerning the situation in the capital.

THE FLEET SAILS.

The British Chinese Squadron on the Move With Sealed Orders—May Demonstrate at Pekin's Port.

Wei Hai Wei, Sept 26.—The British battleship Centurion, flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir Edward H. Seymour, the commander of the British fleet in Chinese waters, sailed suddenly on Friday, under sealed orders, accompanied from Che-Foo by the battleship Victorious, the first class cruiser Narcissus, the second-class cruiser Hermione, the torpedo boat destroyer Fame, the torpedo boat destroyer Hart and the despatch boat Alacrity. It is supposed that the destination of the fleet is Ta Ku, at the entrance of the river leading to Tien Tsin, the port of Pekin, for the purpose of making a naval demonstration there.

Kang Finds a Refuge.

Shanghai, Sept. 25.—It is reported that Kang Yuwei, the Cantonese reformer, who is accused by the Dowager Empress of being implicated in designs on the Emperor's life, and who recently fled from Pekin, arrived at Woo Sung, near here, on Saturday, and took refuge on board a British gunboat.

RUSSIA OFFERS TROOPS.

Czar's Minions Incensed Because Their Game Has Been Blocked.

London, Sept 26.—A special despatch from Shanghai says that Kang Yuwei's brother has been arrested in Pekin and condemned to death. The despatch also says that Sir Claude McDonald, the British Minister, gave instructions that Kang Yuwei should be protected from arrest. The British Consulate holds his baggage and documents referring to state secrets. The Russians are incensed at the latter fact and it is reported that Russia has offered the Dowager Empress the service of 10,000 troops from Port Arthur to keep order in Pekin if necessary. It is stated that the British fleet in Chinese waters has been divided between Ta Ku and Shanghai, under orders to intercept Russian transports in the event of an attempt to land troops.

Sixty-two Children.

A remarkable tale of human fecundity is told by the London Daily News. An Italian peasant woman named Granata, married at 28 years, has borne 62 children. She began with a single daughter, followed by six boys at a birth, then by five more, and these by triplets twice and four at a birth. After this she limited herself, like ordinary women, to single babies and twins, but wound up with another batch of four.

A Military Dictatorship or a Revolution Equally Possible.

REVISION AGAIN POSTPONED.

An Infamous Story—How the Evidence Against Dreyfus Was Manufactured —The Bordereau Written by Major Esterhazy—Confession of the Vile Plot to Be Published in Book Form.

London, Sept. 26.—The alarming situation in France rivets the attention of Europe. The excitement is increasing hourly, new revelations and developments are expected and a military coup d'etat would not surprise anybody.

Slight demonstrations were made late Sunday afternoon, but the crowds which gathered were quickly dispersed by the police.

Further Postponed.

Paris, Sept. 26.—The Cabinet met on Saturday and decided to postpone its decision on the quest on of the proposed revision of the Dreyfus case until to-day, owing to the absence from the meeting of the Minister of Finance, M. Peytral, and the Minister of Agriculture, M. Viger.

ESTERHAZY'S CONFESSION.

He Forged the Principal Document Used Against Dreyfus—How the German Sign Manual Was Affixed.

London, Sept. 26.—Grant Richards, publisher, has secured the publication rights of Major Esterhazy's confession of his connection with the Dreyfus case. The statement will be contained in a book of the size of the ordinary six shilling novel, and will be issued as soon as possible.

The Observer yesterday morning continues its Esterhazy revelations, which began last Sunday, in a long article, the most salient feature of which is Comte Esterhazy's disclosure, made, it is asserted, in the presence of more persons than one, that he was the author of the famous Dreyfus bordereau, which he wrote "at the request of Col. Sandherr, now dead."

"It was intended," he said, "to constitute material proof of Dreyfus' guilt. It was known through a French spy in the service at Berlin that certain documents had reached the German general staff which Dreyfus alone could have obtained. It was a list of these documents which constituted the bordereau. Dreyfus had been tested in several ways. For instance, a plan for the concentration of troops on the southeastern frontier had been dictated to him, which was quite fantastic. A short time afterwards our spies in Italy informed us that the Italian staff was making modifications in the fortifications around Nice, which corresponded to the changes announced in the imaginary scheme dictated to Dreyfus.

"Then Dreyfus managed to spend long holidays in Alsace without being apparently found out by the German authorities—a very suspicious sign, for it was almost impossible for a French officer to remain for any length of time in the conquered provinces without being found out. In fact, there was considerable moral proof against Dreyfus before the trial took place, but no material proof.

"Col. Sandherr, who was an Alsatian, like Dreyfus, but intensely anti-Semitic, determined to forge this proof. He was convinced of the accused man's guilt, but it was necessary, for the purposes of the court-martial, that documents should exist.

"I was attached to the intelligence department, my duty being to watch the movements of military attaches accredited by the powers of the Triple Alliance. When Col. Sandherr told me to write out the bordereau, I did so without the slightest compunction. I am one of those men who, soldiers by profession, cling to old mediæval traditions of military discipline. When I received an order I obeyed it implicitly and without question. I wrote the bordereau because Col. Sandherr told me to do so. I knew, of course, the purposes it was intended to serve. I knew I was committing a forgery, but I also knew that all intelligence departments in all countries were run on precisely the same lines and that it was impossible to achieve results in any other way.

"In the Von Tausch case, for instance, which made so great a sensation in Germany, Major Von Tausch confessed to having committed forgery, adding that that crime was nothing to the infamies the Berlin staff had forced him to commit in connection with other matters. Therefore, the court attempted to silence him. He ultimately received the minimum punishment prescribed, and has since been released long before his time.

"It is nearly always necessary to manufacture material evidence against spies, because otherwise they would never be punished. The bordereau having been written, it became a necessity to give it the indispensable air of an authentic document, as you know it was supposed to have been stolen from the German Embassy. Col. Schwarskoppen (formerly German military attache in Paris) denied ever having seen it. What he said was perfectly true. The bordereau was handed by an agent of our intelligence department to the porter of the German Embassy, who was a spy in our service. The porter gave it to another agent named Genest and by him it was brought to the intelligence department and there docketed and numbered as a document obtained from the German Embassy in the usual course. It thus received official baptism.

"It was exclusively upon the evidence of the bordereau that Dreyfus was condemned. The document privately shown to the officers of the court-martial was fetched from the War Office with the object of convincing the judges, should they show signs of wavering. It was the letter containing the 'Ds Canaille de D——.' Now, this letter, which is genuine and was really written by Col. Shwarskoppen, did not refer to Dreyfus at all. The general staff was absolutely aware of the fact that 'D——' was a certain Delfus, a building contractor, who before had supplied the German attache with plans of the fortifications near Nice."

DEFENDING CORRUPTION.

"The Mail's views of the South Ontario election case are remarkable enough to quote. Here are some of them:

"'The South Ontario election trial unseated Charles Calder, the able and popular representative of the constituency. But where does it leave Mr. Dryden? We rather think that if Mr. Dryden was out of it politically before the trial opened, he is in an infinitely worse plight now; for it seems clear that it was selfishness that prompted the effort to set aside the verdict which the people gave, and of which the entire country approved.'

"The 'verdict the people gave?' Yes, at $2 and $5 each in cash, and for half a ton of coal each. Is that the sort of verdict of the people of which the Mail wishes Mr. Calder to hold the seat? And at that, only 12 charges were gone into out of 136.

"'Followed by a prolonged fishing tour on Honest John's behalf. The constituency has been gone over with a dragnet for a double purpose.'

"A prolonged fishing tour (for evidence) of two days in court after which the defence threw up the case.

"Several electors are said to have received small sums from him—one of them a recent inmate of the Kingston Penitentiary and of the Central Prison.'

"Well, the man swears he paid it, and the recipients swear they received it. And others, Liberals, swear they were paid by other men to remain away from the polls.

"'Mr. Dryden's peculiar witnesses having served his purpose.'

"Yes, but they were good enough to serve the purposes of the other side on polling day.

"The Mail might better have let the matter pass without comment. Its whole article is a denunciation and abuse of those who exposed political corruption, and by inference an apology for election immorality.

"The Mail is simply following its old course of stupidity. If the election methods that prevailed in South Ontario can find a defender in a paper which poses as the chief organ of a party, and appeals for support to an intelligent and clean class of people, what can be expected of the workers for its party?"—Toronto Star.

OCCASIONALLY, says the Monetary Times, the low rates of premium charged by fire insurance companies are demonstrated to be too low to pay the underwriter. The rate for lightning or destruction, for instance, is found burdensome by an Eastern Township Company. Mr. E. E. Spencer, President of the Missisquoi and Rouville Mutual Fire Insurance Company, issues a circular to agents notifying them of an increase of the rates after the first of September. The rates on buildings with wood or partly wood roofs are increased to 2 per cent., and the rates on all other buildings increased ¼ of 1 per cent. No risk under $500 will be taken at less than 2½ per cent. This increase in rate is caused in part by the heavy losses recently sustained by the company through fires caused by lightning. Last year the claims from this cause were small, but enough damage was done to cause a big increase on the insurance carried by the farmers on their barns and buildings.—Monetary Times.

THE TRAVELLING DAIRIES.

The following is clipped from report of Prof. J. W. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying:—

The mass of the people everywhere do not go to colleges, and if the women on farms are to be helped you must carry the instruction to them. We try to make agricultural education available to all our people, and some of it unavoidable by them. We have what are called Travelling Dairies. A simple outfit for the making of butter is provided. It usually consists of a hand-power centrifugal cream separator, a Babcock milk tester, a revolving barrel-churn, a butter worker, a pair of weighing scales, two thermometers, pails, strainers, dippers and a few other necessary utensils. The whole apparatus can be packed in boxes and loaded on a horse wagon or sent by train. The weight does not exceed five hundred pounds. Usually one Travelling Dairy Instructor, who is an expert butter-maker, and an assistant go together. The Travelling Dairy spends one or two—usually two—days at a place. A local committee arranges for a suitable lecture room, which is frequently the town hall, and also for a supply of milk and cream. Two meetings a day are held, at which practical demonstrations of the testing of milk and the making of butter are given. The instructor gives explanations as the processes are carried on, and an hour or so is given to a simple lecture and discussion. Two visits of a travelling dairy to a place bring about a marked improvement in the quality of the dairy butter. The women see the use of the apparatus, watch the method of handling everything and learn something of the principles which underlie them. The neighbours who may not have attended the meetings of the Travelling Dairy learn from those who did. Of course in many of the districts there are farmers' wives and daughters by the hundred who do not need such instruction, but many of those are the keenest students.

OBTONABEE.

Council Meeting.

From Our Own Correspondent.

All the members present. A communication was received from Wm. Anderson, stating that a great many of the travelling public are desirous of having a watering place on the north Peterborough road. On motion Mr. Grady was empowered to investigate and report at next meeting of council. An account of $12 was received from Dr. Moher for attendance on B. Corrigan's family at St. Joseph's Hospital. No action taken. The clerk was instructed to notify the county council of the fact that Mr. J. Coyle Brown, Public School Inspector, is still continuing to enforce his method of spelling in some of the schools in this municipality to their injury. The clerk was also instructed to demand from the School Inspector the balance of the 1898 legislative grant due to the schools of Otonabee, paid (he says, through error) to the schools of the other municipalities in the county. On motion, one day's road work was struck off Mrs. Roach's assessment, and J. H. Cruikshank was allowed two days' statute labour for keeping the Keene sidewalks clear of snow last winter. J. P. Doris was granted 100 lbs. of flour, 15 lbs. of pork and 1 lb. of tea, as he has been ill all summer and unable to work. On motion W. Drummond's sureties were accepted. The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—Dickson Co., plank, 8 63; D. Kennelly, making nine culverts, 3.60; C. Edwards, care of sixth line water trough and gravel, 2.24; Jas. Dominion Minister of Justice Suing a Newspaper for Importing Printers.

Halifax, Sept. 26.—Attorney-General of Canada v. The Herald Printing & Publishing Company is the name of a suit just commenced in the Superior Court of Nova Scotia. The plaintiff's claim is against the defendant for $1,000 penalty incurred by the defendant for violation of the provisions of Section 1 of Chapter 11 of the Acts of the Parliament of Canada, passed in the session held in the 60th and 61st years of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, as follows: From and after the passing of this Act it shall be unlawful for any person, company, partnership or corporation in any manner to prepay the transportation or immigration of any alien or foreigner into Canada under contract or agreement, parole or special, express or implied, made previous to the importation or immigration of such alien or foreigner to perform labor or service of any kind in Canada. The suit arises out of the alleged importation of one or two compositors from New York at the time of the strike in the Herald office two months ago.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not properly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

PREMIER HARDY WAS RIGHT.

The Court of Appeal Gives Judgment Sustaining His Contention Respecting the Constable Vote.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The Court of Appeal handed out judgment late Saturday afternoon on the three questions submitted by the Attorney-General regarding the question of the constables' vote. The questions were as to whether a constable employed by a deputy returning officer for the purposes of an election and paid a reasonable fee therefor should be disentitled to vote, whether persons employed at reasonable work during an election by deputy returning officers should be disentitled to vote, and whether a person supplying anything for the purposes of an election, such as renting a room as a polling booth and was paid reasonably therefor, should be disentitled to vote. These were the three questions which the court answered in the negative. Thus all such persons are, according to the judgment, fully entitled to vote, and the contention of the Premier of the Ontario Government is sustained.

FEVER AT DAWSON.

More Mounted Police Wanted in View of Men Out of Employment.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 26.—Major Talbot, paymaster of the Yukon force of Canadian militia, arrived on the steamer Amur Saturday morning. The health of the troops is excellent at Fort Selkirk. The nurses have been sent on to Dawson, where there are said to be 500 cases of fever. Major Talbot says trouble is anticipated in Dawson during the approaching winter, owing to the large number of men out of employment. Commissioner Ogilvie will recommend sending another detachment of troops—50 men—in view of the urgent requirements of a strong force.

Dangerous Thief.

A French actress, traveling about the country, had for use in one of her plays a lay figure, skillfully put together and dressed in a traveling suit. So says the New York Herald, which proceeds to tell a comical story about it:

At Marseilles it was left in the luggage room with other things. The curiosity of two of the railway employees being aroused at the sight of it, they took off the coverings and resolved to play a joke on their comrades. They placed the figure in an armchair at the desk of the cashier and shut the door.

When the employees on night service came, they opened the door and were surprised to see a man sitting before the cash box. They immediately closed and locked the door and ran for assistance.

A policeman arrived, revolver in hand, believing, like the employees, that he had to deal with a dangerous thief. He called on the figure to surrender and follow him to the station. As it did not obey the summons, the policeman shut the door and went in search of re-enforcements to surround the place and thereby prevent the culprit from escaping.

The door was again opened, the armed force entered, and it was not till they had suddenly pounced on the poor lay robber that they discovered the joke.

The Cause of Laughter.

Bain suggests the explanation that laughter is provoked by what he calls a degradation, meaning that we laugh when we all at once perceive something degrading, a trickery, a weakness or a pettiness in some person or object which we respect, as when the infirmities of human nature disclose themselves in a person of importance or when some trivial affair occurs in a solemn ceremony to drag us down or when the wrong side of some great thing or some great man is exposed.

"The occasion of the laughter is the degradation of a dignified person or interest under circumstances that do not excite a stronger emotion. In all theories of laughter the more or less important fact is marked * * * that the feeling of the ludicrous arises when something which we respected before is presented in a mean light, for we have no disposition to laugh when something that we already regarded as such is depicted as tricky and vile."—Popular Science.

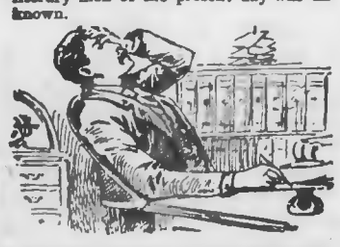
BRAIN FAG.

A well-known editor tells how Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured him of this nineteenth century nerve trouble.

"Brain Fag" is a new disease. Our forefathers did not have it. To them the terrible strain on the nervous forces that falls to the lot of business, professional or literary men of the present day was unknown.



Nervous prostration is the goal to which more than fifty per cent. of the brain workers are hurrying. How can it be avoided? How can this new disease be cured? We will allow Mr. J. W. Hey, the genial and able editor and publisher of the Ailsa Craig Banner to answer. He says, "I was suffering from nervousness and impoverishment of the blood and commenced the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, believing from what I had heard and read of them that they were an excellent remedy. My faith in them was rewarded very speedily. They vitalized my blood, strengthened my nerves and restored me to perfect health. I do not consider they have an equal for nervousness, brain fag or nervous prostration produced by overwork."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills always do good. They cure palpitation, faint and dizzy spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, anæmia, after effects of grippe, weakness, debility, etc. Sold by druggists at 50c. a box or three boxes for $1.25. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.

DOUBLE TRACKS TO TORONTO.

G. T. R. Has Begun the Work From Montreal—The Metis Colony.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—The double tracking of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Montreal and Toronto has already been commenced with vigor at this end of the line. This improvement was authorized by the shareholders at the last annual meeting. The officials say that the traffic between Montreal and the Queen City is very congested, and, no doubt, a comparatively short time will elapse before the entire section is double-tracked.

Rev. Father Lacombe arrived here yesterday in the interest of his Metis colony at Egg Lake, 120 miles east of Edmonton. He says the 33 families already established are doing well and that there is room for 1,200 out of the 2,000 English, Scotch and French Metis families scattered all over the American and Canadian Northwest.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

DOWN AT QUEBEC.

The International Commission Has Sub-divided Itself Into Sub-Committees—Overwhelmed With Opinions.

Quebec, Sept. 26.—The members of the Anglo-American Commission, in order to facilitate their labors, have sub-divided into committees. Following the method pursued at Paris in the Behring Sea arbitration, they will report from time to time.

The American representatives are overwhelmed with opinions and views, and many of them are antagonistic. To harmonize them and meet the Canadians half way is no small task. Nearly every alternate American visitor at Quebec these days has a mission, but only the flotsam and jetsam of the gigantic wire-pulling leaks out.

Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues, while desiring to be informed of the views of every Canadian industry, are discouraging deputations from here. They would prefer instead that memorials be forwarded. The amount of correspondence received daily is enormous and the handling thereof requires the efforts of a large clerical staff.

Congressman Tawney of Minnesota is championing the lumber interests of the Northwestern States. He is undoubtedly the most polished lobbyist in the Ancient Capital. Speaking on his mission here Tawney said: "A duty on lumber going into the United States is necessary. Your labor cost of production is trifling, while the low stumpage tax is another advantageous factor compared with our position. The high grade lumber of both countries goes abroad. We could not compete in our own home market on the inferior grades, unless we utilized for some purpose every portion of the log, stump, sawdust and all. Our people engaged in lumber and dependent industries exceed the entire population of Canada. This shows the interest we have at stake."

DEATH OF LT.-GOVERNOR CAMERON.

The Recently Appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba Passes Away in London.

Special to The Examiner.

London, Sept. 26th—M. C. Cameron, Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba, died here this morning.

His Honour, Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba, whose serious illness for the past few days gave warning of his demise, was a native of Perth, Lanark County, where he was born in 1832. He was educated at Knox College, Toronto. He was called to the bar in 1860, and made a Queens Counsel in 1876. After filling several important municipal offices in Huron county, he was returned to the House of Commons in the general elections of 1882. He has continued to represent that riding at intervals since that time, having been returned at the general election of 1896. A few months ago he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. Mr. Cameron was a prominent Liberal and also a prominent and influential member of the House of Commons.

IT WAS NOT MURDER.

But a Big Crowd Thought that Nothing Less Serious had Occurred.

A bareheaded, stockingfooted individual minus his coat and vest summoned Constable McGinty to his aid on Saturday night at about twelve o'clock and as the pair went west on Hunter street on a dogtrot a big crowd gathered and followed them expecting that nothing less than a murder had taken place.

It transpired that nothing more serious had occurred than the breaking of a window through accident by a number of young men who had congregated in front of a certain residence near the bridge crossing the creek on Hunter street.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

At a meeting of the lacrosse club executive held on Saturday evening it was decided not to meet the Orillia lacrosse club on Wednesday next at Stouffville. It is hardly probable that Peterborough will be identified with the C.L.A. next year.

Louis White, the Cornwall Indian lacrosse player, who was so seriously injured in the recent Cornwall bridge catastrophe, is being favoured with a rapid recovery. Pete Day and Francis, two other well known Indian lacrossists, were also slightly injured in the disaster.

THE TURF.

Charlie Roy rode Fred Jones' running horse "Master Fred" to fourth place in the Woodbine on Saturday. There were 11 in the field and Master Fred was only beaten by such horses as Populist, Trillion and Brother Bob.

CRICKET.

A cricket match was played on Saturday between East Peterborough and West Peterborough, the teams being composed principally of players from Lakefield and Peterborough.

West Peterborough won the toss and batted first on a slow wicket. Dr. Boucher, jr., 42 and Dr. Young, not out, 31, were the highest scores.

It is to be regretted very much that members, after being chosen to play in a match, have not the courtesy to appear on the field to take part in the game but leave it to four or five members, as was the case on Saturday last.

East Peterborough ran up quite a score. Mr. Hilliard's 64 and Mr. Rogers' 40 were the highest. Mr. Hilliard played fine cricket, and he was loudly applauded on his retiring.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

Rugby football is booming. The Colts are turning out to practice every afternoon now, and from the thirty players a very strong junior fifteen can be chosen. The back division will be particularly good with either Hall or Burnham at full Crossley, McGrath and N. Bell on the half back line and Dumble at quarter. The scrimmage—Brundrette and Dobbin, with Frank Burnham in centre, will be invincible. The wings are showing up in fine form. The Colts have made Fred McGrath captain, and the choice is a good one. The first match will likely be with Trinity College School II at Port Hope on Saturday, Oct. 8th. Through the kindness of the Y.M.C.A. the boys have been given permission to use the gymnasium for special indoor drill in touch line and other tricks.

About thirty five Rugby players turned out on Saturday and had a splendid work out. The team should be in good shape by Saturday, when they play either Osgoode or 'Varsity here. The management hope the players will attend all the practices this week.

A full turnout to-morrow (Tuesday) at 4.30 on the P.A.A.A. grounds is requested.

PLAY THE GAME.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I understand that the Lacrosse Club is contemplating defaulting to Orillia in the last game of the senior series and declines going to Stouffville to play the match.

Although the local team has been treated with manifest unfairness by the C.L.A. Judiciary, yet I do not think that this is the proper time to withdraw from the Association, as it it will certainly leave the members of the team open to a charge of cowardice, if they refuse to meet their old rivals, whom they have been able to put out of the running for the last three years.

I know, and you know, Mr. Editor, that our boys are by no means cowards, but what will the rest of the world say when it is learned that at the last minute, the Peterboroughs meekly lay down their arms, and for the first time in their career allow a default to be registered against them? Not being in good shape they go on the field with big odds against them, but defeat is no disgrace under the circumstances, and a default will be a smirch which it will be difficult to efface from the Peterborough Lacrosse Club's escutcheon.

Hoping to hear that the club will decide to give the Orillias an argument for the pennant yet,

I am yours, etc.,
OLD SPORT.

Coming Home.

After a plesant summer holiday, the need of some new piece of furniture will occur to you. If you like to be "lost" in ease and lazy comfort try the luxury of one of Clegg's new arm chairs, or a new couch, brass bedstead, or improved bed springs. A visit to CLEGG'S furniture warerooms will repay you.

PREMIER HARDY SUSTAINED.

Mr. Whitney is again disappointed. He proposed to climb into power over the electoral corpses of the constables employed at elections. He and his following took the ground that election constables had no right to vote, and in justifying this contention the roof of the province was more or less raised. Now the Court of Appeal has unanimously decided that the Ontario Election Act does not disquaify the election constables. This is a satisfactory finding. What has previously been a matter of right and reason, has now become a fact in law by virtue of the decision referred to. Now the election trial judges can have sure ground to go upon. Hon. Mr. Hardy contended for the right of constables to vote. The Court of Appeal, without a dissenting voice, has sustained his contention, and what was a right has become law. The "constable-elected member" may pass into the limbo of political noneclature, or be preserved as a relic of the brief nightmare of the Opposition who essayed to use it as a hobby upon which to ride into the treasury benches. Now they are asking each other "Was the hop sick in which we dressed ourselves?" What will the next move be?

PETERBOROUGH IS THE CENTRE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—I read in to-day's despatches from Ottawa that it is the intention of the Government to establish permanent rifle ranges in each Military District Peterborough is as near the centre of District No. 3 as possible and with unsurpassed railway facilities from all directions, would be well and conveniently situated.

Our representatives at Ottawa and our military men should take this matter up at once.

Yours, etc.,
PETERBOROUGH.

Peterborough, Sept. 24, 1898.

[The reference of our correspondent to the duty of our representatives to interest themselves in the matter is timely and to the point as far as it goes; but there are others who should also assist in the effort to secure the location of the proposed ranges in Peterborough—the town council, the board of trade and the citizens generally. Apart from the military aspect of the subject, altogether, the proposal derives interest from the fact of the substantial advantage and the moral increase of prestige and importance the town will derive. The establishment of the ranges here will mean the presence every year for two or three days of three or four hundred competitors at the annual matches. There may be more. No. 3 military district is a large one, extending from Kingston on the east to Oshawa on the west, both inclusive, and as far north as the province is settled, and includes a large number of battalions. [illegible] two or three permanent resident officials in connection with the taking care of the ranges.

No more suitable and central location could be secured. Peterborough is, geographically, as near as possible the bullseye of the district. There are, besides, representatives of every arm of the service in Peterborough, artillery, cavalry and infantry. Excellent sites for ranges, covering a distance of 1200 or 1400 yards, backed by the necessary hills, insure the maximum of immunity from accident. So that Peterborough has all the necessary conditions to justify its selection as the site of the proposed new ranges—central position, commercial and military importance first class sites for ranges, railway communication, centering from every point of the district.

We hope that all concerned will undertake the necessary steps to impress these advantages upon the military authorities. In such matters much can be done by discreet and persistent, and, above all, united effort. All the influences possible should, for the sake of the town, be brought to bear to secure the selection of Peterborough as the site of the proposed permanent ranges. Every external addition to our industrial or other equipment is a clear gain per se, as well as an aid in the development of our existing resources. The more we get the more we shall have. The tendency of the smaller to be attracted by the larger is as true in the industrial and commercial, as in the material, world. It is unnecessary to urge the importance of prompt and concerted action. The importance must be conceded—we wait the action.

PERSONAL.

C. McGill, Esq., general manager Ontario Bank, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. Chas. Londerville is very ill with erysipelas.

Mr. Orville Shortley, of Montreal, spent Sunday in town renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Ellsworth Stoddard, of Fenelon Falls, has returned home after a pleasant visit in town with friends.

Mrs. Richard Morgan, of Ashburnham, who has been in Toronto for the last six weeks has returned home.

Mr. Hudson, of Perth, formerly connected with the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, spent Sunday in town with friends.

Miss Annie Armstrong, head milliner for the Golden Lion, is in Toronto to-day, making extensive purchases for her department.

Miss Mabel Roy is recovering from a severe attack of illness. She leaves tomorrow with her grand mother, Mrs. Roy, to spend a month convalessing in Belleville.

Mr. F. H. Pope left this morning for Toronto much to the regret of his numerous friends in town. Mr. Pope was moved from Kingston to the local branch of the Ontario Bank a little over a year ago, and is now being transferred to the head office in Toronto. During his residence in town he became most popular in social circles.

Mr. Graham, treasurer for the Paul Cazeneuve Company, was in town on Saturday, making final arrangements for the company's appearance in Peterborough all this week. Mr. Graham is well known in town, being formerly Harry Ramsay's advance agent, and when he says that the caste of the Cazeneuve Company is stronger than ever, it means that there will be something well worth seeing in the opera house this week.

Toronto Saturday Night says: The marriage of Miss Macdougall, eldest daughter of His Honor Judge Macdougall, of Carlton Lodge, and Dr. Young, of Peterborough, will be very quietly celebrated at the family residence on Oct. 12th. Miss Macdougall's delicate health makes it inadvisable for her to undertake the care and fatigue of an elaborate celebration, and only the immediate relatives will witness the ceremony. An announcement that bright Miss Bertha was to be the bride, instead of her eldest sister, caused some confusion among congratulating friends.

ANGLICAN CHURCH PROVINCIAL SYNOD.

REV. H. SYMONDS' SUMMARY OF THE PROCEEDINGS.

Delivered in St. Luke's Yesterday—Reference to the Topics Dealt With—Interesting Facts Presented.

Yesterday morning at St. Luke's church Rev. H. Symonds gave some account of the recent session of the Provincial Synod in Montreal. The Provincial Synod represents the Anglican Church in Canada east of Manitoba. Each of the ten dioceses in this territory—Algoma, Huron, Niagara, Toronto, Ontario, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Fredrioton—with the exception of Algoma, sends twelve clerical and twelve lay delegates. Algoma being a missionary diocese has no synod, and has the right to send three clerical and three lay delegates. A full house is therefore composed of 222 members. The bishops, all of whom were present, sat in a separate house, and reports of progress are made and sent from time to time between the Upper and Lower Houses as they are called.

The Synod held its meetings in the Montreal Diocesan College, the splendid gift of Mr. A. M. Gault, "The Cotton King," to the church. This building is erected to accommodate forty divinity students, with a handsome convocation hall, a pretty but small chapel and a comfortable residence for the Principal.

THE TOTAL COST

was about $120,000, and Mr. Gault has further enriched it with a library and other gifts.

Although the newspaper reports of the Synod may have appeared somewhat dry, the work accomplished by it was extremely interesting, the debates were good, and the whole Synod was characterized by a feeling of confidence in the future, and by an entire absence of any acrimonious display of party feelings. The terms "High" and "Low" Church were scarcely mentioned, and there was evidenced a real desire to put the Church before the party in every case.

A very important subject was the relation of the General Synod of the Church to the Provincial Synod. It is only within the last five or six years that the General Synod has existed, and there are still those who think its continuance uncertain. The result of a brilliant debate, of which the chief feature was a oration by Dean Carmichael, was to strengthen the General Synod, by taking steps to transform the Domestic and Foreign Mission Board of the Provincial Synod into the Domestic and Foreign Mission Board of the General Synod.

The question of the adoption by the Anglican church of the International Sunday school lesson provoked an unexpected, but lively and lengthy debate. At present the majority of Sunday schools use the Leaflet Help of the Church of England Sunday School Institute, but some use the International Lesson, and a strong argument was made in its favour, which was hotly opposed by Mr. C. R. W. Biggar, Q.C., and many others. The committee was finally instructed to give full consideration to the subject and to report at the next session of the Synod.

The Bishop of Algoma's report of work in his diocese was encouraging and hopeful. It was felt that the Bishop is a capable and devoted missionary. He will therefore receive the support of the church.

Religious instruction in the Public Schools was another question warmly discussed. It was argued that the growth of a feeling that something was wanting to the perfection of our already was steadily increasing. Quotations from educational magazines clearly proved this. What was wanting was greater devotion to the development of the moral and spiritual faculties. The use of the Bible would supply this need better than anything else. The body of teachers throughout the country were referred to in terms of the highest praise. The necessity of hearty co-operation with other churches was urged, and finally a strong committee was appointed, with instructions to seek to procure religious instruction on the lines laid down by the General Synod, and in co-operation with other religious communions.

Two crowded missionary meetings were held, at which addresses were given by the Bishops of Algoma and New Westminster, Mrs. Thwing, of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, Rev. J. G. Waller of Nzano, Japan, and Rev. H. Tucker of New Westminster. The Women's Auxiliary were also in session in Montreal, and of their labours were also received.

Sunday was a disappointing day. Rain fell in torrents in the morning, and in the afternoon occurred the great hailstorm which proved so destructive to trees and windows. The evening was little better, and except in the cathedral, St. George's, and one or two other churches, the congregations were small.

The statement of the vital statistics of Ontario presented a rather alarming state of things, and probably more will be heard of this question. Divorce also occupied a considerable amount of time. The divorce laws in the United States are disgraceful, and the Anglican church will steadily oppose any attempts to relax the stringency of the marriage tie in Canada. The only point about which there was a difference of opinion was as to whether or no the innocent party in the case of divorce for adultery should be allowed re-marriage. The majority of the clergy were opposed to it, and many of the laity were in favour of it, and as the vote was taken by orders, the resolution moved by Rev. Dr. Langtry was lost.

The above is only in part a report of Mr. Symond's address, as time did not permit him to deal with all these questions from the pulpit. In conclusion he urged his congregation to interest themselves in the wider life of the Church, as well as in the matters of parochial interest.

Lincoln Freed the Slaves.

Yes, but those days are of the past. Dr. Russell's Corn Cure is the great deliverer of the slaves from the painful corns of the present day. Robert Stewart, the well-known general merchant of Salmon Arm, B. C., writes: I can heartily endorse Dr. Russell's Corn Cure as a perfect and painless corn remover, having been a great sufferer from these painful things for years. It has removed every sign of them from my feet, and I can assure you it has been a great comfort of to be without them. Dr. Russell's Corn Cure is sold by Ormond & Walsh. 25 cents.

SHE FELL ASLEEP.

Mrs. Timothy C. Haskill in Her 107th Year—Story of Her Life—Many Changes.

(Port Hope Guide.)

The appended obituary notice concerns the death of Mrs. Timothy Haskill, of Port Hope, grand-aunt of Messrs. Fred and Al. Haskill, of town.

When once our heavenly-guided soul shall climb,
Then all this earthly grossness quit
Attired with stars we shall forever sit
Triumphing o'er Death, and Chance, and thee, O Time!

Submissive to an enduring though all-devouring time, Mrs. Timothy C. Haskill, in the 107th year of her age, has passed away. Her departure was a peaceful sleep, which wafted her soul from earth "unto a high estate beside the "Kingdom of Heaven." Death came about two o'clock this morning as the aged lady slumbered at her quiet residence on Charles street. Her only daughter, Mrs. Doney, who has for many years devoted a watchful and self sacrificing care over her mother, was present, and Mrs. Thos. Garnet, Mrs. Chas. Throop, Mrs. Byam and Mrs. Jas. Austin.

Almost to the time of her sleeping, Mrs. Haskill enjoyed a possession of senses remarkable for her years, and conversed intelligibly with those at her bedside. The neighbours loved her, for she was very interesting with all her experiences of long-past years when the country was still in embryo.

Below we give the story of Mrs. Haskill's life as told by herself seven years ago. Friday evening, January 1st, 1892, an interesting event took place at the quiet little cottage on Charles street. Many callers came to offer their congratulations to Mrs. Haskill upon her 100th birthday. At 4 30 p.m. a party began to congregate at Mr Throop's store, supplied with material for a surprise festival. On the arrival of the party at Mrs. Haskill's house and after the introductions, salutations and hand-shaking, a neatly engrossed address was read by Mr. Alf. Skitch and a purse and contents presented the centenarian. In reply Mrs. Haskill thanked everyone for their kindness and repeated verses welcoming the new year. She had a phenomenal memory and her delight was the recitation of hymns and fanciful verses. Mr. A. E. Powers further responded on behalf of Mrs. Haskill. After short speeches by the late Mr. Jos. Harris, Messrs. T. R. McNeillie, Cyrus T. Throop, J. T. George, Jed Haskill and Jos. Hooper, Mrs. Haskill gave the following story of her life, which was committed to paper by Mr. Hopper:

"My maiden name was Electa Newcombe Johnson. I was born in Dorset, Vermont, U.S., Jan. 1st, 1792. Dorset was divided into three parts—east, west and south—there is a stream of water running through the place, on which my father had a saw and grist mill. I well recollect a circumstance which occurred when I was in my fifth year. A young lad came over to our mill with a grist and while waiting for it to be ground, went out on the pond on some boards and was drowned. His name was Stephen Moss. Pember Warner, an old resident of this section, who married Pamelia Soper, lived at Dorset near by us, and when children, we played together. (Pamelia Soper was the first white girl born in this township.) I lived 49 years on our farm (two miles from here) and 40 years in this town. We came to "Smith's Creek," now called Port Hope, in March, 1803, being then between eleven and twelve years of age. I well remember the year 1800; we lived near Johnsburg, N.Y., was then in my ninth year. We had a dance at our house, at which an old veteran of the 1776 War of Independence played the fife for the dance. One of the party fired his pistol up the chimney bringing down the soot. We came by sleighs, touching at Wolfe Island thence to Kingston and Belleville, where we spent one winter, thence to Port Hope. There were five families living here at that time—Mr. Heywood's, Mr. Ward's, sr., Mr. Peter Smith's, Mr. Myndert Harris' and our family. At a party given on Christmas eve we numbered seven, all the then available white inhabitants of this place. There was one house up on the hill and Indian wigwams lined the banks. There were then in the neighbourhood wolves, bears, deer and fish in great abundance. Have seen Indian war dances and by compulsion have danced with the squaws in their dances, to a chant something like this—cui, cuioy, cuway, etc., &c., imitating the weird dance music of the aborigines of that time. The Indians sold us clothes of deer skin, which we made over for our own use. The first meeting house I went to was St. Mark's, over thirty years ago; Bishop Stewart was the preacher. That which is now Augusta street was the first road through the village. My father was eighty-seven years when he died. We went onto our farm in 1819 (near Mr. Moore Fauning's farm). My children were two sons and one daughter; one son died recently at Mariposa; Harvey, my only living son, is in Michigan, U. S., and is seventy-one years of age; my daughter, widow of the late John Doney, lives with me, and is sixty-seven years of age. My husband, Timothy C. Haskill, died Nov. 24th, 1867, aged eighty years; he was four years my senior and was the best of husbands. I helped him to clear the farm, cutting down trees, rolling the logs into heaps and gathering brush to help burn them. We had a very primitive shanty to live in at first. Have cooked as many as eighty pies in one day, to have them all cleared by visitors before night. Our house was open to all travellers, and we had constant callers. A man who had been a soldier took sick with us; we nursed and cared for him for six years, and buried him all at our own expense. I nursed Mrs John Tucker Williams when she was a baby; she was born in 1807, and was the mother of Col. Arthur Williams. I was then seventeen years of age. After Mrs. Williams' death, I was presented with a pin-cushion made from her dress as a memento."

"To record all Mrs. Haskill's experience (so intensely interesting) would occupy considerable space. Her hearing is good and memory clear; the vision very much impaired, but not entirely gone. We were shown a number of her old relics of bygone days, among them the yearly almanacs, dating back to 1818; a quilt and needle seventy-one years old: a spread made of flax grown and spun by herself; the old grand-father's clock brought from England and other varities very numerous. She still does considerable knitting of the very best order; is a good conversationalist, and has implicit faith and trust in God, who has so wonderfully lengthened out her days, with a belief that she will inherit the rest His loving hands have prepared for His saints."

Mrs. Haskill, in answer to questions asked, stated as follows: "I never experienced much trouble in my life; sunshine and sorrow were all the same to me; I never worried myself over reverses, nor rejoiced exuberantly over successes. My partner was strictly temperate in all his habits and was one of the best of husbands. I worked hard all my life and am still working, doing all I can at knitting, etc. Was always of a contented mind, thoroughly realizing that "Godliness with contentment is great gain."

The years of Mrs. Haskill's life have seen many changes in the world. We have her statement from which we can draw conclusions as to the conditions of Canada. Four sovereigns have occupied the throne of England; George III., George IV., William IV., and lastly, Victoria. The first Parliament of Upper Canada met at Newark in 1792, and responsible government has shed its benificent influence over the provinces. The war of 1812, the rebellion in Lower Canada and the "Patriots" war of 1737, 1838, Red River Rebellion of 1869, the Northwest Rebellion of 1885, came with their trials upon a young people. Railways and steamship lines; electric telegraph and telephone have been introduced and advances in science and literature have marked the growth of civilization, until to-day Canada holds no mean place in the world.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. Dr. Hooper, of Toronto, conducted both services in the Murray street Baptist church yesterday.

St. Andrew's choir gave a very fine rendering of "O Lord how manifold are thy blessings," last evening.

"Come unto me" was sung as an anthem in the Charlotte street church last evening, Miss Florence Hall taking the solos faultlessly.

Mrs. T. W. Martin's fine contralto voice was heard to advantage yesterday morning in St. Andrew's church, in the solo, "O Happy Day."

Rev. J. A. McCamus, of Norwood, delivered both the morning and evening sermons in the George street Methodist church yesterday.

Mrs. Mein and Mr. James Dawson took the solos in the evening anthem in St. Paul's last night entitled "All Thy Works Shall Praise Thee."

Mr. John Crane sang Gray's latest lines, "The Heavenly Song," last evening in St. Paul's church, with great expression and very fine shading.

Miss Florence Hall and Mr. W. J. Squires sang "Rock of Ages" as a duet in excellent voice in the Charlotte street church last evening.

The morning anthem yesterday in the Charlotte street church was entitled "Behold what Manner of love." It was rendered in noticeable harmony.

On Wednesday next Canon Daun will give his famous lecture on "Ireland and the Irish," in the Ashburnham town hall, at 8.00 p.m., in connection with St. Luke's church.

"Consider the Lilies" was very finely rendered as an anthem in the Murray street Baptist church last evening. Mrs. (Dr.) Scott and Miss Hutchison sang the duet, whilst the tenor and bass solos were taken respectively by Mr. Geo. K. Martin and Mr. C. B. Routley.

The quarterly rally in connection with the Sunday school of the George street Methodist church took place yesterday afternoon, the review being conducted by Mrs. James Kendry, Mr. F. W. Walden and Mr. S. R. Armstrong. Special music of a most acceptable quality was rendered by Miss Florence Hall, Mr. A. L. Davis and Mr. Walden.

The annual Harvest Festival of St. Luke's church will be held on Thursday next at 8.00 p.m., when the preacher will be Rev. Canon Daun, of London. A special musical service will be rendered by the choir and the church will be appropriately decorated. Offerings of flowers will be gratefully received and may be left on Wednesday or Thursday at the Rectory.

Anniversary services commemorative of the opening of the Park street Baptist church will be held in that edifice next Sunday, when Rev. Vernon H. Cowsert, B.A., of Belleville, will deliver both the morning and evening sermons. The anniversary tea is scheduled for Monday evening next. A programme will follow and Mr. Cowsert will also deliver a lecture.

Yesterday was children's Sunday in St. Paul's church and the services in the afternoon took a special form. Mr. Sanford Hall took the chair and the following papers were read: "Honan Missions," Miss Ethel Brudigan; "Northwest Missions," Herbert Wood; "Our Responsibility to Missions," Miss Jean Cameron. Miss L. Howson also recited. The exercises were pleasantly varied with music after which a number of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school took advantage of the opportunity to express their regret at losing the aid of Mr. F. H. Pope, who leaves for Toronto. Mr. Pope made a brief acknowledgment.

Last night at St. John's church Rev. E V. Stephenson was the preacher, and he gave a very thoughtful, earnest address from the text, being the concluding words of the Parable of the Good Samaritan as recorded by St. Luke—"Go thou and do likewise." The preacher broadly defined the Gospel of Christ as love in activity and it was clearly pointed out how the application of the Gospel affected the Christian's relation to his neighbour, not only in social but in church relations, independently of denominational lines, and also in international relations. The duty of charity as presented and insisted upon by St. Paul, was urgently set forth in all these relations. During the offertory the choir sang in capital style Shelly's anthem, "Hark, Hark, My Soul," Mr. Harold Cluxton and Mr. Herb Morphet taking very acceptably the obligato solos.

When Baby's ill.

When the little loved one is sick, when its brow is fevered, its pulse rapid, its features pinched with pain and there are great blue circles under its eyes, the mother hovers about the bedside, and with anxious eyes tries to read the meaning of every expression upon the physician's face.

A woman may save herself almost all of this worriment about her children if she will but take proper care of her womanly health during the period of gestation. A child born of a mother who is thoroughly healthy in a womanly way will almost unfailingly be healthy and robust. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity. It makes them well, strong and vigorous. It heals all internal ulceration and inflammation. It stops debilitating drains. It fits for motherhood and insures a healthy child. Thousands of happy mothers have testified to its merits. No honest dealer will urge you to take an inferior substitute for the little added profit it may afford him.

"A lady told me that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was good to take when with child," writes Mrs. Annie Simpson, of No. 13 Chelmsford Street, Lawrence, Mass. "I was suffering terrible pains, and was unable to get about the house without being in misery. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and the first bottle greatly relieved me. I took three bottles before my baby was born, at which time I suffered very little. The baby has been healthy since birth, and is now three months old and weighs fifteen pounds. When my older child was born I suffered terribly. I don't know how to thank Dr. Pierce enough."

They don't simply give temporary relief, but are a permanent cure—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation. They never gripe. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic.

No remedy did me the least good till I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes of this wonderful medicine have cured me completely—made a new man of me. I cannot speak highly enough of them. CITY FIRE FIGHTERS.

The Deadly Perils They Encounter In Saving Human Lives.

A great tenement house was burning like tinder wood in one of the poorest quarters of the metropolis. The stairs had gone up in smoke before everybody had left the building, and even the fire escape down the outside of the building was cut off by the hot flames from the lower windows, which had already peeled off a part of it. A young girl of 14 or 15 was frantically shrieking for help in one of the top windows, and a mother was wringing her hands in pitiful despair down in the street.

The chief called for volunteers to save the girl, and three men came forward on the instant, without hesitation and without awaiting to count their chances for success. This is the custom in such cases, for no one would take the responsibility of ordering a fireman to his possible death.

A strong young fellow who had yet to win his spurs was selected for the task, and he disappeared quickly through the doorway of the adjoining building. When next the crowd saw him he appeared at the window just under the roof, and, grasping the tin cornice of the burning building next to him, he swung out into the air and made his way, hand over hand, for 30 feet through the dense smoke that rose in black clouds from the lower windows to the sill where the girl was seen.

She had fallen back into the room unconscious and was overcome with smoke by the time he reached her. A thousand anxious faces in the street below were tortured with fear for the hero, a hundred muttered prayers went up for his safety as the fireman disappeared into the black cloud, and a thousand throats sent up a lusty shout of relief as he appeared again at the window a moment later with the limp form of the girl in his arms.—Harper's Round Table.

THE CLOTHES OF AUTHORS.

Some Strictures Upon the Dress of English Literary Men.

Novelists and playwrights in sample quantities are the latest class to come under the basilisk eye and measuring tape of The Tailor and Cutter. These members of the sister profession of journalism, and perhaps even the severely judged members of parliament who have appeared in a like connection, may be relieved to know that the novelists and playwrights scarcely excel them as glasses of fashion and molds of form. By way no doubt of sharpening his pen, the tailor critic begins with I. Zangwill, whose lounge suit "might have belonged to any period during the last ten years," and had even reached the stage of the "shabby genteel." However, it is consoling to know that Mr. Zangwill's literary success enables him to wear a frock coat that nearly passes muster, even though the accompanying trousers are too short.

Mr. Jerome, J. M. Barrie, Henry Arthur Jones and Hall Caine might almost be called moderately well dressed in a nonstylish sort of way. At all events they avoid the shuddering solecism of wearing a light coat and waistcoat with dark trousers, attributed to Robert Buchanan, or the mixed styles of W. S. Gilbert. But the only two members of the class who unreservedly enjoy the approval of our contemporary are Sir Walter Besant and Clement Scott. The former will no doubt be rejoiced to learn that his clothes might cause him to be mistaken for "a prosperous city merchant," while Mr. Scott might "easily be mistaken for a prosperous tradesman," says a tailor. The force of flattery could surely no farther go.—London Chronicle.

Gladstone's Courtesy.

"My father," says a London restaurant keeper, "was a milkman, and his place was in the neighborhood of Harley street. He supplied the Gladstone family with milk, and I delivered it. One day when on my rounds a thunderstorm came on as I had just reached Mr. Gladstone's house, and the rain descended in torrents. I rang the servants' bell, but it was not promptly answered, and meantime I was being soaked with the rain. The front door opened, and a kindly voice asked me to step into the doorway, so that I might be sheltered. Mr. Gladstone had seen me from the window and opened the door himself. He also rang for the servant, so that I might be attended to without further delay."

Light and Artificial Fog.

The production of cloud by the action of ultra violet light was demonstrated at a soiree at the Royal society by C. T. R. Wilson. The beam from an arc lamp was focused by a quartz lens in a tube containing moist air free from dust. In a few minutes a blue fog was seen to form in the illuminated cone, and this fog could be made to move by applying heat to the tube locally. When the ultra violet rays were cut off by a sheet of mica, no such formation took place, and it is therefore suggested that the small particles which give rise to the blue of the sky are produced by the ultra violet rays of sunlight absorbed in the upper layers of the atmosphere.—Engineering.

PONTON'S POPULARITY.

Crown Fears It Will Influence Case and Want Change of Venue.

Toronto, Sept. 24.—Ponton's trial was to come off at the Napanee Assizes on November 21, but yesterday Mr. Leighton McCarthy, on behalf of the Crown, moved before Mr. Justice Meredith in Chambers to have the venue changed from Napanee to any other place which the court might direct. The reason assigned is the strong local feeling in the case, the same plea put forward by the Dominion Bank when it was a defendant in an action for heavy damages brought by Ponton. The matter was not decided, but was adjourned a week in order that further evidence might be secured. Mr. Hugh Rose appeared for the defendant, Ponton, and Mr. C. J. Holman for Mackie.

London, Sept. 24.—It is officially announced that the Hon. George Curzon, until recently Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, who is to succeed the Earl of Elgin as Viceroy of India, has been elevated to the peerage as Baron Curzon of Kedleston.

Lady Curzon will be able to go with her husband to India, her health being excellent.

ESCAPED THE GALLOWS

To Be Immured for Life in the Penitentiary.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—It is announced that the Council yesterday adopted a recommendation of the Minister of Justice that the clemency of the Crown be extended to Jean Baptiste Guillemain, the St. Hyacinthe murderer, and that the sentence of death be commuted to imprisonment for life.

The reasons alleged are that the evidence was purely circumstantial and not particularly strong, it being difficult to see when the crime could have been committed even though the convict was in possession of the murdered man's money. The youth of the convict and the influences surrounding him were also taken into consideration. The Minister of Justice awaits his Excellency's approval.

What Menelek May Do.

New York, Sept. 24.—A despatch to the Cologne Gazette from St. Petersburg says it is regarded as possible in the light of recent information that not only the French expedition under Marchand, but a force of Abyssinian troops is at Fashoda. It is expected that King Menelek will refuse to relinquish his old claim to the Nile border of his empire, and accordingly may plant his flag and assemble a considerable force opposite Fashoda.

ASSURANCE CO.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & Co., 17 to 27 King St., East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

STEP NUMBER ONE.

O'WARD'S BLOOD & NERVE PILLS

Take DR. WARD'S BLOOD AND NERVE PILLS. They cure Heart, Nerve and Blood Troubles, and fill the system with Vim, Vigor and Vitality.

FOR THE SYSTEM.

Vim

I was induced to try Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills by a kind friend last August—for a run down system. My face was covered with black spots and I had pimples and boils all over my body. My system was completely run down, and my blood so impoverished that I was losing flesh rapidly. I had used no end of cure-alls, and spent many dollars in doctoring, but was getting no better—but I am now as well as any man in London. The boils have all left me, and my face is free from pimples and black spots. I advise all suffering humanity to try your pills, for they are the best. JAMES HOBIN, Wharncliffe Road, London, Ont.

FOR THE NERVES.

Vigor

DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled a long time with sick headache, and it was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, tongue coated, cold hands and feet and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint, but it was not until I began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills that I received anything like permanent benefit. Three boxes of these pills did the work for me, and I am now feeling splendid. I have gained in health and strength and will always recommend Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Yours thankfully, MRS. A. SAUNDERS, 578 Dundas St., Toronto.

FOR THE BLOOD.

Vitality

GENTLEMEN,—Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and a strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. It is a pleasure to me to recommend Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills to all who are suffering as we were, because I feel sure they will be benefited by their use.

Can't Sleep.

The weary vigils of the night, anxious hours that drag like days. How often they come, and how unwelcome they are. A system robbed by sleeplessness of natural rest cannot be vigorous and strong. The nerves are at fault and must be built up. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are the remedy that cured

MISS EMMA TEMPLE.

HERE IS WHAT SHE SAYS:

At last, after eight months of physical weakness and nervous prostration, caused by over exertion and want of rest,—during which time I suffered greatly on account of the shattered condition of my nerves, and for which I was unable to find any relief. I have found a medicine (Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills) that in three months made my nerves strong, removed all nervous troubles, built up my physical system and made me strong and well. They removed despondency, and in consequence of taking your valuable Pills I look forward to the future hopefully. I have to thank your great cure for nervousness and bodily weakness for my present good health and strength.

Yours truly,

Signed, EMMA TEMPLE, Hastings, Ont.

VISITING A SHRINE.

Lieutenant Rawlinson's Daring Entry Into the Sacred City of Kum.

Kum, a walled city of Persia, ranks second to Meshed in sanctity, on account of the famous shrine of Masuma Fatima, sister of the Imam Riza, a famous saint of the Mohammedans. While Lieutenant Rawlinson was on his way to Teheran he heard much of this sacred city and the glories of the shrine, which, it was said, no European had ever entered. Death, so rumor whispered, would be the portion of the audacious infidel who should be discovered within its precincts.

To a young and ardent spirit a dangerous adventure is an irresistible attraction. Young Rawlinson determined to visit the shrine. Disguised as a Persian pilgrim, thousands of whom annually journey to the sacred city, he joined the crowd of pilgrims. His knowledge of Persian and of the customs of the country enabled him to pass undetected through the temple gates and to make his way to the tomb of the saint. The guardian gave him the customary form of words and he repeated them.

But his curiosity almost caused his detection. Attracted by magnificent suits of steel armor which hung on the walls, he was gazing at them, when suddenly he found that he had turned his back upon the sacred shrine wherein the saint was entombed.

A thrill of alarm startled him, but the discourtesy, impossible to a "true believer," had not been noticed. If it had been, there would probably have been no further career for the young lieutenant, who subsequently became the decipherer of Assyrian and Babylonian inscriptions and texts, and died the renowned orientalist, Sir Henry Rawlinson.—Youth's Companion.

MATES OF GREAT MEN.

The Wives of Both Disraeli and Gladstone Were Brave.

Once when Gladstone was making an outdoor speech it began to rain. Quietly Mrs. Gladstone, with her sweet, motherly face, and who always accompanied her husband, stood up, and, opening a domestic looking umbrella of the Gamp species, held it over him. The spectacle which the old couple presented there standing together was so touching and appealed so thoroughly to the good feelings of the crowd, because of the striking picture of Darby and Joan domesticity, that when a burly costermonger, who had been loudest in his catcalls and hooting of Mr. Gladstone up to that moment, suddenly shouted, "Three cheers for the grand old woman!" every one responded with a will.

Lady Beaconsfield showed similar devotion to Gladstone's great rival on more than one occasion. She, too, was devoted to her husband, and many old parliamentarians recall the story of how after having had her hand terribly crushed in the carriage door while driving down to the house of parliament with Disraeli she refrained from uttering a cry or from saying a word about her injury lest his mind should be diverted from the great and important speech which he was to deliver that night. It was not until he reached home and found the doctor at her bedside that he was made aware that she had sustained any hurt.—New York Herald.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

Dancing Birds.

One of the many strange sights on the plains of southern Africa is a party of waltzing ostriches. Their queer antics have been described thus:

"When there are a number of them, they will start off in the morning and after running a few hundred yards will stop, and with raised wings will whirl rapidly round till they are stupefied or perhaps break a leg. The males pose also before fighting and to make their court. They kneel on their ankles, opening their wings and balancing themselves alternately forward and backward or to one side or the other, while the neck is stretched on a level with the back and the head strikes the sides, now on the right, now on the left, while the feathers are bristling. The bird appears at this time so absorbed in its occupation as to forget all that is going on around him and can be approached and caught. The male alone utters a cry, which sounds much like an effort to speak with the mouth shut tight."

Discovery of the Home of Buddha.

Far away on the border of Nepal the home of Guatama Buddha has been discovered. Buddha lived about 500 B. C. and was the son of the rajah of Kapilavastu. A pillar, inscribed by the Emperor Asoka in the third century B. C., marks the city's site. The ruins are all of brick and are covered with jungle and so extensive that their exploration will require years. The city was destroyed during Buddha's lifetime. It was a mass of ruins in A. D. 410, when the first Buddhist Chinese pilgrim made his way there. The buildings that are now being excavated are older than anything known in India heretofore.—London Letter.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 10—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co., tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that today I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

Betrothal Rings.

Modern Greek peasants exchange a gold and silver wedding ring, and they drink wine from the same cup. But the regular ritual of the Greek church ordains that solemn betrothal precedes the actual marriage, in which are used gold and silver wedding rings blessed by the priest, the gold ring being given to the man, the silver ring to the woman. The form of the espousal is then repeated, and the rings are placed on the right hands and then exchanged that no inferiority may be betokened by the woman wearing the silver ring and also to indicate a common ownership of property.

An Armenian mother usually chooses her daughter's husband. After all business preliminaries are settled between the families the bridegroom's mother, accompanied by a priest and two matrons, visits the bride and gives her a ring in token of espousal, and with this ring the couple are ultimately married. Among the fishing communities very ancient and elaborate rings are used, and they descend as heirlooms from generation to generation.

In Japanese marriages arranged between very young people the girl receives a ring in evidence that the union is binding. In Malabar an old native custom seats both bride and bridegroom on a dais, and a relative washes the feet of the bridegroom with milk and puts a silver ring on the great toe of the right foot. He then hands a gold ring to his kinsman, and a necklace and chaplet of flowers are put on the bride's neck and head.—London Mail

Korea's Seven Wonders.

The seven wonders of Korea are: (1) The marvelous mineral spring of Kinshanto, one dip in which is a sovereign cure for all the ills that human flesh is heir to. (2) The double springs which, though far apart, have a strange, mysterious affinity. According to Korean belief, there is a connection underground, through which water ebbs and flows like the waters of the ocean, in such a way that only one spring is full at a time. The water possesses a wonderful sweetening power, so that whatever is cooked therein becomes good and palatable. (3) The cold wind cavern, whence comes a never ceasing wind so piercing that nothing can withstand it and so powerful that the strongest man cannot face it. (4) The indestructible pine forest, the trees of which grow up again as fast as they are cut down. (5) The floating stone, a massive block that has no visible support, but, like Mohammed's coffin, remains suspended. (6) The warm stone, situated on the top of a hill and said to have the peculiarity of spreading warmth and heat all round it. (7) A drop of the sweat of Buddha, for 30 paces round which no flower or vegetation will grow, nor will birds or other living things pass over it.—Brooklyn Eagle.

WRITES A LETTER ON DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Sufferers are at liberty to correspond with the above address and will obtain full particulars regarding the great cure.

He says: My wife was most terribly afflicted with protruding piles, and contemplated a surgical operation. A friend of ours recommended the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and less than one box effected a complete cure. We were so pleased with the ointment that I tried it myself, as I have been troubled with an unsightly skin affliction which covered the lower part of my face.

For 25 years I suffered untold agony, and was treated by the best medical skill in the United States. I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment worth its weight in gold for piles and skin disease.

FASHION AND FABRIC.

Cock's comb red is the newest shade of color. Serge and cloth jackets and even dresses in this blatant hue are among the new things in autumn modes.

Among the most generally becoming colors of the season before us will be the damson dyes and a varied class of similar plum tints, like dahlia, petunia, etc.

Superb white watered silk such as delighted the stately dames of olden times will be a favorite material for bridal dresses next season. The moire fabrics of today, however, show much smaller waves.

For autumn wear beige and deep tuscan yellow of rough straw braids, trimmed with green velvet and shaded velvet geranium or nasturtium blossoms, in all their glowing colorings, will be a favored combination.

The chief characteristic of fashion's present show is its infinite variety, its modified and graceful designs and outlines and endless styles, affording an unlimited choice of models suited to any peculiarity of form, face or feature.

Among the useful little additions to the toilet are close coat sleeves of thin silk, made to slip on under the transparent sleeves proper of blouses and other hot weather waists. When the day is cooler than usual, these adjustable undersleeves give the needed protection less easily supplied to the arms than about the neck and shoulders.

Very handsome fabrics for stylish autumn tailor gowns are those of soft, beautiful venetian cloth—its smooth, light surface is like velvet—manufactured in shades of russian green, a red and dark blue, pale silver blue, hues that are rich, but also deep in tone; damson, a superb reddish plum shade, golden brown, tan, gray and black.—New York Post.

Saint Norah and the Potato.

St. Norah was a poor girl, says the London Punch, who prayed St. Patrick for a good gift that would make her not proud but useful, and St. Patrick, out of his own head, taught her how to boil a potato. A sad thing and to be lamented, that the secret has come down to so few! Since the highest intellectual and physical life is dependent upon diet—since the cook makes, while the physician only mends—should not she who prepares our pies be as carefully trained as he who makes our pills?

Certainly whatever may be the knowledge or the ignorance of the servant in the kitchen, the mistress of the house, be she young or old, ought to be able, like St. Patrick in the fable, out of her own instructed head to teach Norah how to boil a potato or broil a steak so that they may yield their utmost of relish and nutriment.

Until she can do that, no woman is qualified to preside over a household, and since few reach adult life without being called to that position in the household of husband, father or brother, the legend of St. Norah has a wide significance.—Youth's Companion.

FRANKLIN'S MORAL CODE.

Benjamin Franklin formulated this moral code, which he kept as a guide to all his acts:

Temperance—Eat not to fullness; drink not to elevation.

Silence—Speak not but what may benefit others or yourself; avoid trifling conversations.

Order—Let all your things have their places; let each part of your business have its time.

Resolution—Resolve to perform what you ought; perform without fail what you resolve.

Frugality—Make no expense, but do good to others as yourself—that is, waste nothing.

Industry—Lose no time, be always employed in something useful, but avoid all unnecessary actions.

Sincerity—Use no hurtful deceit; think innocently and justly, and if you speak speak accordingly.

Justice—Wrong no one by doing injuries or omitting the benefits that are your duty.

Moderation—Avoid extremes; forbear resenting injuries.

Cleanliness—Suffer no uncleanliness in body, clothes or habitation.

Tranquillity—Be not disturbed about trifles or at accidents common or unavoidable.

Humility—Imitate Jesus Christ.

DANGEROUS DYSENTERY.

Have it checked and the inflammation allayed by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

It is appalling how many people in the course of a year are hurried into untimely graves by an attack of dysentery.

It comes on so suddenly, its course is so rapid, its action on the system so weakening, its termination so quickly fatal, that any treatment must be administered promptly and the disease checked effectively at the outset. The only remedy that anyone would think of relying on in such an emergency as that, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. For a generation and a half it has been curing all forms of bowel complaints of children and adults, and during that time has saved thousands of lives and many doctor's bills. Never be without it in your house. It's cost is trifling, only 35 cents, but the pain and weakness, yes, even death, it may save you from some day, or some of your family, is worth more to you than ten thousand times its price.

Mrs. Richard Gilbank, Coldwater, Ont., says: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and found it a reliable remedy for summer complaint, diarrhœa, dysentery and cholera morbus. I know it to be a grand remedy in the case of children and heartily recommend it."

Martyr To Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Selina E. Core, Amhurst, N. S., says: "At times I suffered intensely from palpitation and fluttering of my heart. I was weak and my nerves shattered, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have regulated my heart, toned my nerves and built up my health."

Anxious mothers find Dr. Low's Worm Syrup the best medicine to expel worms. Children like it—worms don't.

Opening Autumn
FUR GARMENT EXHIBIT

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY
OF THIS WEEK.

An Exhibit sure to impress visitors with the fact that, as in former seasons, Peterborough's correct dressers will have to depend on Fairweather's for all that's rich and right in Fur Styles.

Taste and carefullness mark the difference between the commonplace and the elegant, the margin of extra cost is always small.

This Season's Styles are planned to bring the beautiful, in useful and decorative Fur wear, still nearer to usual cost of plainer sorts.

We know of no city or town where fine fur isso appreciated in the articles of every-day wear, as they are in Peterboro' and Toronto, and so we boldly manufactured vast quantities of handsome fur garments—because quantities meant little prices, that will make better values than such fine goods have ever reached before—Every fur garment shown is manufactured under our own supervision by first class fur cutters and finishers either in our Toronto or Peterboro' work-rooms.

This informs us as to the quality of stock used in every particular, and we are therefore in a position to guarantee customers of its actual value from a wearing stand-point—as well as its process of manufacture.

When you see our stock you will find it impossible to resist purchasing. Our motto has been—first, goodness and beauty; next cheapness.

We invite everyone to call and inspect our Fur stock on these opening days.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The new bandmaster will meet the members of the bugle band at the drill shed to-night.

—One hundred and twenty fine, healthy girls arrived safely at the Barnardo Home yesterday morning at 6 30, under the care of Mrs. Brown.

—St. Andrew's Mission Band concert has been postponed till Tuesday, Oct. 4th. The young ladies are very fortunate in being able to promise the same excellent programme.

—The term honeymoon, it is said, is derived from an early Anglo-Saxon custom followed by newly-married couples, that of drinking diluted honey for 30 days after marriage.

—So far this year 75,240 acres of land have been taken up in the Swan River district of Manitoba for settlement. This district is just being opened by the extension of the Dauphin railway.

—"Ned," the bright little fox-terrier which was usually seen at the heels of Mr. Will Thompson, mysteriously disappeared on Friday morning last. There is trouble ahead for anyone found harbouring the dog.

—A big counter in the rear of Ormond & Walsh's drug store is laden down with game to-day, as a result of a trip to the north country by Mr. Dickson Davidson. Those of his friends who have not received a brace or so of partridge can easily be accommodated by calling at the drugstore.

—The Millbrook Reporter says the turnips in that district are being infected with lice, a grayish little pest which creates great havoc, and a number of farmers have been forced to plough them under. There is no remedy as yet known to counteract the destructive work of the pest.

—The Crown Lands Department are getting some 500 pounds of corundum from a mine in Methuen township for experimental purpose. Some samples of the Methuen mineral approach to the gem and sapphire, and it is not improbable even that this precious gem exists there also.

—The village of Hastings is working itself up into a white heat over the fact that some of the exchanges have published an article stating that there would be no Hastings fair this year. The item refers to the big five day Hastings County Exhibition, which has been declared off this year. The village fair will be on deck all right.

—A case of suspected glanders being reported in Verulam on Wednesday afternoon, the animal was inspected, killed and burnt on a log heap on Thursday afternoon. Such prompt and decisive action is highly commendable. Just such action should be taken in all cases of contagious diseases, and they would stop with the first case.

—The prospect of hunting in the Havelock section seems to have been blighted by announcement from the Anglo-American Iron Company to the effect that all persons trespassing on their lands in the counties of Hastings and Peterborough for the purpose of hunting, berry-picking, frog catching, cutting or removing timber or marsh hay, shall be prosecuted according to law. They claim that many thousand dollars worth of their property is destroyed yearly by fire arising from the carelessness of trespassers.

—An effort is being made by the Canadian military authorities to have Thanksgiving Day changed from the third Thursday in November to the same day in Oct. The reason given being the fact that the weather is generally unfavourable for the military manoeuvres which take place. The average Canadian will wish them every success in their effort.

GREER TAKES A HAND.

Detective to Work on the Napanee Bank Robbery Case.

(Toronto Star)

There seem to be strange developments in the Napanee bank robbery case. Private despatches have been coming in to the effect that the Pinkerton detectives were in the vicinity again, and were working on a new clue.

On Monday detectives Greer and Rogers left for the east. Detective Greer went as far as Belleville, and there joined the Pinkerton men, and has been working with them ever since.

A new plan seems to be in progress, for though Greer worked with the detectives before the first trial, no crown detective has been near the place since.

VICTORIA CHEESE BOARD.

1495 Boxes Were Sold on Saturday at 8 15-16 cents.

Pursuant to adjournment, a meeting of the Victoria County cheese board was held in Lindsay on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, President Robertson, Treasurer Sandford and Secretary Shine and other officers being present.

The factories boarded the number of cheese placed opposite:

Star	100
Lorneville	35
Cameron	85
Dunsford	84
Mariposa	70
Cambray	75
Janetville	82
Omemee	125
Fenelon Falls	77
North Verulam	71
Pine Grove	40
Reaboro	135
Bobcaygeon	100
Maple Leaf	115
Palestine	107
Red Rock	164
Oakwood	40

Mr. Flavelle led off with an offer of 8⅞ for selections. Mr. Fitzgerald called 8⅞c. Mr. Whitton remained silent, and Mr. Fitzgerald named Oakwood, Bobcaygeon, Mariposa, Cambray and Star, all refusing.

Mr. Whitton made the same offer to Maple Leaf, North Verulam, Fenelon Falls, Omemee, Janetville, Dunsford and Lorneville with no takers.

Mr. Flavelle—"The difference in freight, coupled with the cost of inspection, really makes a difference of a sixteenth of a cent per pound as compared with Peterborough." He then offered 8⅞c. for Cameron, Pine Grove, Palestine and Red Rock, but all refused.

Mr. Whitton finally said he would make his bid 8 15-16c, and called Dunsford, Janetville, Fenelon Falls, North Verulam, Reaboro, Maple Leaf and Omemee, the latter refusing.

Mr. Fitzgerald awakened to a sense of his duty and also offered 8 15 16c for selections, taking Star, Mariposa, Cambray, Bobcaygeon, Oakwood and North Ops.

Mr. Flavelle offered to clear the board at 8⅞c, but finally consented to do as well as the other buyers, and took Red Rock, Palestine, Pine Grove and Lorneville at 8 15 16c.

The board was thus cleared at the highest figure ever received since its formation. The next meeting will be held on Monday, Oct. 17th.

PETERBOROUGH SHERIFF VISITS CAMPBELLFORD.

On Monday of last week the sheriff from Peterborough went to Campbellford to collect the chattels which had been disposed of by the mortgagor, Mr. Wylie, who lives in Percy, a few miles southwest of Campbellford. We give the following account as we received it from one of the parties who was privileged to read the mortgage, which is as follows:

Some time in July a mortgage amounting to about $450 was renewed, which was held against a man by the name of Wylie, by one, Mr. Dixon, of Peterborough. (We have a full list of the chattels, but think it unnecessary to publish it) Upon hearing of Mr. Wylie disposing of some of the chattels, Mr. Dixon sent the sheriff down to recover them. The goods disposed of were as follows: One horse after passing through several hands, was found in the possession of Mr. John Hay, Seymour, consequently he was the loser. Mr. Whitton, our butcher, on the west side of the river, purchased two cows from Wylie early in the summer, having paid $40 for them. The sheriff took possession of these also. Mr. Bert Gillespie, who lives near Hastings, purchased one heifer from him, and he is out $5, the price which he paid him. Part of the chattels have been removed to Peterborough, and the remainder are still on the place.—Despatch.

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boys pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

That Story Was a Fake.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—That harrowing story which comes from Dawson City via Seattle, alleging the loss of seven men on the Canadian route in the "terrible floating marshes" between Fort St. John and the Nelson River, and noting the arrival there of "the first one of 600 pilgrims who tried the route," is regarded by the Mounted Police department as a cruel "fake." We have authenticated reports, said a prominent official, of the country lying between the Nelson or east branch river and the Peace, and instead of floating swamps, it is known to consist largely of rocky, broken ground.

McLaughlin Holds His Seat.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—J. McLaughlin, the Conservative member in the local House for Stormont, is assured of his seat. In the Court of Queen's Bench at Osgoode Hall on Saturday, before Justices Falconbridge and Street, the petition was dismissed, as the petitioner, who was represented by Mr. Lount, of Kerr, Macdonald & Co., did not offer any evidence. Mr. Saunders represented the member.

Teddy Roosevelt for Governor.

Saratoga, Sept. 26.—The slate, as prepared by the leaders claiming to have control of the Republican State Convention, and to be named on Tuesday, contains the name of Theodore Roosevelt of New York, for Governor of New York State.

Doan Cures a Manitoba Man.

Mr. Alexander Fraser, Miami, Man., writes: "I cannot refrain from recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to any person troubled with kidney disorder, for I believe if they could cure me they could cure any case."

From the CROWN of the Head To the SOLES of the Feet!

WE COVER ALL.

Men's Hats, Men's Shoes, Men's Clothing, Men's Underwear, Men's Furnishings, All Under One Roof!

The first calendar month of Autumn, 1898, will bring us up to the greatest business we have ever known. Measure it by bulk, weight, dollars or transactions, we get the same great result—BIGGER THAN EVER BEFORE.

What makes Gough Bros. so distinctly Gough Bros. is the SPIRIT that actuates their business—all the time striving to serve our customers better and better—shortening the road from producer to consumer, and saving to buyers every penny of cost.

We maintain our well earned title of "THE WONDERFUL CHEAP MEN"—our fixed aim has been and will contiuue to be, to sell a $20 suit for $15. The suit you paid $17.50 for we can duplicate for $12.50. You may think our prices are sometimes too low—too low for good clothing—but if special prices or unusual discounts are given us, we take them off to you to make larger sales.

First Instalment of Fall Goods.

66 CASES—14 Huge Cases of Clothing and Furnishings, 40 Cases of Boots and Shoes, 12 Cases Hats and Caps.

Clothing—everything is brand new, fresh and clean—the handsomest and best Tailored Ready-to-Wear Clothing ever shown in Peterborough—selected for Peterborough's best trade.

HATS and CAPS.

We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

—On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $1.65.
—On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
—On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 35c.
—On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
—Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

Warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

—On the best $3 Men's Selected Shape Balmoral or Congress, we take off 40c, and ask only $2.60.
—On the best Men's Fine Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1.65.
—On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.40.
—On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 30c., and ask only $1.60.
—Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE—Who sells the cheapest goods — the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold? Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

Li Hung's Enemy Arrested.

London, Sept. 26.—The Times' Pekin correspondent says: "Chang Yin Hunn, the Cantonese enemy and rival of Li Hung Chang, who is charged with harboring Kang Yuwei, has been arrested. He is now under trial by the Board of Punishment. He will be stripped of all his offices, his removal giving increased power to Li Hung Chang.

"The officials generally welcome the Empress return to power, but the people are indifferent. Kang Yuwei is charged with conspiring against the Empress Dowager and has been declared an outlaw and his arrest has been ordered."

The Emperor Very Sick.

London, Sept 26.—The Pekin correspondent of the Daily Mail says. The head eunuch at the palace informs me that the Emperor is seriously indisposed and that his death is not unlikely.

TO COERCE THE SULTAN.

Four of the Great Powers Sign an Agreement to That Effect.

Rome, Sept. 26.—Within 24 hours Great Britain, Russia, France and Italy will append their signatures to an agreement for the pacification of the Island of Crete, including a plan for coercing the Sultan into submission. The scheme has for some time been drafted, but its enforcement was delayed to invite the participation of Germany, which country declined. At the beginning of the week the four powers will send an ultimatum to the Sultan of Turkey summoning him to accept the project, and informing him that unless he does so measures will be taken to enforce his compliance. The powers have irrevocably decided to settle the Cretan question immediately and will not hesitate to send their fleets to the Dardanelles, and beyond if necessary.

Catarrh and Hay Fever.

If it's Hay Fever that is the bug-bear of your life, you won't know the pleasure of freedom from it till you've tried Dr. Chase' Catarrh Cure.

A BLACK CLOUD MASS

Generated a Force That Wrought Death and Destruction

IN ST. KITTS AND MERRITTON.

Three Were Killed and Many Injured by the Storm, Which Also Unroofed Many Buildings in the Fated Towns—A Graphic Story of an Indescribable Scene.

St. Catharines, Sept. 27.—This city and the adjoining municipality of Merritton were visited about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by a terrific death-dealing tornado, which spread desolation and destruction in its path and laid the principal part of Merritton low. At the hour named the tornado, which was funnel-shaped, approached the city from the northwest, and, as it passed over, trees were uprooted and tossed everywhere as if they were shrubs. The sight on many of the principal residence streets was truly magnificent. The roadways were rendered practically impassable, and it is a great wonder that the city escaped without loss of life. As the cloud passed over the city it swept a space several blocks wide, felling everything that was not securely fastened and taking off many roofs.

It was heralded by a sharp peal of thunder out of a clear blue sky, and in a very short time a terrific tornado began its deadly work. The wind-cloud waterspout was seen below Welland avenue, between Lake and George streets. It traveled in a direct line from this point to the southern limit of the city, passing out at or near the Pickard Electric Works. All along the course the destruction is visible up to Church street. Several minor effects are shown at this point.

The drill shed is practically demolished, the western arch being blown in on the gun sheds, breaking them in, and the roof of the hall is completely gone. From here it passed along Church street, where it had unroofed Cruikshank's large barn, and carrying the roof off the Nelson boarding house over 100 yards away.

Slight damage was done at the First Presbyterian Church, the scuttles being carried away.

C. K Moore's barn was unroofed, and all the chimneys blown from his house.

Students Narrowly Escape.

At the Collegiate Institute a large chimney was blown down, falling through the roof into a class room, where some of the students were at drill. Luckily all escaped.

St. George's rectory roof was badly smashed, the chimney falling through the roof.

McHugh's cigar factory had part of the roof carried away, and chimneys blown down, and Dittrick's office also suffered.

Graham's restaurant roof was blown off, and part of it carried across the street, and landed in St. Paul Street Church yard.

The St. Paul Street Church had glass blown out in the front and sides.

Packard's Electric Works lost the cornice of the main building. Several windows were blown out, and a wooden warehouse known as the old barrel house was razed to the ground and blown down the hill.

Ratcliffe's large ice house at Lock 4, was completely demolished.

The King street end of the St. Catharines House tumbled over, and part of the Hodgins Bros.' cornice came down.

Flynn Bros.' shed was reduced to kindling wood.

All along the path of the storm extending from James street east to Queenston street, the havoc was complete.

Giant trees were uprooted and tossed everywhere, as if they were shrubs.

The sight along King and Academy streets was a magnificent one. The roadways were practically impassable, and the wonder is that St. Catharines has no death list to report.

The Wonderful Spectacle.

Hundreds of people watched the funnel-shaped monster traveling over the canal and over Merritton, where its funnel end could be seen licking up force and scattering destruction broadcast. It scooped up water out of the canal as it passed over, and its gyrations made it appear as a thing of life. It could be seen sending down its slender tentacles, as it carried its awful work to the movable things on the ground beneath it.

TOWN OF MERRITTON

Got the Worst of the Storm—Three Persons Killed and Many Badly Injured.

The town of Merritton shows the terrible ordeal it has passed through in a most awful manner. Kindling wood scattered over and beyond the path of the cloud for many hundreds of yards, and demolished house, torn roofs and upturned sidewalks, testifying to the terrible force of the storm.

The Killed.

Clara O'Neill, an employe of the Lincoln Paper Mills.

Mrs. John Bickley, killed on the sidewalk in front of Mr. James E. Bradley's house.

Frankie Moffat, killed in the lower end school house.

The Injured.

It is impossible at this early period to give a full list of the injured, but among the most seriously hurt were the following:

Maud O'Neill, Lincoln Mills.
Jennie Nestor, Lincoln Mills.
Rox Bradley, Lincoln Mills.
James McCarty, Lincoln Mills, thought will die.
A son of Samuel Smith, hand all broken; all the other members of the family more or less injured.
Arthur Bradley, hurt in A. R. Thompson's store.
C. Murray and Ed. Doyle, injured at the N.C.R. car tracks at the Lincoln Mill.
Bessie Kerr, lower school, legs broken.
Willie H. Wilson, badly hurt.

Hardly a Building Left.

There is hardly a building left in the path of the cyclone in Merritton. The wind struck the village at the Lincoln Paper Mill and unroofed the building. The next building in the path was the power house of the Acetylene Gas Works at Lock 8, and it was knocked completely out of shape. From there to Disner's store there are few buildings, but the damage from this point can be better tabulated than described:

Acetylene Gas Work's power houses No 1 and 2, partly destroyed.

Disner's store, almost demolished; also his house and barn were wrecked.

Joseph Kara's beautiful new house, badly damaged.

Houses of A. H. Bradley, William McCumber, A. Lawton, Mrs. Grant, John Livingston, Mrs. S. G. Phelps, all more or less demolished.

A. R Thompson's store, part of it leveled.

Houses of Thomas Hastings and Charles Richardson, badly damaged.

R Thompson's house, levelled to the ground.

House of James E. Bradley, leveled.

Orange Hall, levelled.

School house, roof off.

Acetylene gas house, end blown in.

St. James' Church, tower damaged and roof shattered.

Presbyterian Church, levelled to the ground and a mass of kindling wood.

Lincoln Paper Mill, roof off and outhouses demolished, an awful wreck.

Sam Smith's house, not a stick of timber standing.

John Bradley's house, leveled to the ground.

Honor This Schoolmistress.

The teacher of the school, Miss Ida Smith, saved the lives of many of the children by getting them out in safety before the worst of the storm reached there. The children were bidden to fly for their lives and most of them got out in time.

The scene of desolation at this point was indescribable.. Children lay under piles of debris, and many of them were badly hurt, but as they ran home as quickly as possible their names could not be learned.

One of the little ones lay with her leg broken beside Frankie Moffatt, the only child killed outright. There were soon many people at hand aiding in the rescuing of the injured. Conveyances were procured, and many injured ones were taken to the hospital. There were 40 children in the school at the time, and it is miraculous that the casualties were not greater.

Mrs. Bickley Struck Dead.

Mrs. Bickley was running to her home from the storm, and had just got inside the door when she dropped, struck dead. Plank sidewalks are up on end everywhere. Trolley lines and fixtures twisted out of all shape and even wire fences were levelled. Not a chimney is left standing on Ollie Phelps or Noah Phelps' residences, and the staunch pulp mill in the valley there is unroofed. When last seen the funnel was passing over Niagara Falls, and there may be serious reports of damage wrought in that direction.

VISITED MANY VILLAGES.

The Storm King in Athlone, Keenansville, Colgan and Tottenham.

Tottenham, Ont., Sept. 27.—A terrific storm of wind and rain, accompanied by hail stones passed over this section yesterday afternoon doing a great deal of damage. It traveled in a southeasterly direction, taking in the villages of Athlone, Keenansville, Colgan and Tottenham. There was a heavy shower of hail stones as large as good sized plums, lasting for some 10 minutes, and as there was a heavy wind at the time, much damage followed. Nearly all the northern windows in Messrs. Kidd's store, Athlone, were demolished.

The woolen factory and dwelling house of W. & C. Brown, Keenansville, were nearly bereft of glass on the north sides, as also were several private residences. Several windows were smashed in the Methodist Church in the vicinity.

The next village, Colgan, seemed to come in for a special destruction. Five large stained glass windows in St. James' Catholic Church were completely riddled, as were the northern windows in nearly every house in the village.

The wrath of the storm king seemed to have been considerably assuaged ere it reached this village, and not a great deal of damage was done here.

Rink Damaged at Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 27.—About a quarter to 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a heavy gust of wind, which appeared to come from all parts of the compass, struck the new skating rink being built by Mr. A. B. Petrie. A stretch of brick work 90 feet long and 20 feet high was swept to the ground. The bricks were not much damaged. Fortunate it was that no one was working on the wall at the time. A team conveying material had a narrow escape. The work of rebuilding will commence at once.

DREYFUS REVISION.

The French Cabinet Has Granted the Boon at Last.

COURT'S PRESIDENT IS A JEW.

M. Brisson Literally Wrung Decision for a Revision From His Colleagues —New Minister of War Remained Neutral—Is the Emperor of China Dead?—Cable News.

Paris, Sept. 27.—A full meeting of the Cabinet yesterday morning decided in favor of revision of the Dreyfus trial, and the documents will be sent to the Court of Cessation.

The Cabinet meeting was prolonged and animated. The Minister of Agriculture, M. Viger, is reported to have bitterly opposed a revision, and it is rumored he will resign. Instructions were issued to prosecute anyone attacking the army.

The city is excited and the Bourse is in a disturbed condition. Conservative papers, however, counsel the people to remain calm.

It is understood that M. Brisson literally wrung consent from the Cabinet for a revision, after a remarkable display of eloquence and personal influence, and the stormiest of scenes. His strongest opponent was M. Sarrien, the Minister of Justice, who expressed a desire to resign, and warned the other Ministers that they were assuming a terrible responsibility. M. Viger and M. Marujouls, respectively Minister of Agriculture and Minister of Commerce, supported M. Sarrien.

General Chenoine, Minister of War, remained neutral.

President Faure hastily returned to Paris in the afternoon, but M. Brisson went to Bois de Boulogne, probably to avoid presidential interference until the papers should have announced the decision in favor of a revision, M. Faure being still strongly against a revision.

The criminial chamber of the Court of Cessation, which will examine the Dossier, consists of 25 judges and a president, who happens to be a Jew.

EMPEROR MAY BE DEAD.

No Positive Confirmation, But Evidence Points That Way.

London, Sept. 27.—The Daily Telegraph's Hong Kong correspondent, writing Sunday, says: "Although there is no positive confirmation, all the evidence tends to the conviction that the Emperor is dead.

"A private despatch says he died on Sept. 21, directly he issued the edict giving the Dowager the Regency. Nobody doubts that Yang and Chang Yin Huan, who was Minister at Washington in 1895, are both innocent of the charge of poisoning the Emperor."

Will Recognize the Philippine Republic.

London, Sept. 27.—A despatch to the Globe from Hong Kong, published yesterday afternoon, says it is learned from a trustworthy Filipino source that France has promised to recognize the Filipino Republic, and it is added that negotiations on the subject are proceeding at Manila, where there are three French warships.

Has Arrived at Singapore—Urged Britain to Stand Firm.

Singapore, Sept. 27.—Rear-Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, who is en route to China as the representative of the British Associated Chambers of Commerce, has arrived here. In a speech made by him yesterday before the Chamber of Commerce and the Straits Settlements Association, he urged that commercial treaties between Great Britain, Germany, the United States and Japan would ensure peace. He declared that the waterways of China would be developed under the protection of military police, and then railroads would follow. In conclusion, Lord Charles urged Great Britain to take a firmer and more definite attitude in regard to China.

INDIANS SUSPECTED OF MURDER.

Ike Martin, Returning Klondiker, Found Dead With His Throat Cut.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 27.—The Topeka reached here last evening with the news of the robbery of $[illegible] from three miners on the Dalton trail. One Ike Martin was found dead with his throat cut. He was a former partner of Jack Dalton. Chilcoot Indians are suspected.

The steamer Columbia, here from the Orient, was badly battered up in a typhoon between Hong Kong and Koba. She lost her anchors and 150 fathoms of chain. Some of the deck houses were carried away, and a portion of the bridge saloon and engine rooms were flooded.

An agent of the Chinese rebels has arrived to collect funds and enlist the sympathy of Chinatown.

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

The public is reminded that the West Peterborough Central Exhibition will be held this year on September 29th and 30th and Oct. 1st. The indications are that it will be one of the best of the series. The attractions are unusually strong, and with a bountiful harvest the exhibits in all classes should be of superior excellence. The formal opening will be held on Friday, Sept. 30th, by Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Dominion Minister of Public Works. The speeding events this year will attract, no doubt, a string of fast horses. An aggregate purse of $500 is to be distributed in racing and trotting prizes to be competed for on the best half mile track in Canada. A special grand stand entertainment will be provided by a specially engaged troupe of acrobatic and other artists, and in all respects the directors promise one of the most entertaining and instructive exhibitions ever held in this district. The date is Sept. 29th and 30th and Oct. 1st.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, September 24th.—It would be difficult to find a better illustration of the utter unreliability of alleged "news" items from the Klondike than has been given this week in connection with the alleged irregularities of the regulation of the liquor traffic in the Yukon. Tuesday's press despatches announced that Mr. Bulyea, the member of the N.W.T. Executive, who had been sent by the Territorial Government into the gold district for the purpose of looking after their interests in the regulating of the liquor traffic, reported the result of his mission to the Assembly. In the course of his report he stated that Major Walsh, Federal Commissioner, had interfered with his mission in every way, had obstructed the administration of the law and had as a result introduced a reign of free whiskey, and all law and order had been set at defiance. So startling a story did Mr. Bulyea present that Premier Haultain declared from his seat in the House, amid cheers, that if the Major could not be proceeded against under the criminal code, he would feel it his duty to have him impeached next session at the bar of the House of Commons.

THE MAJOR'S VERSION.

The next day a Brockville despatch gives Major Walsh's side of the story, and presents the situation in an entirely different light, alleging that Mr. Bulyea had deliberately transgressed the regulations after a fair warning from the Major, whose authority no one else questions, and that whatever trouble and confusion had arisen in the matter were entirely due to the ill-considered action of the representative of the Territorial Government. As to the threat of impeachment, the ex-Commissioner evidently scarcely considered it worthy of notice.

There is no intention or desire here to express any opinion upon the merits of this controversy; it is a question of the limitations of authority which can be settled by experts. The purpose in calling attention to the incident is to illustrate how absolutely worthless uncorroborated stories from that far-off section must be, when two well-known and thoroughly responsible public men, speaking in their official capacity, give such totally different versions of the same story.

THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

The Quebec Conference is once more under way, but this week's deliberations, according to all accounts, have not resulted in any definite conclusions being arrived at. The proceedings outside of the conference chamber are apparently more interesting than what goes on behind closed doors. Social events that have marked this week have been of unusual brilliancy. The unveiling of the Champlain monument, and a series of social entertainments, vice-regal and otherwise, have kept the old city gay.

The representatives of the various and varied interests likely to be affected by the deliberations are arriving on every train. The most important during the past few days were the Premier of Ontario and his colleague, Hon. G. W. Ross; the Provincial Ministers have gone down on behalf of Ontario's lumber interests, and they will, no doubt, make it clear to the British commissioners that the Province is not prepared to make concessions to the Michigan lumber men without an ample quid pro quo. The manufacturing interests of the Dominion are being ably represented by Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, ex-Controller of Customs, who is at the Ancient Capital as the accredited representative of the Manufacturers' Association, and numerous other delegations from both countries are closely watching the proceeding and keeping their respective representatives thoroughly posted from their individual standpoints.

A GOOD TRADE BAROMETER.

No truer indication of the condition of trade can be found than the amount of business handled by the railways. During the past three or four weeks there has been a great increase in the freight traffic between Eastern Canada and the Pacific Coast, the total being away ahead of the same season last year. Business on the coast was never so good according to the reports of representatives of Eastern houses, who are returning from their semi-annual western trips. In dry goods, household furniture and certain lines of edibles, the demand is greatly in excess of previous seasons, while the indications for the miners' outfitting trade during the coming winter would appear to show an expectation of even a greater rush than last season. Owing to the partial failure of the salmon harvest the returning freight from the west is somewhat below the average but this is a comparatively small matter in the grand total of business being done.

It is satisfactory to find that the year's business so far shows a substantial increase to both of the great trunk lines, the total business to September 14th, being $32,936,235 as against $30,775,717 an increase of $2,100,418.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Governor-General's address at the opening of the Ottawa Exhibition may be taken as an indication of the character that he will give Canada upon his return to the Old Country. Lord Aberdeen's personal faith in the future of the Dominion is eloquently shown in the manner in which he has invested his own money in British Columbia, and the result of his recent trip to his ranches in the West appears to have still further strengthened his original favourable opinion. His Excellency's estimate of the capabilities of the country to produce every variety of natural supplies, and the report of the Hon Minister of Agriculture who followed him on the programme, as to the vast markets awaiting these products in the old land, combined to present as splendid an outlook for Canada's trade as the most exacting could desire to have offered them.

THE FUTURE OF THE YUKON.

An interesting visitor to the capital this week has been Mr. E. G. Woodford, formerly the State Engineer of the Transvaal Republic, who is on his way to England after a professional visit to Dawson City. There are few men better qualified to speak upon the indications for the future of the Canadian gold fields, and Mr. Woodford's opinion is therefore particularly valuable. He is very enthusiastic over the prospect of permenance in the mining industries of the far-off Northwest, giving it as his emphatic belief that there is gold bearing quartz under the surface in the Yukon which will make it of lasting value. He states further that beside the quartz mining there are miles and miles of territory which can only be worked by wealthy corporations operating with hydraulic machinery and his report to English capitalists on these lines will undoubtedly have a splendid effect upon the future of the Yukon.

Can Work Now

Paine's Celery Compound Renews the Life of a Government Official.

After the failures of physicians the great medicine does a Marvellous work for Capt. A. A. Mooney, of Masonville, Que.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.,

Gentlemen:—For the past twelve months I have been suffering with poor health. Meeting with serious financial loss, I began to feel nervous and exhausted, and my mind was so confused that I found it difficult to perform my routine duties in the Customs service. I was obliged to stop work and was granted a three months' leave of absence by the government. I consulted some of the best physicians in the country, but they did not agree about what ailed me, and I got little relief. About three months ago a friend sent me three bottles of Paine's Celery Compound with the request that I take it. I am now taking the sixth bottle and am doing my work regularly. I have gained several pounds in weight, my appetite has improved, and I am able to perform as difficult mental work as at any time in my life. I am confident that Paine's Celery Compound has been of great benefit to me.

Under No Obligations.

"Shave yourself, sir, don't you?" said a barber who was trimming the hair of a customer.

"Yes," replied the customer. "How did you know?"

"Well," rejoined the barber, "I know I have never shaved you, and I do sometimes trim your hair. Besides that I think a barber would do a little better job than you seem to do."

"Very likely."

"We'd have pretty hard work making a living if every man was like you," pursued the barber after clipping and snipping a few moments in silence.

"Perhaps."

"You're in business, ain't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, s'pose no barbers ever bought anything of you, how would you like that?"

"I don't think it would make much difference," rejoined the customer. "My business is selling pipe organs."

And the barber finished the job in silence.—Youth's Companion.

DEATH OF HON. M. C. CAMERON.

The Lieutenant-Governor of the North-west Territories Breathed His Last in London—His Career.

London, Sept. 27.—Hon. M. C. Cameron, Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories, died at the residence of his son-in law, Mayor Dr. Wilson, at 8.15 o'clock yesterday morning.

Some weeks ago Mr. Cameron returned to his home in Goderich from Regina. He had a very severe cold, and was troubled with indigestion and also a tendency toward heart trouble. A few weeks ago he came to London to visit Dr. Wilson. For a time Mr. Cameron seemed to show a certain improvement, but new symptoms developed.

Hon. Malcolm Colin Cameron was the son of the late Hon. Malcolm Cameron, formerly a member of the Canadian Government, and a well known temperance advocate, and was born at Perth, Ont., April 12, 1832. Educated at Knox College, Toronto, he was called to the bar in 1860, and had for many years successfully practised his profession in Goderich. He was for some time a member of the Town Council, and afterwards Mayor of Goderich. He sat for South Huron in the House of Commons, 1867-68, and for West Huron, 1882-87. He was again returned at the bye-election, January, 1896, and re-elected at the Dominion general elections 1896. He was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories this year. In religion deceased was a Presbyterian. He married, May, 1855, Jessie H., daughter of Dr. John McLean, late of the Royal Navy, who survives, together with two sons and five daughters. The sons are M. G., barrister, of Goderich, and Allan, a fruit-grower in Florida. The daughters are Mrs. John Galt of Goderich, Mrs. (Dr.) John G. Wilson and Mrs. Richard Bayly, jr., of London, and Misses Margaret and Grace, living at home. A few days ago the deceased sent for an old friend, Mr. John Cameron of the Advertiser, and in conversation expressed his enthusiastic admiration of the Northwest Territory, and his faith in its future as a great agricultural country. His Honor was quite cheerful, and apparently only slightly indisposed. He had no premonition of the serious condition into which he lapsed. He arranged for a formal interview with an Advertiser representative, in order to publish his impressions of the Northwest, but became too ill to fulfil his intentions.

THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

Commissioners Had No Formal Session on Monday—United States May Purchase Canada's Sealing Rights.

Quebec, Sept. 27.—The Joint High Commission did not meet yesterday. The British and American commissioners met separately and the former called into consultation Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, the Solicitor-General, regarding some legal points raised. Two of the joint sub-committees also met, and one of the Canadian commissioners says that progress of the most satisfactory sort was made. It seems to be no longer a question as to whether or not a treaty will result from the conference, but rather as to how many of the points embraced in the protocol will be disposed of. Reciprocity is the most troublesome of the issues. Some of the others are very near a satisfactory settlement, while it is believed that in regard to others, such as the domestic bonding regulations, the strong expressions of opinion on both sides of the border that the present system should be let alone will govern the decision of the commissioners.

There seems to be a great likelihood that the Behring Sea question will be disposed of by the conference. The American Commissioners have been advised that the Treasury Department, at their suggestion, has sent an expert to British Columbia to make an estimate of the value of schooners owned by the Canadian sealers. Compensation will, of course, be forthcoming. Once the Canadians, as factors, are eliminated, the Alaska Commercial Company, it is said, purposes to strengthen its practical monopoly by acquiring the rights of the Russian company operating in the Asiatic waters of Behring Sea.

Meanwhile the representatives of various industries are active in promoting them.

SIR ARTHUR CURTIS' BODY.

Party of Indians Know Where It Is, But Want $1,000.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 27.—Those returning from the north by a Klondike steamer on Saturday with Klondikers from the Ashcroft trail, told a story to the effect that some Indians knew where the body of Sir Arthur Curtis, Bart., was lying on the trail, and wanted $1,000 for the body.

The C.P.R., in conjunction with capitalists, is increasing the capacity of the present cement works here from 1,200 barrels a year to 1,000,000 barrels a year. As they can supply as good a cement as the Portland cement, and have cheaper raw material close by, they are likely to corral the entire market of the Pacific Coast, outside of San Francisco.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 19—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co. tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that to-day I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR.—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash..... $5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for..... 8,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash 2,080 25
and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, the policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

Pickle and an Emergency.

The talk turned the other day in an eastern Maine town on good luck coming out of apparent misfortune, and as an illustration a gentleman told how a Waldo county man's house caught fire in a time of great drought when the well was dry and there was no water within half a mile. The woman of the house discovered it burning at a lively rate on the dry roof. Help was scarce as water. She began wringing her hands and saying over and over to herself: "Here's a pretty pickle! A pretty pickle!"

"Pickle, pickle!" the word unconsciously repeated itself, and then she thought of a whole barrel full of pork pickle in the cellar, saved for boiling over. She darted down the cellarway and soon began deluging the roof with the brine. Every one who has tried it knows what a complete fire extinguisher salt water is. The effect was magical, and before the supply of pickle was exhausted she had the fire out, and the home was saved. She says she never should have thought of it if that word pickle had not kept running in her mind. —Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

A Brakeman's Brutality.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—John Newton, a 17-year-old lad, got into a G.T.R. box car yesterday and thought to enjoy a ride while it was being shunted. However, it had been dispatched and he was carried west. As the train was passing Swansea he went to the side and looked out. Just then a brakeman smashed in his face with a club and he rolled insensible across the car and fell on the track of the down train. An employe of the Bolt Works had seen the blow struck, and caused help to arrive, just in time to save young Newton from being killed by the down train. The lad was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, where he lies in an unconscious condition. The county police and the G.T.R. detective have been notified of the murderous assault.

NERVOUS WOMEN

Suffer From an Insufficiency of Rich, Nourishing Blood.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Remedy the Evil by Ensuring Perfect Digestion, Plenty of Rich Blood and Good Health.

Why do women suffer more from nervous headache, than men do?

Because women's nervous system is more delicate, more sympathetic, more quickly responsive to every influence, than man's.

It is therefore necessary that her nervous system should be kept in perfect health and strength, in order that it shall be able to resist any and all evil influences.

The nerves must be properly nourished, so that they may be strong. If they are kept strong and well nourished no headache will ever be felt.

That they may be kept strong and well nourished, they must be constantly supplied with rich, pure blood.

That plenty of rich, pure blood may be obtained, the food must be perfectly digested, for perfectly digested food makes rich, pure blood.

That the food may be perfectly digested to form an abundance of rich blood, the stomach must be perfectly healthy, for a healthy stomach only can thoroughly digest the food.

That the stomach may be kept in good health and strength always, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets must be used, for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and they only, can ensure perfect digestion.

Try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and be free from nervous headache—be strong, pure-blooded and healthy.

LIVERPOOL WEAK.

The Wheat Markets Affected Both Ways—Decrease in the Visible—The Latest Prices.

Monday Evening, Sept. 26.

Unexpectedly large receipts at Northwest and other points, lower cables from Liverpool and the Continent, together with last week's big shipments from Russia, depressed the Chicago market this morning. Later, however, the American visible supply figures, showing a decrease of over three-quarters of a million bushels, instead of a decrease for the past week, rallied the market, causing sellers to become buyers. The news that 74 loads were taken at New York for export further buoyed up prices, and at the close all deliveries showed a premium of ⅝c to ⅞c over Saturday's final figures.

The Liverpool wheat market to-day failed to hold the strength which distinguished it last week. The cash article was off ½d, and this month's delivery closed 1½d per cental lower than on Saturday. The net loss in remoter options was ⅝d. Paris wheat eased off 15 to 50 centimes, with flour 15 to 60 centimes lower.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 880,000 bushels, that of corn has increased 406,000 bushels, and that of oats has increased 53,000 bushels. To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 28,828,000 bushels, against 27,228,000 bushels a week ago and 44,083,000 bushels a year ago.

Choice to extra were quotable at $5.40 to $5.60; good to choice, $5.15 to $5.40; feeders, $5 to $5.45. Sheep, choice to extra wethers, $4.50 to $4.75; mixed sheep, choice to extra, $4.25 to $4.50; good to choice, $4 to $4.25. The active demand for feeding lambs helped out the market considerably; common bucky lambs were in light demand, very hard to sell. At the close there were a few loads left over.

Cheese Markets.

Lindsay, Sept. 26.—At the County of Victoria Cheese Board, held here, 1495 cheese, first half September make, were boarded. Buyers Flavelle, Whitton and Fitzgerald were present. The Sun Spot and the Storms.

Now get your smoked glass ready; the astronomical avants tell us that the big spot on the sun that is supposed to be the cause of the unusual storms that have visited different parts of the world recently, notably the great Niagara district cyclone yesterday, will be visible to-morrow by the revolution of the orb of day. It is supposed that these great storms are due to disturbance of the sun's photosphere as indicated by the presence of an immense spot big enough to take in half a dozen worlds like ours in a row. It is said that the spot will be visible to-morrow.

The Hospital Concert.

A charming programme is being prepared and the greatest interest taken by all classes of citizens, as was to be expected. Several novelties are promised and among others Mme. d'Erina will sing, assisted by the chorus, Zingarelle's grand Aria. Those buying reserved seat tickets will do well to have them marked at Lynch's Drug Store immediately, as the indications are that more rows will have to be added.

THE WM. HAMILTON COMPANY LOAN BYLAW.

On October 18th next the qualified ratepayers of Peterborough will be called upon to vote upon a bylaw "to aid the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company" by a corporation loan of $30,000. In order that the ratepayers may clearly understand the proposition to be submitted to them in the above mentioned bylaw, a summary of its provisions may be given.

For the purpose of assisting in the erection of new and enlarged buildings for the company, whose necessity will be pointed out further on, it is proposed that the town loan the company the sum of $30,000 at 3½ per cent. interest, to be paid semi-annually, and the principal to be repaid in annual instalments.

The annual payment required to be made by the Company is $1,050 in interest each year for twenty years, payable half yearly, and $1,060.84 every year on account of principal, to form a sinking fund, which will, with accrued compound interest, amount to a sum sufficient to retire the $30,000 debentures at the end of twenty years. Thus the total yearly payment to be made amounts to $2,110.84.

Before the company shall become entitled to the $30,000, it is required to erect a solid brick building, not less than 100 x 300 feet, and furnish and equip it with specified fixed machinery.

In security for the payment of the loan and interest, the company shall execute a first mortgage to the commissioners of the Town Trust upon the new and newly-equipped buildings of the company. Further security is provided by the requirements of the mortgage that the company shall insure the buildings and equipments for not less than $30,000, and keep them so insured, during the currency of the loan, to at least the amount due by the company to the town. In the event of the company defaulting in the payment of any instalment of principal and interest, or ceasing to operate their works six months in the year, the whole of the sum of principal and interest due shall become presently payable and be recoverable under the first mortgage, in addition to which the company is required to give its bond for the payment of the annual instalments.

Another condition of the bylaw prevents the company from removing its business from the town on penalty of the whole amount of indebtedness coming due and immediately payable.

Another clause prevents the removal of any machinery, except for the purpose of replacement, during the currency of the loan.

A careful reading of the bylaw shows that the town is very amply secured, and that, humanly speaking, there is no possible chance of it suffering the loss of a single cent in respect of the proposed loan.

The reasons why the company solicits this loan are, it seems, such as to justify the town in its own interests in making the loan. The present buildings have become quite inadequate to fulfil the requirements of the business of the company. Years ago when the business was in its infancy they were sufficient. They have been added to from time to time, and piece by piece, but they are still admittedly inadequate for the changed conditions of the business. The tendency of the work done by such an establishment is to become heavier and bulkier, larger buildings and longer lines of shafting are needed if the company is to do the work that modern demands present. Small work is going out of the hands of such establishments as that of the William Hamilton Company. More room and more elaborate machinery are demanded for the purposes of handling modern sawmill, and, especially, mining machinery. In the present state of the company's buildings such work cannot be turned out at as great a profit as if proper buildings and machinery were available. This point is especially important in view of the active competition to which the Company is subjected; and the nature of this competition is intensified by the facts that all of the Canadian establishments by which this competition is represented, have, by municipal assistance, been able to offer a more formidable opposition. Their buildings have been enlarged and equipped with the requisite machinery to meet the demands of modern work, by the assistance of the municipalities in which they are situated—one to the extent of $30,000 and free site, another to the extent of $40,000 and practically free site, and another to a lesser, but still very substantial extent. So that with the Hamilton Company it is come to this, that they are compelled to get larger buildings. The capital at its command is sufficient to keep the business in motion. From a very small beginning the establishment has grown to its present splendid dimensions, and owing to the continuous growth and expansion of the business, the money made has been required to effect this enlargement of buildings and operations, so that within themselves there is not all the capital available for the great enlargement which the demands of modern work in the lines mentioned above, render absolutely necessary. The buildings must be larger and the equipment improved, and the money must be obtained, without handicapping the business by the withdrawal of so large an amount of working capital.

This situation confronts the Company. Outside places—Belleville, Ottawa and Montreal East—were quite willing to assist them—and it comes to this, that if no other assistance could be extended, some such offer would have to be accepted, a circumstance which would necessarily involve the removal of the establishment from Peterborough. Of course the company prefers to remain here, and prefers not to entertain any of the tempting offers from the outside, if another way can be devised.

Another reason why assistance in the way of loan accommodation is required is the expense of the buildings to be erected, a careful estimate placing at $60,000 the total expenditure necessary before the company can begin operations in new buildings of the requisite size and equipment. The proposed new buildings will be 100 x 350 feet, something like the Electric Company's buildings, and the cost of the foundations, on account of the peculiar site, added to the necessity of diverting the course of the creek, will be very great, so that with new buildings and new machinery the expense would be such as to severely impair the efficiency of the company's working resources if the whole amount of cost were to be met from the operating capital.

The application by the company for a loan is, one would say, well justified by its relation to the town, both as regards the future and the past. If lack of aid should compel the company to remove to one of the towns mentioned in order to secure the assistance it needs to place it on a par with competing establishments, Peterborough would feel the loss very severely. The William Hamilton Company has been in operation forty-one years—since 1857. It has grown to its present magnitude and importance by merit. It began without municipal aid, and it has never before applied for any substantial favours from the town. What it has done for the town will best be shown by a few simple facts. It has made the name of Peterborough known, in connection with the high class machinery it produces, from one end of the Dominion to the other—from the Atlantic to the Pacific. During the past ten years it has employed, on an average the year round, 110 skilled workmen whose average wages amount to $600 per year. A majority of its employees are men of family, who own their own homes and their interests are identified with those of the town. Some of the employees have served the company for thirty years. For the past ten years the pay roll has averaged $60,000 per year. Last year in face of the hard times the pay roll was seventy-five thousand dollars, so that it is not extravagant to estimate that during the past ten years $600,000 have been paid out in wages to working men, of which practically every cent has been expended in Peterborough. If, in the space of ten years $600,000 have been paid out in wages, it is safe to say that in the whole 40 years of the company's operation a considerably larger sum has been thus expended, which would bring the total spent in the town of Peterborough, through wages paid to its workingmen, up to at least a million and a half of dollars. In other words, the William Hamilton Company has added to the wealth of Peterborough an amount equal to one-third of the whole ratable assessed value of the town, which is $4,303,300. This money has been used by the workmen employed, in the construction of or purchase of dwellings, or spent in trade with our business men to assist them in similar enterprises.

And what adds to the value of this immense contribution to the wealth of the town, is the fact that it is outside money. The money spent in the town through the medium of the Wm. Hamilton Company, is brought almost exclusively from the outside. A few hundred dollars would more than cover the average annual amount of local work done by the company in a year; so that the operations of the company do not mean a mere exchange of money between citizens, but the creation, so far as the town is concerned, of new capital.

These few facts are suggested to show, what an important element in our town this company is, how much new wealth it brings to the town, which will be largely increased if the company can be put in a position to compete on something like equal terms with its rivals, who have, with the help of municipalities, been put in possession of suitable buildings, sufficiently equipped, such as the William Hamilton Company will possess if the town comes to their assistance, when the ratepayers have an opportunity of expressing their opinions by their votes on Oct. 18th.

It would be idle to argue for a moment that the town would not be greatly injured in its material prosperity and population by the withdrawal of such a firm from the town. Other towns are anxious enough to secure the location of this company; and willing to put up a substantial equivalent therefor, and it is to be hoped that the company will not be subjected to the temptation of accepting assistance tendered by outside municipalities.

It will not, perhaps, be regarded as extravagant to suggest that the William Hamilton Company deserves all the assistance the town can bestow, from various considerations—from a consideration of what it has done for the town, from a consideration of how much more it can do for the town, when the facilities for extending its operations and making them more profitable are provided; from a consideration of the tremendous gap that would result if one of our most extensive and, for the town, one of the most profitable industrial establishments, were to be withdrawn from our midst.

In making the loan called for by the bylaw the town runs no risk, the security is ample and becomes better every year as the liability, by reason of the annual payments, becomes reduced. The risk rather consists in the ratepayers showing the William Hamilton Company that they do not appreciate what it has done for the town, what it is doing and what it will do for the town, by declining to extend to the Company an accommodation implied in a loan, for which there is undoubted security and which will not cost the town a dollar in the end. The use of the good name of Peterborough is, in effect, all the Company is asking.

The Dominion Alliance Poster Dealing With Taxation Under Prohibition and License.

The Dominion Alliance has issued some attractive posters putting forth arguments in brief in favour of prohibition. One of them reads:—"The way the money goes."

"Under license—The people pay $40,000,000; of this the Government gets $7,000,000; the traffic keeps $33,000,000; the people have nothing.

Mr. H. E West, Water-street, Vancouver, writes: I had been suffering from a very painful attack of rheumatism in my right shoulder, and could not attempt to raise my arm, so great was the pain. Help in trouble.

Nearly every woman can recall from her own experiences some emergency when a ready knowledge of the best thing to do would have saved days or perhaps months of anxiety and suffering. No family ought to be without the constant safeguard and ever-present help of that wonderful free book the Common Sense Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells what to do in emergency or accident or sudden sickness. It contains over one thousand pages, profusely illustrated with engravings and colored plates. It gives receipts for several hundred simple, well-tried home remedies. It instructs the mother in the care of her ailing children or husband, and gives invaluable suggestions for the preservation of her own health and condition in all those critical and delicate periods to which women are subject. The author of this great work has had a wider practical experience in treating obstinate diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-renowned for their marvelous efficacy.

Mrs. H. M. Hansrote, of Magnolia, Morgan Co., W. Va., in a letter to Dr. Pierce says: "My husband is a locomotive engineer. He came home about a year ago and just dropped in the doorway. He was burning up with fever and he commenced with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery according to directions and in two weeks he was able to go to work, without having a doctor. I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription something over two years ago, and am glad to testify that it is a God-send to womankind. I have been out of health for years, and am now able to say your medicine has cured me entirely. The three children who were born before I commenced to take your medicine did not live long, they were very delicate, but those born since (three in all) are very hearty, and that convinces me it is your medicine is just what it is said to be and a great deal more."

By simply enclosing 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y., a paper-bound volume of Dr. Pierce's great book will be sent absolutely free, or for 50 stamps a heavier and handsomer cloth-bound copy will be sent. A whole medical library in one 1000-page volume.

THE TATLER.

Helen Keller, the deaf, dumb and blind prodigy, rides a tandem.

Sarah B. Harris is the editor of a 12 page weekly published in Lincoln, Neb. She is assisted by Annie L. Miller, who has charge of the news of the women's clubs.

Louise M. Elroz of Marshalltown, Ia., who is acting as press agent for two theaters in Massachusetts, is said to be the only woman in the United States engaged in such work.

Sarah Bernhardt's special train of palace cars was completely destroyed by collision with a freight train at Manchester recently. Mme. Bernhardt and her company had fortunately left the cars.

Mme. Anna Weiss, who is well known in Chicago's musical circles, at one time took music lessons in Vienna with the queen of Spain, who was the Princess Christina. Their teacher was Mrs. Frankl.

Miss Fanny Stewart, daughter of the late Judge John A. Stewart of Trenton, has started for China to be married to the Rev. Gouverneur Mosher, a missionary in that country. The ceremony will take place as soon as the lady arrives.

Mrs. Caroline Croft, formerly Caroline Abigail Brewer of Boston, has left $100,000 to two prominent physicians of that city for investigations to find some way of curing cancer, consumption and other diseases now regarded as incurable.

The late Frances E. Willard has been added to the list of notable women whose portraits are to be carved in the grand stairway of the new capitol at Albany. The others are Susan B. Anthony, Clara Barton, Molly Pitcher and Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Mrs. Cora Henner, who was chief of the women detectives at the World's fair, is to take charge of a similar department at the Paris exposition. Mrs. Henner personally made 200 arrests at Chicago, and she had 95 women detectives working under her. She will take 100 to Paris.

Mrs. Charles W. Mason of Ellsworth, Me., is exhibiting a full blown rose which she declares grow upon an apple tree on her place. Seeing what she supposed was a belated blossom, Mrs. Mason plucked it and was astonished to find that it was not an apple blossom at all, but a rose. In proof she exhibits the flower.

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boys pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

She Cheated.

Said an indignant mother to her little son, "Why did you strike little Elsie, you naughty boy?"

Dick (indignant in his turn)—What did she want to cheat for, then?

"How did she cheat?" asked mamma more mildly.

"Why," explained Dick, "we were playing at Adam and Eve, and she had the apple to tempt me with, and she never tempted me, but went and ate it up herself."—Exchange.

TWO SHARK STORIES.

Horrible Encounters Under the Water With Man Eating Monsters.

"One of the most horrible predicaments a diver was ever placed in," said Mr. Sully, the famous Newport diver, "must have been that of one of whom I once heard who had to investigate a wreck that had carried to the bottom with her a number of cattle. When he blew off the hatches, the bodies floated up, and with a rush a school of hungry sharks attacked them. They were all around the diver, fighting and struggling, and he was in mortal terror lest his air pipe should be bitten in two in the midst of the fearful struggle that was going on. At length, unable to bear the suspense any longer, he signaled to be drawn up, notwithstanding that he would have to pass through the thick of the fierce monsters. In his passage to the surface he brushed close past the sharks, and one of them made a vicious grab at him. It missed his arm, but caught his fingers, and his hand was badly mangled. Perhaps, however, he was glad to get off as cheaply as he did.

"An American diver once told me a blood curdling story of a fight with a shark waged by a man named Hallett. The latter, it is said, was working in one of the old fashioned bells, and while he was being lowered one day he saw below him a black object. In a second or two he recognized that it was a shark, and, to his horror, the bell trapped the monster, so that man and shark were rubbing against each other in the closest possible proximity. The shark grew alarmed, and in swinging viciously around knocked Hallett from his seat. The diver had in his hand a small sharp saw, and, fearing that the shark would make short work of him, he seized one of its fins and plunged his saw deep into its body.

"Then a terrible struggle began. In the confined space the shark could not get at the diver without shaking off the hold that the latter had got, and the latter, seeing that his only hope was to retain his hold, clung on desperately, all the time driving his saw time after time into the body of the maddened sea tiger. Hallett had contrived to make a signal, and just as his senses were leaving him he felt himself rising. When the bell was dragged out of the water, man and shark rolled out in a blood stained heap, but the man had conquered. When he came to his senses, he found that a torn and wounded hand was all the injury he had received in the awful encounter, but the shark was dead."—Chums.

A Startling Signal.

When Bismarck was Prussian delegate to the federal diet at Frankfort, he took apartments in the house of a patrician who held the Prussians in great repugnance, and when Bismarck applied to him to have a bell fixed up in his servant's room, he answered that if Bismarck wanted a bell he must get it fixed himself. A few days later a loud report of firearms was heard to proceed from the delegate's room. The landlord rushed up to his lodger's apartments, and, bursting into Bismarck's study, found him seated at his desk before a great pile of documents calmly smoking his pipe. There was a pistol lying on the table, still smoking at the barrel.

"For the love of heaven, what has happened?" asked the frightened landlord.

"Nothing, nothing," answered Bismarck quietly. "Don't disturb yourself. I was only calling my servant. It is a very harmless signal, to which you will have to accustom yourself, for no doubt I shall want oftentimes to use it again."

The bell was fixed up next day.

English Farmers Fifty Years Ago.

Gigs would be got ready soon after the early dinner, arrival being timed for 3 or 4 o'clock. The gentlemen would take a farming survey, the ladies chat over needlework, at 5 o'clock tea, if tea it could be called, awaiting hosts and guests. The first course of this elaborate regale consisted of home cured ham, that incomparable Suffolk ham pickled in spice, and harvest beer—harvest beer, itself clear as sherry and twice as strong—was drunk with this dish. Next came the strongest of tea and the richest of cream with rusks, also a Suffolk specialty, and cakes equally unrivaled. The tea things removed, hot water and spirit decanter would be brought out, pipes smoked, thereby apparently digestion being restored. Seldom did any one seem the worse for such prolonged eating and drinking.—"Reminiscences of Bentham Edwards."

Your Neighbor's Umbrella.

What ought to be done, ought to be done. He who borrows an umbrella ought to return it because it is borrowed. Umbrellas are for rainy days, and the borrower ought to be willing to carry an umbrella on a fair day in order to get it returned to its owner in time for him to use it on the next rainy day. So long as he is in debt and could pay the debt by dispensing with a little vanity or by a little exertion and yet does not discharge his debt he is not strictly honorable. The umbrella is not "only an umbrella," it is a point in morals. Many a man has started upward or downward in life from the day he struck an attitude toward his neighbor's umbrella.—Sunday School Times.

Justifiable Indignation.

One evening John Scott (Lord Eldon) had been sipping rather too freely of the convivial bowl with a friend in Edinburgh, and upon emerging into the air his intellect became considerably confused. Not being able to distinguish objects with any degree of certainty he felt himself quite capable of losing his way to his own home. While in this perplexity he saw some one coming toward him whom he asked, "D'ye ken whaur John Scott bides?"

"Whaur's the use of your speering that question? You're John Scott himsel'."

"I ken that," answered John indignantly, "but it's no himsel' that's wanted—it's his house."

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

THE SPY.

A spy is a person sent into an enemy's camp to inspect his works, ascertain his strength and report on his movements.

By the laws of war among civilized nations a spy is subject to capital punishment.

A state of war must exist before any person can be executed as a spy, and he must, in the first place, be caught inside the enemy's lines.

To be treated as a spy it must be shown that at the time of capture he was in dress other than the adopted military uniform of his country.

A soldier caught within the enemy's lines wearing his rightful uniform can only be held as a prisoner of war.

Not every person passing secretly through the enemy's lines need necessarily be a spy.

When captured, if the prisoner can show that his errand in getting through was of a personal nature, he can only be held as a prisoner of war.

Trading with the enemy or attempting to enter his camp with letters of a personal nature does not constitute spying.

To be treated as a spy it must be clearly shown that the object of the accused person was to gain information for the enemy which it would be to their advantage to know.—Pearson's Weekly.

Manilla Hemp.

Every engineer knows what manilla hemp is, but few are aware that it is the product of a species of banana which is cultivated in certain localities in the Philippine islands. The plant, called by the natives "abaca," throws up a cluster of sheating leaf stalks to a height of 20 or 30 feet, which spread out at the top into a crown of huge undivided leaves. When it is 3 years old, it is cut down and the stalks are torn into strips. These strips, while still fresh, are drawn between a knife and a wooden block, and the soft cellulose matter is removed. The fiber is then hung up to dry in the open air until it is fit for use. Each stalk gives about a pound of fiber, and two natives will turn out about 25 pounds a day. The inside fiber, which is thin and weak, is used by the natives for making articles of dress. The familiar manilla rope is made from the fiber of the outer layer, which is hard and strong. The whole supply of manilla hemp practically comes from the Philippines, and the United States consumes 41 per cent of it.

D^r WARD'S BLOOD & NERVE PILLS

Take DR. WARD'S BLOOD AND NERVE PILLS. They cure Heart, Nerve and Blood Troubles, and fill the system with Vim, Vigor and Vitality.

Vim

FOR THE SYSTEM.

I was induced to try Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills by a kind friend last August—for a run down system. My face was covered with black spots and I had pimples and boils all over my body. My system was completely run down, and my blood so impoverished that I was losing flesh rapidly. I had used no end of cure-alls, and spent many dollars in doctoring, but was getting no better—but I am now as well as any man in London. The boils have all left me, and my face is free from pimples and black spots. I advise all suffering humanity to try your pills, for they are the best. JAMES HOBIN, Wharncliffe Road, London, Ont.

Vigor

FOR THE NERVES.

DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled a long time with sick headache, and it was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, tongue coated, cold hands and feet and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint, but it was not until I began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills that I received anything like permanent benefit. Three boxes of these pills did the work for me, and I am now feeling splendid. I have gained in health and strength and will always recommend Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Yours thankfully, MRS. A. SAUNDERS, 578 Dundas St., Toronto.

Vitality

FOR THE BLOOD.

GENTLEMEN,—Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and a strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. It is a pleasure to me to recommend Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills to all who are suffering as we were, because I feel sure they will be benefited by their use.

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Signed, ANNIE E. GAUNTLEY,
King Street, Berlin, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

THE PRIMROSE SELLER.

Poor of garb, but fair of face,
The little maid stood in the market place,
Singing:
"Fresh posies, pale primroses,
A penny a bunch. Who'll buy?
Sweet spring posies, pale primroses,
A penny a bunch. Who'll buy?"
The knight rode by on his Arab steed.
He drew his rein, and he checked his speed.
"A penny a bunch. Who'll buy?"
He threw her a crown and kissed his hand.
He was the noblest in the land.
"A penny a bunch. Who'll buy?"
He doffed his plume to her lovely face
And left her there in the market place,
Singing:
"Fresh posies, pale primroses,
A penny a bunch. Who'll buy?
Sweet spring posies, pale primroses,
A penny a bunch. Who'll buy?"

—Marguerite Merington in Ladies' Home Journal.

A PHILIPPINE VOLCANO.

Daring Exploration of the Crater of Taal by Dr. Kane, the Arctic Hero.

Professor Charles W. Shields writes of "The Arctic Monument Named For Tennyson by Dr. Kane" and incidentally gives a sketch of the latter in The Century. Professor Shields says:

It was at Luzon, the largest of the Philippine islands, that his adventurous spirit, though under a scientific impulse, passed the limits of prudence in his far famed exploration of the crater of Taal, a volcano on the Pacific coast of the island, in a region inhabited only by savages. Crossing over to the capital city of the island during one of the long delays of Chinese diplomacy, he procured an escort of natives from the archbishop of Manilla (by means of letters from American prelates which he had secured before leaving home), and, in company with his friend Baron Loe, a relative of Metternich, penetrated the country to the asphaltic lake in which the island volcano is situated. Both gentlemen at first descended together until they reached a precipice overhanging the cavernous gulf of the crater, when the baron saw further progress to be impossible. But the doctor, in spite of the remonstrances of the whole party, insisted upon being lowered over the ledge by means of a rope made of bamboos and held in the hands of the natives, under the baron's directions, until he reached the bottom, 200 feet below.

Loosing himself from the cord, he forced his way downward through the sulphurous vapors, over the hot ashes, to the green boiling lake, dipped his specimen bottle into its waters, returned to the rope, several times stumbling, almost stifled and with one of his boots charred to a coal, but succeeded in again fastening himself and was hauled up by his assistants and received into their hands exhausted and almost insensible. Remedies brought from the neighboring hermitage were applied, and he was so far restored that they could proceed on their journey.

But rumors spread before them among the pygmy savages on the island of the profane invasion which had been made into the mysteries of the Taal, and an angry mob gathered about them, which was only dispersed by one or two pistol shots and the timely arrival of the padres. The trophies of this expedition were some valuable mineral specimens, a bottle of sulphur water, a series of graphic views, from recollection, in his sketchbook, and a written description of the volcano by one of the friars, which, after many wanderings, was put in his hands as he sat at the home dinner table 12 years afterward.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

THE AMERICAN SAILOR.

Jacky Has Become a Specialist and a Credit to the Navy.

Jacky, who used to be more sailor than gunner, is now more gunner than sailor. Just in proportion as he has ceased to be a part of the great engine on which he lives, so he has come more and more into the control of it, and as the cardinal purpose of a warship is to hit things with her projectiles Jacky has become a specialist in getting that work out of her. He does it in two places—at the guns and at the engines. Correctly pointed guns are of no use unless the platform on which they rest is put in proper relation to the thing to be hit and kept there. Equally it is useless to get the ship into proper place unless the guns are correctly pointed. Men who can do either of these things must have natural capacities and be susceptible to education, and only men of this sort are eligible for our navy.

Accordingly the "beach comber," or the "rock scorpion," or any other variety of that ruck of marine refuse which drifts around the great maritime ports and ships in any craft where "grub" is plenty and work light, no longer slings his hammock on Uncle Sam's berth deck, as he used to do, to the shame of the service, in years gone by. Nor can the tramp nor the jailbird nor even the incorrigible black sheep of the family thus be provided for, to the relief of constables and long suffering relatives. No man or boy can now pass a United States naval recruiting officer unless he is clean, healthy, honest, young, strong and intelligent, nor can he afterward get that advancement, which is certainly open to him without fear or favor, unless he continues to show aptitude and ability.—Park Benjamin in Independent.

ARMY AND NAVY GUNS.

A Vast Difference In the Number of Men Required to Handle Them.

The number of men required to man naval guns of the British, French, German and American navies is about the same, although the French are understood to have more men as a rule for some of the larger guns.

For the 4 inch and 5 inch all services require four men to work each piece; for the 6 inch, six men are needed, and for the 10, 12 and 13 inch the same number.

As nearly all our 8, 10, 12 and 13 inch guns are used in pairs and mounted in turrets the 12 men working them are protected by heavy plates of steel. For the little 1 pounders three men are necessary to work them rapidly, and for the 3 pounders and 6 pounders four men are assigned, and for the Hotchkiss three men.

Treble the number of men seem to be required to work the same caliber of guns in our coast defense system, although there is no special reason for this, unless it be due to the fact that the army guns are mounted on disappearing carriages and are not provided with turrets, which naturally limits the space of the operators. An army 8 inch gun takes 15 men to work it; a 10 inch gun requires 18 men, and a 12 inch gun, the largest now constructed by the army, calls for 21 men.

It will be seen, therefore, that a 13 inch naval gun is operated by six men, while an army gun of one inch less caliber calls for 21 men. The navy gun can be fired just as rapidly with its six men as the army gun can be fired with its larger number.—Boston Herald.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

Lincoln's Pioneer.

Abraham Lincoln's western pioneer, always on the lookout for danger and ready to magnify it beyond its true proportions, is only one of a large class of people who use up in one way and another a good deal of vitality which might be profitably applied.

Mr. Lincoln's old backwoodsman had very heavy overhanging eyebrows and wore big spectacles with brass rims. One day he came rushing into his cabin and seizing his rifle aimed it carefully through a crack of the door at a great oak tree that stood near and fired.

"What is it?" whispered his wife.

"A wildcat, Sairy, the orneriest wildcat you ever see, an I missed him!"

He hastily loaded and fired again and then again.

"Now, hold on, Joshua," said his good wife. "Let me look at you. Why, lawks-a-daisy, it's nothin but a little bug on one o' your eyebrows?"—Youth's Companion.

The Weaker Went.

A Kalamazoo crockery dealer was just closing up his store for the day when one of his customers, a grocer, came in in a great hurry.

"Here," said he, "I packed this jar full of butter, and the jar split from top to bottom. Perhaps you can explain the phenomenon."

"Oh, yes, I can," was the ready reply. "The butter was stronger than the jar."

Tardily Acknowledged.

"What are the graves of Adams and Otis marked by big rocks for?" asked the visitor to the Granary burying ground.

"Because they were bolder men than most of their contemporaries," said the Bostonian proudly.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Raw from Her Toes to Her Knees

DR. CHASE MAKES A WONDERFUL CURE

Mrs. Knight, 17 Hanover Place, Toronto, makes the following statement:—

MY mother, Mrs. Wright, who lives at Norval, near Doncaster, suffered a summer and winter with Eczema in her feet. She could not walk, and very seldom got any sleep. It became so bad that she was perfectly raw from the toes to the knees. After trying every available remedy without receiving any benefit, and almost hopeless of relief, she was advised to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. She has altogether used 8 boxes since commencing, but with the happiest results, for she is now completely cured. There is but one scar on one of her feet, a memento of her fearful suffering condition. Any person desiring further testimony in this case is at liberty to communicate with Mrs. Wright at her address, Norval P.O.

Mrs. Knight says after such a grand success, is it any wonder we recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment?

BITS ABOUT PORTO RICO.

Porto Rico was discovered by Columbus in 1493.

In 1855 cholera carried off 30,000 of the inhabitants. Still it's healthy.

Porto Rico ranks fourth in the Greater Antilles, having first place, however, in density of population and general prosperity.

The San Juan drainage system is thorough. The houses are all connected with sewers, which go underground, and all empty into the sea, so that there are even no gutters.

The city of San Juan, of perhaps 40,000 population, is situated on an island connected with the mainland by a bridge. Its harbor is one of three only which are safe at all times from a ground swell, which often breaks against the island cliffs with great violence.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED!

A Guelph Man's Pitiable Plight!

RESCUED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

The terrible pain that strikes you in the small of the back right over the kidneys, is nothing more than these disordered organs crying out for help.

Will you go to their assistance with the right remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills?

Mr William Waller, Richmond Street, Guelph, Ont., did. They cured him, and this is what he says:

"For the past two years I have been troubled with a complication of kidney diseases, which caused various distressing symptoms, such as pain in the back, urinary difficulties, etc. I found it impossible to get restful sleep, my general health was miserable, and the pain in my back became so acute that I could not get off a chair or turn in bed without assistance.

"Some four months ago I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. Two boxes removed the pain from my back, completely cured all the kidney trouble, and gave me health and strength again."

Did it ever occur to you how systematic nature is in cleaning up the remnants of one season to make room for the blossoming of another? She always employs the sharp blasts of winter to cut loose the Autumn leaves, rather than have them on the trees to be pushed off by spring buds. Shall we be less enterprising and allow summer Hats and Caps to remain until pushed aside by the heavy stock of Fall and Winter goods? No indeed! So here they go.

These Hats and Caps are the remaining summer stock; fine for fall, because present styles are very much like them, all the difference is most of the Summer Hats are a little lighter in weight and colours, but, we offer all $2.50 qualities for $1.25, all $2.00 qualities for $1.00, all $1 50 qualities for 75c. TYPHOID AT DAWSON.

Number of Sick There on September 6 Estimated at 3,000.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 27.—The steamship Topeka has arrived from Lynn Canal ports with 150 Klondikers, the most of whom have little or no dust to show for the experience in the land of gold. They express themselves as being glad to get out alive. Three thousand cases of typhoid fever is the estimate placed on the number of sick in Dawson on Sept. 6. A large number of deaths occur daily of which no record is made. The cold weather coming on soon will check the fever. It is estimated that 9,000 people joined the rush to Stewart River. Nearly every foot of available ground has been prospected, but no gold was found. That section has been deserted by all except a few, who hope to create another excitement next season.

THE REMAINS OF COLUMBUS

Exhumed at Havana, Cuba, in the Presence of Gen. Blanco.

Havana, Sept. 27.—Yesterday morning the official exhumation of the remains of Christopher Columbus took place in the presence of General Blanco, Secretary Govin, the Civil Governor, the Bishop, the Dean of the Cathedral and other authorities. The general public were ordered out of the Cathedral and the entrance was guarded by a force of police, which kept back the crowds which assembled in front of the edifice.

Joint Heirs by Purchase.

London, Sept. 27.—According to an article in the Fortnightly Review, the Anglo-German agreement provides in detail for England and Germany to become joint heirs by purchase of all the Portuguese possessions in Africa. Arrangements Made for the Anniversary and Harvest Festival Services:

The anniversary services of All Saints church will be held next Sunday. The Rev. G. C. Mackenzie, of Brantford, one of the best known clergymen of Western Ontario, and an eloquent preacher, will officiate both morning and evening and address the children's service at 3 p. m.

The church is being decorated for the occasion, for which contributions of grain, flowers, etc., will be thankfully received.

The harvest festival will be held on Wednesday evening, October 5th, when Ven. Archdeacon Allen will preach. A hearty invitation is extended to all.

THE DROWNED LANDS.

Farmers From Otonabee and Monaghan Discuss the Subject in the Council Chamber.

The farmers of Otonabee and South Monaghan assembled in numbers in the town council chamber on Saturday afternoon, with Mr. John Riddel in the chair.

The meeting was held for the object of making final arrangements for a trip to Hastings to examine the new sluiceways, etc., which the government is putting in there to do away with the flooding of the lands on either side of the river during the high water time in the spring.

It was decided to engage the steamer North Star to run down to Hastings on Oct. 13th, when the members from both East and West Peterborough will be asked to accompany the party. It is expected that all those whose lands lie along the river bank will participate in the trip. The boat leaves Peterborough at 7 a.m. on the date mentioned.

WORTHY OF PATRONAGE.

A Big Crowd Greets Paul Cazeneuve's First Appearance here this Season.

The Columbian Stock Company opened a week's engagement at the Bradburn Opera House last evening before a large audience, which was thoroughly pleased with a most able presentation of D'Ennery's masterpiece, Don Cæsar de Bazan. Paul Cazeneuve made a most delightful Don Cæsar, taking the part of the riotious young adventurer in a manner which carried the house with him, and surpassing himself in the portrayal of the manner in which a Spanish gentleman can take his revenge. His declaration of himself as the King of Spain was perhaps the finest piece of acting that has been seen on the local stage for many seasons. The part of Mantana was most successfully taken by Miss Ida May Park, who gave a most finished interpretation of her lines. J. De Grasse, as Charles II., King of Spain; Ulysses Davis, as Don Jose De Santarem, and Miss Orpha Taylor, as Lazarillo, also took their parts exceedingly well, the latter possessing a soprano voice of such rare sweetness that the audience could not get enough of it. The other members of the company, taking the lesser parts, all proved themselves as worthy of a place in one of the strongest castes that has been brought to Peterborough in some time. There will be a change of bill nightly.

THE TURF.

"Little Hector" is in town for the winter in charge of Billy Sherin. The game little horse comes in from the circuit with a record of 2.12¼. "Furioso," of Brighton, is also to winter here with Mr. Sherin.

Mr. Isaac Edwards, of No. 309 Swan street, Buffalo, the well known American horse breeder, is in town on a visit to Mr. Pat Clunan, of the Clunan House.

Mr. Edwards bred and raised Mr. Clunan's fine trotting stallion "Duke" which has just returned from Lindsay after carrying everything before it in the speeding ring there.

"Duke" is out of Wilkie Collins, by Geo. Wilkes, his dam being Sherman, by Geo. Wilkes. As a yearling Mr. Edwards refused $1,000 for him on two different occasions and while his turn of speed is extraordinary for a big horse, yet it is his colt-getting qualities which give him his great value. Mr. Edwards has a number of likely colts which he may send to Peterborough to be broken this winter.

RUGBY.

A special practice of the Colts will take place to-morrow afternoon in the Nicholls Park at 4 30. Every player is requested to turn out in uniform.

"Spite Work."

Hamilton, Sept. 27.—Henry J. Healey, who was arrested some days ago on a charge of misappropriating $432 belonging to Immanuel Congregational Church, was discharged by Magistrate Jelfs yesterday, as the Crown Attorney said he had no evidence to offer against the prisoner. Healey says his arrest was "spite work."

THE ONLY HOPE!

For Victims of Bright's Disease is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Not a day passes on which the newspapers do not record the death of one or more persons from Bright's Disease. Already its victims number hundreds of thousands. Day by day the awful total grows larger. No class is safe from this destroyer.

War and intemperance, with all their miseries and fatalities, are not responsible for as many deaths as have been caused by Bright's Disease. Yet, there is a way of resisting it; of drawing its poisoned fangs, and making it as harmless as a summer breeze. That great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, has cured thousands of the worst cases. It never fails to cure, hopeless as the case may seem.

Would you safely shield your loved ones from the fatal grip of this curse of mankind—Bright's Disease? Then use Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only cure on earth for this disease.

From the CROWN of the Head To the SOLES of the Feet!

WE COVER ALL.

Men's Hats, Men's Shoes, Men's Clothing, Men's Underwear, Men's Furnishings, All Under One Roof!

The first calendar month of Autumn, 1898, will bring us up to the greatest business we have ever known. Measure it by bulk, weight, dollars or transactions, we get the same great result—BIGGER THAN EVER BEFORE.

What makes Gough Bros. so distinctly Gough Bros. is the SPIRIT that actuates their business—all the time striving to serve our customers better and better—shortening the road from producer to consumer, and saving to buyers every penny of cost.

We maintain our well earned title of "THE WONDERFUL CHEAP MEN"—our fixed aim has been and will contiuue to be, to sell a $20 suit for $15. The suit you paid $17.50 for we can duplicate for $12.50. You may think our prices are sometimes too low—too low for good clothing—but if special prices or unusual discounts are given us, we take them off to you to make larger sales.

First Instalment of Fall Goods.

66 CASES—14 Huge Cases of Clothing and Furnishings, 40 Cases of Boots and Shoes, 12 Cases Hats and Caps.

Clothing—everything is brand new, fresh and clean—the handsomest and best Tailored Ready-to-Wear Clothing ever shown in Peterborough—selected for Peterborough's best trade.

HATS and CAPS.

We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

—On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $1.65.
—On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
—On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 35c.
—On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
—Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

Warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

—On the best $3 Men's Selected Shape Balmoral or Congress, we take off 40c, and ask only $2 60.
—On the best Men's Fine Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1.65.
—On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.40.
—On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 30c., and ask only $1.50.
—Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE—Who sells the cheapest goods — the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold? Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

CYCLONE'S RAVAGES.

Merritton and St. Catharines Suffer Very Severely.

STORY OF REV. LAWRENCE SKEY

As an Eye-Witness He Watched the Funnel-Shaped Cloud Pursue Its Death and Destruction Dealing Way—A House and Its Occupants Blown Across a Road.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Rev. Lawrence Skey of the Episcopal Church at Merritton arrived by the steamer Lakeside yesterday morning to issue an appeal to the citizens of Toronto and elsewhere to solicit help for the people rendered homeless and destitute by the tornado. Mr. Skey was an eye-witness of the storm. Standing just outside the little village, he watched the funnel-shaped cloud pursue its way, leaving death and destruction behind. Whatever it touched it lifted into the air and carried with it.

The Presbyterian Church was totally wrecked; the tower of the Church of England will need rebuilding; the roof of the school was taken off and the walls fell in. The Lincoln mill was completely gutted. Some twenty-four houses were totally destroyed and the damage will amount to $100,000.

One house, occupied by Mrs. Richard Thompson and her two daughters, Lillie and Katie, aged 8 and 11 years respectively, was taken up into the air, carried across the road and landed in a field. None of the occupants were killed, but all were injured. Cows were carried considerable distances. Great trees were uprooted and sent hurling against the houses. Boys hid in ditches from the awful storm, while men lay prone upon the ground, clutching at the roots of trees for safety. After the tornado had passed away Mr. Skey avers that the scene of desolation presented a pitiful spectacle. Women sat amid the wreckage of their homes weeping, while the men, stunned by the disaster seemed bewildered by the misfortune.

The houses destroyed are chiefly those of the working people of the factories, whose small savings of a lifetime have all been invested in their homes. The loss is totally uncovered, as no insurance applies, which would be the case had the disaster been caused by fire. The people are homeless and utterly unable, unassisted, to build again before winter time. Mr. Skey appeals particularly to the working classes to proffer assistance, and donations can be sent to Stephen H. Bradley, Reeve of Merritton; Richard Clark, Town Clerk; Rev. Theodore Parr, pastor of the Methodist Church; Rev. F. W. Robertson of the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Laurence Skey of the Anglican Church or Father Smith of the Roman Catholic Church.

James McCarthy is since dead from his injuries, and Rox Bradley, among the injured, is not expected to recover.

The storm raged high upon the lake Monday afternoon, but the wind was of such short duration that, so far as known, no mishaps occured. The Chicora was eight miles from her moorings, making Toronto, Monday afternoon, when the storm struck her. The hail fell in great quantities, the rain came down in torrents, then the wind swept around from the northwest and blew a hurricane for ten minutes, after which the heavy clouds rolled away and the storm was over.

Port Dalhousie and Lewiston, across the lake, escaped almost without injury, the only damage being some windows broken by the downfall of hail.

The Country Suffers.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 28.—The damage done here by the wind and hail-storm that created such havoc and disaster along the frontier, was small. The storm was about played out when it reached here. Hothouse windows were broken, and the stained glass of the dome of the Silbertorg block was pelted in. At Niagara Falls, Ont., the violence of the storm was terrific. Hailstones weighing over an ounce, and measuring nine inches in circumference, fell. The storm broke with great suddenness, and the horses in the streets were stung and frightened by the chunks of ice, and several runaways occurred.

In the northern section of this State the hailstones that fell averaged 5½ inches in circumference, and weighed about three-quarters of an ounce. The damage to the fruit crop in the fruit-growing district north of here is great. Apples were pounded from the trees as though with clubs, and the pears and plums fell in large quantites. From all the counties along the lake shore come reports of great damage, what fruit was not knocked off by the hail was whipped off by the wind. When the storm reached this city the wind had nearly died out, but from the mills in the lower district could be seen the terrible work of devastation going on in Canada. It was at first reported that a waterspout was taking place, but later it was learned that what was at first taken for a waterspout was the funnel-shaped cloud of the tornado that swept Merritton and St. Catharines and other places in that vicinity.

The Tornado at Tonawanda.

Tonawanda, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The tornado which wrought such terrible havoc across the border in St. Catharines and Merritton struck this city with terrible force at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. The amount of damage done will exceed $100,000. Many people are homeless, and several are now under the care of physicians as a result of injuries sustained during the brief visit of the wind. The injured are: John Monette, arms and legs broken, may die; Mrs. Augusta Hermann, hurt internally and is very low; Mrs. Charles Peters, Mrs. Henry Peters and the Peters baby, badly bruised by flying timbers; Emma Eberle, badly cut by falling glass; Mrs. Emma Lyons, seriously injured by falling glass; George Post, bruised and cut; Mrs. Fred. Kruse, struck on head by timber, seriously injured; Carrie Post and Charles Arenz, cut and bruised. Jacob Lyons, arm wrenched. Many others were hurt by flying timbers and falling glass.

Mourned in Cornwall.

Cornwall, Sept. 28.—Friends here are greatly grieved over the death of Mrs. J. Bickley in the hurricane at Merritton, Ont. The deceased lady was the eldest daughter of the late Ronald Gravely of Cornwall and was a native of Martintown, Glengarry County. Her brothers, J. Gravely of Cornwall, and William Gravely of the Dominion Cotton Mills, Montreal, left last night for Merritton. She leaves a husband and six children. They formerly resided in Kingston.

THE TERRIBLE TORNADO

Leaves Death and Wreck and Ruin Behind—Latest Gathered Results of the Devastation.

St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 28.—In addition to the list of damage and accidents at Merritton, as recorded yesterday, a number of other persons were hurt. When the roof of the Lincoln mill gave way, in the rush of employees to reach a place of safety Miss Julia Elliott of the printing room fell from the top of the stairs to the next floor and narrowly escaped being trampled to death. She was conveyed to the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. James Allan, and Dr. Vanderburg summoned. She was badly injured. At the same time Mr. Charles Murray and Edward Doyle were loading a large freight car with pulp, when the cars were picked up and deposited in the raceway, one of them being almost completely submerged, and the two men thrown into the raceway, and only by the efforts of Mr. Doyle was Mr. Murray saved from drowning. Doyle was severely cut on the head and face. Miss Maggie Nixon, another employe, also received a severe scalp wound. A cow in the field back of the mill was killed in the progress of the storm, and all over the fields were strewn chickens and other poultry dead and dying.

As the storm proceeded the home of Walter Eakins, on the St. David's road, was struck and completely demolished. One child was cut completely in two and another is suffering from a broken leg.

Arnold Crawford's house in Stamford was also destroyed.

Much sympathy is expressed at the loss sustained by Mr. John Bickley in the death of Mrs. Bickley, she leaving a family of seven small children.

Mr. O. J. Phelps' fine apple orchard is completely rooted out. His barn is also badly wrecked.

Mr. Hogan's house was picked up and carried bodily a distance in the field behind, and not a vestige of it is left.

Mrs. Soxsmith's house, opposite the Presbyterian Church, also suffered, the north end being taken out.

Fears are entertained for the welfare of Mrs. P. O'Neill, who had just returned from attending the funeral of her niece at Dunnville and arrived home just in time to see her daughter carried in dead. The only house standing undamaged in the midst of the wreck is that of Mrs. Donaghue. The fronts of Messrs. A. Disher and R. Thompson's stores were completely demolished, and part of each stock destroyed. Mr. O. J. Phelps had in his barn an old sleigh, which had been handed down from generation to generation for over 100 years. This was removed from the barn and deposited in the yard some distance unharmed, and the contents of the hay mow deposited in its place. An old galvanized smoke stack on the back of the house is still standing though not a chimney is left on the place.

A young son of Mr. David Ramsay was standing on the Acetylene Gas Works siding when the funnel scooped him up. His was a wonderful experience. He threw up his arms and was unable to get them down again. His body was rigid and he was carried in the whirlpool, as he calls it, clear over the Lincoln paper mills and deposited in the field beyond, suffering nothing but a bruised shoulder.

A queer freak of the storm was noticed in the burying of shingles in the hard sod, leaving just enough to pull them out. Whole sections of sidewalks were thrown bodily long distances, and the peculiarity of the force exerted was shown in the simple knocking out of a corner of the steeple of St. James Church, while buildings adjacent were reduced to rubbish. In the collapse of the school two children of Milo Phelps were quite badly cut and injured about the face and head, and required medical assistance. At the time of the storm Mr. and Mrs. John McCausland, who live on the town line, were driving home. They were caught by the storm and carried some distance from the road to the Government land near by. They were both seriously injured.

Clearing Up the Debris.

On all sides yesterday every available man was employed in clearing up the wreckage. Mr. Symmes of the Street Railway Company, with commendable enterprise, had a large force of men employed all night in taking out broken poles and picking up the wires, and in the morning had the street car service going again.

The scene of the wreck was visited by hundreds from outside points. There were camera fiends galore, many getting good views.

Mrs. James Bradley of Merritton is seriously ill from the effects of injuries received by the collapse of her home. She was buried under a mass of debris, but managed to extricate herself and run to a place of safety. She did not have time just then to think how badly she was hurt. Fires were burned in the streets of Merritton Monday night to aid the workmen on the various repairs. There is need of many workmen in Merritton.

He shortly after died from his injuries. He leaves a widow and family of five children.

Police circles in Montreal are excited over the daily appearance on St. James street and elsewhere of an alleged notorious procuress. She is elegantly dressed, though she sometimes dresses as a nun. As soon as a sure case can be made out against her the law will be set to work. It is claimed she has already sent several girls of the metropolis to Chicago to lead lives of shame.

MR. WHITNEY'S WEAKNESS.

Mr. Whitney's weakness does not consist in his physique, his voice nor his language, which are all sufficiently strong for all practical purposes. Practically his weak point is his strong language. He jumps at conclusions, and makes statements with a positiveness that no statesman would make when he is dealing with debateable subjects. A public man with this habit is not a safe guide, for it is to public men that the people look for reliable information respecting public affairs. A case in point respecting Mr. Whitney's sledge-hammer handling of the truth: In his speech during the debate on the address on August 4th, at the special session of the Legislature, Mr. Whitney in an effort to discredit the methods of the Government, attacked the appointment of Mr. Campbell, Provincial Instructor in Road-Making, and to point his criticism, Mr. Whitney asserted that "there had not been one-half mile of good road made on account of his appointment that would not have been made anyway." Everybody knew that Mr. Whitney was drawing the long bow in a statement that was notoriously wide of the facts. Even his own political friends do not agree with him. The Peterborough Review, which cannot be accused of any particular friendliness to the Government or its methods, furnishes the following refutation of Mr. Whitney's wild assertion and a tribute to the effectiveness of the work of the Provincial Instructor in road making and justification of his appointment. The Review says:

"Reform in road-building seems to be progressing well all over Ontario, for Mr. A. W. Campbell, the provincial instructor in road-making, who has just returned to Toronto from Berlin, mentions as proof of the rapid strides being made by the good roads movement throughout the province the fact that since the propaganda was initiated two years ago the towns of Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Galt, Berlin, Stratford, Chatham, Owen Sound, Collingwood, Parry Sound, Barrie, Lindsay, Brockville, Cornwall, Kemptville, Ingersoll and Woodstock have undertaken the macadamizing of their streets and roads. Up to the present these towns have altogether expended the sum of $100,000 in road-making machinery, and, at a low estimate, $150,000 in material and labour, which indicates the importance of the movement to the province. At Berlin four streets have been finished and work is being performed upon two others."

Mr. Whitney must have known that he was misleading the public; but his remarks as quoted, were quite in keeping with the policy he has pursued. He showed splendid energy and perseverance in his campaign, he stuck at nothing that he thought would make for his success. He raised his stentorian voice in almost every riding of the province, he immolated the Humber pig upon the altar of his ambition, he jumped with both feet upon the election constable, he has tried every expedient to reach the coveted place of office, and the statement quoted is a sample of the manner in which he seeks to advance himself at the expense of traducing his opponents. When his own friends and supporters enter the field to discredit his reckless assertions, no stronger evidence could be furnished of the unreliability of a public man who will seek to make capital out of misleading statements which he must know are not in line with facts.

THE Montreal Star says Liberals need a prophet, and adds that the possession of a reliable seer would have rendered the recent session of the Ontario Legislature unnecessary, for then Hon. Mr. Hardy would have known the mind of the Court of Appeal in regard to the constable matter. The constable matter was only one incident of the session. It was not the cause of the calling of the House. Hon. Mr. Hardy was prophet enough to take the position in regard to the constable vote which the unanimous judgment of the Court of Appeal justified. If the Liberals need a prophet, perhaps the services of Hon. G. E. Foster, who made such a brilliant success of his prediction of a four million deficit, which was verified by a million and a half of surplus, may be available. After that the Conservatives have no further use for him. By the way, what is the explanation of the particular interest the Star takes in Ontario matters? Have it and the Mail and Empire exchanged jurisdictions? The Star has charged itself with the duty of the political extinction of Hon. Mr. Hardy, and the Mail is after the political life-blood of Hon Mr. Tarte.

FOUR ESSENTIALS IN THE CARE OF SHEEP.

PRACTICAL DIRECTIONS FOR SUCCESS IN BREEDING.

How to Produce the Best Results—Preparations for Lambs—How to Attain the Best Results in a Most Important Industry—Success not "Luck" but the Reward of Foresight and Good Judgment.

(Written for the Examiner)

There are four things that claim the attention of the flockmaster at this time of year. These are the character of his ewe flock, their condition, the time at which they are to be coupled and the kind of ram that is to run with them.

With regard to the character of the flock, it should be the aim of the owner to raise the average and total value of his ewes by judiciously drafting objectionable members and filling their places with better ones. This process is popularly called putting a new head on the flock and cutting off the tail. The reasons for drafting ewes are principally three.

The first of these is age. At four years old the ewe's mouth is complete; after that it begins to wear down and the teeth become far apart. At six she may lose a tooth or two, after which time she is likely to decline. If she is a good breeding ewe in the judgment of the shepherd, however, and shows no sign of breaking down in constitution or of failing in flesh, there is a better reason for keeping her than for drafting her, and many ewes, especially of the Down breeds, have done satisfactory work for their owners until ten and twelve years old.

The second reason for culling a ewe is defective udder. It is for a breeding ewe to have gone wrong even on half the udder. If she is of extra good blood she may be permitted to breed and her lamb put with a foster mother, but if she is allowed to raise her own lamb she will probably be broad-backed and in good flesh, but the lamb at her side will be scraggy. A third reason for drafting ewes is defect in type. In pure bred flocks of the best kind even, there will be found individuals that do not answer the ideal of the shepherd or do not conform to the general character of the flock and in so far as they do not, they are a disfigurement to the flock.

With regard to condition it may be recommended to have the ewes in good flesh. This for the reason that the business of rearing a lamb does not begin at lambing time, but at the beginning of pregnancy. There is no essential difference between supporting a lamb through the umbilical cord and supporting it through the teat. Hence the ewe should approach the mating season in good heart and vigour.

The chief argument in favour of early weaning is that it allows the ewes to build up in constitution for the next season's work. There is another reason why the ewes should be in good flesh at this time and should be through the rutting season and this is, that nature regulates her increase by the promise of the support in sight for it, so that luxuriant diet at mating time means a generous fall of twin lambs in the spring. This is not simply the theory of the biologist, but it is borne out by experience.

The question of the time at which lambs are to be dropped will be determined by the purpose for which they are intended.

The hot house lamb trade requires lambs in January or February. Exhibitors, likewise, have them come early, though in the latter case it is better to bring a lamb on by generous feeding than to have him come too early, and so lose by September the characteristic lamb "bloom" as it might be called. Too much winter feeding on concentrated foods gives a coarseness that cannot be compensated by size alone.

There is a good deal of a kind of semi-poetry written about having lambs come with the first bite of springing grass. The only thing gained by this is a slight saving of food and trouble. The lambs cannot be weaned early, and and they generally have not become rugged before winter comes.

A month before grass is a good time. Grass is the best food for lambs next to milk, but the lamb can make no use of it until a month old, as the lamb at birth only has the fourth stomach developed, the complex ruminating capacity comes later. A little grain before going out to strengthen and stimulate the digestive processes. It gives the lamb the proverbial "start" so beneficial to young animals of all kinds going out to grass. A March for early April lamb will be found to be superior in finish to an earlier one.

In reference to the ram. No matter of what breed, he should be long, straight and broad, with a moderately short neck well set to the shoulders, with a proud patrician head, broad between the ears and not too long, masculine in expression and with a fine bold eye. He should be broad-chested to give constitution, have a straight underline, have a good leg of mutton, come well down in the twist, and should be close to the ground. Finally, he should be covered with a dense, heavy fleece and have a bold and graceful carriage. With attention to the matters above indicated with reference to both ewes and ram, the shepherd has a right to expect what is commonly called "luck," but which is simply the reward of foresight and good judgment.

The match on Saturday with Norwood High School proved quite interesting. Our boys played well and succeeded in scoring the first goal, but lack of practice told on them and the boys in green succeeded in scoring twice.

MR. CALDER RENOMINATED.

Mr. Whitney's Curious Attitude Respecting the Gentleman's Unseating.

Whitby, Sept. 28.—Mr. Charles Calder, ex-M.P.P., was again nominated by the Conservatives of South Ontario at a public meeting held in the town hall here yesterday afternoon. Mr. Whitney believes that South Ontario will be the pivotal point of the bye-elections, and brought with him some of the ablest speakers of the Opposition. The feature of the Conservative leader's address was the imputation that Mr. Calder was unseated by a Grit conspiracy. He also made his first public statement on the constable case since the decision of the Court of Appeal was made public, and as good as promised that Mr. Calder should be the Conservative Minister of Agriculture on the success of that party. The meeting was not largely attended. When it began there were not more than one hundred voters present, with a scattering of ladies in the gallery; but the electors straggled in during the delivery of the addresses, and at the close of the meeting the hall was comfortably filled.

Twisted the Lion's Tail.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 28.—William Roelker, a German iron worker, twisted a lion's tail yesterday at East St. Louis and will lose his left arm. Hummel's circus was to give an exhibition. Among the animals were a pair of African lions. The male was lying at the front of the cage with one of his paws and his tail handing outside the bars. Roelker began stroking the paw with his left hand. The lion watched Roelker's procedure. Then the iron worker grabbed the tail with his right hand, giving it a sharp twist. There was a roar and one of the lion's paws caught Roelker by the left shoulder and stripped off the flesh of the arm down to the hand, two fingers of which were torn off.

Shelburne Perjury Case.

Brampton, Ont., Sept. 28.—The Shelburne perjury case was reached at the Assize Court here yesterday, and is now in progress. The evidence is almost identical with that given before.

Cordingly v. Gummerson, an action for breach of promise, was tried. Verdict for the plaintiff, $500 damages, with costs. The perjury case will be resumed at 9.30 a.m. to-day.

Lefebvre Probably Innocent.

Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 28.—Frank Lefebvre, charged with attempting to pass a ten dollar Dominion Bank bill, knowing it to have been stolen, appeared for trial yesterday afternoon. It appears he was only a victim and in trying to get rid of the bill was arrested. He is a well-to-do farmer of Gentilly, near here, and evidence which he will bring up in rebuttal is thought will clear him.

Observatory Magnets Moved.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—The magnetic instruments used in the Observatory, Queen's Park, have of late been in poor working order, owing to trolley and other wires, to overcome which they were yesterday removed to and finally established at Agincourt, where, in the center of a four-acre field, they will in future no more deceive the weather man.

She Knew Him.

While Charles Dudley Warner, as it is related, was a guest at an old time southern home near Nashville he expressed a desire to see a real, typical negro. So the most loquacious old "aunty" was brought in. To the surprise of every one she would not say a word beyond "Yes, sah," or "No, sah."

After the departure of the distinguished guest she was asked the reason of her silence. With as much dignity and scorn as a grande dame "aunty" replied:

"Ugh! I wa'n't gwine talk to dat Yankee. I knowed him soon's I seed him. He's de very one dat stole mistiss' silvs du'in de wah."

Willing to Yield.

The Troy Times tells of a little girl who had been naughty. When bedtime came, her mother said to her, "Now, Mabel, when you say your prayers, be sure to ask God to help you not to be a naughty little girl." Mabel promised that she would add this petition to her prayers. So when she had finished her usual form she spoke as follows:

"And now, O God, please keep Mabel from being a naughty little girl." There was a pause, then she concluded, "Nevertheless thy will, not mine, be done!"

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, the policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

REVENGE OF DREYFUS

A French President's Resignation Due to the Scandal.

GERMANY HAS A GOOD WITNESS.

Spanish Cabinet Has Instructed Its Peace Commissioners to Make a Strong Endeavor to Retain Sovereignty in the Philippines—Affairs in the Far East—Kitchener Saved Marchand.

London, Sept. 28.—The Daily News yesterday morning commenced the publication of a series of articles, which, it alleges, explain the Dreyfus affair. Yesterday's article concerns the resignation of M. Casimir-Perrier of the French Presidency, which is described as a strange, sad story. The article says: "The persons in the secret are the Kaiser, Count Von Munster, M. Dupuy, M. Hanotaux, General Mercier, General Boisdeffre, Col. Schwarzkoupon, Count Esterhazy and the late Henry Sandherr.

"Besides the French Ministers others had the dossier in their hands.

"In December, 1894, a detailed report of the Dreyfus affair, which Count Von Munster sent by the usual courier to the Kaiser, was interrupted and photographed at the French frontier. Yet it reached the Emperor without delay a few days later. This fact became known to the Information Bureau at Berlin, and Germany ordered Count Von Munster to demand his passports, for the offence was regarded as robbery, and an offence to the Emperor on the principle of extra territoriality. When Count Von Munster made this demand at the Palace of the Elysee, President Casimir-Perrier was overwhelmed with the suddenness of the revelation and was beside himself. In an extraordinary scene he gave his word of honor, repudiating all connection with or knowledge of the affair, and solemnly promised to prevent a repetition of it.

"Count Von Munster was satisfied, and sent a second report of this interview. This document was similarly intercepted and photographed, the negative arriving at the French Foreign Office within 48 hours. Some days later on Jan. 12, 1895, Count Von Munster called at the Palace of the Elysee, and suddenly announced that Germany would mobilize her troops forthwith, unless satisfaction was given for this new insult. A dramatic scene followed. Count Von Munster collapsed into a fauteuil, a prey to violent feelings, reproaching M. Casimir-Perrier with having dishonored him in the eyes of the Emperor.

"M. Casimir-Perrier was crushed, and could not reply at first, but presently said: 'Tell your Emperor myself will give him satisfaction. I do not want to sacrifice the country. I will leave the Presidency. I pray His Majesty to be satisfied.'

"Two days later M. Casimir-Perrier resigned."

Germany and Dreyfus.

London, Sept. 28.—According to The National Review, if France requests it, Germany will permit General Schwarzkoppen, formerly German Military Attache in Paris, to reveal all that he knows regarding the Dreyfus affair.

Terms of Revision Letter.

Paris, Sept. 28.—M. Sarrien, Minister of Justice, communicated to the council of Ministers yesterday the terms of the letter which he will present to the Court of Cassation, demanding the revision of the trial of Dreyfus, and also submitted the circular issued to the Procuror-General in view of the energetic measures which are to be taken for repression of attacks upon the army in public meetings, etc. The present understanding is that there is to be a reestablishment of the Ministry.

The revisionist newspapers are rejoicing over yesterday's decision of the Cabinet in revising the Dreyfus case, and the anti-Dreyfusists are correspondingly crestfallen.

WANT TO HOLD PHILIPPINES.

Spanish Peace Commissioners Instructed to Fight Hard for Them.

Madrid, Sept. 28.—The Cabinet last evening had under discussion Captain-General Blanco's despatch concerning the American claims in connection with the evacuation of Cuba. Duke Almodevar de Rio, Minister of Foreign Affairs, states that the Spanish Peace Commissioners have been instructed to contend strongly for the integrity of Spanish sovereignty in the Philippines, on the ground that the protocol between Spain and the United States was signed before Manila capitulated, and also to make a firm stand regarding the Cuban debt and the Philippine loan of 1896, if Luzon is ceded to America.

Should the United States prove less exacting than is expected, the commissioners have power to make all possible concessions, political and commercial, compatible with the retention of Spanish sovereignty in the Philippines, but in the event of losing a portion of the islands, they are instructed to resist to the utmost an attempt of the United States to claim the right of preference over other powers should Spain desire to sell or cede the remainder of the islands. It is understood, however, that all instructions are only ad referendum. Most of the commissioners and attaches speak English.

Reform Measures Rescinded.

Pekin, Sept. 28.—An Imperial edict was published yesterday, practically rescinding the Emperor's reformatory measures. It also orders Chang Yen Huan, the Cantonese enemy of Li Hung Chang to be confined for the present, but absolves him from all complicity in the alleged plot to murder the Emperor.

Anti-British Again.

London, Sept. 28.—A despatch to The Times from Pekin says: Su Yung Yi, the negotiator of the Gerard convention of 1895, who was subsequently dismissed at the instance of Great Britain for breach of faith, has just been restored to membership in the Tsung-Li-Yamen.

Li Hung Chang's Family in Fear.

London, Sept. 28.—A special despatch from Shanghai says it is reported that Great Britain, the United States and Japan are disposed to question the constitution of the Government as open to usurpation.

The family of Li Hung Chang, fearing the populace, have gone to Port Arthur, to be under the protection of the Russians.

Kitchener Saved Marchand.

London, Sept. 28.—The Cairo correspondent of The Daily Mail says Major Marchand has admitted in conversation that the arrival of General Kitchener saved him from annihilation by the Dervishes.

France Does Not Favor America.

Paris, Sept. 28.—While the reception accorded the United States Peace Commission here is all that could be desired, and while the French Foreign Office has taken great pains to greet the American and Spanish commissioners in precisely the same manner, it must be admitted that the general atmosphere of Paris, especially the diplomatic atmosphere, does not incline towards America.

The American commission, for the first time since its appointment, met as a body yesterday for two hours, in the drawing room of the Continental Hotel.

Italy Accepts the Czar's Invitation.

Rome, Sept. 28.—The Government has sent to Russia a diplomatically worded acceptance of the Czar's invitation to take part in an international peace conference.

QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

Prospects Are That the Bulk of the Protocol Questions Will Be Embraced in a Treaty.

Quebec, Sept. 28.—The commissioners have a "now-we-are-getting-on" air that is unmistakable. It was said a few days ago that there was no longer any doubt as to whether or not a treaty would result from the conference, but that the only matter in doubt was the extent and scope of the treaty. Hints dropped here and there warrant the statement that the progress now being made by the commissioners is altogether beyond their expectations, and that the bulk of the questions set forth in the protocol are in a fair way of settlement. The Behring Sea question and the Alaska boundary question have, it would appear, been the first of the big problems to be brought to the point of solution.

It is semi-officially stated that the International Conference will close on Oct. 7.

There has been a good deal of suppressed excitement about the disappearance of the pocketbook of Mr. Kasson, one of the American Commissioners. There is no doubt that, though it did not contain a draft reciprocity treaty, it did contain the whole basis of what they will propose, and they are alarmed lest it see the light of day in some unexpected quarter, and put the fat in the fire. And what has further alarmed them is the fact that a French newspaper last evening published a verbatim report of the United States Commissioners' ultimatum on the Alaskan boundary question. It is a very important document, and many are wondering how the paper in question got possession of it.

Admiral Sir John Fisher gave a grand ball last night. Eight hundred guests were invited, including the Commissioners, delegations, etc.

The Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen give a ball to-night at the Citadel and the United States Commissioners wind up the proceedings next week with another.

Cabinet Council at Quebec.

The Government held a Council here yesterday, seven members being present—Messrs. Blair, Fielding, Borden and Tarte having come in a special palace car. The special business was engaging for carrying the trans-atlantic mails. No decision was arrived at.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 19—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co. tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that today I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

SAM SIGGINS FOUND GUILTY.

He Fraudulently Removed His Goods—A Peculiar Cheque Case.

Woodstock, Ont., Sept. 28.—Samuel Siggins, who recently ran the carriage works here, was yesterday afternoon found guilty of fraudulently removing his goods. He was tried before Judge Finkle. Siggins got into financial difficulties, but within the past month or so bought all he could from the local merchants on worthless notes. The prisoner is also tried on a charge of stealing $300. He had an account coming from the Bain Wagon Company, amounting to $345. Of this amount he had assigned $300 to the Imperial Bank, to be applied on a note in favor of W. E. Mason. He went to Bain's for the whole amount and was paid it on a telephone advice from the bank that it was all right, to give him a cheque payable to Imperial Bank re Siggins or Siggins re Imperial Bank. The cheque was made out in the latter way and Siggins cashed it at the Bank of Commerce and retained the money. Judge Finkle expressed his belief that Siggins was guilty of theft, but, as the case was a most unusual one, he would not record a conviction until the beginning of next week, when Siggins will be sentenced on the other charge. In the meantime the lawyers will have an opportunity to hunt up similar cases in the past for the guidance of His Honor.

When Leap Years End.

In 1582, in the arrangement of the Julian calendar, ten days were dropped so as to get things running on the then new but the present basis of calculating time. So as to keep things running right it was determined that a year ending a century should not be bisextile, except every fourth century. Thus there was no leap year in 1700, 1800 or 1900. It is, or at least was, rather rough on the ladies, who have special advantages in leap year. The ladies get left again in 1900; but, though there will not be many of those who see 1900 who will see 2000, the latter year, ending a fourth century, will be a leap year. In this way three days are retrenched in four centuries, and the remaining seven days will be made up in a little over 800 years. After that calendar years will be like solar years, and future errors in the calculation of time will occur no more.

The loss of leap year will in thousands of years affect the seasons, but I suppose the mathematicians of the centuries hence will be so flip in handling figures and making calculations that they will have no difficulty in keeping things going correctly.—Washington Star.

At Sea on Maskat.

A funny scene occurred many years ago in congress. A present of Arabian horses, a sword, etc., arrived from the imam of Maskat for President Adams. A western member with some heat moved that the gift should be sent back, with a letter from congress, informing the ruler of Maskat that the president of the United States was no king, but the servant of the people, and was not permitted to give or receive presents.

Another member rose. "Such a letter, Mr. Speaker," he said, "can easily be written. But where is it to be sent? Where is Maskat?"

There was no response. Apparently not a member of the house was prepared to answer, nor could Maskat then be found in any atlas published in this country. It was found at last on a German map. A civil answer was returned, and the geographers made haste to insert Maskat in the next edition of their maps.—Exchange.

It was Very Amusing.

Sydney Grundy's comedy "The Smith Family," kept a large audience in roars of laughter from start to finish at the Opera House last evening. It was without doubt the funniest comedy boarded here in many seasons and every part was so well taken as the ludicrous situations rapidly followed each other, that those present were thoroughly pleased with the performance. To-night "The Three Guardsmen" will be presented, Mr. Paul Cazenuve taking the part of D'Artagan.

Gentlemen's Baldness.

The number of baldheads is surprising. Over 36,000 men wear Prof. Dorenwend's Art Hair Coverings. However, there are many yet who should use them, both for the sake of health and appearance. Prominent men all over the continent wear them, and it is only necessary to try one on to be convinced of the advisability of possessing one. It prevents the dangers incidental to cold, catarrh, neuralgia and other troubles. The Prof. is to be at the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, Oct. 4th, where he will be pleased to show all the value of his productions.

Morrison's Faust.

The Choral Service in the Cathedral of Nuremburg is one of the important features in this season's production of "Faust," by Lewis Morrison, who is himself a master in the art of stage direction, as is easily discernible in the uniform smoothness of his company's performance. Every detail is carefully attended to, every effect readily grasped, so that the presentation is a veritable kaleidoscope of beauty in action, colour and sound. Never in the history of this classic has it been presented in as sumptuous a manner as this season, and the phenomenal success which has rewarded the presentation, is evidence of its merit.

FALL OPENING OF RICHARD HALL & SON.

The Entire Interior Of the Store Remodelled and Renovated.

INCREASED BUSINESS FACILITIES.

Rich Fixtures Relieved by Exquisitely Coloured Walls and Pillars—Mahogany and Terra Cotta Make a Pretty Contrast—The Fall Millinery.

For weeks past the renovators have been in possession of the big dry goods establishment of Richard Hall & Son and last evening at eleven o'clock just completed their task; the result of which is that the interior of the store is entirely remodelled, making the establishment the largest and most modern of its kind between Toronto and Montreal.

The partition on the ground floor has been removed, giving a floor space now of 4,335 square feet. On entering at the main doors the appearance of the store is most striking.

The decorators have done their work well. All the fixtures are of rich dark mahogany, which are well set off by the handsome brass gas fixtures and the exquisite colouring of the walls and pillars. The latter are in three shades of terra cotta, whilst the walls are papered in

FAWN AND GOLD.

A profusion of palms and other foliage plants present an exceedingly tasty appearance. The shelving, surmounted by handsome scroll work, extends around the store, as do the counters, whilst in the centre are six portable pieces of shelving which, being on castors, can be easily shifted at any time a change is desired. At present they are arranged in three parallel rows running north and south from the main entrance. Light, prettily constructed mahogany tables surround these fixtures, with mirrors at the ends, which are tastily draped in well-selected colours.

The Lampson cash system has been put operation and the cashier's office is moved a trifle further back than it was before. The George street branch having been closed the tailoring and gents' furnishing department now occupies the space which was formerly partitioned off and devoted to carpets. A neat fitting room has been placed in the rear, and next to it is the firm's private office.

Each department on the ground floor is distinctly separate, and in each of them is to be found such novelties as can only be purchased through a personal visit to the European markets. At present some very rich pieces are being shown in the dress goods department, which have just been received and are acknowledged to be the prettiest patterns displayed this season.

On entering the store and turning to the right, the men's neckwear department is found. Following around the wall the tailoring department is encountered, and just across the aisle are the gents' furnishings, and in the next fixture is the men's underwear. All along the rear the shelvings are devoted to the dress goods, and the extra large windows furnish a fine light to examine these goods. On the west side of the store are the staples, which are divided from the flannel and flannelette department by the elevator. To the left of the door is the linen and sheetings department. On the west side of the fixture, on the extreme right, are notions and small wares. Across from this department, on the right side of the centre fixture, are the laces and veilings, and below this the silk velvets, velveteens, dress trimmings, etc., are found. Around on the other side of this fixture is the kid glove and hosiery department, and a large space is devoted to these two lines, of which the firm makes a specialty, sparing no trouble to secure the latest colours in both lines. Below this is to be found an immense assortment of silks. Directly opposite the silks are the ladies' corsets and children's underwear The next department is that of the ribbons and handkerchiefs, of which a great variety are kept in stock, to suit every conceivable taste. On the left side of the western fixture are kept the ladies' cotton underwear and white goods, and next to it is the ladies' woollen underwear.

The first floor is the same in size as the ground floor, and is devoted to millinery, mantles, carpets and curtains. The walls are beautifully tinted in buff relieved with bronze, the pillars, as down stairs, being in three shades of terra cotta.

Miss Patterson has some very fashionable things to show in the mantle department, of which she is in charge. The great advantage of personal buying in the European market is here again apparent. Rich silk lined German goods from the big manufacturing establishments of Berlin completely outclass in style anything else which can be shown in this line.

In the carpet department a great variety is shown of handsome Amsterdam, Moquet, Wilton, Axminster and Imperial Smyrna rugs. In carpets full lines are kept of Brussels, tapestries, velvets, Axminsters, etc. Besides the regular lines in curtains some very attractive silk tapestry and Brockatelle drapings are exhibited.

THE LADIES ARE CHARMED

with Miss Currie's array of fall hats and bonnets. The young ladies have spared no pains in the endeavour to have the apartments surpass all others in tastiness of appearance, and the manner in which pretty drapings, mirrors and palms have been arranged speaks volumes for their artistic taste.

In the hats the new shadings of blue and yellow have been used largely and most effectively.

A Shepherdess hat is one that promises to become immensely popular. It is of Cuban blue velvet, with soft tone crown, and is trimmed with white and black tips and steel buckles. "The American Girl" is another hat which excites a great deal of admiration. It is also of velvet, with fancy braided crown, ospreys and black and electric blue tips.

The "Napoleon" in black and white has a taking appearance. It has a round brim, low crown and is trimmed with ospreys, white wings and black plumes. The "Dewey" is of purple velvet, with soft polkadot crown and black plumes. Purple ospreys and rhinestone buckles give it a most taking appearance. The Cuban hat is of emerald green with emerald green ribbons and emerald bows. It is adorned with a bird of paradise and ospreys, having as well a gorgeous foxtail ostrich plume. The Cleopatra hat

IS MUCH ADMIRED.

It is of Cuban blue, trimmed with chenille braid, black birds and wings and coque de russe Dewey rosettes.

Miss Reid is in charge of the dressmaking department, and has prettily arranged fitting rooms in the rear.

On the floor above the tailoring and dressmaking are done. The oilcloths are also kept there, as well as the reserve stock.

Large double mirrors have been placed in the windows, dividing them, and in the back ground are also big plate glass mirrors. A great deal of attention is being attracted by the "Cuban Blue" window, it being entirely trimmed in articles of this colour, relieved by white.

The store as a whole presents a most handsome and modern appearance and

A SEPTEMBER BRIDAL.

Nuptials of Miss Lizzie Hughes and Mr. J. C Grant.

A pretty wedding, in which one of our most popular and highly esteemed young ladies was concerned, took place to-day. At 12 o'clock the solemn ceremony took place which united for life John Colin Grant, son of Rev. W. Grant, and Elizabeth, (Lizzie) Hawthorne Hughes, second daughter of Mr. J. L. Hughes, ex-councillor. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. McLeod, pastor of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, Smith, at the family residence, Park Place, in the presence of the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was attired in a costume de voyage of marine blue poplin, with garniture of velvet of harmonizing hue, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Her attire was completed by a smart toque of velvet and mink. She was assisted in the capacity of bridesmaid by Miss Kate Henderson, who was tastefully gowned in blue silk taffeta, wore a black picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. McDermid, of London, was groomsman.

After the ceremony the guests enjoyed an elegant wedding dejeuner, and the handsome presents sent in were duly admired amid the hearty congratulations of the assembled guests. A large number of the friends of Mr and Mrs. Grant assembled at the C.P.R station to see them off on the 2.45 express, which they took en route to Ottawa, Montreal and Boston, their bridal tour concluding at New York, where they will take residence corner of Sixth avenue and 43rd street, where their numerous friends wish they may enjoy great happiness and prosperity.

FELL INTO THE LAKE.

Whilst Assisting in Putting the Ashburnham Ways Into Position.

Mr. Harry McGill received an unexpected bath yesterday when assisting in hauling up the ways and putting them in position for the boats this winter in Ashburnham. After he disappeared under the water, it was feared that he would never rise, as he was out of sight for fully three minutes.

The accident was occasioned through Mr. McGill's foot slipping, and fortunately he escaped with nothing more than a ducking.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY.

Held in Stewart's Hall on Sept. 22nd by the Otonabee S. S. Association.

The Sabbath School Association of the Township of Otonabee held their annual rally at Stewart's Hall, River Road, on Thursday, Sept. 22nd.

Although the weather was not all that could be desired, the attendance was comparatively good, and the sessions both afternoon and evening, were interesting and helpful to Sunday School workers.

One of the features of the rally was the kindly and unobtrusive air of hospitality which seemed to pervade that section, and caused visitors to feel that they were among old friends. Tea was served between sessions, when the hospitality of the ladies was shown in a more tangible form.

We noticed the absence of our faithful secretary, Miss Laura Bennett, who has performed her duty so well for a number of years. Miss Short was appointed to take the minutes in her stead.

The chair was occupied by the President of the Association, Mr. S. R. Armstrong.

The afternoon session opened at two o'clock with devotional exercises, led by Rev. J. E. Moore. The Visiting Committees, appointed by the Executive, then reported on the state of the work as they found it in the townships. The reports showed that faithful work had been done by most of the committees and some suggestions were given which it will be well for the schools to take note of. A conference on this report was ably held by Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison, who induced considerable discussion on Sunday school methods and work, and who showed by her management of the conference that she was a trained Sabbath school worker.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. McCauley, who was to speak on the "Attitude of the Sunday School to the Temperance Movement," Dr. Harrison took the subject by request, and his concise and pointed address was destined to carry the conviction to all who heard, that it was their privilege and duty to vote on Sept. 29th and continue to work and educate along temperance lines continually.

At the evening session the Rev. J. E. Moore took the place of Rev. Mr. Shorey, who had been detained in Toronto. Mr. Moore addressed the conference on Sunday school and temperance work.

Rev. Mr. Potter spoke to the convention on Sunday school work, from I. Timothy, iv., 16:—"Take heed to thyself." Mr. Potter impressed upon all teachers the importance of a pure and good life behind their teaching, the attention they should give to their conduct and character, to their mental training, their physical nature, and above all their spiritual nature; "for," said the speaker, "as the electric car needs the touch of the wire, so we must have communion with the Spirit." He said that the Sunday school was not a place for children alone, but a place where all who believe should work, in order to disciple others. "Let us not," he said, "be instrumental and expect to be made useful and find our proper sphere by one great stroke of Providence, as by a whirlwind, but let us take advantage of every opportunity to work and develop our own powers and make full and free the message of God to others about us."

Before closing the following address was adopted by the convention:—

To Miss L. Bennett, Secretary Sunday School Association of Otonabee:

We, the Sunday School workers of Otonabee, having met at the afternoon and evening session of the rally held at Union Hall, have felt so deeply the absence of the familar face and able help of our beloved and worthy secretary, Miss L. Bennett, that we felt we could not let this opportunity pass without tendering to her our deepest sympathy for her in her late bereavement and sorrow.

Our hearts are uplifted to the One who does all for the best, praying that he will comfort her and cause this seeming shadow to be but as a cloud behind which the sun is still shining.

We commend her to the loving care of Him who "doeth all things well," and who hath said:—"Call upon me in the day of trouble and I will comfort thee."

She Was Saved

From days of agony and discomfort, not by great interpositions, but by the use of the only sure-pop corn cure—Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Tender, painful corns are removed by its use in a few days, without the slightest discomfort. Many substitutes in the market make it necessary that only "Putnam's" should be asked for and taken. Sure, safe, harmless.

Handsome, Beautiful and Becoming are the styles of hair goods as produced by Prof. Dorenwend this season. The fall styles of bangs, wigs, fronts, switches, etc., are marvels of beauty and every lady should see them. In a few minutes the Professor can demonstrate what constitutes the essential points in a handsome woman. As he has increased territory to cover, he cannot visit here as often as heretofore, so call on him now at the Orient Hotel on Tuesday, Oct. 4th. 2w61

MISS DELANEY'S OPENING.

The Styles Modeled Closely After the Latest Novelties in Paris.

The fall opening is in full swing at Miss Delaney's well known and popular millinery parlours, and from morning until night the rooms are crowded with ladies, all intensely interested in the very fashionable head gear for which the establishment is noted.

The military turbans are much in demand this season, but the picture hat is still in vogue, the leading effects being turquoise blue, the new wood colour, relieved in white and black; Cerise and Cuban blue. Many new shades of green are also much worn, particularly on the "chic" little walking hats and sailors, which are now so much worn.

Probably the most popular hat in the parlours and the one attracting the most attention is a beautiful little Parisian Princess feather turban, being the very latest novelty in Paris and unknown in Peterborough until introduced in Miss Delaney's parlours.

As a walking hat "Le Grande" has no rival, being neat but rich in effect.

The Breloque is very handsome. It is covered in Eminence purple with wide brim and soft tam crowns of a lighter shade worked with silver. Bird's wings and a profusion of white ospreys are used in the trimming. The back is caught up with a steel buckle. A French Novelty turban has a neat but stylish appearance. It is of black with pheasant feathers and ospreys and trimmed with steel beads and sea pearls. Jet buckles are also used.

A very fashionable hat is one with a tam crown and rolling brim of turquoise blue mirror velvet covered with black veiling and with the underside of the brim thickly jetted. Black ospreys, turquoise blue ostrich plumes and jet buckles are used in the garniture. One which is much admired is of marine blue caught up directly in front with a large bird and two feather mounts. Paradise ospreys, steel and pearl clasps and white chiffon rosettes are used in the trimming.

"The Covera," as may be judged from the name, is a large black Spanish hat of velvet, caught up towards the side of the front and having a broad brim with jet bands and large black plumes with feather mounts. Cerise rosettes of crinkled silk with jet centres in the front give a very pretty effect.

The "Triomphal" is of cadet blue with broad brim and tilted crown drooping slightly in the back. The front is adorned with angel wings, having a steel buckle in the centre. Silver gray and blue shaded ribbon is used in the back with steel bulbs and large blue ostrich feather mounts.

The "El Hispano" is another Spanish hat with even a broader rim than the "Covera." It too is of black velvet caught up directly in front with turquoise blue rosettes and steel buckles. The crown is covered with pressed jet and steel, and the trimmings are black and white fancy ospreys and black ostrich plumes.

A pretty little soft red turban is greatly favoured. It is jetted and trimmed with angel wings in black and black feather mounts with crinkled chiffon rosettes also in black.

In mantles Miss Delaney carries all the new shades in blues, greens and fawns as well as black. Satin pipings and linings, braidings and small pearl buckles are used in their adornment.

Asthma Can be Cured.

But not by the hundreds of preparations now being advertised as Asthma cures, which may relieve for a time but have no effect in preventing future attacks. They are only anti-spasmodic in their action and the longer the person uses them the worse the Asthma becomes, until the drug loses its effect entirely. Clarke's Kola Compound is the only remedy ever known to cure Asthma without the slightest indication of its return. It is now being used throughout the leading hospitals in England and Canada, and the homes for incurables in different parts of Canada, having already cured over 500 cases of Asthma in Canada alone. Three bottles are guaranteed to cure any case of Asthma. A free sample will be sent to any sufferer from this disease. Mention this paper. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church street, Toronto, sole Canadian importers. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, or they will get it for you from their wholesale druggist.

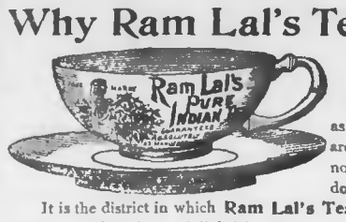
Why Ram Lal's Tea Makes Fast Friends.



Ram Lal's Tea is known to the trade as "full flavored" while Ceylon teas are designated "thin". Ram Lal's does not pall on the taste and become flat as do "thin flavored" teas.

It is the district in which Ram Lal's Tea is grown and the cleanly process of manufacture that give its delightful "full flavor" while all the boquet and aroma are retained because it comes to us in six weeks from the time the tea is first plucked.

The flag under which all women should march is the banner of good health. A woman owes it to herself, her husband and children to enlist under this flag. If she does not do so she will live a life of wretchedness herself, and unless her husband is an exceptionally good man, he will become indifferent to her, her home will be unhappy and her children will be puny and sickly.

Ill-health in a womanly way may almost invariably be traced to weakness and disease of the femine organs that are the vestibule of human life. No woman can enjoy good, general health who is dragged down by continual pain and local weakness. Troubles of this description utterly unfit her for wifehood and motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives health, strength, elasticity and vigor to the special organs concerned. It makes a woman strong and healthy in a womanly way. It gives the nerves a rest from pain and an opportunity to build up. It makes motherhood safe and comparatively easy. It transforms weak, sickly, despondent women into happy, healthy wives and mothers.

Jas. Caswell, Esq., of Ocheltree, Johnson Co., Kans. (P. O. Box 61), writes: "My wife was troubled with prolapsus, or 'female weakness,' for several years. She was not able to do her work, she had such bearing down pains and pain in her back. Her periods were irregular, varying all the way from two to six weeks. At those times she would have fainting spells so bad that I thought she could not live. She was attended by the best doctors in the country. They did her no good and she grew worse all the time. I thought I would try your medicines. By the time she had taken four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and two of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two of the 'Pleasant Pellets' she was completely cured."

Every day, a dose. Once you start, you can never stop them That is the way with some so-called remedies for constipation. It is different with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive, complete and permanent cure for constipation and they don't become a habit. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them. Nothing else is "just as good."

It is a druggist's business to sell you, not to tell you, what you want.

THE LISTENER.

George Jacob Holyoake of England says that he was the first person to use the word "jingo," which he did on March 18, 1878, in a letter to the London Daily News.

During his West Point days Fitzhugh Lee was nicknamed "the flea" by the cadets on account of his physical activity and because he always signed his name "F. Lee."

Mr. Gladstone was one of the founders of the defunct colony of North Australia, now the northern half of Queensland. The only reminder of the fact is the flourishing town of Gladstone.

Senator Perkins of California is the practical sailor of congress. He was the master of a New England ship, is the head of a firm of shipowners and has been all his life identified with shipping and maritime interests.

Lord Salisbury is the holder of five acres of land near Charing Cross, London, which his ancestors obtained 250 years ago for grazing lands at the moderate rate of 10 shillings an acre for 500 years. It is now worth millions of pounds.

John Harvard, who founded the famous American Harvard college, was the son of a London butcher. His endowment consisted of a library of 300 volumes and one-half of his estate. The value of the latter was something over $12,500.

Alfred H. Plant of the Southern railway started his business career as a barefooted messenger boy in an office of the Western Railway of Alabama, and is now the financial head of one of the greatest railroad systems of the south.

Mark Twain has been studying the career of Cecil Rhodes, the South African millionaire, and sums up his conclusions as follows: "I admire him. I frankly confess it, and when his time comes I shall buy a piece of the rope for a keepsake."

Ben Clark, who was chief of scouts for General Custer in the campaign which ended so tragically at the Little Big Horn many years ago, is now trainmaster and Indian interpreter at Fort Reno, O. T. He is a soldierly looking man, robust and erect.

Alonzo Stowart, the faithful assistant doorkeeper of the United States senate, has held office in the senate for 24 years, beginning as a page at the age of 12. While attending to his official duties he studied law and has been practicing for five years.

Dr. Parker always preaches entirely extempore, and nothing annoys him more than to have it reported that he studies every word and gesture before rising in the pulpit. He is one of the few Nonconformist ministers who have been constantly caricatured.

The Earl of Cassillis, son and heir of the Marquis of Ailsa, has been admitted to the Scottish bar. He does not need to practice, as he will inherit an income of $200,000 a year, but he is of a studious disposition and has spent several years studying at the Edinburgh university.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not properly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

A Servian Custom.

In Servia there still survives a wonderful old institution known as the Zadruga. It is the living together of a whole tribe, numbering sometimes as many as 100 persons, all under the absolute authority of one chief. He keeps all the money, makes all purchases and decides the minutest details of family life. As a family grows the home has at be enlarged, and sometimes it stretches the whole length of a street.

There are many curious things sold in the Russian markets, and one can buy eels and snakes and chicken legs. Lambs' feet are sold as a great dainty, and calves' feet are bought for soup.

Switzerland has a special academy, established by an association of hotel keepers, at which every winter 30 men are specially educated for the hotel business.

FEAR OF RAIN IN CUBA.

The Evil Effect of Water Is Not a Mere Superstition There.

The average Cuban is dreadfully afraid of rainwater. He believes that drenching in a rainstorm, followed by exposure to the rays of the sun, produces fever—not necessarily yellow fever, but an attack something similar to what is known as swamp fever in Mississippi or chagres in the isthmus of Panama.

The same belief prevails in Central and South America, but in a greater degree. On both coast lines of Nicaragua a light shower is the signal for a general scampering indoors and a disinclination to come out again until the sky is perfectly clear. Up on the high plateau on which the city of Caracas in Venezuela is situated and where there should be little or no fear of fever the natives are afraid to get even their faces wet. At the first appearance of a rainstorm the cab drivers, of whom there are more than 400, put up oilcloth screens in front of them and direct the course of the horses through a couple of peepholes, avoiding even a slight splash in the face.

All strangers from northern latitud visiting Caracas are advised that n only is rain dangerous, but that it not safe to take a bath within t days after their arrival. Men accusto ed to a daily plunge find this adv e difficult to follow, especially in suc a warm climate. Most of them disregard it and find that it does them no harm, and that it is a superstition based upon the laziness that follows a residence in an atmosphere so enervating that the dogs are too tired to get out of the way of the horse if the horse wasn't too tired to step on them.

The Cuban fear of rain, however, is based upon experience and is not a mere superstition.—New York Press.

Swapping Telephones.

The following story comes from the Grand Rapids Press and has to do with a man and a woman who are employed in different offices in one of the large buildings of that city. Each office has a telephone, but as it happens one is an instrument belonging to the Citizens' company, the other a Bell instrument.

One day the man had occasion to use the Citizens' line and stepped across the hall to the lady's office.

"Have you a Citizens' phone?" he asked, and she replied in the affirmative.

"Well," he ventured: "I'm a citizen. May I use it?"

Why, of course he might use it, but inwardly she was inclined to envy his ability to stand up and assert his citizenship in this way, for some of her womanly propensities were of the "newish" sort. An hour later she balanced accounts with him.

"Have you a Bell telephone?" she asked on stepping into his office. He did not try to deny it.

"Well, I'm a belle. May I use it?"

The Howell Torpedo.

Commodore John A. Howell, who has just been promoted to the rank of rear admiral, is the inventor of a self propelling torpedo that differs in several respects from the Whitehead. The chief novelty of the American system relates to the mode of driving the screw.

Whitehead stored compressed air in a chamber in his torpedo and placed in an adjoining compartment a small engine which should be operated thereby at the right juncture. Howell employs a heavy flywheel, which is put in rapid revolution, just before the torpedo is launched, by connecting its projecting axle with a steam engine that is entirely independent of the torpedo. The Howell system has been improved since it was first patented in 1871, and it has been extensively used in the United States navy.

The Rarest Bird.

The rarest bird in existence is a certain kind of pheasant in Annam. For many years its existence was known only by the fact that its longest and most splendid plume was in much request by mandarins for their headgear. A single skin is worth $400, and the living bird would be priceless, but it soon dies in captivity.

Uses of the Fan In Japan.

The uses of the fan are many and various in Japan, where it is carried by men, women and children. A butterfly shaped fan in the hands of the umpire at wrestling and fencing matches is made to express a number of messages perfectly understood and promptly attended to by the combatants.

Ocean waves have on a number of occasions dashed over the tops of lighthouses which are 150 feet high. As a wave in the open ocean is accompanied by a depression as deep as the wave is high, a ship in the trough of the sea encountering such waves would be banked by hills of water, if the term may be used, 300 feet high.

Economy is half the battle of life. It is not so hard to earn money as to spend it well.—Spurgeon.

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boy pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

Martyr To Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Selina E. Core, Amhurst, N. S., says: "At times I suffered intensely from palpitation and fluttering of my heart. I was weak and my nerves shattered, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have regulated my heart, toned my nerves and built up my health."

Children Cry for

CASTORIA.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

GOLDENROD.

I know a field, a sunny field,
But not in sunny France,
And there is neither glint of shield
Nor gleam of pennoned lance,
Nor does the wind toss knightly plumes,
Nor silken tents unfold,
And yet in autumn it becomes
The field of the cloth of gold.

For when the haze of summer days
Has melted from the skies
And we, without reproof, may gaze
Up into heaven's eyes,
A host their plumes and banners shake
In joust with breezes bold,
And goldenrod's bright champions make
The field of the cloth of gold.

The butterflies with blazoned wings
Are heralds for the fight,
And many a lovely lady flings
Her token to her knight.
And so amid their gorgeous suits,
With pomp and wealth untold,
Summer and autumn royally meet
On the field of the cloth of gold.
—Martha Hartford in St. Nicholas.

Peculiarities of the Potato.

The opinion has prevailed among housekeepers that it is the good potato which breaks open when it is boiled. A scientist who has made potatoes a study insists that the good potato is the one that remains quietly in its coating of brown during all of the processes of cooking. Instead of the swelling and bursting of the skin being caused by the presence of starch it has been ascertained that albumen is the substance that causes this breaking open. An ordinary potato is made up of three-fourths of its weight in water, two-tenths in starch and one-fiftieth of nitrogenous matter. If it cracks and falls to pieces during the process of boiling, it is deficient in albumen, and therefore lacking in the most important constituent.—New York Ledger.

A Dumas Story.

Dumas the elder was rarely spiteful to or about his fellow men, but one day, when he happened to be in that mood, a friend called to tell him a piece of news. "They have just given M. X. the Legion of Honor," he said. Then he added, in a significant tone, "Now, can you imagine why they should have given it to him?"

"Yes," answered the great dramatist promptly. "They have given it to him because he was without it."

Good Progress.

"How are you getting along with your housekeeping?" asked the young wife's mother.

"Oh, splendidly!" she answered. "I have almost got so I can do things to suit the hired girl."—Washington Star.

FISH AS FOOD.

There Is No Evidence That It Supplies Phosphorus to the Brain.

Why is fish called a brain diet? Does it really nourish the brain more than other articles of food? What kinds of fish are best in this respect, and does the method of cooking make any difference—that is, is boiled or fried fish better?

A chemical examination of fish shows that it contains a considerable amount of phosphorus. A chemical examination of the human brain shows that it also contains a considerable amount of phosphorus. From this fact the chemist jumps to the conclusion that fish must be especially good as a brain food, but there is not the slightest experimental evidence to support this theory. On the other hand, it is a well attested fact that those communities and tribes of men which subsist most largely upon fish are the lowest in the scale of human development. The Tierra del Fuegians live almost exclusively on raw fish and are perhaps the lowest of all human beings. A young student in a western college once wrote to Artemus Ward asking how much fish he thought he should eat to supply his daily mental needs. The wit replied that he thought a small whale would be about suited to his requirements.

Fish, like other forms of flesh, are most digestible eaten raw, but as few palates could tolerate the flavor of raw fish it may be suggested that broiling or boiling is the next best method of preparation. Fried fish, like fried beef, is almost wholly indigestible, as the fat renders the lean or albuminous portion of the fish almost wholly incapable of digestion by the gastric juice. —Voice.

The Mile In Many Countries.

The English mile, used also in this country, measures 1,760 yards, or 5,280 feet. But the mile of foreign countries varies almost as much as the language, so that traveling a mile is one thing either shorter or longer, in other countries. The French system of the "kilometer," or 1,000 meters, is also used in Belgium and Holland. To cyclers and others traveling in those countries the kilometer—equal to 1,094 yards—is used as a mile measure. The Spanish mile is 1,522 yards, and the Russian only 1,167 yards. But the Chinese have the easiest time of all in making a mile record, their mile being only 609 yards. In Norway and Sweden the mile is 11,690 yards, and in Germany it equals three English miles. Other differences are: Italian, 2,025 yards; Portuguese, 2,250; Austria, 8,297, and Denmark, 8,238.

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves tired, listless, dyspeptic and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these Pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St., Glencoe, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

LAFAYETTE'S GOOD MEMORY.

He Remembered a Room He Had Not Seen For Fifty Years.

Washington's headquarters at Newburg, a small old fashioned Dutch house, fronting the Hudson river, is now owned by the state of New York. In repairing it care was taken to preserve the ancient form of every part that was renewed. The front door opens into a large, square room, which was used by Washington for his public audience and as a dining hall. It is remarkable for having seven doors and only one window.

In a recent publication, "A Godchild of Washington," the author quotes from the New York Mirror for 1834 an interesting anecdote connected with this room. Its authority is Colonel Nicholas Fish, a soldier of the Revolution and the father of Hon. Hamilton Fish, secretary of state under President Grant.

Just before Lafayette's death he was invited with the American minister to dine at the house of Marbois, who was the French secretary of legation to the American colonies during the Revolution. When dinner was announced, the company were shown into a room which contrasted strangely with the elegance of the other apartments.

A low boarded, painted ceiling, with large beams, a single small, uncurtained window, with numerous small doors, as well as the general style of the whole, gave at first the idea of the kitchen or largest room of a Dutch or Belgian farmhouse.

On a rough table was a repast, which consisted of a large dish of meat, uncouth looking pastry and wine in decanters and bottles, accompanied by glass and silver mugs, such as indicated other habits and tastes than those of modern Paris.

"Do you know where you are?" said the host to Lafayette.

He paused for a few moments—he had seen something like this before, but when and where?

"Ah, the seven doors and one window! And the silver camp goblets, such as the marshals of Franch used in my youth!" exclaimed Lafayette. "We are at Washington's headquarters on the Hudson 50 years ago!"—Youth's Companion.

Real Magic Number.

"I often hear of the magic number," said some one. "What number is it?"

"Why, nine, of course," replied some one else. "There are nine muses, you know, and you talk of a nine days' wonder. Then you bowl at nine pins and a cat has nine lives."

"Nonsense," broke in another. "Seven is the magic number; seventh heaven, don't you know, and all that; seven colors in the rainbow; seven days in the week; seventh son of a seventh son—great fellow, and"—

"Tush, tush," remarked a third. "Five's the number, you mean. A man has five fingers on his hand and five toes on his foot, and he has five senses, and"—

"Three is undoubtedly the magic number," interrupted another, "because people give three cheers and Jonah was inside a whale three days and three nights, and if at first you don't succeed, try, try again—three times, you see!"

This was received with some contempt by the company, and a soulful youth gushed out:

"Two, oh, two is the magic number. Oneself and one other—the adored one! Just us two!"

A hard featured individual, who had been listening to the conversation hitherto unmoved, here remarked in a harsh voice:

"The magic number is No. 1 in this world, and if you want to succeed never forget it."

An interval of deep thought on the part of all followed, after which they went in silently to supper.—Brooklyn Citizen.

APPALLING DEATH

From Kidney Disease Prevented by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? It means that the kidneys are either rotten, or rotting; the blood is full of poisonous, death-dealing corruption; that the Kidneys can't do their work; that the victim is a walking charnel-house; that his hours are numbered; that the victim MUST take Dodd's Kidney Pills if he does not want to die.

Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

Jean Richepin's Career.

The story of how he came to adopt a literary career is sufficiently picturesque. For some time he had picked up a precarious livelihood by doing "odd jobs," including such prosaic occupations as that of bootblack and casual porter on the Quai Marseilles. One day he was engaged by a gentleman to carry to the railway station a heavy trunk. Arrived at the station, there was an instant mutual recognition. They were old college chums. "What are you doing here?" asked his friend. "Carrying your trunk, I believe," said Jean. "Why do you do this?" "Because I must." "Where do you live?" "Come and see," replied Richepin.

The future dramatist took his friend to his dwelling—a miserable room in an attic in the poorest quarter of the town. Upon the table lay scattered heaps of manuscripts—Jean's incursions in the realms of poetry when the more prosaic duties of the day were over. Looking through them, his friend was astounded at their quality. "Why do you carry trunks and blacken boots when you can do work like this?" he asked. Richepin had never given the matter a thought; he had never deemed these products of idle hours worthy of publication. Published they were, however, in a very few weeks and created an immense sensation. From that moment Jean Richepin has never looked back.—Westminster Gazette.

The Widow's Opinion.

In one of the suburban towns near the capital lives a widow well endowed with worldly goods, whose husband, with a sort of posthumous jealousy, has guarded against her re-marriage by providing that she shall lose all her property if ever she takes another husband. She has been receiving attentions for several years from an elderly Grand Army of the Republic veteran. She has been very good to him too. Once when he wanted to parade with his comrades she bought him an expensive blue suit with brass buttons on it. He wanted to marry her, but the will of the selfish dead man stood between. So after a time he married somebody else. The widow was broken hearted. She recalled the suit with the brass buttons. She recalled a hundred kindnesses shown the old soldier. She bewailed his perfidy to her friends.

"Why," said one of them, "what did you expect? He wanted a wife to make a home for him. You couldn't marry him. So why do you complain?"

The widow wiped her eyes.

"I know I couldn't marry him," she said. "I didn't really want to marry him anyway, but, you see, it was such a heap of comfort to have a steady beau."—Washington Post.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step a fear! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

How General Burt Was Tricked.

One day when General Andrew S. Burt was lieutenant colonel of the Seventeenth United States infantry Captain Charles A. Booth, then a lieutenant, met him on the rifle range.

Lieutenant Booth was shooting, and he "called" each shot as he fired, without waiting for the markers to signal the result.

"You're a pretty good guesser," said the colonel. "Why don't you admit you're guessing where those shots land?"

"I'll bet you a box of cigars," said the junior officer, "that I can call 20 shots in succession."

"Taken," said the old warrior.

Lieutenant Booth fired.

"Miss," he announced, and a red flag from the target told that this was correct.

Another shot.

"Miss," he declared. A third shot. "Miss again," he said. Fourth shot. "Fourth miss," announced Booth. Another shot. "Miss," again sang out the lieutenant.

"Hold on there," put in Colonel Burt. "What are you trying to do? I thought you were going to fire at the target."

"I'm trying to win my box of cigars," said Lieutenant Booth.

"Don't fire any more," said the colonel. "They're yours."—Chicago Journal.

Built Upon a Bowlder.

There is a village in England built upon an enormous bowlder of chalk. This bowlder is half a mile long and must have been carried eastward a distance of 25 miles by some great iceberg. It was dropped to the bottom of the glacial sea, where it became partly covered and surrounded by blue gray bowlder clay.

Raised . . . From a Bed of Sickness . . .

SIMCOE, Jan. 18th, 1897.

Messrs. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Gentlemen—For over five months I was confined to my bed, not being able to move. The best medical skill was called in, all treating me for catarrh of the stomach, but to no avail. I could not eat the most simple food without being in dreadful misery, and found no relief until same was vomited up. After spending a large sum in medical advice, I was advised to try a box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I purchased a box from J. Austin and Company, Simcoe, and to my surprise found great relief. Not being able to eat I tried a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills; the pains left me the third day. My appetite has been fully restored. I consider myself perfectly cured, and feel as well as when a young woman, although I am 65 years old at present. I was almost a shadow, now I am as fleshy as before my sickness. Have used only three boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and two boxes of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I can do my house work as usual. I am positive that my marvellous cure (which I think it is) is due purely to Dr. Chase's remedies, which I have used. I can honestly recommend the same to any persons suffering from symptoms similar to mine. Wishing you every success,

Yours truly,
MRS. ANN CHURCHILL, Sr.

BABY SUPERSTITIONS.

The baby who cuts his teeth hard will be successful in every way.

If a little child is extremely fond of cheese, he will be rich when old.

A child born in August will have many presents and give them all away.

A baby born with two colors of eyes will be successful in all its undertakings.

If when a baby's hand is taken it clutches closely, the child will be a firm friend and a generous lover.

In Switzerland an apple tree is set out for a boy and a pear tree for a girl when born, and as the tree flourishes so will the child.

If a child would be lucky, it must cut its teeth on the mother's marriage ring. Gold at any rate should be used for it to bite upon.

If you have a child sleep with its head to the west, it will be early bald; if to the south, it will have a heavy head of hair, but it will be weak in body.—Exchange.

Harcourt's Beaconsfield Anecdote.

Sir William Harcourt has one quite unique memory of the support he gave in old days to the public worship regulation act. That was an invitation which he received to visit Lord Beaconsfield at Hughenden Manor.

Taking his guest—the member of a family representing the ownership of broad acres—round his minute demesne, Lord Beaconsfield said, "Excuse the vanity of a landed proprietor!" The young politician accompanied his host on Sunday to the village church, and on the way thither was warned that some hints of the high church movement had penetrated even that sylvan solitude. "My friend, the vicar," said the lord of the manor, "will take what I call a collection and he calls an offertory, and afterward what I call a plate and he calls an alms dish will be placed on what I call a table and he calls an altar."—London News.

Undismayed.

Counsel for the Defense—Gentlemen, I appeal to you to return this unfortunate to his little home, where a tender, loving wife awaits him, where his little children call him father—

Judge (interrupting)—I will call the learned counsel's attention to the fact that the accused is unmarried.

Counsel (undismayed, continuing)—So much the more unfortunate is this poor man, who has no little home, where no tender, loving wife awaits him, where no little children call him father!—Fliegende Blatter.

The Good Old Jokes.

Grier—By the way, did I ever tell you that story about the end man and the small boy?

Frier—No, but several hundred other people have told it to me.

Grier—Nonsense! Nobody ever heard it before yesterday.

Frier—Then it isn't worth hearing.—Boston Transcript.

The average attendance at places of worship in England and Wales is computed to be between 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 persons. There is a place of worship for every 500 individuals, taking the country all through, and a stated minister for every 700. About 80,000 sermons are preached every Sunday.

An Invincible.

When Alcibiades was told that his countrymen had passed sentence of death upon him for being at the head of a conspiracy to overthrow the religious and political constitution of Athens, he said, "I will show them I still live." He obtained from Sparta assurance of personal safety and went hither. He delighted and charmed the Spartans, as he had the Athenians in his earlier years. He adopted their customs and dress and was the strictest Spartan of them all. He wore his hair short, bathed in the icy waters of the Eurotes and ate their black broth and barley bread. They believed that he had been misrepresented. In truth, as Plutarch said, "he changed color more quickly than a chameleon." In Sparta he was grave, temperate and fond of physical exercise; in Ionia he was easy going, luxurious and merry, in Thrace he was drunken, in Thessaly he was devoted to horsemanship, and in the court of the Persian satraps he surpassed Tissaphernes himself in magnificence. As Sparta was to be the prize of the Athenian victory he showed the people their danger, advising them to begin active operations against that city. No better advice could have been given them, and they profited by it.

A Zulu Rain Charm.

The Zulus employ a rain charm which is very remarkable considering their usual fierceness and cruelty. They catch a bird, and after the tribal wizard has consecrated it and made it a "heaven bird" they throw it into a pool of water.

In spite of their own indifference to the sufferings of animals they believe that the sky, which they conceive to be a personality, will be full of woe at the death of the bird and drop sympathetic tribute in showers of rain.

Bad Scalp Humor Cured

I had a bad scalp humor, and thought I would go frantic with itching. I lost considerable of my hair (of which I had an abundance, and was very proud). I tried several remedies but they all proved a failure. I tried CUTICURA SOAP, found relief immediately, and that itching is completely gone.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

There was another large turn-out yesterday, and on Saturday Rugby enthusiasts may expect to see the team in the pink of condition and give a good account of themselves against the Argonauts of Toronto, whom they play here on that day. The Argonauts are one of the swiftest teams in Toronto, being entered in the senior league, but they will have to play to win from Peterborough. The following players have been practicing hard and will be candidates for the team: V McWilliams, G Ball, F LeFevre, Manson, Rev Mr Bushell, Neville, King, Stethem, McClennan, C Ball, Austin, A Collins, Hollingshead, R Collins, Dunlop, Reade, McDonald, F Burnham, S Hall, Hal Burnham, Ardagh, Collier. All players are requested to turn out to practice to-morrow (Thursday) at 4.30 on the P.A.A.A. grounds. A meeting of the club will be held at the Oriental parlours to-night at 8 o'clock to arrange for the coming game.

The promoters of the Rugby football games should this season improve upon previous years in the arrangements for the convenience of the public who patronize the games. The ordinary spectator at a match on the gridiron usually remains in blissful ignorance of the progress of the game, not because of any inattention on his part but on account of the complicated system of scoring in vogue.

The public is not any too well educated in the game, and a little intelligence on the subject would do much to add to its popularity. The mystification of the spectators is due to the fact that the scoring is usually done amidst the greatest confusion, and few beside the referee know exactly what points have been allowed. The new rule this year allowing a try when a player crosses the line with the pig-kin in his possession will greatly simplify the scoring, as it practically abolishes the tackle-in-goal. This leaves the scoring in this position:

Play.	Points.
Try	4
Goal from try	2
Goal from drop kick (from field)	5
Rouge	1
Touch in-goal	2

At every game large blackboards should be placed in conspicuous positions and account kept of the progress of the contest for the benefit of the spectators. A megaphone could also be used with effect.

ENGLISH SPORTING NEWS.

Irish athletes who have been busy all the season demolishing records, continue in a record-breaking vein. The latest mail received brings particulars of the Carrick-on-Suir meeting, where the record breakers were especially prolific. J. Mangan, a weight thrower, who is six feet six inches tall, utilized his great height and strength to advantage in throwing the 56-pound weight for height over a bar. He cleared 14 feet 6¾ inches, and beat the Irish record by 9¾ inches. In throwing the 16-pound hammer, T. F. Kiely beat the Irish record with a throw of 147 feet, and emphasized his ability as an all-round performer by winning the 120-yard hurdle race from 15 yards behind scratch and taking the broad jump with 21 feet 7 inches. He also was placed in slinging the 56-pound weight.

The duel between the two champion standing jumpers, J. Chandler, of Limerick, and H. Courtney, of Tintern, produced new figures in two events. In the standing long jump with weights, Chandler beat Courtney and tied the world't amateur record of 12 feet 9½ inches, made by L. Helwig, of Williamsburg, L. I., in 1884. In the standing hop, step and jump with weights, Courtney turned the tables. His winning distance of 35 ft. 6 in eclipsed the world's amateur record of 34 ft. 9 in. held by Chandler. Dr. Horgan, the champion shot putter, won this regulation event with 45 ft. 7 in, and captured two first places in pushing heavy weights from the shoulder.

On the other side of the Irish Channel the greatest interest centres in the crack swimmers. J. A. Jarvis, the long-distance amateur champion, made amends for his recent sensational defeat in the sea at Yarmouth by winning the quarter-mile salt-water championship at Weymouth. The champion's time was 6 minutes 30 seconds. On the following day he established new English figures for half a mile. The previous record of 12 minutes 57 4-5 seconds was made by Percy Carill the Australian, at Nottingham. Jarvis swam at the Coventry baths and outclassed his two pacemakers, covering the distance in 12 minutes and 19 seconds.

James Finney, the professional swimmer who has exhibited in this country, performed a perilous feat on September 1st, and incidentally won nearly $2000 in bets. He essayed to start against the tide and swim from the North Pier at Blackpool to St. Anne's on the sea. The surf beat so fiercely against the swimmer that he was practically unable to make headway until the tide turned. He was buffeted by the waves for 4½ hours, during which time he swam only three miles. Then the tide turned, and the veteran paced by J. H. Tyers and Joe Nuttall had just enough vitality left to carry him to St. Anne's, which he reached, thoroughly exhausted, in five hours and seventeen minutes.

THE TURF.

Fleetwings, of local fame, took third place in the 2.22 pace at St. Thomas, yesterday.

The Globe says:—"The fastest race and the keenest that visitors to Woodbine ever saw among the steeplechasers was presented in the handicap over the short course, for which ten jumpers started. Trillion, Brother Bob, Jim Lisle and Sweden were the first division, racing at a tremendous pace. Last Fellow was the first to go wrong, running out at the water jump. At the stone wall the last time around Jim Lisle fell, throwing Trillion and Brother Bob, but fortunately no serious damage was sustained. Coming home Mr. Dunlay, well paced by W. Johnson all through, outran the others. Huston waited too long with Master Fred, of Peterborough, and Sweden beat him a neck for the place in a rattling finish. King Kenn ran surprisingly well and was right up with the leader till the stretch was reached, when he tired and fell back.

Opening Autumn FUR GARMENT EXHIBIT

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY OF THIS WEEK.

An Exhibit sure to impress visitors with the fact that, as in former seasons, Peterborough's correct dressers will have to depend on Fairweather's for all that's rich and right in Fur Styles.

Taste and carefullness mark the difference between the commonplace and the elegant, the margin of extra cost is always small.

This Season's Styles are planned to bring the beautiful, in useful and decorative Fur wear, still nearer to usual cost of plainer sorts.

We know of no city or town where fine fur is so appreciated in the articles of every-day wear, as they are in Peterboro' and Toronto, and so we boldly manufactured vast quantities of handsome fur garments—because quantities meant little prices, that will make better values than such fine goods have ever reached before—Every fur garment shown is manufactured under our own supervision by first class fur cutters and finishers either in our Toronto or Peterboro' work-rooms.

This informs us as to the quality of stock used in every particular, and we are therefore in a position to guarantee customers of its actual value from a wearing stand-point—as well as its process of manufacture.

When you see our stock you will find it impossible to resist purchasing. Our motto has been—first, goodness and beauty; next cheapness.

We invite everyone to call and inspect our Fur stock on these opening days.

THREW UP THE SPONGE

Middleton Pleaded Guilty to Bigamy at Woodstock.

PENITENTIARY FOR 7 YEARS.

The Evidence of Lillias Munro, the Toronto Wife, Canon Hincks, Rev. T. C. Jackson and Mr. Munro Was Taken Before Prisoner Gave Up Hope—Miss Smith Affected to Tears.

Woodstock, Sept. 29.—After maintaining an appearance of outraged innocence ever since the time of his arrest, William Launcelot Middleton threw up the sponge yesterday and begged the permission of the court to plead guilty to a charge of bigamy, thereby virtually admitting the other charges against him. The prisoner made this move on the advice of his lawyers, in the desperate hope that his sentence might thereby be lessened, but the scheme failed and the sentence passed by Judge Finkle gave him the full limit of the law, seven years in Kingston penitentiary.

Rev. T. C. Jackson proved the marriage of the prisoner with Miss Munro, and the license and marriage certificate were also put in.

Lillias Munro's Testimony.

Lillias Munro of Toronto, Middleton's first wife, testified. She was pale but self-possessed and answered the questions put to her in a low but clear voice. She told of her marriage on Dec. 27, 1892, to Middleton, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Jackson, a Unitarian minister, at his house on Spadina avenue, Toronto. She knew the prisoner several months before their marriage, which was secret. She could not remember who introduced them. It was three days before her father or mother knew of the marriage, but on the night of the wedding Middleton went to her house and remained there until Dec. 30, when he left for Ottawa. Witness joined him in Ottawa in March and they boarded together at the Capital until July, when Miss Munro returned for a few weeks' visit to Toronto. Then she went to Buffalo, where Middleton had gone in the meantime. They remained there until November. In June, 1894, they separated and have since lived apart.

W. F. Munro's Testimony.

William F. Munro, the father, was called and testified to Mr. Jackson being pastor of the First Unitarian Church. He examined the letters put in and which have already been published, and said they were Middleton's. Witness had been to Auburn Prison, but had not seen Middleton, but saw his keeper, who said he was there.

"Did you forbid your daughter to live with Middleton after returning from Auburn?" asked A. S. Ball, who was defending the prisoner.

"I wrote a letter. I'll show you the letter."

"No, tell me."

"I will tell you in my own way, not in yours."

"No, you will tell me in my way."

Mr. Munro said he had never written to any of Middleton's employers and did not know where he was working after he left the prison. He had spoken to Lawyer Smoke of Toronto concerning Middleton. He wanted him kept away from his daughter, but said he did not want a divorce.

Canon Hincks, pastor of the Episcopal Church at Windsor, was then put into the box, and gave evidence as to the marriage of Middleton to Miss Sarah Smith of Sarnia. The marriage certificate was put in as evidence and Miss Smith herself was called.

Throws Up the Sponge.

Then Middleton beckoned to his counsel, Mr. Ball, and a short conference followed, during which the prisoner declared himself willing to plead guilty if by so doing he could gain a lighter sentence than the one which seemed inevitable.

"We wish to change our plea to one of guilty," said Mr. Ball, when the conference was over, and the Crown Attorney gladly accepted the offer. Middleton was asked personally if he was willing to plead guilty, and he rose and answered, "I am willing, your Honor."

The Sentence.

Judge Finkle, after prefacing his remarks with the statement that he did not wish to harass the prisoner with a sharp lecture, told Middleton that he had evidently some sense of shame left, and that the evidence which had been brought out against him showed that he had some need of shame. The prisoner had ruined the lives of at least two women, but he had almost spoiled his whole life, and while the sentence which he would receive would be a long one he would still be comparatively a young man when released and it was the wish of His Honor that after leaving his prison Middleton would endeavor to lead a more upright life. Judge Finkle further remarked that he had been accused of showing too great leniency to criminals, but he had felt justified by results on releasing many men on suspended sentence. If the other charge of bigamy against Middleton had been pressed he would have been able to pass a sentence of fourteen years in the penitentiary, but as the case stood he could sentence the prisoner to only seven years.

His Honor then formally sentenced Middleton to seven years in the penitentiary with hard labor.

Other Charges Not Pressed.

While Judge Finkle was speaking Middleton's wife and Miss Smith sat on either side of him, both with downcast and averted faces. Miss Smith wept bitterly, and appeared to be very much more affected by the prisoner's fate than was his wife. Middleton himself took his sentence with a blank look, and wanted to be taken out of court when the Judge had finished with him. The charges of obtaining money under false pretences, which arose out of the Woodstock & Brantford Railway scheme, will not be pressed, and no further proceedings will be taken against Middleton.

Miss Maggie Thomas, the Woodstock wife, now in Hamilton, was not subpoenaed.

When he was taken back to his cell Middleton broke down, and then through his lawyers sent a message to Miss Thomas, telling her of his sentence.

Middleton, who is a physical wreck, will likely be taken to Kingston penitentiary to-day.

DEATH OF MR. BAYARD.

The First Ambassador to Britain Since the Early Days of the Republic—Sketch of His Life.

Dedham, Mass., Sept. 29.—The Hon. Thomas F. Bayard died at 4.30 yesterday afternoon.

Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, an American statesman, was born at Wilmington, Del., Oct. 29, 1828. He first entered mercantile life, but abandoned it for the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1851. In 1853 he was appointed United States District Attorney for Delaware, but resigned the office in 1854. From 1869 to 1885 he was United States Senator from Delaware, resigning the position in March, 1885, to enter President Cleveland's first Cabinet as Secretary of State. At the close of that administration, 1889, he retired to private life until early in President Cleveland's second administration, March, 1893, when he was appointed Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to Great Britain. Mr. Bayard was the first Ambassador appointed by the American Government since the early days of the Republic, his predecessors ranking only as Envoys Extraordinary.

HON. THOMAS F. BAYARD.

Mr. Bayard was very popular in England, where his eloquence made him much sought after at state and social functions. His ancestors were English and all his utterances breathed a sentiment akin to the Anglo-Saxon alliance idea that has grown so prominent within the past year.

On the accession to power of President McKinley, Mr. Bayard again retired to private life.

THE ONTARIO CONSTABLES.

It has been decided by the Ontario Court of Appeals that Mr. Whitney's contention against the right of election constables to vote is ill-founded. The Hardy Government has been sustained by the Court in the position taken on all the points submitted. So fall to the ground the hopes of Mr. Whitney and his followers. They cannot any longer look to the chance of trial judges upholding their contention, and so by chance depriving Mr. Hardy of his majority in the Legislature. Mr. Whitney has now to do that which he very much dislikes doing: he has to abide by the decision of the electorate and remain in opposition at least one more Parliamentary term.

Mr. Hardy's handling of this question will go far towards establishing yet more securely his claim upon the party he leads in the Province of Ontario. He has shown himself to be both courageous and adroit. He did the courageous thing when he staked the existence of his Government on the decision of the highest court in the province, and the judgment of that court has given him a legal standing like unto that which stood Sir Oliver Mowat in such good stead. In calling the Legislature together and putting through the necessary legislation for referring the matter direct to the Court of Appeal and otherwise providing against being tricked out of office, he proved himself leader in whose sagacity his party can repose the fullest confidence. All the criticism levelled against him during the past six months by the Conservative press and by Conservatives in the Legislature is made flat and harmless by the simple "no" returned by the five judges as their answer to the questions forwarded to them. The fine fury of such organs as the Star and Mail and Empire has all been snuffed out by a monsyllable thrice repeated. The election trials will now be proceeded with without regard to the question of the constables' votes. If a member holds his seat by virtue of purchased votes, as was the case with Mr. Calder, whose agents bought South Ontario, he deserves to be unseated. Otherwise members will not, and should not, be disturbed. The meaning of the court's judgment is therefore that there shall be no different proceedings after this election than after all the other elections held during the past thirty years. With this none but an extreme partizan will find fault.—Montreal Herald.

CANADA CAN HOLD HER OWN.

A great many persons, especially those of the extreme protectionist cult, have shown mortal fear of American opposition in manufacturing industries, practically arguing that Canadian ingenuity and enterprise, are inferior to those of the Americans. One striking instance of how little foundation there is for such a fear is afforded by the experience of the Montmorencie Cotton Works Company, Quebec. This company works entirely on grey cottons, and the mill was established at the foot of the falls because of the magnificent water power they furnished. The mill made an opening for itself in the Chinese market and cultivated it steadily. The management, on the lookout for new openings, saw that American grey cottons were crowding out English cottons in Africa and elsewhere. The idea occurred to them that if British cottons must go in any case and be succeeded by cheaper fabrics, it would be better than Canadians rather than Americans, should take the trade. The Department of Trade and Commerce, which closely watches market conditions, on being applied to, thought so, too, also made inquiries in England and gave the firm's agents letters to Gray, Dawes & Co., a noted English house engaged in the African trade. They were shipping American cottons at that time to Zanzibar and Mombassa, for the trade of the British East African and Great Lakes region, but moved somewhat by the Jubilee enthusiasm, which swept over the empire last year, and more perhaps by the fact that Canadian cottons were fully as good value as American, they decided to use Canadian goods. The immediate result of finding a market in East Africa as well as China is that the mills at Montmorenci, which at present employ about three hundred and fifty workpeople, are now in process of enlargement to double the the former capacity, and will employ after this fall between 700 and 800 persons. The management praises warmly the work of Sir Richard Cartwright's department, which has thus opened up a trade of tremendous possibilities in Africa. Gray, Dawes & Co. are at present building a railway under Government guarantee from Mombassa on the coast to the Great Lakes. It will be pushed north through Uganda to connect with the railway that Kitchener is building up the Nile towards Khartoum. The result will be the the opening up of a vast tract of the most thickly populated territory in Africa, and a great enlargement of the market. The manager of the Montmorenci company says their route of shipment at present is to London, thence by P. & O. steamers to Aden, thence by Gray-Dawes' steamers to Mombassa. The distribution in the interior is by Gray Dawes' own agents. In China the retail trade is controlled by the Chinese themselves, who cable for quotations through Shanghai agents Between the Chinese and African trade there is plenty of room for expansion, and from the enlarged mill the shipments to British East Africa alone will run at an average of probably over a $1,000 per day. The industry can take care of itself, and there is no fear of American competition. Our total export of home manufactured cotton has more than doubled in the last five years. It was only valued at $424 061 in 1893, and in 1897 it had increased to $949,861. With right methods of operation Quebec can beat out New England in cotton manufacturing.

THE EFFECT WILL BE LASTING.

Whether the prophets are right or not, and even though it should turn out that the present cordiality between Great Britain and the United States should be cooled by something which may crop up in the natural order of international relations, the effect of the last three months' good-will will never be quite lost. It has not been during the past summer merely, we should remember, that the two peoples have exchanged expressions of mutual respect, and have joined in declarations regarding the essential unity of the English-speaking race. This sentiment of an Anglo-American or Anglo-Saxon alliance is not new. The events of this summer did not give it birth. All that they can be said to have done is to have drawn within the circle of its influence the politicans and the statesmen of the Republic, who under the reflection of public opinion have joined in the chorus. This is perhaps the most significant feature of the whole matter. The professional tail twisters have abandoned for a time, at least, their occupation, and nothing that is likely to arise will ever allow them to resume it again with the same political success. Where you have such tail twisters as Senator Frye applauding England it is proof sufficient of a great body of feeling in the masses of the American people which can hereafter be counted upon to influence the relations of the two nations.

Zion Methodist Church Holds its Annual Harvest Home Supper.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual tea or harvest home supper which was held in this place on Wednesday, Sept. 21st, was a grand success, due particularly to the beautiful weather which was so favourable. The success was also due to the co-operation of the surrounding neighbourhood which unanimously helped on the enterprise with their united efforts. Considerable amount of time was spent in making preparations such as arranging and fitting up a suitable place and also the building of tables, etc. The ladies took great interest in decorating the church and elsewhere with flowers and evergreens, A large representation was present from all the other adjoining appointments of the circuit, and many others from a distance, all sharing the benefits of the harvest supper. The tea commenced about 5 p.m. and was in continuation until eight p.m., after which the crowd gathered into the church and were entertained by speakers and ministers from various churches, Rev. Mr. Fusee, pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. G. Robinson, our former pastor from Caselton, Rev. Mr. Rogers, from South Dummer, Rev. Mr. Moore, of Ashburnham, and Rev. Mr. Hyde, of Warsaw. The choir furnished some very suitable and appropriate music for the occasion..

Before closing the meeting Mr. J. J. Crowe was called upon to give the returns and he, after addressing the congregation for a short time, related that the proceeds of the evening were $79 40. The meeting was then brought to a close by singing the National Anthem, and the congregation was dismissed.

After the service the people returned to the hall where the tea had been previously served, and where the remaining eatables were then sold by auction. The tea in all amounting to $85. It being late the people then separated, with a few exceptions, some of them having a considerable distance to drive before daylight, making private arrangements no doubt for the annual tea.

The Other Way Around.

The loyalty of the Scottish highlander to his kilt is a picturesque thing. He will never admit that it makes him cold, and highlanders who were suffering from cold in the ordinary dress of civilization have been known to substitute the kilt for it in order to get warm, though this would be much like removing one's coat and waistcoat and rolling up one's shirt sleeves for the same purpose.

It is said that a stranger, seeing a soldier in full highlander uniform shivering in a cold wind, asked him:

"Sandy, are you cold with the kilt?"

"Na, na, mon," the soldier answered indignantly, "but I'm nigh kilt with the cauld!"—Exchange.

DEAR SIR.—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,080 26

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, same policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian Institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

KITCHENER'S REPORT

Respecting Fashoda Is in the Hands of Diplomatists.

EGYPTIAN SIRDAR TO RETIRE.

Formal Introduction of the Spanish and United States Peace Commissions at Paris—Hospitality of France Extended to Them—An Outline of the Positions of Both Sides

—Cable News.

London, Sept. 29.—The newspapers of the country are clamorously demanding that the Government take the public into its confidence in regard to the Fashoda affair, having been informed that General Kitchener's report has reached the Foreign Office, and that it makes interesting developments. They appear to be deeply disappointed that diplomatists are to have the settlement of the question.

The Foreign Office has issued a formal refusal to make public any further details of the affair, some of which, however, are leaking out.

The Sirdar, according to these, after Major Marchand refused to furl the French flag, formally announced that he had come to raise the Egyptian flag, but before doing so desired to know whether Major Marchand wished to enter a protest. The Frenchman replied in the negative, and the Sirdar then planted the Egyptian flag alone—not the Egyptian and British, as at first reported—500 metres from the France flagstaff.

Negotiations relative to the matter were begun at Paris yesterday, the British Ambassador, Right Hon. Sir Edmund J. Monson, calling upon M. Delcasse, the French Foreign Minister.

The Sirdar to Retire.

London, Sept. 29.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "It is stated on good authority that General Kitchener intends to retire from the Egyptian service. He regards his work as completed and will return to England by the middle of October. It is rumored that his eyesight is affected. Upon arriving at Fashoda, the Sirdar shook hands with Major Marchand and they dined together the same evening. Major Marchand lacked supplies. A story is current that he has left Fashoda. He received help from a local chief, who is now our adherent.

"It is stated that the Khalifac treasure, £10,00,0000 in value, which was hidden in the desert, has been found and forwarded here.

"Lord Edward Cecil will take Fashoda despatches to London.

"The British Government has offered £12 sterling to each reserve or time-expired man who is willing to re-engage with the expedition."

Marchand Not Abandoned.

Paris, Sept. 29.—The Gaulois yesterday morning publishes an interview with the Minister of the Colonies, M. Trouillot, in which he is quoted as saying it is not true Major Marchand has been abandoned. Up to the present the French Government has only heard the British version of the Major's occupation of Fashoda and no steps will be taken in the matter until the French officer's reports are received. The Minister further remarks that an essential point had been secured in the avoidance of a collision between the French and British troops, and that was that it was here, and not on the Nile, that the question of Fashoda and other matters hanging on it was settled.

Waiting for Lord Cromer.

London, Sept. 29.—Nothing will be done by the Government in the matter of the French occupation of Fashoda until Lord Cromer, British diplomatic agent in Egypt, who left here Monday, arrives in Cairo, where the first stage of the negtiations will be carried on.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervou ness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonised, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

WHERE THEY STAND,

Outline of the Positions Occupied by the United States and Spanish Peace Commissions at Paris.

Paris, Sept. 29.—The United States Peace Commission went into session at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Gaulois says: "In spite of the mystery surrounding the matter we are able from a high source to give an outline of the position of both commissions. While the Americans have instructions which are much more precise than those of the Spaniards, there is a diversity of opinion in regard to the Philippines. Senator Gray is a very ardent Democrat, and consequently, belongs to the party which repudiates expansion. He opposes all annexation and his opinion, therefore, totally differs from that of the other four commissioners, some of whom would be content with a coaling station at the Philippines, possibly Cavite, while others, like Senator Davis, advocate the annexation of the whole of the archipelago."

The Gaulois, however, believes that the Americans, by mutual concession, will come to an agreement and that they will all be largely influenced by Major General Merritt's report on the situation.

The instructions to the Spanish Commission, according to the Gaulois, are, briefly, to hold out and make the best terms possible. Madrid is well aware, it appears, that the conferences, at the best, have only to please the Spanish people and the only hopes entertained are that the Americans will not abuse the situation too much. Popular sentiment in Spain, it is added, thinks it better to abandon the Philippine Islands than to keep them under conditions rendering them ungovernable.

FORMALLY INTRODUCED.

The Spanish and American Peace Commissioners Meet at Breakfast.

Paris, Sept. 29.—Yesterday afternoon the American Peace Commissioners assisted at their first formal function in France. They were received by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, through M. Vignaud, who acted as interpreter, M. Delcasse only speaking French. The party chatted briefly upon generalities, and the Minister finally assured the commissioners of the great pleasure experienced by France in the part she has taken in effecting a suspension of hostilities between Spain and the United States, and expressed the hope of having the pleasure of meeting the American commissioners and the Spanish commissioners at breakfast to-day. M. Delcasse added that after having thus brought the two commissions together and offering them the hospitalities of the Salon de Conference, the French Government would efface itself.

Judge Day, as President of the United States Commission, responded. He said the United States appreciates the good offices of France, and, after M. Delcasse had expressed his pleasure at such recognition of the disinterested action of France, the interview ended and the Americans retired.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs at 12.30 p.m. to-day will give a breakfast to the United States and Spanish commissioners, thus bringing them together for the first time. The session of the United States Commission did not result in anything being given out for publication.

Spanish Commission's Secretary.

Tangier, Morocco, Sept. 29.—The Spanish transport General Valdes has arrived here with Senor Ojida, the Minister of Spain to Morocco, but his stay here has been interrupted on account of his appointment as Secretary of the Spanish Peace Commission. Senor Ojida will leave for Paris on Friday next.

Another Blockade May Follow.

Vienna, Sept. 29.—The following semi-official statement is published here: "From what is disclosed of the plan of action at Crete it appears that if the Sultan's reply to the ultimatum, which is returnable on Oct. 15, is unfavorable, the powers will blockade Cretan places in Crete, first removing the Christians therefrom.

Ministerial Change in Japan.

Yokohama, Sept. 29.—The Minister of Justice, Ohigashi, will resign, because of the agitation among the members of the bench and bar against his unfitness for the office he has been holding. The agitation in favor of the state purchase of the railroads continues.

ON THE INTERCOLONIAL.

Six People Meet Death in a Railway Collision Near Halifax List of the Dead.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 29.—A fatal railway accident occurred on the Intercolonial, near Stellarton, yesterday morning. Through some misunderstanding a special from Tatamagouche crashed into a coal train at Adam's Cut. The engineer and fireman of each train and a passenger were killed. The names of the dead are:

James Sproule, engineer.
Michael O'Brien, engineer.
W. G. Henderson, fireman.
John R. McKenzie, fireman.
Cameron, Scotch Hill, Pictou County, passenger.
Martin McDonald, passenger from Lyon's Brook, and others, injured.

John McMillan of Pictou, a passenger, and others were seriously injured.

The special was an excursion train of seven cars crowded with people bound for the fair. The other train was going to Westville with about sixty miners, who were on their way to work at the Acadia colliery. The collision occurred at a sharp curve in a cutting, and the two trains, running at high speed, came together without warning.

Martin McDonald of Lyon's Brook, the passenger victim, was on the car next to the engine of the special. The front half of this car was completely demolished.

It was miraculous that there were not more killed, as the accident occurred in one of the most dangerous places on the Pictou branch.

TOWN OF TREHERNE BURNED.

A Manitoba Town Gets a Very Bad Scorching.

Treherne, Man., Sept. 29.—A fire which started Tuesday night has done a tremendous amount of damage to property here. Among those already burned out are the following: Ainsley's hotel, owned by the Molsons Bank; butcher shop of A. Ross, George Kearns' barber shop, Strantse's hardware store, Alexander Co.'s bank, Andrew & Pittblado, law office; Masonic lodge room, over the bank, and a dwelling house; R. Englevain's hardware store, Burkewell's fruit store, Moore's tailor shop, Scott's harness store, and F. Rodgers' general store. The insurances are yet unknown, but Ainsley carried $1,000, Rodgers $2,000 and Englevain $500.

Queen of Denmark Worse.

New York, Sept. 29.—A despatch from Copenhagen says the condition of the Queen of Denmark has grown more serious. All of the royal family not already there have been summoned to the castle.

A later despatch says: The death of Queen Louise of Denmark is momentarily expected. Her Majesty is unconscious, and her pulse and respiration are almost imperceptible.

THE MARKETS.

Changes in Wheat Insignificant—Larger Deliveries Promised From Farmers —The Latest Prices.

Wednesday Evening, Sept. 28.

On the Chicago board this morning September wheat was in demand, advancing 1½c per bushel, the strength of early Liverpool cables being an encouraging element. Later in the day this month's delivery eased off, and at the close the December and May options showed a reaction of nearly a cent a bushel from last night's final figures. Expected heavier country deliveries and absence of new business are mentioned as causes of the weak closing.

At the Liverpool board to-day spot wheat advanced ½d to 1d per cental, while futures closed steady to ½d lower than yesterday.

Gentlemen's Baldness.

The number of baldheads is surprising. Over 36,000 men wear Prof. Dorenwend's Art Hair Coverings. However, there are many yet who should use them, both for the sake of health and appearance. Prominent men all over the continent wear them, and it is only necessary to try one on to be convinced of the advisability of possessing one. It prevents the dangers incidental to cold, catarrh, neuralgia and other troubles. The Prof. is to be at the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, Oct. 4th, where he will be pleased to show all the value of his productions.

Good Suits.

We have just passed into stock some men's suits that we think will please everyone who sees them. They are good—so good that the value is exceptional. They are made of Black Worsted Serge and Navy Blue, cut in single or double-breasted shape, lined with superior farmers' satin, made by our best tailors and finished with the touch that marks the perfectly tailored suit. These suits at any merchant tailors would be $15 or $16, and not one bit better, Grafton & Co's price, $10; young men's sizes $8.50. Grafton & Co., manufacturers of high grade of clothing.

Tuesday's Farce Comedy.

"What Happened to Jones," the laughable farce which has convulsed New York and is now attracting immense audiences in London, at the Strand Theatre, will be seen at the Opera House Tuesday evening, Oct. 4th. It is the leading laughing success of the day and will be presented here by a large company of comedians who come here directly from New York. It is seldom that we have the pleasure of witnessing such a new success and the favour will doubtless be appreciated, as all in Peterborough have heard how funny it is. Seats now on sale. No extra charge for reserving seats in advance.

MORE PAVEMENTS.

Work to Begin on the South Side of Charlotte Street Immediately.

At a meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee last evening there were present Mayor Davis, and Councillors Mc. Williams, Langford, W. H. White and Best.

A fully signed petition was received for the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on Charlotte street between Aylmer and George streets.

Councillors Langford and W. H. White moved "That the petition being sufficiently signed, the sidewalk be built from George street to Aylmer street on Charlotte, eight feet wide, this year, and that Messrs. Dolan & Sheehy be instructed to construct that portion on the same terms as the present contract, provided they will drop the Water street section of the town if so decided and that the balance from Aylmer to Bethune street be constructed next year.—Carried.

Councillor McWilliams moved that the town furnish the crushed granite for the Government contractors for the repairs of the sidewalk at the post office.—Carried.

The Street Inspector was instructed to have the sidewalk repaired on Aylmer street from the railway to Antrim street.

On motion of Councillor W. H. White, Councillors Best, McWilliams, Langford and the Mayor will be a committee to report on the width of bridges to be used on Sherbrooke and Dalhousie streets.

It was decided that the Street Inspector and the Engineer each make an estimate of the cost of constructing an ordinary iron bridge with concrete abutments over the raceway on London street at the present width of the raceway, viz. 20 feet.

GOOD FISHING.

Two Fine 'Lunge Caught Yesterday Afternoon in Chemong Lake.

Yesterday afternoon whilst Mr. Henry Denne and Mr. Foord were trawling with two lines in Chemong Lake, near Telford's, they hooked two 'lunge and landed both.

The larger fish weighed a few ounces over twenty pounds and the other weighed between eight and nine.

The catch was made at about half-past five and just previous to the fishermen going ashore, the proposition having been already made to start for home.

THE PRIZES PRESENTED.

The Physiology Pupils Receive the Guerdon of the W.C.T.U.

The parlours of the Y.M.C.A. were well filled last evening, when the Woman's Christian Temperance Union presented to the most successful entrance candidates in the recent Public School examinations, the annual prizes given by the Union on the subject of Temperance and Physiology.

Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, secretary Y.M.C.A., presided at the meeting and gave a brief address, eulogizing the work of the Union both at home and abroad.

Rev. Mr. Potter also gave an excellent address, emphasing what already had been said by the chairman.

Mrs. Paton, the honoured president of the Union, made the presentation, previous to which she spoke briefly, yet forcibly on some of the evils of day—notably cigarette smoking among boys.

The prizes were ten new, crisp dollar bills—1st, $4 00; 2nd, $2.00. There being three who received the same number of marks each received $2 00. The following was the order: 1st, Percy Shorey, who obtained 70 per cent.; 2nd, Pearl Pratt, Ethel Davidson and Ralph Quinn, each 69 per cent.

Miss Weddel sang "Cast thy Bread upon Waters," while the offering was being taken.

Mr. John Long presided at the piano during the singing of the opening hymns.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Barnett of Renfrew, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. B. McAllister of "The Pines."

Mrs. Ames and Miss Stevens, who have been visiting friends in Montreal for the last week or so, returned to town last evening, Mrs. Ames going on through to Toronto.

Miss Lucy McClelland leaves to-morrow for New York, where she will resume her duties in connection with hospital nursing. Miss McClelland has been recuperating after an attack of illness.

Mr. Wm. Parquet of Denver, Colorado, spent a few days with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Heubeck, Bethune street. He has been visiting many parts of Canada, including Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal, and is now on his way to Chicago, where he will meet Mr. and Mrs. Heubeck, who left to-day to visit their daughter, Mrs. J. H. Pearce.

A Boy's Bad Sprain.

Mr. B. Bennie of Union Mines, B. C., writes: My son Samuel Bennie got his leg crushed and bruised in the mines seven weeks ago. The swelling never fully left it until we tried Griffiths' Menthol Liniment. On the first application the swelling and soreness entirely left it, and the muscles began to loosen up so much that the same evening he was able to use his foot freely for the first time. I consider it the best liniment known. 25 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

CENTRAL EXHIBITION, THE OPENING DAY.

SPLENDID WEATHER AND SPLENDID PROSPECTS OF A BIG SHOW.

Great Excess of Entries Over Last Year—The Live Stock Already Arriving—The Inside Exhibition an Excellent one—Formal Opening by Hon. Mr. Tarte To-morrow Afternoon.

This is the opening day of the Central Exhibition, and the magnificent weather following the equinoctial disturbance and the cyclonic interlude, promises the great success due to favourable weather.

The officials and directors have been busy all the morning placing the exhibits in the hall, which contains the best display ever presented.

The show of vegetables is splendid, and the housewife has never been so abundantly represented in the department of home-made bread. The grounds are white with the tents of special exhibits, agricultural machinery, carriages, etc.

The live stock, especially from outside places, has been coming in rapidly. Many fine flocks of sheep and herds of cattle are to be seen.

Never has an opening day given such fine prospects of a good show. The entry list totals 2500, much in excess of last year, and in every department the keenest competition will be had.

The special speeding events both to-morrow and the day following will be of special interest. Already several of the best turf horses in the Province are in town ready for the races to-morrow and the next day.

To-morrow is school children's day, when all the youngsters will have a half holiday to permit of their attendance.

The exhibition will be formally opened with great ceremony at 1 o'clock to-morrow by Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Dominion Minister of Public Works.

A FINE PRESENTATION.

The Three Guardsmen at the Opera House Last Evening.

The largest house of the week greeted Paul Cazeneuve and his support last evening, when Dumas' "Three Guardsmen," was presented. Cazeneuve took the part of D'Artagnan to the life, and the thorough satisfaction of the audience was attested by the liberal applause which he received on his every appearance. He was most ably supported by Miss Ida May Park as Anne of Austria, who took the part of that unhappy Princess to perfection. Miss Adele LaGrosse, who was injured on Tuesday night through a fall behind the scenes, appeared as Lady de Winter, although suffering considerably from the effects of her injury. During the evening Miss La Gros became quite ill, but in order not to disappoint the audience, remained on the stage until the close of the performance. Miss Orpha Tavlor made a charming Constance. Miss Grace Welley, as a page, had no opportunity of showing the versatility of which she is possessed. The rest of the caste was a strong one, including Chas. Marriati, as Louis XIII; J. De Grasse, as Duke of Buckingham and and Athos; Ulysses Davis, as Richilieu; C. Maury, as Count Rochefort; F. Howson, Captain de Treville; W. Adleston, as Porthos, and E. Whetly as Aramis. The rest of the parts were also so well taken as to justify the assertion that the company is one of the best balanced that will appear here this season. This evening "Don Caesar de Bazan" will be repeated by special request, many being anxious to again see Mr. Cazaneuve in the title role.

THIS MORNING'S RUNAWAY.

Mr. Ed. Brown's Horse Makes a Lively Dash Down George Street.

The bore attached to Mr. Ed. Brown's delivery wagon ran away this morning through being frightened by the bit ring catching in the tie post in front of the store, and breaking.

A son of Mr. Harry Wells was in the rig at the time, and when he saw that the bit was broken he clambered out of the wagon at the rear. The horse ran south on George street and turned the corner at Ormond & Walsh's drugstore, where the rig collided with a post, upsetting and throwing the horse. The latter was not injured in any way, but the rig was badly damaged.

HER LEG BROKEN.

Fell out of a Swing Yesterday—Taken to the Nicholl's Hospital.

Yesterday afternoon whilst a little daughter of Mrs. White, of Elm street, was sitting in a swing with a small child in her lap she lost her balance in some way and fell out, breaking her leg. She was immediately removed to the Nicholls Hospital where the limb was set. Strange to say the baby which she was holding was not hurt in any way.

UPSET IN RICE LAKE.

Dr. Murray, of Baltimore, in Reaching out to get his Hat Nearly Lost His Life.

One day during the week as Mr. Robt. Londerville was paddling Mr. Duncan Johnston, of Hiawatha, and Dr. Murray, of Baltimore, from Hiawatha to Idyl Wyld, Dr. Murray's hat blew off and as he reached for it suddenly the canoe was almost over-turned, half filling with water.

As the water came in one side Mr. Londerville leaped out the other and hastily swimming to the stern of the the canoe, seized it and preserved the balance. Remaining in this position he swam towards land, pushing the canoe ahead of him.

When it is stated that Dr. Murray is unable to swim a stroke the manner in which the situation affected him can be more easily imagined than described. After progressing for some time in this manner a boat put out from land and took in both passengers. Mr Londerville, when alone, easily bailed out the canoe and returning to Hiawatha secured a fresh supply of provisions, those which he was taking to Idyl Wyld in the first place being wet through.

Mr. Londerville's presence of mind and brave action no doubt saved the lives of his passengers and the matter should be brought to the notice of the Royal Humane Association.

C. E. CONVENTION.

The Tenth Annual Provincial Meeting to be Held in Hamilton.

Within a few weeks Christian Endeavourers of Ontario will meet in Hamilton in their tenth annual convention. Just eight years ago, the second provincial C. E. convention was held in the same fair city. That convention was characterised by magnificent music, helpful and inspiring addresses. All who were present will remember the kindly, simple and heartfelt words of the late Professor Henry P. Drummond, and the earnest message, "Larger Things For Christ," from Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D.

Eight years have rolled around and again Hamilton extends a warm welcome to every Endeavourer in the Province.

The meetings of the convention begin Tuesday, Oct. 11th, at two o'clock, in the armory—the largest building in the city—and continue until Thursday evening, Oct. 13th. Every meeting in connection with the convention, except the Denominational Rallies, will be held in the same building, which will be comfortably seated and beautifully decorated with flags, banners and the convention colours, which will be purple and gold. The music of the convention will be under the direction of Mr. W. F. Robinson, who will conduct an immense choir of 500 voices. A number of talented soloists and a large orchestra will also assist. Withal the music of the tenth annual convention will no doubt be of the very best quality and a most delightful part of the programme.

In the matter of speakers the array of talent presents irresistible attraction. The following are among the speakers expected to be present: Rev. Mungo Fraser, D.D., His Worship Mayor Colquhoun, Rev. R. Johnson, B.D., Rev. Elliott S. Rowe, Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Rev. Elmore Harris, B.A., Rev. J. R. Dickson, B.D., P.D., Miss Lottie E. Wiggins, Rev. A. F. McGregor, B.A., N. W. Hoyles, Q.C., Rev. Torrance, E. Clark, D.D.

The Junior Workshop, Schools of Methods and the exercise, "H. M. S. Junior Endeavour" will be of more than special interest. Altogether the convention promises to be the most delightful in the history of the Ontario Union.

The usual cheap rates will prevail, i.e., regular first class fare for the round trip.

AUGUST TRAGEDIES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Some time ago, I think in about April, 1896, I wrote pointing out the extraordinary number of suicides (seven in number) reported in one month's returns of one fraternal society. I am now perusing the death claims for August, 1898 of one fraternal society of which I am a member, and out of 162 deaths I find no less than nine suicides and two murders!

Is it not time for members to call a halt when they are called upon to pay such a proportion of life losses from such a cause? I presume the standard life companies, who do business all over America, make a similar showing. But it appears to me that there is a broader and deeper question than the mere insurance element involved in these startling statistics, which the moralist and political economist would do well to consider.

It is also a subject of comment that although the Canadian membership is large, all the above violent and self-inflicted deaths occurred out of Canada, but this is possibly an accident of the month.

Yours, etc.,

ACCIDENT AT DOWNEYVILLE.

Rev. Father Bretherton, the Popular Parish Priest, Meets With a Painful Injury.

The Lindsay Post says: A host of friends in Lindsay and surrounding country will learn with regret that Rev. C. S. Bretherton, of Downeyville, will be unable to attend to his duties for the next three or four months in consequence of a painful mishap met with on Sunday afternoon last. While climbing an iron ladder the bolts securing it to the roof of the Presbytery gave way, and he was precipitated to the ground, a distance of about twelve feet. When he tried to arise he found he was unable to walk, and on medical aid being summoned from Lindsay it was discovered that both bones above the left ankle were broken, and that a dislocation existed as well. He is now resting as easily as his energetic temperament will permit. Monsignor Laurent visited him yesterday, and will arrange for an assistant to perform his duties.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Etta Kindred and Mr. Noble Graham.

The wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. Wm. Kindred, Hunter street, of his fourth daughter, Miss Etta Kindred to Mr. Noble Graham.

The ceremony was performed at seven o'clock by Rev. D. O. Crossley, pastor of the Charlotte street church, the bride being given away by her father in the presence of a large number of the friends and relatives of the young couple. The bride looked charming in a cream costume trimmed with pearls, silk and lace. She carried a large shower bouquet of cream roses and was assisted by her sister, Miss Lottie, who was most attractively gowned in pale blue trimmed with pearls and cream silk. She also carried roses.

The groom was assisted by Mr. James Fraser, of Hastings.

A large number of very handsome presents were received. The groom's gift to the bride consisted of a very handsome pony and carriage. To the bridesmaid he presented a pretty ring set with pearls and amethysts.

After spending a pleasant social evening Mr. and Mrs. Graham drove to their residence on Westcott street.

Within the last four years and six months four of Mr. Kindred's daughters and nineteen of the boarders have been married from the house

LAKEFIELD WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Alice Maud Strickland and Mr. J. H. Peck Yesterday.

Lakefield society was out in full force yesterday attending the very pretty wedding in the Church of St. John the Baptist, of Miss Alice Maud Strickland, eldest daughter of Mr. J. P. Strickland, and Mr. John Henry Peck, of Vancouver, B.C.

The church was very prettily decorated with flowers, vines and autumn leaves. As the bridal party entered the church the organist, Miss Atwood played the wedding march, and as they approached the chancel Rev. Geo. Warren, the incumbent, was in readiness to receive them, and united them in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The bride was neatly attired in a national blue broadcloth travelling suit, with white chiffon pleating on the front of the bodice, and wore a black velvet picture hat, trimmed with velvet and plumes, and carried a handsome sheaf bouquet of cream roses.

The bridesmaids were her sisters, Misses Josephine and Katy Strickland, who were very prettily attired, wearing black velvet picture hats, and carrying sheaf bouquets of pink roses. A little neice of Miss Strickland from Montreal was the maid of honour.

The groom was supported by Mr. Gus Sowers and Mr. E. R. Cate.

To the strains of the Wedding March the wedding party left the church and repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where an elegant wedding breakfast was served.

After receiving hearty congratulations from their numerous friends, the happy pair left for their future home in Vancouver, B. C.

The bride was a general favourite and will be greatly missed from society circles.

Among the guests from at distance at the wedding were Mr. R. A. Strickland, West Drayton, England; Mr. Walter D E. Strickland, Toronto; Mrs. D'Eyncourt Strickland, Montreal; Mr. Edward A. Peck, the Misses Peck, Ashburnham, the Misses Collins, Peterborough; Mr. H. T. Strickland, Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. Eden and Mr. Frank Eden, Ashburnham.

CANON DANN'S LECTURE.

It Proved Most Amusing and was Well Attended Last Evening.

"Laugh and grow fat" is a motto as true as it is familiar, and he who, in this busy age when the "struggle for existence" is so hard and life tends to become a serious affair, can give us a hour of wit and humour is a genuine benefactor. Canon Dann's lecture was replete last night with excellent stories which told with inimitable skill, can no more be transposed to paper than the rendering of a song.

The Rev. Canon is a gentleman of fine presence with a face that is the unmistakable index of a good and genial nature, and he not only at once won the attention of his hearers, but their hearts.

Whilst the lecture was replete with illustrations of Irish wit, there were not wanting passages of feeling and eloquence. The lecturer is also a student of the history of his country, as his discussion of the life of St. Patrick, the famous Round Towers, and other subjects showed. Old Irish superstitions, Irish love of song, with its undercurrent of melancholy, Irish bigotry, which is fast disappearing, were all skilfully described.

Irish drinking habits afforded an opportunity for some good stories, but the Canon defended his countrymen from the charge of being mere drunkards. The Irishman was not a sot; he did not love to drink for the sake of drinking. Excessive use of whiskey was steadily diminishing, and a tribute was paid to the zeal and labours of Father Matthew.

One of the best things in the lecture was the description of the Irishman in love. In this connection the lecturer eloquently referred to the fidelity and constancy of the Irish maiden, and his recitation of Lover's poem:

"I'm not myself at all, Molly, dear," brought down the house.

Canon Dann closed with an eloquent aspiration for the continued unity of the Irishman, the Scotchman and the Englishman, and resumed his seat amidst long-continued and hearty applause.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Jno. E. Belcher, seconded by Mr. R. Max Dennistoun, and unanimously carried.

This evening Canon Dann will preach the annual Harvest Festival sermon at St. Luke's church at 8 p.m., and the public is cordially invited to attend the same.

PROHIBITION MEETING.

Mr. Joseph Gibson of Ingersoll, Addresses a Large Meeting in the George Street Church.

The last gun in the prohibition campaign was fired last evening in the George street Methodist church, where a mass meeting was held with Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., in the chair. Those on the platform were Rev. S. J. Shorey, Rev. J. E. Moore and Dr. Fife.

After the opening exercises Mr. Mulligan favoured the large audience with a vocal selection, and then Mr Shorey invited any of the "Antis" present to take the platform. There being no respone Mr. Joseph Gibson, the speaker of the evening, was introduced.

As the subject under discussion will have been voted upon before the appearance of the EXAMINER this evening, no report of the meeting is published.

ASHBURNHAM BREVITIES.

Newsy Paragraphs From Peterborough's Fifth Ward.

Mr. Micks, of Peterborough, has a staff of men busily engaged putting a new furnace in Mark street church, which will be re-opened next Sunday. On Monday evening tea will be served in the basement, followed by a public platform meeting.

Master Ralph Quinn, of Ashburnham Public School, received one of the temperance prizes given by the W.C.T.U. at the meeting in the Y.M.C.A. hall last evening.

The meetings of the Teachers' Convention to be held here Oct. 14th and 15th are open to the public. Those interested will be welcome.

At the concert in the town hall on Friday evening, Oct. 14, a small fee will be charged to cover expenses.

T. HURLEY & CO., Near Post Office

In the olden days men were physically, at least, worthy of the admiration of women. It is a great big something for a woman to feel that her husband is truly a capable and intrepid protector. It is a comfort for her to feel that he has the physical stamina and courage to defend her through all the vicissitudes of life.

Nowadays there is not much to admire about the average man from a physical standpoint. He may be a moral and a mental giant, but the flesh of ill-health is weak, and he is probably a physical coward. It is not in nature for a sickly man to be a brave man. His spirit may be willing but his body is weak. That is the man's own fault. Any man can be healthy who will pay a little common sense attention to his health when he has it, and when he gets a little out of sorts, take the right remedy. Many of the diseases that afflict mankind are traceable directly to indigestion, torpidity of the liver and impurities in the blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the greatest medicine for disorders of this nature. It strengthens a weak stomach, corrects all disorders of the digestion, gives edge to the appetite, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood and tones up and invigorates the nerves. It searches out disease germs, kills them and carries them out of the system. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve-tonic and restorative. It makes strong, healthy men out of weak, sickly invalids. Medicine dealers sell it and no honest dealer will urge a substitute upon you.

"I have been taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets' and must say that they have worked wonders in my case," writes Mr. L. L. Pack, (Box 175), of Hinton, Summers Co., W. Va. "I feel like a new person, in fact I think I am well, but will take one more bottle, to make sure the cure is permanent. I cannot speak too highly of the 'Discovery.' I can eat anything now without misery in my stomach. I have gained some eight or ten pounds, weighing as heavy as I did three years ago.

"The medicine certainly worked like a charm on me, but when I first began to take it I felt a little worse for a few days, had pains through my body and bones, but all this left me after taking the medicines four or five days."

SPANISH GOLD.

How It Has Operated to Improve the Art of the Divers.

As a matter of fact, Spanish gold, strewn on the floor of the sea, has done much to improve the art of the diver. Before the armada year was out we began to search for the treasure the wrecked ships were supposed to contain, and these efforts were renewed from time to time down to the present century. One of the first to try his luck was the Marquis of Argyll. He sent to Glasgow for a diver, and several descents were made to the ships sunk off the island of Mull. The diver's want of success was no doubt due to the crudeness of his apparatus. It is said that air was supplied to him by means of a leather pipe, but it is not likely that he was able to remain under water more than two or three minutes at a time. Some 80 years later another attempt was made at the same ships, this time with a rough kind of diving bell. After a great deal of trouble three guns were brought up, and then the operations were finally abandoned. It may help to thrill some of the tourists who visit these northern seas to know that under their sliding keels lie Spanish ships and unknown quantities of Spanish gold.

A Whitstable diver named Gann is said to have had a pretty piece of luck late in the present century with one of the ships of the armada. Business took him to Galway, and one night over a pipe with the fishermen he heard the local tradition that a Spanish ship lay off the coast. Gann made terms with a man who said he knew the whereabouts of the wreck, and after several weeks of patient searching with grapnels they came upon traces of a ship. Gann went down in his diving dress and found a large quantity of Spanish dollars. They had been packed originally in barrels, but the wood had rotted away, leaving the gold stacked in the shape of barrels. The diver with his share of the money built a row of houses in his native place, and if anybody doubts the truth of the story let him go to Whitstable and ask for Dollar row.—Good Words.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not properly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

Another Shooting Fatality.

Georgetown, Sept. 28.—A very sad accident occurred here Saturday, resulting in the death of Mr. Jefferson Biscoby. Mr. Biscoby, in company with two companions, went on a shooting expedition, and on emerging from the woods in the evening, they proceeded to unload their guns, when, by accident, David Tonst discharged the contents of one barrel into Mr. Biscoby's leg, tearing the flesh, and fracturing the bone to such an extent that he died from the wound a few hours later. Mr. Biscoby was buried yesterday afternoon with military honors, he being a member of the 20th Lorne Rifles.

Serious Accident Near Cornwall.

Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 28.—A chain broke on one of Manning & McDonald's dredges, which are at work on the steamboat channel of the St. Lawrence River near Stanley Island, yesterday, and the flying end struck one of the hands, Thomas Craig, across the face, inflicting injuries which may prove fatal. The unfortunate young man's face was smashed almost to a jelly, his nose was broken and both sides of the upper jaw bone received a compound fracture.

After His Russian Visit.

Quebec, Sept. 28.—Mr. O. J. Klotz, Assistant Astronomer of the Dominion Government, is in the city. Mr. Klotz has recently returned from a trip to Russia, where he had gone over the archives in connection with the sale of the Alaska territory to the United States.

THE HARBOR LIGHT.

How welcome o'er the sea that night
The twinkle of the harbor light,
A star that trembled on the foam
With beams of love and dreams of home!
The bells rang o'er the tossing bars,
The while sails dipped beneath the stars,
But fairer than all stars of night
The harbor light, the harbor light!

"Oh, sailors singing in the spars
A merry challenge to the stars!
Oh, captain, at whose glad command
Our brave ship leans toward the land!
Within far vine clad cots of white
Love hears the sea bells in the night.
Swift as a sea gull's be our flight
Toward the light—the harbor light!"

And swift we sped from storm and gloom
To smiling shores of light and bloom;
The sorrow of the voyage past
Sang in the joy of home at last!
Home, where the ships in shelter rest!
Home, where the light, the love, is best!
Over the plunging seas of night
Love's blessing in the harbor light!

Oh, ships that in the darkness roam,
Sweet sing the harbor bells of home!
Though far the shore, the voyage long,
The dark will drift to morning song.
The bells sing o'er the tossing bars,
The sails bend sure beneath the stars;
Still—still the distant shore we sight
And again the light—the harbor light!

Gypsy Dancing Girls of Seville.

In The Century Mr. Stephen Bonsal writes of "Holy Week In Seville." He says: On returning homeward we enter a gypsy garden, where, in bowers of jasmine and honeysuckle, the Gaditan dancing girls disport themselves as they did in the days of the poet Martial. Penthelusa is as graceful and as lissom today as when, in the ages gone, she captured Pompey with her subtle dance—as when Martial descanted upon her beauties and graces in classic words centuries ago.

The hotel keepers in Seville are generally very careful to introduce their patrons only to gardens where the Bowdlerized editions of the dance are performed, but I commend to those who think they can "sit it out" the archaic versions which are danced naturally today, as they were in the days of the Cæsars, by light limbed enchainers of hearts and flamenca girls with brown skins and cheeks that are soft like the side of the peach which is turned to the ripening sun, and in their dark, lustrous eyes you read as plain as print the story of the sorrows and the joys of a thousand years of living.

Now they dance about with the grace of houris, the abandon of mænads or of nymphs before Actæon peeped, and now, when the dance is over, the moment of madness past, they cover their feet with shawls, that you may not see how dainty they are, and withdraw sedately and sad from the merry circle and sit for hours under the banana trees, crooning softly some mournful couplet in the crooked gypsy tongue.

Just Like a Girl.

He is a very young boy. His is the age when a lofty contempt for the opposite sex manifests itself, the contempt which usually finds merciless retribution in later years.

His task of watching the baby was not as distressing as it might have been. He had utilized the bassinet as a cradle and had found a place where the floor sloped a little.

Behind the vehicle he extended himself and with head on hand proceeded to read a story paper. An occasional pull at a string fastened to the rear axle imparted the motion necessary to keep the slumberer from waking. But the baby soon had its nap out and began to cry. The boy paid no attention to the noise, and after awhile his sister came to investigate.

"I suppose you are going to lie there and wait for the baby to learn to talk so it can tell you what it's crying about?"

"No;" he answered, "being able to talk wouldn't make much difference."

"Why not?"

"Because it's a girl. Girls never know what they're crying about. It just comes natural to them to do it."—Pearson's Weekly.

He Turned the Laugh.

President O'Hanlon of the Pennington (N. J.) seminary used to preach every Monday morning at Ocean Grove, and one of his regular hearers was a good Methodist brother who used to shout "Glory!" whenever anything pleased him. Once in awhile this shout would come in at an inopportune moment.

After Dr. O'Hanlon had been preaching on Monday mornings for a number of years he arose one day to announce his text. He introduced his remarks with these words: "Brethren, I have been preaching here at Ocean Grove on Monday mornings for a number of years, but some of these days when you are gathered here I will be missing, for the grass will be growing over my grave." Just then the shouter uttered a shrill "Oh, G-l-o-r-y!"

Sedate as was that congregation, there went up a hearty laugh. The doctor was equal to the occasion. He put his hands in his pockets, leaned back and said, "Well, brother, what have you got against me?" The laugh was turned, order was soon restored, and the doctor preached with his usual power and acceptability.—New York Tribune.

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boys pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

Regular action of the bowels is necessary to health. Laxa-Liver Pills are the best occasional cathartic for family or general use. Price 25c. Any druggist.

Buried at Santiago.

"Few students of Napoleonic history," says the London Chronicle, "are aware that Dr. Antomarchi, who attended upon Napoleon I during his last illness at St. Helena, is buried in the cemetery at Santiago de Cuba. He had a brother living in that island, and after the emperor's death proceeded thither and lived at Santiago, exercising his skill as an oculist gratuitously among the poor. After his death in 1825 a public monument was erected to his memory in the local cemetery."

Steps to Health!

STEP NUMBER ONE.

Take DR. WARD'S BLOOD AND NERVE PILLS. They cure Heart, Nerve and Blood Troubles, and fill the system with Vim, Vigor and Vitality.

FOR THE SYSTEM.

Vim

I was induced to try Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills by a kind friend last August—for a run down system. My face was covered with black spots and I had pimples and boils all over my body. My system was completely run down, and my blood so impoverished that I was losing flesh rapidly. I had used no end of cure-alls, and spent many dollars in doctoring, but was getting no better—but I am now as well as any man in London. The boils have all left me, and my face is free from pimples and black spots. I advise all suffering humanity to try your pills, for they are the best. JAMES HOBIN, Wharncliffe Road, London, Ont.

FOR THE NERVES.

Vigor

DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled a long time with sick headache, and it was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, tongue coated, cold hands and feet and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint, but it was not until I began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills that I received anything like permanent benefit. Three boxes of these pills did the work for me, and I am now feeling splendid. I have gained in health and strength and will always recommend Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Yours thankfully, MRS. A. SAUNDERS, 578 Dundas St., Toronto.

FOR THE BLOOD.

Vitality

GENTLEMEN,—Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and a strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. It is a pleasure to me to recommend Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills to all who are suffering as we were, because I feel sure they will be benefited by their use.

TREMBLING HANDS AND SHAKY MEMORY.
A HAMILTON MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH A NEW MEDICINE.

DEAR SIRS,—
I have spent half a fortune in doctors' bills, all to no avail. These Pills seemed to reach the seat of disease at once, and they also seemed to possess a remarkable influence over me. The violent palpitation of the heart, the trembling of the hands, the loss of masculine vigor, the frightful dreams, the loss of memory and general collapse of the entire system, have yielded to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Great were the results from the use of four boxes of these Pills. I am enjoying the very best of health. I fully believe they are able to do for others as much as they have done for me. Before using them I was a miserable wreck. To-day I am a well man.

Yours truly,
THOS. FLYNN, 51 Elgin St., Hamilton, Ont.

LUMINOUS BACTERIA.

THE QUEER LIFE WHICH MAKES THE SEA PHOSPHORESCENT.

How These Immeasurable Millions of the Smallest Living Organisms Divide and Multiply — Air a Necessity For Their Flashes of Silvery Fire.

Nature dazzles the eye of man with many wonderful phenomena, but perhaps never more so than when she turns the gloomy night waters of the sea into a sheet of silvery fire. It is only lately that any very serious effort has been made to study this phenomenon, but the research has been abundantly rewarded, for it is now pretty certain that the luminosity is due to the presence in the water of various kinds of bacteria.

Now, bacteria are the very smallest living organisms of which we have cognisance. Millions of them can lie on a penny. Therefore to produce the gleaming appearance recognized by us as phosphorescence they must be present in numbers too enormous even to contemplate with our finite minds. It would be immeasurably easier to reckon with the stars for multitude than with those phosphorescent bacteria. They are colorless, rodlike bodies, only known to us in the land revealed by the highest powers of the microscope, and careful comparison shows minor differences among them. For instance, some of them are capable of independent motion—we can hardly call it swimming—others are nonmotile, some are inclosed in a jellylike covering, and others are without this sheath. Their power of motion is probably due to excessively fine hairs at their extremities, which, moving to and fro in the water, act the part of oars. These cilia have not been found in all forms of bacteria which move, but their presence is inferred, since every advance in the study of motile forms increases the number of bacteria which are seen to possess them.

These light producing bacteria are known as photo bacteria, and so far some half dozen varieties have been distinguished and named. The names in such cases are usually either given from the locality of their appearance (thus, photo bacterium balticum, found in the Baltic), from their discoverer (for example, photo bacterium Fischeri, after Professor Fischer), or from some striking attribute (to wit, photo bacterium phosphorescens, the commonest light giving species).

That they lie at the bottom of the matter—that phosphorescence is due to their presence—has been and can be proved in several pretty ways. It is not sufficient, of course, that we should always detect them in any examination of luminous sea water. To prove that they are the cause of light we must be able to procure luminosity by introducing them into water that did not previously show this quality, and this can be done thus:

Place a few of these tiny organisms into sea water or broth prepared from fish and keep at a suitable temperature. They can then be cultivated without much difficulty, and as they spread and develop phosphorescence appears, so that a removal of the vessel into another room shows unmistakably the glow of the familiar light. It only appears, however, at the surface of the liquid, where the oxygen of the air has free access to the bacteria. If, for experiment's sake, the supply of fresh air be cut off—that is, if no oxygen be allowed to come near them—then the little colony of bacteria loses its fascinating power and remains dull and shorn of its glory. But restore the air, and the microbes again recover their normal condition and luminosity seems a natural corollary.

There is a tale told that a woman whose husband made bacteria his study took a leaf out of his book and cultivated these bacteria on gelatin in such a way that as they developed they shone out the message "Hommage a M. Pasteur." The shining letters were then photographed and the picture sent to the great bacteriologist, thus conveying in graceful form the warm appreciation in which he was held by those following in his steps.

The explanation, too, of the luminous shoals of fish is now made plain, and we can apparently get "fiery herrings" as will. No longer are we to believe that the herrings themselves, by the exercise of some marvelous power or by the excretion of an extraordinary substance, give rise to the striking luminosity, but rather that their brightness is due to myriads of these infinitesimal bodies, which cling to their surfaces and invest them in a coat of shining light. Thus if some herrings newly caught and with the sea water still fresh on them be placed on one plate and covered down with another and then put into a suitable temperature and left for a day and a night glints of light can at the end of the time be detected at various points on their bodies when they are examined in a dark room. If they are yet again put away for another 24 hours, the points of light spread until the whole of the fish are enveloped in a beautiful bluish glow. The light is then at its best and gradually fades away as the fish putrefies and the sea water dries up.

If a little of the light giving matter be scraped off the skins of the herrings and examined under the microscope, it shows itself to be nothing but colonies or collections of bacteria, all living at a great pace, dividing, multiplying and developing at a tremendous rate. Each member of a colony is normally roundish in shape, but in this stage of reproduction it is continually elongating into a long ellipse, a constriction appears at the middle, and it divides into two. Each of these two in their turn elongate, become constricted and divide. And so it goes on, the process being often so rapid that short chains are formed, the various portions being unable to break away in time. The particular bacterium which affects herrings and cod is remarkable for its great luminosity. In fact, it exceeds all other species in this quality.

It is a curious fact that the addition of a little sugar to the liquid or the gelatin on which these phosphorescent bacteria are being cultivated increases very much their power of producing light. The sugar must, however, be used with great moderation, as too much of it has a contrary effect and checks the luminosity altogether. The reason for this is that nearly all this class of bacteria require carbon as nourishment if they are to develop to their highest powers. Now, sugar is very largely composed of carbon; hence the good results which follow its presence.

It would of course be presumptuous and doubtless erroneous to say that all the phosphorescence of the sea is due solely to photo bacteria. It can only be asserted in the present state of our knowledge that they are certainly responsible for a great share of it. But this wonder of nature must now be regarded as yet another instance of the mighty results accomplished through the agency of the smallest of living things.—G. Clarke Nutall in Nature.

DYING BY INCHES!

But Dodd's Kidney Pills will Yet Renew Life.

Thousands of persons die in the prime of life because doctors think Bright's Disease and Diabetes incurable. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them both. They have cured thousands of cases.

These diseases and other Kidney complaints are as common as ordinary colds. But people don't realize that they are afflicted till the disease has eaten deep into the system. Even then, Dodd's Kidney Pills will positively cure.

Thousands of people are dying on their feet, but do not realize it. They notice one or more of these symptoms: shortness of breath, loss of memory, failing sight, ravenous appetite, pale or reddish urine, with brick-colored deposit, scalding when urinating, constipation, nervousness, pains in the loins. Their only hope is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They won't fail. They never do.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

The Americans In Egypt.

Americans occupy an important position in extending the prosperity and civilization of modern Egypt.

Not only do they form at least one-third of the tourists visiting Egypt, and number some of the leading Egyptologists, but the beneficent effect of their missions and schools is everywhere apparent throughout Egypt. The magnitude of their Christian operations may be gathered from the fact that the Egyptian mission of the American Presbyterians has 100 stations, 20 churches and 97 schools. Ask a little Egyptian child where it has learned its English, and it will very probably answer, "At the American mission." The mission doctors, too, are of much service. An English lady might have died on board our mail steamer had a telegram not been sent to an American mission physician, who came on board, attended to her and removed her to the hospital at Assiut.—North American Review.

Mr. Boffin Snubbed by Dickens.

"Dodd the Dustman," who founded the barge race, meant to be the founder of the Royal Dramatic college. He offered the money to Benjamin Webster and Charles Dickens and was not altogether well treated in the matter. He was certainly not an aristocratic donor, and the source of the money might have been materials for ridicule, but he certainly merited more civility than he got. Webster shelved him rather shabbily, and Dickens caricatured him as "Boffin, the Golden Dustman."—London Mail.

Test the KIDNEYS

They are the Great Feeders of our Bodies

The Purity of the Blood is Dependent on their Cleansing Powers

There's a time to all, old and young, man or woman, when poor health brings trouble, anxiety, and burdens hard to stand up under, and one's efforts to rid himself or herself seem only to be baffled at every turn, and we are prone to grow discouraged.

That is not the time to give up—but the time for action, the time to seek out the seat of the trouble, and act as your best judgment and the experience of others will help you, guarding against mistakes in the treatment adopted for your particular ailment.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

A Sad Discovery.

When I was young and ardent, I had a lot to say
About an author's "mission" and the evil denying way
That he should lead men onward, ignoring care and strife,
And never hope for glory—or money—in his life.

But since I've gone to scribbling it really is quite strange
The way my views are taking on a most decided change,
For if I'm right the baker and the tailor must be wrong,
For they won't allow a discount to help my cause along.
So I've learned from their demeanor when my bills are overdue
That even folks with missions must work for money too.

"Well, sir," the colonel proceeds, "I have called, sir, to say, sir, that you're another, sir. Yes, sir."

The colonel, observe, does not talk in dialect, neither do we, which is in itself rather funny.—Detroit Journal.

Did His Best.

"Why, Joseph," she cried to the returned soldier, "what a sight you are! You must have had a fearfully hard time."

"I did," he replied briefly.

"And yet you told me to have no fear, as your colonel was thoughtful and considerate and would take the best care of his men."

"Yes, but unfortunately my colonel didn't have anything to do with the commissary department."—Chicago Post.

I needed no protection.

QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

Alaska Boundary Question Shelved—The Sealing Dispute—A Patched-Up Reciprocity Treaty.

Quebec, Sept. 29.—It is reported that the Alaska boundary question has been shelved and will not be one of the questions settled by the High Commission. It appears that when the subject was broached the United States Commissioners assumed a most positive attitude, insisting that that particular question could be treated diplomatically, and that not a foot of territory now claimed by the United States would be given up. The United States delegates maintained that the question could be settled according to the treaty of 1825, and from this position they refused to depart. The British delegates thereupon, it is said, decided to strike the question from the list.

Regarding the Behring Sea matter, the Americans insist that all the arguments are on their side, and that the offer to compensate Canadian sealers is a generous one. Should the Canadian Commissioners take the stand of Hon. Joseph Martin, as to the natural rights in Behring Sea, or in a somewhat straighter method of putting it, should Canada decline to accept the views of the United States, the latter will cease protecting the industry and permit the seals to be destroyed. Then British Columbia sealers will have outfits on their hands with the sealing industry wiped out. Canada, they declare, has no choice in the matter. It is to get compensation for her sealers or see the industry destroyed.

ENCOURAGE POSTAL NOTES.

Hon. Wm. Mulock on the Repurchasing of Postage Stamps.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 29.—Hon. William Mulock left last evening for Quebec on departmental matters. Speaking yesterday with reference to the decision of the department to refuse to repurchase postage stamps after Friday next, he said that he would suggest that in future newspapers should encourage the remittance of small sums by postal note rather than by currency or in stamps. The postal note would be the safer form of remittance, requiring, as it does, forgery to obtain payment wrongfully. The department will speedily have supplies of postal notes at all places where they are likely to be required, the delay in so doing having been caused by the difficulty in obtaining the water marking of the paper and its manufacture under proper safeguards.

The American Health Convention met yesterday in the Railway Committee room in the House of Commons. The principal subject discussed was yellow fever. Nine new members were accepted.

The committee reported that the consensus of opinion among the enlightened and scientific world is that yellow fever is due to a specific organism. Dr. Edward Liceage, President of the Board of Health, Mexico, said that Mexico was able to keep yellow fever within a certain area by sanitary arrangements.

Mr. Thomas Fuller, late Chief Architect of the Department of Public Works, died yesterday, aged 76.

Window Made of Stone.

A window made entirely of stone has been presented to a French cathedral. The stone is nephrite, found in Siberia, and so beautifully transparent that when placed as it is it catches the sun's rays and reflects them into the interior of the cathedral.

FIT—IT'S YOUR CHANCE.

Did it ever occur to you how systematic nature is in cleaning up the remnants of one season to make room for the blossoming of another? She always employs the sharp blasts of winter to cut loose the Autumn leaves, rather than have them on the trees to be pushed off by spring buds. Shall we be less enterprising and allow summer Hats and Caps to remain until pushed aside by the heavy stock of Fall and Winter goods? No indeed! So here they go.

These Hats and Caps are the remaining summer stock; fine for fall, because present styles are very much like them, all the difference is most of the Summer Hats are a little lighter in weight and colours, but, we offer all $2.50 qualities for $1.25, all $2.00 qualities for $1.00, all $1 50 qualities for 75c. These prices stand for more hat-goodness than we ever offered at the price before—cost is not considered.

A BIG LOT of YACHTING and GOLF SUMMER CAPS with Leather Peaks, choice now for 25c, worth 50c; also All-Linen Golf Caps now 15c, worth 25 and 30c each; a few Linen Hats left to clear for 15c, worth 40 to 50c each.

SECURE THESE AT ONCE as they can't last long.

HON. M. C. CAMERON BURIED.

Political Opponents and Friends Attend the Funeral in Large Numbers.

Goderich, Ont., Sept. 29.—The funeral of the late Hon. M. C. Cameron, Lieut.-Governor of the Northwest Territories, took place from his late residence here yesterday, and was one of the largest ever seen in the county. Almost every polling sub-division of the large riding he so long served was represented by a large number of delegates, all anxious to pay the last tribute of respect to the man who had so often led them or so determinedly opposed them through the heat of a political campaign. Party feeling was forgotten and from all sides was heard the expressions of regret that he had enjoyed his well earned honor for so short a time.

The Dominion Government was represented by Hon. Mr. Paterson, Minister of Customs, the Ontario Government by James Sutherland, M.P., and the Northwest Executive Council by Horace Horton, ex-M.P. The Town Council and the bar of the County of Huron attended in a body.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. J. T. Garrow, Q.C., M.P.P., Ira Lewis, W. Proudfoot, Philip Holt, Dr. Shannon and C. A. Seager.

The floral tributes were magnificent, among them being the "Gates ajar" from the family, a pillow from the Mounted Police of Regina, a beautiful wreath from his Conservative opponents in Goderich, a wreath from his Regina personal friends, a wreath from the West Huron Liberal Association, a handsome pillow from the bar of Huron and numerous floral tributes from his Goderich friends. Services were conducted at the house and grave by Rev. Mr. Anderson, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church.

PROHIBITION PLEBISCITE.

PETERBOROUH GIVES A MAJORITY FOR PROHIBITION.

But not More Than About Twenty Percent of the Citizens Voted for the Change—Returns From the County.

There was little excitement shown in town yesterday whilst the plebiscite was being taken. A few carriages were out conveying voters to the poll, but the difference between the occasion and that of the recent municipal election was very apparent.

The prohibitionists were very well organized in Peterborough and this probably accounts for the fact that Peterborough is one of the few large centres which returns a majority in favour of the change. The vote in town was as follows:

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION FORMALLY OPENED TO-DAY.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte Sets the Show in Motion.

MAGNIFICENT WEATHER AND SUCCESSFUL OPENING.

A Big Attendance—The Opening Ceremonies—Address to Mr. Tarte and Reply—An Enthusiastic Reception.

Exhibition opened under the most favourable auspices. The weather was all that could be desired, and though things were quiet on the grounds in the morning, still, covered as they were with several tents and bright with the glitter of special exhibits in the machinery class, they presented a most inviting appearance.

Shortly after noon the gates began to be thronged with the incoming visitors, although the attendance was not as large as under other circumstances. The following day being Saturday no doubt induced a very large number to postpone their visit to this day. However, as the afternoon wore on the crowd largely increased till there were thousands on the grounds.

The second day verified the great promise of the first day. The show was in all respects a magnificent success. This applies especially to the live stock exhibits, which were really magnificent, both in the quality of the animals shown and in the number of exhibitors. In horses, cattle and sheep especially, there was a magnificent showing, old time members of the society declaring that there never was anything like so fine an exhibit in these classes. The directors are greatly pleased with the initial success of the show, which promises, with to-morrow's success to be a record breaker.

THE OPENING CEREMONIES.

Promptly at one thirty Hon. Mr. Tarte, in conformity with his reputation for promptitude, appeared on the grounds. He was escorted to the grounds from the train by the Mayor and town council and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., whose guest he is during his stay in town. In the first carriage were Hon Mr. Tarte, Mayor Davis, Councillor Henry Best and J. R. Stratton; in the second carriage were Councillors J. B. McWilliams, W. L. Allen, and T. H. G. Denne, and in the third were Councillors W. H. White, J. M. White, T. H. Hamilton, and Charles Robertson. Hon. Mr. Tarte on arriving on the grounds was accorded a most enthusiastic reception.

At about half-past one the carriages containing the Minister and party drove into the grounds, and Mr. Tarte was escorted to the platform, accompanied by Messrs Jas Kendry, M P, Mayor Davis, Councillors Best, Hamilton, W H White, Denne, Allen, Robertson, J M White, J B McWilliams, J H Cobb, Adam Dawson, W H Meldrum, Thomas Blezard, M P P, John Lang, M P, J B Pearce, Warden of the County; Reeves of adjoining municipalities; Dr Willoughby, Ven Archdeacon Casey, Ex-mayor Yelland, R A Morrow.

Mr. G. W. Fitgerald, President of the Agricultural Society, took the chair and the other directors were also on the platform.

The first number on the official programme was the reading of an address from the corporation of the town by Mayor Davis as follows:

To the Hon. J. Isreal Tarte, Minister of Public Works of the Dominion of Canada:

HON. SIR:—We desire, on behalf of the people of Peterborough, to give you a welcome to this town. One of the pleasant features of these annual exhibitions, for which we have to thank the Directors, is the presence of prominent public men of Canada, which is an honour that we appreciate. Such visits are of mutual advantage, for by meeting the people and becoming acquainted with them, as well as by viewing the products of the soil and of the manufactories that are on exhibition, you as a Minister of the Crown will better understand the feelings of the people and the requirements of the country you assist in governing. And it is an advantage for us to meet and to know those whom the people of our country have called to positions of honour, trust and responsibility. That special position that you occupy in the Government of Canada, in presiding over the Department of Public Works, is one that we regard as of great importance, for upon the developments of the country you as the Minister of that Department can exercise great influence. We have recognized and appreciated the energy you have shown in the administration of that Department, for as citizens of the first town in Canada, one largely interested in the success of the agricultural and manufacturing industries, we watch with interest the efforts made by the Federal Government to foster these industries and provide facilities for the extending commerce of the country, efforts which have been so crowned by success that Canada has steadily advanced in population and in wealth.

While we welcome you as a prominent Canadian, and a Minister of the Crown, our welcome is warmed because in you we receive a fellow countryman of a different national origin, one of our brother Canadians of the Province of Quebec, who speak another language but are one with us in love for Canada, and in loyalty to the great British Empire and the beloved Queen who presides over its destines and the hearts of its people.

We hope that you will be pleased with your visit to Peterborough and that you will thoroughly enjoy the time that you will be able to spend with us.

A. L. DAVIS, Mayor.

Peterborough, Sept. 29th, 1898.

Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, President of the Association, then read the following address on behalf of the members:

Honourable J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works:

DEAR SIR,—The Directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition, on behalf of the Society, which represents this town and county, beg to most cordially welcome you to Peterborough, and to thank you for your courtesy in coming so far to do us the honour and favour of formally opening our annual exhibition.

We welcome you personally as a prominent Canadian, sprung from that gallant and chivalrous race, which laid the first foundations of our beautiful Canada, and furnished many distinguished statesmen, whose names have honourable places on the pages of our history.

We welcome you in your official capacity as a member of a Government, which has given practical evidence, as did its predecessor, of a deep interest in the prosperity of the agricultural elements of national industry, which, without wishing to disparage any other, we consider as paramount to all. We are sure, Sir, that you will join us in congratulation upon the bountiful harvest of the past summer, made more bountiful by wise governmental aid, and made more valuable by practical facilities afforded us for conveying it in the best condition to the best market. We also congratulate yourself and ourselves upon the great commercial prosperity that Canada has enjoyed and is still enjoying, and upon the prominent position our country is assuming among the nations of the world, and upon the closer relations of civil and commercial harmony between ourselves and the Mother land.

We would conclude, Sir, by begging to once more extend to you a most cordial welcome, with the wish that your stay amongst us, though brief, may be a happy one, and that you will carry back to your high duties pleasant recollections of the hospitality of the town and county of Peterborough.

We have the honour to extend to you the most earnest assurance of our respectful consideration.

On behalf of the Directors,

W. J. GREEN, Sec.-Treasurer. G. W. FITZGERALD, President.

In replying to the addresses Mr. Tarte gracefully acknowledged the compliments contained therein and stated that when invited to attend the opening he expected to witness no such ceremony. The directors had conferred a privilege on him in extending the invitation and it was also a compliment to their French sister-province, Quebec. It was especially interesting to attend a function of this nature in Ontario, as this Province was the largest and wealthiest of all. The addresses had stated that the year had been a prosperous one, thanks to Providence—and a good Government.

He had come to Peterborough to speak not as a politician, but as a Canadian, and thanked God there was something above politics—that something was a common interest in the welfare of our Dominion. He had travelled a great deal through Canada, and the more he travelled the more he ascertained that it was very little he knew about the Dominion. Canadians should know more about their country than they do. He had visited the Maritime Provinces recently. Although always knowing that they existed he had never known of the great wealth which existed there. Nova Scotia, with its great coal fields, will mine over $4,000,000 worth of coal this year. There was also the iron and the great fishing industry, which yields its millions to Canada every year. In New Brunswick is found a rich and fertile soil. The harbour of St. John promises to become Canada's great winter port. Then passing on to the fair and loyal Province of Quebec, gold had recently been discovered there, but then gold was being found everywhere in Canada during the last year or two. Providence was surely smiling on the Dominion. Quebec possesses the great national luxury—the St. Lawrence, over which the speaker hoped to see the great current of western trade running.

Since this morning he had begun to change his mind in regard to the Trent Valley Canal. When he came to Peterborough he had regarded the canal as a ditch, but he had been shown that it was not and given arguments and figures to prove the contrary. If it could be proven to him that the canal could divert commerce from the American ports to the St. Lawrence, he was with the project. He might have all sorts of failings, but all would acknowledge that when he said "Yes" he meant it, and the same statement applied to his "No." He had only one thing left him and that was his word—it was good. Passing on to mention of the great Northwest, the speaker pointed out that millions of acres were there ready to be opened to civilization and cultivation. Emigration from Europe was needed.

For a country of its size Canada could be proud of what she had done, but there was much remaining to be accomplished, and one of the first efforts should be to try and have as many people as possible in our great West. Millions of money had been wasted in Canada, but things are looking better now. Manitoba and the Northwest had a great future, as has British Columbia with its wealth of mines. Both parties have decided that we should go on with the mining development. Last year we gave a large subsidy to the Crow's Nes. Pass Ry., and I hope it will be a success. Then there is the Yukon. Its gold has not reached us yet, but one of my officers just returned told me last night that there was gold there under every foot of ground you walk There is any amount of gold there—the question is, How are we going to reach it?

We have a fine country, a healthy population and pure and good will amongst all. I am a French-Canadian from top to bottom, but I am a British subject, and a loyal subject of Her Majesty the Queen. When I speak of myself I speak of my brothers in Quebec. Is it not a great thing for Canadians to live together as brothers? All were bound to live together and there is no reason why they should not live as friends and work together for the success of the common country

The address of Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P. P., Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., and Dr. Willoughby, ex-M.P., who also spoke, will appear in to-morrow's issue. After Mr. Fitzgerald had declared the exhibition to

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boys pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR.—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash $5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for 8,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash 2,080 25
and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, sue policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

DARED NOT GO TO BED.

Smothering Feeling and Palpitation, Together with Rheumatic Pains, Rendered Sleep Impossible.

Miss Mabel Jackson, 78 Huron Street, Toronto, made the following statement: "Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured me of serious heart trouble of three years' standing. My physician said my heart trouble was caused by rheumatism. It was with great difficulty that I could go upstairs, or even walk a short distance, because such exertion set my heart palpitating so violently that it made me positively sick. I could hardly breathe, and suffered greatly from smothering, often so badly that I dared not go to bed, and had to walk the floor all night for fear of suffocating. I became terribly nervous and weak, and was in a bad state, indeed, when I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

"My rapid recovery was a surprise to myself, as well as to all my friends. For months since I have not had the slightest trouble with my heart; I sleep well, my nerves are strong and healthy and not subject to any startling. I walk as well as ever I did. The good effects of these pills have been a boon to me, not only because they rescued me from a condition of misery, but because their effects have been lasting. I am as well and strong to-day as ever I was in my life, although I have not used any of the pills since they completed their marvellous cure months ago."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure palpitation, fluttering, throbbing, dizzy and faint spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, pale and sallow complexion, weakness, debility, female troubles, etc. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50c. a box or 3 boxes for $1.25. SOUDAN'S GOVERNOR.

General Kitchener Will Be the First for the Position.

WILL RESIGN THE SIRDARSHIP.

The Sirdar Cables to Cecil Rhodes, Says He Has Established a Post South of Fashoda, and Asks, "When Are You Coming Up?"—Britain Has Shut Her Teeth.

London, Sept. 30.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "The Sirdar will become the first Governor-General of the Soudan and may hold that post for a time, but he will resign the Sirdarship.

"Major Marchand was in straits when the Sirdar arrived, and was glad to receive supplies from the latter, without which he must have been compelled to quit Fashoda. Major Marchand was unable to show any authority from the French Government for holding the place."

Kitchener to Rhodes.

London, Sept. 30.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Capetown says: General Kitchener has cabled to Cecil Rhodes that he has established a post south of Fashoda, and asks, "When are you coming up?"

THE FASHODA INCIDENT.

Britain Has Her Teeth Set and France Will Have to Accept the Situation as It Is.

London, Sept. 30.—The Chronicle says it fears that while Englishmen and Frenchmen are speculating as to the outcome of the Fashoda affair there is little left to speculate about. The contingency of Major Marchand's arrival was anticipated and provided against weeks ago, and everything has since passed exactly as was arranged.

There is nothing in British or Egyptian law to prevent Major Marchand from displaying the tri-colored flag so long as he refrains from hostility, but the presence of the flag is as destitute of international meaning as would be the British flag flying from an English shop in Paris. The real significance of the situation is that the French placed themselves in a difficult position, from which Great Britain has every desire to assist in extricating them.

The next move in any event will be taken by France, and short of the withdrawal of the French Ambassador from London and a declaration of war, there is no alternative but to accept the situation. Great Britain will not allow armed reinforcements to reach Major Marchand, whose return will accordingly be a mere matter of time. When France has accepted the inevitable at Fashoda it is probable that Great Britain will assent to the neutralization of the Nile from its mouth to the lakes, thus extending the principle on which the international status of the Suez Canal was established.

They Breakfasted Together.

Paris, Sept. 30.—The United States Peace Commission held another session yesterday morning, after which, accompanied by the United States Ambassador, General Horace Porter, they drove to the Foreign Office, where the American Commissioners met and breakfasted with the Spanish Commissioners.

The French newspapers continue to comment upon the difficulties which the two commissions will have to face, by reason of their divergent instructions, beyond which, it is said, they cannot go.

HEALTH OF CHINA'S EMPEROR.

Imperial Edict Issued Expressing Regret —Preparing for Death.

London, Sept. 30.—A despatch to the Times from Pekin says an Imperial edict has been issued, expressing regret at the Emperor's ill-health and commanding the Governors of all the provinces to send their best physicians to Pekin. Thus the people are being prepared for the aggravation of the Emperor's illness or for his death, which now would not affect the situation, the succession already being provided for.

Six Chinese Reformers Executed

London, Sept. 30.—The Pekin correspondent of the Times telegraphing Thursday says: Six reformists, namely, Kang Yuwei's brother, one censor and four head clerks of the Cabinet, including a son of the Governor of Hu Pei, were executed to-day for alleged conspiracy against the Dowager Empress. There is no excitement here and everything is proceeding as usual.

EULOGIZING FORMER AMBASSADOR.

English Papers Publish Long Obituary Notices of Mr. Bayard.

London, Sept. 30.—The morning papers publish long obituary notes, memorial articles and editorials eulogistic of former American Ambassador Bayard's career, especially of his work in promoting an Anglo-American entente and recording the profound regret felt at the news of his death.

The Times laments the gradual disappearance of the old generation of statesmen, like the Bayards and Adamses, "leaving the field more open to professional politicians or Tammany bosses."

The Daily News, referring to the Venezuelan dispute: "Mr. Bayard's countrymen, though then disposed to resent his intervention, must now feel that their Ambassador was a better prophet than they were themselves."

DEATH OF DENMARK'S QUEEN.

Her Majesty Was Dangerously Ill for Several Months—Princess of Wales at Her Bedside—Her Career.

Copenhagen, Den., Sept. 30.—The Queen of Denmark died at 5.30 o'clock yesterday morning. The end of the Queen was peaceful. At her bedside were the King of Denmark, the Dowager Empress of Russia, the King and Queen of Greece, the Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Denmark and all the other members of the royal family.

The Late Queen's Life.

Queen Louise of Denmark was born Sept. 7, 1817. She was a daughter of Landgrave Wilhelm of Hesse-Cassel, and was married May 26, 1842, to Christian, fourth son of the late Duke Wilhelm of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glucksburg. Christian was appointed to the succession of the Crown of Denmark by the Treaty of London of May 8, 1852, and by the Danish law of succession on July 31, 1853. He succeeded to the throne as Christian IX. on the death of King Frederick VII., on Nov. 15, 1863.

For the last 30 years of her life the Queen exercised such influence on the politics of Europe that she was sometimes called the mother-in-law of the continent. Another title which was sometimes given her was the "royal match-maker."

The children of King Christian and Queen Louise are Prince Frederick, the heir-apparent born June 3, 1843, who married Princess Louisa, daughter of King Carl VI. of Sweden and Norway; Princess Alexandria, born Dec. 1, 1844, who was married March 10, 1863, to the Prince of Wales; Prince Wilhelm, born Dec. 24, 1845, elected King of the Hellenes, under the title of George I. by the Greek National Assembly in 1863, and who married Olga Contantinowna, Grand Duchess of Russia, in 1867; Princess Marie Dagmar (Empress Maria Feodorovna), born Nov. 26, 1847, she was married Nov. 9, 1866, to Alexander III., the late Emperor of Russia; Princess Thyca, born Sept. 2, 1853, who was married Dec. 31, 1878, to Prince Ernest August, Duke of Cumberland, and Prince Waldemar, born Oct. 27, 1858, who married in 1885 the Princess Marie d'Orleans, eldest daughter of the Duc d'Chartres.

The Death Bed Scene.

London, Sept. 30.—A despatch to the Times from Copenhagen gives the following description of the death of the Queen of Denmark:

"The Kings of Denmark and Greece and the Princess of Wales, alternately, during many hours, held the hand of the dying Queen, who for a few moments recovered consciousness, but could not speak. Her husband, wife and the physicians requested him to retire to rest, but he replied: 'I will stay, at least while the Queen is conscious.'

"Everywhere the flags are at half-mast. The Queen did not die of any special illness, but of increasing decrepitude."

It is not necessary.

Martyr To Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Selina E. Core, Amhurst, N. S., says: "At times I suffered intensely from palpitation and fluttering of my heart. I was weak and my nerves shattered, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have regulated my heart, toned my nerves and built up my health."

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Coming Home.

After a plesant summer holiday, the need of some new piece of furniture will occur to you. A visit to CLEGG'S furniture warerooms will repay you.

Gentlemen's Baldness.

The number of baldheads is surprising. Over 36,000 men wear Prof. Dorenwend's Art Hair Coverings. However, there are many yet who should use them, both for the sake of health and appearance. Prominent men all over the continent wear them, and it is only necessary to try one on to be convinced of the advisability of possessing one. It prevents the dangers incidental to cold, catarrh, neuralgia and other troubles. The Prof. is to be at the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, Oct. 4th, where he will be pleased to show all the value of his productions.

The Hospital Concert.

Mme Rosa d'Erina, who will sing for St. Joseph's Hospital, on Wednesday night, is no stranger to Peterborough audiences, and this fact, apart from the popularity of the object to be benefited, is materially assisting the sale of tickets. The famous songstress will be heard in several selections of widely variant character, displaying her charming versatility. Mr. Vontom's numbers too are carefully chosen and he will be heard in ballads and in the humorous characters which are peculiarly his own. The local support will be unusually fine and a superb programme will be offered.

Good Suits.

We have just passed into stock some men's suits that we think will please everyone who sees them. They are good—so good that the value is exceptional. They are made of Black Worsted Serge and Navy Blue, cut in single or double-breasted shape, lined with superior farmers' satin, made by our best tailors and finished with the touch that marks the perfectly tailored suit. These suits at any merchant tailors would be $15 or $16, and not one bit better, Grafton & Co's price, $10; young men's sizes $8.50. Grafton & Co., manufacturers of high grade of clothing.

Not to be Revived.

Judging from what has lately transpired it may be well supposed that business at the Gilmour saw mill at Crow Bay, will not be revived, and the once flourishing industry will be lost to Campbellford forever. The Gilmour Company have no intention of rebuilding the mill, as they have offered the whole of the property for sale, and it is not likely that the purchaser, if one be found, will engage in the lumber business. For many years past the mill gave employment during the summer months to quite a number of men, and its operations created a trade which was of some importance to the village.

HARVEST FESTIVAL IN ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

REV. CANON DANN'S INTERESTING SERMON.

Praise and Thanksgiving the Theme of the Discourse—Special Music Prepared for the Occasion.

The annual harvest festival of St. Luke's was held last night, when a very large congregation filled the church. The decorations were of the usual description, the principal change being the absence of the handsome screen, which has been used during the past few years. In place of this sheaves of wheat and oats stood in the chancel. The sanctuary is beautifully adorned with pot and cut flowers, and upon the Holy Table are wheat and grapes, the emblems not only of the support of the natural but of the spiritual age. Some splendid foliage plants loaned by Mrs. Cooney, who is always most liberal in her supply of flowers, are very effective. The pulpit and the font are as usual beautifully decorated with flowers, and the general effect is very bright and harmonious. Many contributions of flowers were made by others than members of the congregation, for which the Decoration Chapter of the Guild desires to express their warm thanks.

The music which, under the charge of Mr. Davies, has steadily improved, was excellently rendered by a full choir. Mr. Davis is very thorough and there or half learned passages, or slurring of difficult passages. The Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, of his own composition, require and repay special preparation, and they were excellently rendered last night, Mrs. Grasett taking the solo and Miss Nellie Davies and Miss Phillips the duet. The anthem, "He watereth the hills," by Sunper, is a very bright and inspiring piece of music. The solos were taken by Mrs. Grasett, Mr. W. Edwards and Mr. J. J. Turner, in good voice. As an offertory piece Mrs. A. G. Parker gave a beautiful rendering of Mendelsohn's "I will tell of thy mercies," from the oratorio 'St. Paul."

The first part of the service was taken by Rev. J. Bushell, and the second part by the rector, the lessons were read by Revs. Canon Dann and J. C. Davidson. Other clergy present were Rev. E. V. Stevenson who kindly assisted with the music in the choir, Revs. Gilvarren, of Lakefield. R. Hilton, of Macleod, N. W. T., and C. Beck. Rev. Canon Dann was the preacher, and he delivered an admirable discourse upon "Worship" from the text Hebrews xix, 1—6: "Let all the angels of God worship Him." The preacher began by reminding his hearers that the 29th of September was the church festival of St. Michael and all angels, and it was to keep in touch with all the festivals of the church which were to-day so largely neglected. He reminded his hearers how prominent a place was held by angels both in Holy Scriptures and in Christian art. We live in an age of materialism. The merely natural world is too much about us. We are so closed in with this mere muddy vesture of a body that we are not able to entertain God's revelation of a spiritual world. This evening he did not intend to consider the relations of angels with men, but to God, and that relation was expressed in the words of his text, "Let all the angels of God worship Him." The Almighty had not willed to live alone in selfish isolation.

THE CHARACTER OF GOD

is social. He delighted to give life to others and they give to Him worship.

Two things make worship—(1) Reverence, (2) Praise and Thanksgiving. These two facts characterized the heavenly visions of Isaiah and St. John. The prophet beheld the seraphim cover their faces with their wings as a token of reverence, and they sang a hymn of praise and thanksgiving. So in Christiaan art, the angelic life is always the embodiment of praise. Are not we often too familiar with God in our worship. Human worship has too little of this reverence. The impulse of praise seems to have left the Church. We come too much to get something, not to give. In our hymns we often address God in a patronizing way.

The preacher then proceeded in a very striking and beautiful way to point out the moral significance of song. Melody and harmony are types of the individual and of the social life. For the production of harmony in song, there must be an harmonious blending of voices. Selfishness on the part of one singer, a desire to obtrude self, spoils the whole effect. So in life for harmony there is required self sacrifice. Some people get on very well by themselves, but badly with other people. We must give as well as take. The voices of nature, too, are harmonious. The various voices of the universe blend together in one of praise. So the great Shakespeare says:

'Look, how the floor of heaven.
Is thick inlaid with pictures of bright gold;
There's not the smallest orb which thou behold'st
But in his motion like an angel says,
Still quiring to the young eyed cherubims;
Such harmony is in immortal souls;
But whilst this muddy vesture of decay
Doth grossly close it in, we cannot hear it.

And Kingsley when asked to write a poem for a young lady, wrote:

"Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever.
Do noble deeds, not dream them all day long,
Thus make life, death and the vast forever
One grand sweet song."

We may not all be able to sing, but we can make our lives a song by making them lives of praise to God. Sometimes a life does not bring forth its best praise until sorrow has touched it, like the Æolian harp which produces the finer music the more fiercely the storm sweeps over its strings. But for genuine praise there must first be the devotion of the heart.

Thanksgiving is the second part of worship. We have had a bountiful harvest. We live in a country with just laws, wherein we are able to keep what we earn and enjoy it. It is said that some people get so used to pain that they do not feel it. And so some people get so used to God's good things that they do not appreciate their blessings. When the Saviour healed ten lepers only one returned to give thanks. How many people come to church from a sense of duty only. Duty is indeed a grand thing, but gratitude, thanksgiving and love are better. The preacher then reminded his hearers that our gratitude was one not only for material but spiritual blessings, the blessings of redemption through Christ of forgiveness, and of the hope of everlasting life. We are a called and chosen people, "a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people," and for what! "To show forth the praises of Him who hath called us out of darkness into his marvellous light."

The decorations will remain in place, the music will be repeated, and a special sermon will be preached by Rev. H. Symonds on Sunday evening.

MR. TARTE'S VISIT.

The Programme which will be Followed During his Stay in Peterborough.

Hon. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, arrived in town this morning in his private car, for the purpose of opening the Peterborough Central Exhibition. Mr. Tarte is accompanied by Mr. E. D. LaDaeur, Assistant Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, and Fred Gelinas, private secretary to the Minister.

Mr. Tarte was met at the station by His Worship Mayor Davis, Mr. R. B. Rogers, Superintending Engineer of the Trent canal, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., and Mr. J. B. McWilliams.

In the forenoon the party drove along the route of the canal from the locks to Nassau, after which the Minister visited the Customs House and Post Office, both of which buildings come under his charge.

After luncheon the minister formally opened the exhibition and towards evening visited the Nicholls and St. Joseph's Hospitals, and also took occasion to call on several personal friends.

In the evening the minister will be banquetted at 8 o'clock at the Oriental Hotel, and to-morrow, accompanied by the committee, he will be driven to Lakefield, where the party will embark on Mr. Boyd's yacht, going over the Trent Canal waters to Lindsay. Luncheon will be partaken of at Mr. Boyd's residence in Bobcaygeon. On arriving at Lindsay Mr. Tarte's private car will be in waiting and will bring the party back to Peterborough; the minister leaving for Montreal on the midnight C.P. R. express.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Chas. J. Kelly, of Cedar Villa, Norwood, is the guest of his cousin, Mr. Jack Roche, Water street.

Miss Therese Armstrong, of the Mount View House, Stony Lake, is visiting her cousins, the Misses Roche, No. 767 Water street.

Miss Nettie Swanton, of Bethany, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. W. W. Lang, Park street.

Mr. W. W. Daly has this week been favoured with a sort of family reunion. His brother, Rev. Charles Daly, of Oil Springs, Ont., was here enroute to Scotland, where he will spend the winter. Another brother, Mr. E. A. Daly, has recently returned from a long globe-trotting tour, which included Mexico, Australia, India, South Africa, Spain and lastly he returned recently from the Klondyke. He has many interesting incidents to relate of his experiences in connection, especially with mining operations. He was in South Africa at the time of the Matabele rising, and was in Spain when the war broke out. Mrs. (Dr.) Cumberland, of Illinois, a sister, was also of the re-union party. They all left yesterday for a trip to Napanee.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action and yet is is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

be open, the minister accompanied him in an inspection of the stock and was greatly pleased thereby.

The Inside Exhibit

The inside exhibit this year was somewhat peculiar. In some departments it was far superior to the exhibitions of other years, and in others it was down to low water mark. On the whole, however, it was generally in advance on last and former years.

The fine arts section was not so extensive as on some former occasions. There were some exhibits that were above the average in artistic conception and execution. Some were crude and amateurish, but these are not to be condemned unsparingly; modifying conditions in the way of unassisted endeavour, and undirected natural talent are to be taken into account. There was a creditable display of oils, some landscapes being elaborate and ambitious attempts. Water colours were fairly well represented in number and some had no little artistic merit. Some of the crayon work was a striking example of bad drawing and the same might be said of the pencil work, though there were good samples of both. There were some clever pen and ink sketches. Mr. R. M. Roy's display of photography was such as might be expected from his establishment. The artistic temperament influences the general run of his work very strongly. There were several specimens of amateur photography not at all bad.

There was a very large floral display in both cut and growing flowers and plants. The principal exhibitors were James Head, who made his usual grand display, and there were several other amateurs.

The ladies work was of about the average in quantity, and as to the quality, that was various. Some of the articles on exhibition were like meeting old friends, so strongly did their familiar faces bring up recollections of having seen and admired them before on exhibition occasions. However some departments, especially the finer classes of needle work, indicate a distinct advance. This applies with especial force to embroidery with silk on linen, in which there were some really beautiful and artistic specimens of patient skill. Some of the netting was worthy of special admiration. One dainty bit of pinkish spider web was exquisitely delicate. Some new patchwork quilts of the insane variety disputed supremacy with some veterans.

Mr. E. Elcome, the well-known taxidermist, had a splendid exhibit. His work is remarkable for its artistic execution, and what is more important from a public point of view for its educative value in the domain of natural history. His work is set up true to life in free, bold, unconstrained positions, and as every specimen is correctly and plainly labelled with the scientific as well as popular name, the results are of the most important educative value. His collection comprised a fine case of Canadian owls, a complete collection of finely set up specimens of the Strixidæ, from the little hooter with its beautiful striated plumage to the stately snowy owl. There was noticed in his collections beautiful samples of other Canadian birds and animals, as well as several striking foreign birds. A case of Canadian moths, both harmless and hostile to fruits and vegetables, were labelled with not only their names, but their favourite tipple in the vegetable line.

In grains there was a splendid exhibition—the finest ever made in this district. There were over a score of entries, and the judges had great difficulty in coming to a decision. The wheat was beautiful, being of unusual weight, there being several specimens that weighed 64 lbs. to the bushel, some 64½ lbs. and one of 65 lbs. Every farmer who saw the great display of wheat agreed with every other that it was the best exhibit ever made in Peterborough.

There was also a splendid show of factory cheese, far ahead of any other year and it attracted great attention. A new departure consisted in judging the cheese by a scale of points, 100 being the standard of perfect cheese. Mr. John Kerr, Instructor in cheese making for Peterborough and Victoria, was the judge and the prizes were awarded as follows:

First prize—Mr. J. Lewis, "Oakwood" factory, with 97½ points out of 100.

Second prize—J. A. Brown, "Raeboro," with 96½ points out of 100.

Third prize—F. E. Kline, "Lakefield" factory, with 95 points out of 100.

Fourth prize—W. A. Pue, "Fraserville" Factory, with 93 points out of 100.

The points representing the standard of perfect cheese were placed as follows: Flavour, 40; Body 25; Texture, 15; Colour, 10; Finish, 10, total, 100.

According to this standard, the prize winners secured the following points:

	Flavour.	Body.	Texture.	Colour.	Finish.	Total.
M J Lewis, Oakwood	39	24½	14½	9½	10	97½
J A Brown, Raeboro	38	24	15	10	9½	96½
F E Kline, Lakefield	37½	24½	14	9	10	95
W A Pue, Fraserville	37	24	14	8½	9½	93

The display of roots was very meagre, though there was several fine specimens. In vegetables, however, there was a splendid show. Two collections of vegetables could not have been beaten in any city collection. In this line there were shown some mammoth squashes. One monster, big enough for a dog kennel, was grown by Mr. T. Calvert, Raeboro. It weighed over 200 pounds, and several farmers who were looking at it suggested that it had been forced in its growth by being fed on sweet milk. In home-made bread there was a big display; there was never before so strong a competition in this line. Honey was very creditably represented and preserved fruits made also a good showing.

Fruits were fairly well filled, though the quantity was not great.

There was a fair showing of domestic work, flannels, knitting, etc.

During a run through the building last night there was considerable vacant space. The usual commercial exhibits were on hand. Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men, who had their usual splendid display of clothing, and Miss E. Melville & Co. with a splendid showing of needle work and fancy goods, were the principal.

Altogether there was a good inside exhibition, especially in the lines above noted. The judges completed their work which was in some cases exceedingly difficult, owing to the unusually active competition.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

GEORGE FITZGERALD'S GREAT CARRIAGE DISPLAY.

The biggest display ever made by any one exhibitor in any one line of manufacture at the West Peterborough Exhibition is made this year by the George Fitzgerald Co.'s Carriage Works. It occupies the whole of the interior of a mammoth marque under one great spread of canvas, 70 feet long and 40 feet wide, with 15 feet walls all around the inside and rising in the centre upwards of 60 feet. On entering the grounds it is the first thing that strikes the visitor, and an idea was suggested of how it impresses the visitor by the remark of one person who, on entering the tent exclaimed:

"This looks like the Toronto Exhibition!"

This display was a forcible contradiction to the statement frequently heard that the big outside carriage manufacturers were doing all the business and killing the local shops. It was quite evident that they hadn't killed Mr. George Fitzgerald's local enterprise worth a cent. Mr. Fitzgerald showed ten brand new carriages and two farm waggons, each of which being the product of his own handiwork—the wood working, iron work, upholstering and finishing all being done within his own premises and all by expert local labour.

"Have you any trouble competing with the big factories, Mr. Fitzgerald?"

"Trouble! No, I guess the trouble is all on the other side—we can sell all around them. You can judge for yourself when I tell you that these ten buggies which we are showing are all we have left of fifty which we have sold during this summer."

When you examine the rigs turned out you see the result of years of practical experience and careful study of the requirements of the public in this part of Canada. The buggies were all of a high grade standard and were shown in different styles. Wood and iron work, trimmings and upholstering, gear and top, were all excellently designed and finished. A novelty about the fine shaped tops was the automatic spring roller curtain at back, a great convenience over the old button and roll curtain. A small piano box buggy was shown, which was a superb piece of workmanship, handsomely trimmed and highly finished in all the parts. A fine type of buggy was shown with a bellows back, which adds very much to the comfort of the rider, and was very substantially built and trimmed with silver-plated mountings. Some very new improvements are shown in the gear, hubs and wheels. The work of the painter and finisher was very creditable. The mirror-like reflection brought out on the buggy boxes showed what fine varnish can be made to do by a skilled brush hand like Mr. Jack Gibbs. The farm waggons were as fine specimens as a farmer could wish to see. The workmanship is very substantial and the convenience of the design, solidity of build, and superior finish were much admired. An improved spring seat was shown on one of the waggons, which could be lowered or raised as desired, in conjunction with the handsome combination buggy box.

The information was given that trade had been so brisk that it was only by hard work and overtime that the display was got ready.

MISS MELVILLE'S EXHIBIT.

One of the most interesting attractions to the ladies in the main hall was the beautiful display of fancy work by Miss Melville, 138 Hunter street. This effective display occupied a good position on the ground floor of the hall, just inside the north entrance. The large show case was filled with elaborate and intricate specimens of ladies work, including rich specimens of fancy needlework, crochet and braided work, netting and embroidery. Some lovely specimens of Battenberg lace work was shown in tea cosies, sofa pillow covers, table covers, etc. There were also shown well executed designs in hand-painting on a China plate, jewel case, shaving cases and other pieces. A child's fine white wool cloak and hood took the eye of mothers, and a number of pretty photo holders, easels, handkerchief cases, match holders, whisk holders, with appropriate mottoes, were much admired by young ladies. Altogether the display was a credit to Miss Melville's taste. The pretty, bright pink silk lining of the show case was a very harmonious and effective background to the goods.

GOUGH BROS. HOLD THE FORT.

"Canada's Greatest Clothing Hustlers"—"The Wonderful Cheap Men"—had it all to themselves this year. They held the fort securely—the monarchs of the clothing section. Those who missed the other clothiers' displays thought that Gough Bros. looked all the grander—more massive and masterful than ever in their "splendid isolation." The transformation of the south-eastern main corner of the building into a towering mountain of clothing was a general subject of admiration and the compliments of the visitors were unsparing, as they stood and viewed the pyramid of clothing. Efforts such as this told of the business acumen and purchasing strength enjoyed by the "tireless, sleepless, wide-awake clothiers"—as Gough Bros. are frequently designated.

Year after year, Gough Bros. broaden their borders and new life and spirit rise out of their great business just when one might fairly assume that it had reached the zenith of magnitude. No use saying that this year's exhibit is the high water mark of their ambition. As it has been in the past, so doubtless it will be in the future—a gradual expansion of the limit of which can only be surprised.

This firm's constituency is by no means limited. In addition to hundreds of families within easy reach who are patrons of the firm, they cover the country with the long arm of the railways and the country public roads. In their three big stores on George street they carry carloads of clothing, boots and shoes, hats and caps, and gentlemen's furnishings. Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton, of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros., of Peterborough.

All the leading styles for autumn and winter were shown. In men's wear there were overcoats and ulsters in black, brown, meltons, beaver, frieze and foreign and domestic tweeds, all showing good fancy tweed linings and first class fabrics; suits, in cut-away sacks, walking coat suits, business suits, Prince Albert frock coats and vests in fancy worsteds, black worsteds, diagonals, cassimeres, tweeds, etc.

The display of overcoats "lined up grandly," light, heavy and medium for boys, youths and men. Frieze overcoats in brown, grey, Oxford and black fabrics. Every overcoat and suit was labelled with price in plain figures, which any ordinary judge would have considered good value at one-third more money.

In boys' and children's suits they showed numerous natty and pretty patterns. Children's, boys' and youths' suits, priced so small that might well induce mothers to give up the idea of saving anything by making up their little clothes at home, as that it was not worth while worrying over home-made clothes, at least far the youngsters.

A diploma from the society was exhibited on their display as a testimonial of the merits of their clothing, and red first prize tickets were sprinkled all over the exhibit. The arrangement of the exhibit was tastefully and skilfully executed, and reflected credit on the two James — James Tully and James Best—whose work in this respect was complimented by good judges. Mottoes, banners, flags and badges enlivened the general effect, and the pains and care bestowed to make an artistic and loyal display was the subject of general remark.

FAIR NOTES.

The Cinematographe, moving pictures, is one of the best features ever seen on the fair grounds. It is in a blue tent west of the main building. It shows the wonderful pictures moving which was one of the great attractions at the Toronto Fair. Every visitor should see it. It is far above the usual run of side shows.

To-morrow's sporting events promise to be most entertaining and exacting, and the entries of swift horses give promise of splendid sport in the speeding ring.

Men as Nurses.

There isn't one man in fifty thousand who is a good nurse. The average man feels as much out of place in a sick-room as a bull must in a china store. His heart may be ever so full of sympathy, but his feet are heavy and his fingers clumsy.

In most cases when a woman's general health breaks down the original cause is weakness or disease of the distinctly feminine organism. The only permanent cure lies in the correction of all these disorders. Husbands should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine that invariably cures all ailments of this nature without "local treatment" and "examinations." It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned. It makes them well and strong. It allays inflammation, heals all internal ulceration and stops debilitating drains. It soothes and tones the nerves. Found at all medicine stores. An honest druggist won't urge upon you a substitute.

"I had female trouble for many years," writes Mrs. A. Lingelbach, of Granger, Sweetwater Co., Wyoming, and tried many physicians until I was completely discouraged. Finally I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for six months, and I soon found that I was completely cured. I had been so bad I could hardly walk across the floor, but I am now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Pierce."

No family should be without Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It used to cost $1.50; now it is free. Paper-covered copy, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only; cloth binding 50 stamps. Over 1,200,000 American homes now contain copies of this great work. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BISMARCK STORIES.

THE READY WIT OF THE MAN OF BLOOD AND IRON.

A Cemetery That Would Not Agree With Him—Lessons In Politeness to Count Thun of Austria—A Startling Answer to an Indiscreet Question.

The late Prince Bismarck, although known as a man of blood and iron, was remarkable for his ready wit and his never failing alertness in any emergency. A few years before his death he was surprised by a delegation of peasants from his family estate, Schoenhausen. They had come to ask him to choose their village cemetery for his final resting place.

"It can't be," replied Bismarck calmly. "The conditions of your cemetery do not agree with my rheumatism, and I have no desire to bring my gout with me into the grave."

Naturally brave and often reckless in the face of danger, Bismarck shunned nothing when a life was to be saved. As a young lieutenant he risked his own life to save that of his drowning servant. He received the medal "for saving of human life," and he continued to wear it on all ceremonious occasions until he withdrew from public life. Once some high personage, proud of his titles and decorations, noticed the insignificant little medal on the breast of Bismarck and asked sneeringly, "What does that thing mean?"

"Not much," said Bismarck, "only that I am in the habit of saving a life now and then."

He was a man of the world whenever he wanted to be so and an excellent talker. These qualities surprised no one more than the empress of France, who, like most of her countrywomen, was inclined to conceive Bismarck as a rude, cold blooded, clumsy brute of the old uncivilized Teutons, who led a primitive life in the virginal forests of Germany, dividing their hostile attentions between boars, bears and Romans. It was she who said of him, "Mais il est plus causeur qu'un Francais!"

While Austria remained the head of the Federation of German States and Bismarck attended the federal council at Frankfort as the representative of Prussia he had many dealings and as many semi-hostile encounters with the Austrian president of the council, Count Thun, whom he viewed with unlimited disgust. Once he called on Thun, who received him in his shirt sleeves. Bismarck proceeded to pull off his own coat without a moment's hesitation, saying, "Indeed, count, it is very hot in your room!"

The count jumped from his chair and hastened to put on his coat, at the same time pouring out apologies. On the occasion of another visit Thun was seated at his writing desk smoking and with an open box of cigars in front of him. He asked Bismarck to wait for a few moments, but offered him nothing to smoke. Bismarck, who was an enthusiastic devotee of the weed, suffered in silence for a few moments and then walked up to the desk and deliberately picked out a cigar under the nose of the startled count, and once more that gentleman had to apologize.

Bismarck's fondness for tobacco lasted till his death in spite of all protests from his physician. All the faithful Dr. Schweninger could do was to have the strong cigars of earlier years supplanted by long stemmed, well cleaned pipes. On the day before his death Bismarck smoked five of these.

"He lies like an official news bureau," exclaimed Bismarck once in the Prussian diet.

Bismarck was always disliked by the diplomatists of the old school, whose tricks and conceits he despised. He confounded their clever plans time and again by an almost overbearing use of the truth. In the spring of 1866, when the war against Austria was nothing but a possibility, Bismarck, who was then president of the Prussian cabinet, attended a dinner given by the minister of Saxony. The Countess Hohenthal, who sat by his side, was inconsiderate enough to ask, "Is it true that your excellency intends to go to war with Austria?"

"Certainly, my dear countess," replied Bismarck in his blandest manner. "I have thought of nothing else since I entered the cabinet. Our guns are ready, and you will soon find that they are superior to the Austrian artillery."

"But, then, you must give me some friendly advice," said the countess. "I have two castles, one in Bohemia and one near Leipsic. Which one will be the safest to go to?"

"If you take my advice," answered Bismarck, "you will not go to Bohemia. Your castle is located in the very vicinity where we intend to beat the Austrians. Go to Saxony, and you will be perfectly safe."

The countess made her indiscretion complete by telling every one of this remarkable conversation. The world was startled, and demands for an explanation came from all quarters.

"Pooh!" smiled Bismarck, with a shrug of his shoulders. "Do you pay attention to an ironical answer prompted by an indiscreet question?"

Wolff's Telegraph bureau was honored with Bismarck's attention on account of some alleged irregularities. The chancellor summoned one of the government officers, who promptly asserted that he did not know a thing about the whole matter.

"You had better make a thorough investigation and give me a detailed report," said Bismarck. "But there is no special hurry. If I have the report by tomorrow at noon, that will be time enough."

Good living was one of Bismarck's weak points, and the first Countess Bismarck said sometimes that the chef de cuisine was the only one who could govern her Iron Chancellor. Certain it is that this magnate, Herr Mueller, could take liberties which would have proved dangerous to other persons. He had sent word twice on one occasion that dinner was ready.

"Not hungry yet. Wait another half hour," was the reply that came from the chancellor.

The third message received from the kitchen magnate admitted of no appeal:

"His excellency will have to eat now, whether he is hungry or not, for I, the premier of the kitchen, cannot keep the dishes any longer."

The premier of Prussia submitted without demurring and went to dinner at once. —Exchange.

CELESTIAL PHOTOGRAPHY.

The Sensitive Plate Reveals More Than the Eye Can See.

In St. Nicholas there is an article on "Photography—Its Marvels," by Elizabeth Flint Wade. The author says:

Almost the first use in science to which the new discovery was put was the photographing of the moon, the first recorded picture being made by Professor Draper and presented to the New York Lyceum of Natural History. His son Henry grew so fond of astronomical photography that on leaving college he went to Ireland to see the great reflecting telescope of Lord Rosse. After seeing it he determined to make one like it. The reputation of the Yankee boy—that he can make not only the thing he undertakes, but also the machine that makes it—was proved to be deserved by Henry Draper, for he made and he mounted the first American reflecting telescope. With it he took over 1,500 photographs of the heavens, and the instrument is still in use in Harvard observatory.

The telescope not only reveals more than can be seen by the eye alone, but the sensitive film surpasses the power of the eye when aided by the telescope, for the camera records on the film objects which the eye cannot see through the greatest magnifying lenses. No matter how far away or how dimly it shines, the light of the faintest star in time impresses the film, and thus that which is invisible to the eye becomes visible on the plate.

In celestial photography the camera is kept moving during the taking of a picture. The exposure sometimes lasts several hours, and if the camera were stationary the motion of the earth would soon carry the subject out of line with the telescope. The camera, therefore, is attached to the tube of the telescope, and the object to be photographed is brought into the lens at the intersection of two cross wires. Then by a system of clockwork the telescope moves so that the subject occupies the same position on the plate during the exposure.

It is another curious feature of celestial photography that a plate may be exposed several nights on the same subject. I have seen star cluster and nebulæ pictures which were exposed, the former on two and the latter on four successive evenings. The picture showing the nebulæ required a total exposure of 13 hours and 44 minutes.

Eccentricities of Temperature.

We have ground for expecting that in England about three times in the century the Thames will be frozen over at London bridge, but that consummation is synonymous with an intense degree of continuous frost which will not be confined to Britain, for of late years it has become patent that these areas of extreme temperature are very extensive, and that when there is an excessively cold winter in England and France, even Italy is often included. I can recollect in the winter of 1881 seeing the Arno at Florence being skated upon, and icicles like a prodigious portcullis hanging from the Ponte Vecchio, some of which were 7 and 8 feet in length. I have known Cannae and Pompeii smothered in snow and the entire lemon crop of Amalfi and Palermo destroyed by frost. Nevertheless I have never experienced anything approaching to the following, which is related by Bembo in his "Storia Veneta," l. i.:

"In 1491, through the severity of the season, the (salt) water of the Grand canal was frozen, and the Stradiots (Greek mercenaries of the republic) held their tournament on the ice, horse against horse, with their lances."—Notes and Queries.

ting Finger Nails.

The chief finger nail chewers of the world are the French, and it was recently stated upon reliable authority that nearly two-thirds of French school children are addicted to the habit.

Even for grown people there is hardly any habit, aside from the confirmed abuse of narcotics, more difficult to overcome than the habit of biting the finger nails. It requires a strong mental effort and constant vigilance to do this, for once a person has become thoroughly addicted to the habit he does it unconsciously, and is only reminded that he is marring himself when he gets one of his nails gnawed down to the quick. All manner of remedies have been advanced for the cure of the finger nail biting habit, including the placing of injurious and bitter compositions on the ends of the fingers, but none of the remedies amounts to much.

The only way to stop biting the finger nails is to stop. The Americans are next to the French in the finger nail biting habit, probably because the Americans, as a whole, are an exceedingly nervous people. A man who accomplishes his determination to knock off biting his finger nails may, by incessant manicuring, get them to look fairly well within a year or so, but finger nail biting, if long persisted in, ruins the shape of the ends of the fingers, and the nails can never be brought to look as well as those of the persons who permit their nails to grow as they were intended to grow.—Washington Star.

CAN'T EAT.

FOOD is the fuel that feeds the fires of life. Digestion is the process that turns the fuel into energy. Few possess perfect digestion. If your digestion is imperfect, if you cannot eat what you like without discomfort, if you cannot eat when you ought to eat, the time has come when you should take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Hunger is the best Sauce. Take these Pills and get hungry. You may eat what you want if you take Dr. Ward's Pills.

WHAT THEIR MERITS ARE:

My system was entirely rejuvenated by the use of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I consider them a marvellous strength and nerve builder for dyspepsia. I was so sick and miserable that I seemed to have no life or energy left in me. I suffered so at times that I thought death would be better for me. I had tried Doctors and different kinds of medicines, but all failed to do me any good. I am in every way now a well woman, and have been for months. Before using these Pills I was so sick that I could not keep anything in my stomach. I was under the opinion that dyspepsia could not be cured, but now I am satisfied it can be cured, for I am able to eat like any healthy woman and feel better in every way. They have built me up also,—I now weigh several pounds more than I ever did before. In conclusion, I would advise every woman afflicted with poor digestion to give Dr. Ward's Pills a trial.

MRS. L. E. WATSON, Port Colborne, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

RATAPLAN.

"Oh Rataplan! It is a merry note,
And mother, I'm for 'listing in the morn."
"And would ye, son, to wear a scarlet coat Go leave your mother's latter age forlorn?"
"Oh, mother, I am sick of sheep and goat,
Fat cattle and the reaping of the corn.
I long to see the British colors float.
For glory, glory, glory, was I born."
She saw him march. It was a gallant sight.
She blest herself and prayed him for a man.
And straight he hurried to the bitter fight
And found a bullet in the drear Sudan.
They dug a shallow grave. 'Twas all they might.
And that's the end of glory. Rataplan!
—Living Age.

A GIRL'S APRON.

She is a pretty, dark eyed girl, and this is the story she tells of the romantic meeting and courtship of her father and mother. It is a story of the civil war, and the famous Confederate spy who dressed as a woman and was known as Sue Mundy figures in her narrative:

You know, all of mother's folks were Confederates, while father's people belonged to the other side.

On account of this little apron the spy, Sue Mundy, was suspected by the Union soldiers of being a man and a spy. I will tell you about it.

The apron, you will notice, is made of alternating stripes of red and white and forms, as you see, the flag of secession. This stain here is a witness to the first meeting of my father and mother.

My mother's father was an officer in the Confederate army. He was killed in the beginning of the war, leaving grandmother with three children, all girls. They lived on a farm not far from Fairfield, Ky., and were fairly well off. At the time mother made this apron she was about 15 or 16. Her oldest sister had just come home from boarding school, bringing a friend with her. The friend in question was none other than Sue Mundy, who had come for the express purpose of spying on the Yankees, who were encamped a short distance from town. If I remember rightly, the camp was the headquarters of General Buell.

Mother says Sue Mundy was one of the most effeminate men she ever saw. He was unusually slender for a man, and had small, delicately formed hands and feet, an oval face, large black eyes and long, rippling, dark brown hair. He was also the possessor of a good soprano voice.

He came prepared with an extensive wardrobe and carried off his part of a fashionable and fascinating young lady to perfection. Of course my mother and Miss Sue in time made the acquaintance of some of the officers stationed near our town, one of whom became very much infatuated with Miss Sue, and baskets of fruit and flowers came almost daily bearing his card.

Of course, owing to the troubled times, there was a dearth of parties and balls. For amusement my aunt and Miss Sue were in the habit of attending the dancing class to which my mother and her younger sister went one evenin of each week.

One evening before going to dancing school mother made this apron and wore it over her white dress for the benefit of the Yankees who were certain to be present. About the middle of the evening mother and Miss Sue went into the smaller room for a drink of water. A man bearing the bars of a sergeant on his arm was just raising the dipper to his lips when mother said mischievously:

"A health to Jeff Davis."

As quick as a flash came the retort.

"Yes, miss, here's a health to your apron," while the contents of the dipper were dashed over that offending article of attire.

At this insult to the southern colors Miss Sue forgot that brawn did not enter into the make up of the young ladies of those days and gave the young officer a right handed blow which sent him like a log to the floor, from which he did not rise at once. When he did, it was with a graceful bow to his late assailant and an apology for his rudeness to mother.

After this the Yankees put their heads together, and, remembering the information which had gone to the "Johnnies" concerning their forces, Miss Sue's aptitude at sketching and on top of it all the knock out of the young officer, they were convinced that Miss Sue was not what she pretended to be. A watch was kept on her movements.

By the time of the next dancing lesson a plan was made for the escape of Miss Sue from quarters that were beginning to be rather warm for her.

Mother and my aunt went as usual to the dancing class, and to all inquiries concerning Miss Sue they replied that she was at home with a headache. In reality that interesting young person was booted and spurred and waiting for the appointed time to dash by the pickets and start on his 40 mile ride to Louisville.

Near the end of the lesson there was the sound of hurried footsteps on the stairs and in a moment Sue Mundy came hurriedly into the room. For some reason there were no Yankees present. In a few words he told of how he had tried to pass the pickets, had been fired on and had jumped from his horse and hid in the bushes by the roadside and saw the Yankees go by in hot pursuit of his frightened horse, which was making straight for the farm from which it had been bought a few days before. Sue Mundy then waited till their hoof beats grew faint, and then under cover of the darkness he made his way to the dancing school. Finding the coast clear, he had come up, knowing that all the dancing people were southern sympathizers and would do all they could for him.

They quickly formed their plans, the only thing they could have done under the circumstances. They had him lie down under one of the benches at the far end of the room, while two or three of the girls sat directly over him and spread their voluminous skirts so as to completely hide his recumbent figure.

In a short time several Yankees came in and stood talking near the door. There was nothing in the appearance of the room to indicate that there was a spy concealed. Two sets of young folks were going through the stately measures of the lancers, with the little Frenchwoman, who was the teacher, at the piano, nodding and calling the figures to them. Down at the end of the room was a group of girls laughing and talking. The music came to a stop and the dancers crowded around the girls at the far end of the room. The Yankees left, as the lesson was over. Then Sue Mundy came from his hiding place. Several of the girls took off a skirt apiece and rigged him out. With cloak and fascinator he passed the Yankees at the foot of the stairs, got in safety to the home of a friend and in the early morning eluded the pickets and started on his ride for Louisville, where he was captured and hanged as a spy.

It was, I believe, some time afterward that this apron again met with an adventure. One day two ragged, footsore Confederates came to grandmother's seeking food and shelter. They had been cut off from their company, which had passed through the adjacent country a few days before. Of course they were fed and were lodged in an outhouse.

They had not been long concealed when grandmother got word that a squad of cavalry who had been scouring the country for stragglers were headed for her place. It was too late for the Johnnies to escape. Clearly something had to be done at once. The Johnnies would be found, and grandmother and the girls would be arrested probably. Grandmother went to the outhouse and laid the matter before the two men. They were unarmed, while grandmother's arsenal consisted of a rusty old musket.

Mother proposed a plan, which was carried out successfully. She and her younger sister had often mustered with their cousins and other neighbors' boys. They had always been the fife and drum corps.

There was a dense plum thicket not far from the house. A queer procession headed for it in a little while. There was grandmother, my two aunts, mother, the two Johnnies and the negro cook. Mother carried her fife in one hand and this apron in another, while my aunt had a drum. Mother tied her apron to a stick and hoisted it above the plum trees.

In a few minutes the Yankees came in sight. Mother says at sight of the uniformed men, mounted on splendid horses, her heart bounded and that her sister trembled so that it was a second or so before they could command courage enough to carry out their part of the programme.

The Yankees came to a halt at sight of the red, white and red flag. Then came the shrill notes of the fife and steady beat of the drum. Then "Dixie" came floating over across the meadow to them. They came closer. What meant the ominous silence so far as shots went? The Johnnies had not fired a single shot. The plum thicket was large enough to conceal a goodly body of men. They approached the thicket and fired. The only damage done was these bullet holes in the apron. Panic seized the advancing men, and wheeling their horses they went helter skelter across the meadow and in the direction of their camp.

When they returned, a short time later, they had bee. heavily re-enforced. They found the farmhouse in the possession of two women and three girls and not a trace of Johnnies anywhere.

Not long after this the war was over. A young Union officer called at grandmother's one day and asked for mother. He was the sergeant who had christened her apron. The call was followed by many others, and the following year mother and father were married.—St. Louis Republic.

..Dr. Chase's Ointment..

His suffering from Ulcerating Piles Cured.

He says:—I was troubled with itching piles for five years, and was badly ulcerated. They were very painful, so much so that I could not sleep. I tried almost every remedy heard of, and was recommended to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. I purchased a box, and from the first application got such relief that I was satisfied a cure would be made. I used in all two boxes, and am now completely cured.

Every remedy given by Dr. Chase cost years of study and research, and with an eye single to its adaptation for the ailments for which it was intended. Dr. Chase detested cure-alls, and it has been proven ten thousand times that not one of his formulas leave a bad after-effect. Dr. Chase's Ointment is based on lanoline, and the best physicians prescribe it.

An Ancient Agricultural Implement.

An agricultural relic of considerable interest was unearthed recently on the farm of Amos Buckman, in Springfield township, Delaware county. Buckman's farm is known as the "Levis Homestead," and it is said to be the oldest place in the county, the title dating back to William Penn's time. The farmhouse, a solid stone structure, about 250 years old, has begun to show signs of age, and last week steps were taken to put it in repair. Preparations were made to reshingle the roof, but before this could be done it was necessary to tear down and rebuild the large chimney. The men engaged at this work had razed the chimney to the level of the roof, when they came to a large flat piece of iron which had been put in to brace the chimney against the stone wall. This was torn out and thrown to the ground, when one of the workmen noticed its odd shape. After the mortar had been cleaned off it was examined and proved to be an old fashioned "sod cutter." A name was sunk on it, of which only the three last letters (sis) could be made out, but the date, 1758, is fairly legible. At that time the plows were very primitive, yet they had in a crude form the cutters still frequently used on modern plows to open the way for the share. Owing to the mortar the cutter is well preserved, but the worn edges attest that it had turned many a furrow in its palmy days before it was built into the chimney.—Philadelphia Record.

A Porcelain House.

Japan, it seems, intends sending to the Paris exhibition a huge house, hexagonal in shape and composed entirely of porcelain. It measures several yards in circumference, and its weight will not be less than 70 tons. From the artistic point of view, according to the several models already finished, it will be exquisite. It is estimated that the cost of making it will be about £2,000.—London Chronicle.

Opening Autumn FUR GARMENT EXHIBIT

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY OF THIS WEEK.

An Exhibit sure to impress visitors with the fact that, as in former seasons, Peterborough's correct dressers will have to depend on Fairweather's for all that's rich and right in Fur Styles.

Taste and carefullness mark the difference between the commonplace and the elegant, the margin of extra cost is always small.

This Season's Styles are planned to bring the beautiful, in useful and decorative Fur wear, still nearer to usual cost of plainer sorts.

We know of no city or town where fine fur isso appreciated in the articles of every-day wear, as they are in Peterboro' and Toronto, and so we boldly manufactured vast quantities of handsome fur garments—because quantities meant little prices, that will make better values than such fine goods have ever reached before—Every fur garment shown is manufactured under our own supervision by first class fur cutters and finishers either in our Toronto or Peterboro' work-rooms.

This informs us as to the quality of stock used in every particular, and we are therefore in a position to guarantee customers of its actual value from a wearing stand-point—as well as its process of manufacture.

When you see our stock you will find it impossible to resist purchasing. Our motto has been—first, goodness and beauty; next cheapness.

We invite everyone to call and inspect our Fur stock on these opening days.

You'll be able to judge of this fact more accurately when you see for yourself how fully we are equipped to meet the wants of customers. This is no boastful statement. You can look around and make your own enquiries to verify these facts.

THE KNIFE that the tailor guided in cutting out the Clothing for Gough Bros. is not the only one that has been used, for we have employed a KEENER BLADE than that in cutting down prices.

We Sell Clothing at Wholesale Prices.

We cannot begin to describe the numerous styles or prices. We can only give a general impression and leave the rest for your visit to our Three Brimful Stores—remembering always that you will BUY BETTER and PAY LESS than anywhere else.

If you don't realize how LOW our prices are, compare them with the prices ruling in other stores. We are pleased when you go to other stores first. Put quality and price together and see how we lead at every point.

KILLED IN A CORNFIELD.

The Work of Lightning Near Fenella on Monday Last.

A sad accident occurred near Fenella on Monday last. A man named Samuel Hardy, whose home is at Dartford, was employed with several other men cutting corn, and about half-past 3 o'clock in the afternoon a storm arose which threatened to be violent. Hardy's companions left the field to seek shelter, but he continued to work. On their return shortly afterwards they found him lying dead with the sickle in his hand, the supposition being that he was killed by lightning.

The deceased was a widower 34 years of age, with one child of five years. He was a man of excellent character and highly respected by all who formed his acquaintance. The remains were taken to Dartford and interred in the burying ground there yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Orange order of that village, of which he was a member.

The deceased is a brother of Messrs. Robt. and Harry Hardy, of Campbellford. He was engaged to be married to a young lady of Campbellford, and their wedding was fixed for the 19th of October.

LACROSSE.

The Orillia Times has the following to say of the Markham protest:

Monday's mail brought the following document to the Secretary of the O. L. C., which for unadulterated cheek, knocks out Billy Wither's "cold tea act." Mr. Stephenson, the gentleman who prepared the document, called up President McPhee by telephone, and said they had heard that Fergus was going to protest Orillia on the same grounds and thought Markham might as well get in first. He advised the Orillias to drop out of the intermediate series and let Markham try conclusions with Fergus. Needless to say he got a more emphatic "No" than will be given to prohibition to-day. This is their complaint:

"That the said Orillia Lacrosse Team, and the members thereof, or some of them, had prior to the playing of the game, complained of herein, played on more than one occasion, with a senior team during the present lacrosse season contrary to section 3 of rule 4, of the Constitution and rules of the C.L.A.; and the said Markham lacrosse club claim that the said game should be awarded to them. In support of such contention they beg to refer to the reports of the referees in the several games played with Peterborough during the present lacrosse season."

The rule under which this protest is entered reads:—"Players shall not be allowed to change clubs during the season unless they be members of a junior or intermediate club in amalgamation with a senior club, in which case they shall be allowed promotion; but in no case shall any player be allowed to return to the intermediate team during the same season after having played on more than one occasion with such senior team."

There are several reasons why Markham's complaint should not be taken up, but one or two will suffice. The first is that the Orillia Club has not played in 'more than one senior match this season.' If the Markham club want hair-splitting they have a chance here. It is a question whether a game arranged to be played half on one ground and half on another, the club scoring the greatest number of goals to be winner, can be called "more than one match." It is also a question whether the second half, commenced in Peterborough and never finished, would count a match anyway; it was ordered played over, therefore the Association counted it "no game." Then there is the fact that the C. L. A. cannot punish the Orillia club under this rule, as both they and Peterborough are playing with the sanction and by the order of the C.L.A., passed by unanimous resolution at the annual meeting in Toronto on Good Friday last. At that meeting both of these clubs under Sec. 2, Rule 12, declared to play in the senior series and were admitted. When the question of schedule of matches arose the Western clubs kicked on the amount of travel necessary to play home and home game, and attempted to freeze these clubs out; but they stuck. A compromise was arrived at on motion of Messrs. D. A. Rose and J. D. Bailey, "that the Peterborough and Orillia clubs be ordered to play out the season in the intermediate series, but that they be allowed to play home and home games after the season closes and the winner to be entitled to compete for the senior championship." This was carried unanimously, and this is all that has been done.

It is not the fault of the clubs in this district that the intermediate series is unfinished at this date. The last game was played on Aug. 11th, by Orillia and Peterborough, and both clubs were ready and willing to play off the tie at once, but it was August 30th before it could be done. In the Huron district the last game was played about July 19th, but a protest game between Stratford and Seaforth II., was not played off until yesterday. In the York district Markham and Newmarket had to play over, and although their schedule was finished by August 12th, it was not until the end of the month that the game was ordered to be played. All the districts were through with their schedules before the 15th of August, leaving three protested games and the tie in this district to play off, and if the executive of the C. L. A. had been prompt and active these could have been easily settled before the 21st of September, and the finals played before this, instead of leaving them well on in October before they are wound up. Clubs would far sooner play even two matches a week when their players are in trim than keep up practice week after week after the cold weather starts. Take Orillia for instance—the players have been in harness since the 1st of May, five months, and are getting weary of the grind. If the executive does not move faster the snow will be on the ground before the last game is played.

CLARKE'S KOLA COMPOUND CURES

A Child That Suffered From Asthma Almost Since His Birth.

Mr. James Kirkland, 52 Princess-ave., Victoria, B. C., writes: "Our boy, who is just nine years of age, has been troubled with Asthma almost since his birth, which has been continually growing worse in spite of all the medical aid we could procure. Our doctor bills have been very large each year; neither myself nor my wife have had a full night's sleep during the last year of his trouble, having had to poultice and give him medicine to keep him from choking. We heard of a neighbour who had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound and resolved to try it with the result that to-day our child is completely cured, and not having had an attack since taking the second bottle, almost a year ago. He has grown very fast since and is quite strong and healthy. We feel very grateful to Dr. Clarke for the discovery of this wonderful remedy, as it has saved our child's life." Certified correct by Messrs. Hall & Co., druggists Victoria, B. C., from whom the medicine was purchased. Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are absolutely guaranteed to cure any case of Asthma or Hay Fever, or money will be refunded. Free sample bottle to any address mentioning this paper. Address the Griffiths' & Macpherson Co., 121 Church St., Toronto, sole agents for Canada. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

What Happened to Jones.

We are going to have the funniest of all farces in town. Its name is "What Happened to Jones" and about one half of the cities of the civilized world have already held their sides at its overpowering fun. It will be seen at the Opera House on Tuesday, October 4, presented by a special New York company of twelve comedians headed by Howell Hansel, who has made the greatest hit of anyone who has appeared in the leading comic role. There will doubtless be a stampede to see it, as nearly everyone has heard how funny it is.

Gentlemen's Baldness.

The number of baldheads is surprising. Over 36,000 men wear Prof. Dorenwend's Art Hair Coverings. However, there are many yet who should use them, both for the sake of health and appearance. Prominent men all over the continent wear them, and it is only necessary to try one on to be convinced of the advisability of possessing one. It prevents the dangers incidental to cold, catarrh, neuralgia and other troubles. The Prof. is to be at the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, Oct. 4th, where he will be pleased to show all the value of his productions.

A BRILLIANT BANQUET TO HON. J. ISRAEL TARTE.

Minister of Public Works Honoured by the Citizens.

WITHOUT POLITICAL DISTINCTION.

A Most Successful and Enjoyable Gathering.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL TO THE FORE.

Enthusiastic Reception of the Guest of the Evening—Interesting Toast List Discussed—Excellent Speeches—Good Singing and General Enjoyment—Mr. Tarte's Brilliant Address.

The grand complimentary banquet tendered last night to Hon. Joseph Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, by the citizens of Peterborough, was one of the most enthusiastic and successful demonstrations ever held in honour of a visit of one of her Majesty's ministers. Not only was the attendance thoroughly representative of the most influential and progressive citizenship of the town and county, but the political elements were so evenly mingled that a poll of the political complexion of the gathering taken would have resulted in a very little, if any, majority on either side. The citizens seemed to to unite with the most exemplary harmony in doing honour to a gentleman who in spite of his aggressive character and combative instincts, has shown that he is a true Canadian, honestly anxious at heart for the material advancement of the interests of our grand Dominion. The speeches throughout were of a most complimentary character to the distinguished guest, to his untiring energy in his official capacity, and to his sincerity in his efforts to push on the development of the Dominion in all its various departments. Mr. Tarte on this occasion, as on every occasion during his visit, created a most favourable impression, and in the course of a very brief visit has achieved a popularity, in propria persona, only equalled by more familiar acquaintance by the community with the best abused man in Ontario—as Mr. Blezard quaintly expressed it—the sweet apple tree—the tree that bore the best fruit under which was to be found the most sticks and stones—a tree that was good for much fruit yet. Naturally in the Peterborough district the trend of oratory was towards a reference to the Trent Valley Canal, and last night must have confirmed the impression that Mr. Tarte has absorbed during his visit, that the politics of the people of the district are very largely the Trent Valley Canal. And the speech of the Minister, though couched in the language of official reserve and non-commital suggestions, gave evidence that Mr. Tarte, an earnest advocate of the improvement of transportation facilities, was largely converted to the popular opinion as to the importance of the canal as a factor in the practical development of facilities of transportation between the area of production and the ultimate market of our great agricultural, industrial and mineral districts. If Mr. Tarte could be easily spoiled, he was subjected to the danger as implied in the generous praise devoted to him, and by the hearty enthusiam of the hospitality extended to him, which, judging by his feeling remarks, he appreciated to the fullest extent. His speech in reply to the toast of himself, which was honoured with unlimited enthusiasm, showed that his sensibilities were deeply touched, and that he was deeply affected by the spontaniety and fervour of the welcome extended to him, and in after years, with the ringing of the midnight chimes of Sept. 30th, and the ringing notes of the Marseillaise, Hon. Mr. Tarte will doubtless associate the pleasant recollections of the banquet extended to him by the citizens of Peterborough on the occasion of his first visit to the town.

The banquetting hall was splendidly decorated for the occasion, the work of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son, and the mottoes displayed on the walls were worthy of the occasion and exceedingly appropriate. These were "God Save the Queen," "Bienvenu; Our National Trinity—Agriculture, Industry, Art;" "God Bless Canada," "A United Dominion and Empire."

The appointments of the banquet were of the most appropriate order. The menu card and the toast list were worthy of the occasion, and quite a gem of typographical art, and worthy of preservation. The contents were as follows:

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a Newmarket Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—How Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh." W. H. FURSIER.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

COURTED DISASTER

Did the Emperor of China With Too Radical Reforms.

A DECISIVE DOWAGER EMPRESS.

Li Hung Chang Scores Again—His Enemy, Chang Yin Houan, Has Been Dismissed From All His Offices and Banished to Ili, a District in Chinese Turkistan—Cable News.

Pekin, Sept. 27, via Shanghai, Oct. 1.—The development of palace affairs confirms the belief that the Emperor, by the radical reforms which he had decreed, prepared himself for the blow struck by the Dowager Empress. The successive edicts furnish history of the trend of affairs. The Emperor's chief adviser, Kang Yuwei, obtained unbounded influences over him and inspired the reforms. The official classes opposed him and consulted the Dowager Empress as to the means of nullifying these reforms. The current story is that the immediate cause of the Emperor's downfall was that he appeared one day in European clothes. This offence, it appears, was aggravated by the arrival in China of the Marquis Ito, the Japanese statesman, which alarmed the palace officials as foreshadowing Japanese domination in the Empire's councils.

A Prompt Ruler.

Thereupon the Dowager Empress acted with wonderful promptness and deposed her nephew before the Pekin people were aware that she had left the summer palace. Kang Yuwei, foreseeing trouble, fled two days before the crisis. His followers were arrested yesterday. The announcement of the Emperor's death is expected soon, and the Dowager Empress is likely to appoint a figurehead as his successor, retaining the real power herself. One report says the Empress has strong views regarding Russian aggression in Manchuria, and that though she is likely to restore Li Hung Chang to power she is not likely to countenance his Russian leanings.

Li Hung Chang Scores Again.

An Imperial decree was published yesterday dismissing Chang Yin Houan, the opponent of Li Hung Chang, and former Minister of China at Washington, and special envoy of China to Queen Victoria's jubilee. He is dismissed from all his offices and is banished to Ili, a district of Chinese Turkistan.

Emperor of China Is Dead.

New York, Oct. 1.—The Post's London correspondent says: "Information reaches me from two high quarters, one diplomatic and the other a leading China financial house, that the Chinese Emperor is dead, and has, in fact, been dead some days. Perhaps he was poisoned.

"The Dowager Empress has summoned all the doctors of the Empire to the palace, merely to lend to his end the semblance of a natural death. What effect all these strange happenings at Pekin will have upon international relations is the subject of earnest consideration in the highest quarters here."

THE SIRDAR'S REPORT.

He Praises His Subordinates and the Excellent Commissariat.

London, Oct. 1.—The Gazette yesterday prints Lord Kitchener's report of the Omdurman expedition. The Sirdar praises his subordinates, naming several hundred of them, and warmly commends the commissary, medical and transport departments, and the "excellent rations which were always provided and kept the men strong, healthy and fit to endure all the hardships of an arduous campaign, enabling them at the critical moment to support exceptional fatigue, continuous marching and fighting for 14 hours during the height of the Soudan summer."

London's New Lord Mayor.

London, Oct. 1.—Sir John Voce Moore, alderman for Candlewick Ward, has been elected Lord Mayor of London, to succeed Lieut.-Col. Horatio David [illegible].

from the Isle du Diable to Cayenne, where he awaits a steamer to bring him to a French or Algerian port.

The Kaiser's Trip to Palestine.

London, Oct. 1.—The Kaiser's start for Palestine has been deferred in order to postpone and shorten his visit to Constantinople, where he will not arrive till October 21. Ultimately, the Palestine trip may be given up, because the friendly Kaiser's position there would be delicate when the powers are enforcing the Cretan ultimatum on the Sultan. The total abandonment of the trip to Palestine seems incredible, however, in view of the magnitude of the preparations and the commercial and political ends sought.

SPANIARDS DISCONTENTED.

Insurgents Allowed to Land Arms in Visayas—Spanish Not Permitted.

Madrid, Oct. 1.—The Cabinet has decided to authorize General Rios to grant reforms in the Visayas on the lines demanded by the inhabitants, and to concentrate his forces at Mindanao, as there are only 450 men garrisoning the Visayas.

The Spanish Ministers also decided to protest to the Government at Washington against the refusal of the Americans to permit Spanish troops to be sent to the Visayas, while, it is claimed, the insurgents are constantly receiving arms and cannon with which to attack the other islands, "which the Americans permit, without even pretending to intervene."

The Spanish Cabinet, it is added, will acquaint its Paris commissioners with these contentions, in order that they may be used in the peace negotiations.

In addition to this the Cabinet will repeat its protests against the insurgents continuing to hold Spanish prisoners in the Philippine Islands.

The Government here estimates that [illegible] 20,000 people in Porto Rico [illegible] to return to Spain.

Declaration Ratified.

Manila, Oct. 1.—The declaration of independence was ratified at Malolos Thursday amid great festivities. A review of the troops was held, speeches were delivered, and the feature was an address by Aguinaldo. Many foreigners attended the state ball, which was given in the evening, but no American officials were present.

NON-POLITICAL GOVERNOR.

American Element in Hawaii Present a Memorial.

San Francisco, Cal. Oct. 1.—The steamship Gaelic arrived here yesterday from Hong Kong and Yokohama, via Honolulu, bringing the Congressional Committee from the latter place. Before they left Honolulu the American Union party, which claims to represent the American element in the islands, presented a memorial requesting that the committee commend a liberal form of territorial government. The memorial further favors a liberal suffrage, the extension of the United States tariff laws and shipping to Hawaii. The memorial asserts that it is for the best interests of the island that the first governor of Hawaii should be one who is not bound by any tie, political or otherwise, to any party or class of residents in Hawaii.

"WILL DIE BEFORE DAYLIGHT."

Would Have Been Her Answer to Your Query—When?—But Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Snapped the Death Strings.

Mrs. B. 186 Queen street W., Toronto, gives this unsolicited testimony: "For a number of years I had been a great sufferer from heart troubles, had smothering sensations, palpitation, neuralgia, thumping was very easily fatigued. I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart when I had despaired living through the night. The benefit was instantaneous. I have taken five bottles and have no hesitation in heartily recommending it, and will be glad to communicate with any one desiring it." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Actor Emerson, Who Shot Tuttle, the London Music Hall Manager, Swears It Was in Self-Defence.

London, Oct 1.—The trial of William D. Emerson, charged with murdering James Tuttle at the Music Hall here on April 1 last, was commenced at the Assizes.

William Newman, the property man of the Music Hall, swore that Emerson told him to ask Tuttle for the money due him (Emerson). Tuttle asked the prisoner what he wanted and Emerson replied that he wanted his money in full to date.

Tuttle answered that he could not have it. Witness was three or four feet from Tuttle. Tuttle suddenly drew back his fist and struck Emerson. Both staggered back a pace or two and a flash and a report followed. Tuttle fell forward on his face, and Emerson exclaimed: "I did it in self defence." Almost immediately afterwards he asked someone to go for a policeman, saying that he wanted to give himself up.

Harry A. Wesley, manager of the company, said Emerson was determined to have all the money due him that day. Wesley knew that Tuttle was a very strong man, and had seen him knock a man eight feet with a single blow in his own bar room at Brantford. Witness saw Emerson's two lips split open from the effect of Tuttle's blow, and saw blood running down his face. Tuttle was a determined man and a man of considerable temper.

Boocher Burress was on the stage at the time of the unfortunate affair, and saw Tuttle enter the stage by the east side door. Emerson advanced to meet him. Tuttle said: "You want me?" Emerson replied: "I want my money." To this Tuttle said he should be paid on Sunday, the regular pay day, to which Emerson replied: "I will not go on with the play unless I get it." In an instant after Tuttle struck Emerson in the mouth. Witness was watching Tuttle at the time, and the first intimation he had of the shooting was the report and flash. The blow dealt by Tuttle was a very powerful one, and Tuttle was a powerful man.

This closed the case for the Crown and evidence for the defence was begun. W. Laughlin, a barber, although not in the hall, saw a great deal. He went to a tavern close by for some beer, and hearing yelling on the Music Hall stage he climbed on a barn attached to the hotel and looked through one of the stage windows. He saw two men standing together on the stage. He heard one say: "You won't, won't you?" following up the remark by a blow in the face. The man who struck the blow stepped back to the table and grabbed a knife, and raising it in his right hand began to move toward the other, saying: "You ——. I will kill you." The report of a pistol was heard as the words were uttered, and the man with the knife fell forward to the floor.

Yesterday William Laughlin, whose story on Thursday, to the effect that Tuttle grabbed a knife before Emerson shot him, caused somewhat of a sensation, was put through a vigorous cross-examination by Mr. Heyd, without his testimony being shaken. His evidence was strengthened by that of John McCausland, bartender of the Victoria Hotel, who swore he saw Laughlin climbing down off the roof after the tragedy; and of Mrs. Laughlin, who testified to the length of time her husband was away after beer, and to his having told her, immediately on his return, of having witnessed the shooting. Mrs. Hay Robinson, member of the company, gave evidence relating to the quarrel. She did not see the tragedy. Percy Fitzgerald, a Crown witness, in re-examination, corroborated Laughlin's testimony as to Tuttle having called Emerson a vile name.

The chief feature of the morning was, however, the testimony of the prisoner himself. Emerson told his story with admirable coolness and self-command, and created a very favorable impression. He explained his possession of the revolver by saying that after laying it, as was his custom, on a shelf in the dressing-room, his wife told him it had fallen off the night before, close to the baby on the floor. He accordingly slipped the gun back in his pocket, intending to put it in the trunk. Then he narrated the particulars of the quarrel, up to the time Tuttle struck him. He swore positively that he did not draw his revolver till Tuttle grabbed the knife. Then he drew his gun and fired, as he thought, in the air, in order not to endanger his wife, who was standing behind Tuttle.

Cross-examination failed to shake the prisoner's testimony.

William Laughlin, the barber, was recalled for cross-examination by Mr. Heyd, Crown counsel, and closely questioned as to the barn from which he saw the tragedy enacted. The witness was also examined by His Lordship, but he stuck to his first story.

Emerson's cross-examination by Mr. Heyd was very severe, but the actor could not be made to change his story. Asked why he fired from his side, Emerson said he did not have time to raise it further, as Tuttle was upon him. It was his intention to fire into the air. Self-defence was the only motive.

Mrs. Emerson, wife of the prisoner, described fully the events leading up to the shooting.

With Mrs. Emerson's evidence the defence closed its case.

The verdict was not reached last night.

DOCTOR INTERESTED

In a Wonderful Cure of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The Regular Physician had Utterly Failed to Cure Mr. J. D. King—Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Were Tried, and Now he is Well.

Toronto, Sept. 30—Interest in medical circles centres at present on the case of Mr. J. D. King, a teamster, in the employ of the Hendrie Express Company here, and who resides at No. 39 Simcoe street.

Some twelve months ago Mr. King, while in the discharge of his regular duties, strained his back very severely.

The effects of this injury were more serious and far reaching than was at first imagined.

Mr. King's kidneys were affected, and his sufferings grew very great. His medical attendant did all in his power for the sufferer, but his remedies gave neither relief nor cure. The act of stooping to lift any weight caused the most intense pain, and the injured kidneys gave much trouble, even during his leisure hours.

"Finally," to use Mr. King's own words, "I purchased a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and began to use them.

"The one box sufficed to cure me. All pain has left me; my back is as strong as ever it was, and my general health has been wonderfully improved by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. King concludes his letter with these words: "You may publish this, as you see fit, as I hope it may lead to the cure of other sufferers.

After the failure of his regular medical attendant to cure Mr. King, this victory of Dodd's Kidney Pills is surely notable. The medical fraternity are deeply interested, and several physicians are experimenting with Dodd's Kidney Pills, with a view to using them in their private practice, as many are now doing.

The results of their experiments can prove only one thing, viz., that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only remedy on earth that can and will cure Kidney Diseases rapidly, thoroughly and permanently.

Few Precedents for Such a Step.

Toronto, Oct. 1.—Mr. Justice Robertson was not inclined to look favorably yesterday on the application of the Crown for a change of venue in the Ponton case. Mr. Leighton McCarthy had asked that the motion be enlarged until next week, but Mr. Wallace Nesbitt for Ponton, Mr. Holman for Mackie, and Mr. Middleton objected strenuously on the ground of the expense such enlargement would cause their clients. His Lordship spoke highly of the average intelligence of the people of Lennox and Addington. He did not think it difficult to procure 12 impartial men out of a panel of say 200. There has not been more than four or five precedents for such a step in the history of English jurisprudence. The discussion was continued in the afternoon along similar lines. Judgment was reserved.

October, November and Rheumatism

Paine's Celery Compound Has Never Once Failed to Cure the Dread Disease.

Sufferers from rheumatism, sciatica and neuralgia who have had experience with our Canadian weather in October and November, will tell you that they dread the uncertain, raw and capricious days of these two autumn months.

It is in October and November that the sharp twinges of pain, and long days and weeks of agony make thousands wish for death as a release from suffering. October and November are months most fatal to rheumatic mortals—it is the time when death reaps its richest harvest. Just here the statement cannot be too plainly submitted, that Paine's Celery Compound is the only reliable cure in the world from all forms of rheumatism, and that ninety-nine out of every one hundred who have died from the disease could have been cured if the great compound had been used in time.

The prime cause of rheumatism, as of so many other diseases, is a lack of nerve force. When this weakness of the nervous system gains ground, the digestive organs are deranged; the food remains too long in the stomach, it turns sour, and the resulting acid enters the blood. Nature tries to get rid of this acid through the urine or prespiration. The patient gets a slight cold in some way, and the acid cannot be expelled. There are chills, pain in the back, quickened pulse, coated tongue, constipation, extreme thirst, poor appetite and sediment-loaded urine. Soon the joints swell; usually the knees, elbows and wrists, and great suffering ensues. This is how rheumatism originates.

For long years it has been a recognized fact that celery freely eaten has given relief to rheumatic sufferers. Physicians now rejoice in the discovery of Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D, the great physician, who gave the world and suffering humanity what is known as Paine's Celery Compound, a prescription which combines celery with other valuable vegetable remedies, the whole making up a perfect cure for agonizing rheumatism, sciatica, gout and neuralgia.

If you are a sufferer from rheumatism or kindred troubles your duty is plain. You must begin by furnishing the body with nervous energy as fast as you can, and get a richer and purer blood supply. There is no way known to medical men in which this restorative process can be so swiftly brought about as by using Paine's Celery Compound. In short, Paine's Celery Compound expels all poisons and acids from the blood; it builds up the system, regulates the nerves, increases strength and gives that true health that makes one feel happy and joyous.

Paine's Celery Compound is superior to all other medicines and pills as strength is better than weakness. If you suffer, follow the advice and example of the thousands who have found a new life—use Paine's Celery Compound during October and November; it will banish your rheumatism and you will never have any return of the terrible disease.

HALF A CITY BURNED

And Three Towns Wiped Out by Fierce Forest Fires.

5 CHIDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

Minnesota and Wisconsin Visited by a Devastating Conflagration—Hundreds of People Homeless—Thousands of Dollars Damages—Many Bridges Destroyed—Heaviest Loss Was Suffered in Cumberland.

Cumberland, Wis., Oct. 1.—Fire supposed to have originated in forest fires burned half of this city Thursday, causing a property loss estimated at $225,000. About 25 families are homeless. Five children are reported burned to death. A large saw mill is among the buildings burned, throwing many out of employment. Rain saved the entire city from being burned. Wires are down and particulars are hard to get.

Three Towns Wiped Out.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—A Rice Lake special to the Pioneer Press says that forest fires are doing great damage in that section. Sixteen farm houses were reported to have been burned Thursday afternoon. The wind was blowing a gale and served to fan the flames. At Cedar Lake the fire destroyed considerable property, owned by the Knapp-Stout Lumber Company. A large portion of Cedar Lake, a town of 600 inhabitants, is reported destroyed.

Almena, a town of 300, and Poskin, a town of 200, both on the Soo line, this county, are said to have been wiped out, but no loss of life has been reported.

A slight rain began to fall Thursday evening and it is believed the fires will be checked.

Many Bridges Destroyed.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Oct. 1.—Forest fires are doing enormous damage along the Soo and Wisconsin Central Railways. Nearly every section of pine woods in northern Wisconsin is ablaze.

Barron, a small town on the Soo line, is entirely surrounded by fire, and farmers with their families are coming into the town with whatever household goods could be saved. Telegraph and telephone wires are down and many railway bridges have been destroyed.

Entire Ridge Aflame.

Carbondale, Col., Oct. 1.—On Bald Mountain, above Cattle Creek, to the east of this place, the entire ridge is aflame, and the heavy west wind prevailing the last three days is driving it up along the mountain to the east, and at present it extends for a distance of five miles to the southeast.

For miles around to the northwest the Hay Stack Mountain, extending across to the muddy country, another large fire is burning, while due west, above Spring Gulch, large timber contracts, covering hundreds of acres, are being destroyed. The men at Tucker's lumber camp, which furnishes timber for the mines, are hard at work protecting the timber and plowing to stop the advance of the flames.

Later Returns.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 1.—Reports received at the railroad office in this city are to the effect that the forest fires in the northern part of the State were quenched by a heavy fall of rain last night. The heaviest loss was suffered at Cumberland, where 25 families were rendered homeless by the flames and a large sawmill plant, valued at $225,000, was wiped out. Wires are down in all directions and particulars of the ruin wrought have not yet been received, but are expected to come in shortly.

Only one death as far as known has resulted, that of Mrs. Jacob Correson of Drywood. Two children of Mrs. Correson were seriously burned while attempting to rescue their mother.

The pecuniary loss is not expected to reach over $1,000,000.

A MINING DELEGATE.

Arrival at Quebec of Mr. J. B. McArthur, President Rossland Board of Trade—His Mission.

Quebec, Oct. 1.—Mr. J. B. McArthur, President of the Rossland Board of Trade, has arrived to champion British Columbia mining interests before the Canadian Commissioners. He represents the Provincial Board of Trade and the Miners' Protective Association. To him has been entrusted the task of securing reciprocity arrangements in ore duties. The United States at present exacts a duty of 1½c per pound on lead ores, and a duty of 2 1-8c on the bullion, or manufactured product. Thousands of tons of silver-lead ore, containing a percentage of lead, are shipped from British Columbia to the American smelters. Once the refining process is over the product is shipped back to Canada or to other countries, and the smelters are granted a rebate of duty by the American Government. Mr. McArthur thinks an equitable arrangement would be made by adopting a reciprocal plan, making the ores free of duty. Canada will soon be able to produce 100,000 tons of ore annually. The home consumption is estimated at 15,000 tons, hence the benefit to be derived by getting easy access to the American market. Mr. McArthur regards the present Canadian duty, ranging from 5 to 15 per cent. on manufactured products, as entirely inadequate to meet the existing conditions. He is enthusiastic about the mining possibilities in British Columbia. He ventured the prediction, after submitting his representations to Mr. John Charlton, M.P., one of the Canadian Commissioners, that fifteen years hence Canada will be the largest gold producing country in the world. He says Southern British Columbia and Eastern Kootenay will soon possess a dozen Rosslands, and says the period is not far distant when smelters will dot the country at intervals of a few miles.

MOB LAW IN ILLINOIS.

Striking Union Miners Locked Up a Lot of Negroes.

Tower Hill, Ill., Oct. 1.—Three hundred striking union miners from Pana yesterday held up a special train on the Ohio & Southwestern, which was conveying 50 Washington, Ind., negro miners to Pana, to take the place of union miners. The negroes were taken from the cars and compelled to walk back to Tower Hill, where they were locked in the depot until 10 o'clock last night. At that hour the negroes were placed on board an east-bound train and taken back to Indiana at the expense of the union. The hold-up of the train was perfectly executed and was a bold stroke on the part of the miners. Sheriff Cobourn's force of rescuers had not arrived at a late hour.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action and yet is is just as certain as if it were twice as violent, "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Do you know how it ends? In Death. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

"My Husband's New Suit Cost But Twenty Cents."

"When we were married we determined to study true economy. Neither of us were misers; we dressed well and lived as comfortably as many whose incomes were larger than ours. Of all the agencies that contributed to our success in money saving, the Diamond Dyes were certainly the most noted. When my dresses, skirts, blouses, capes, jackets or ribbons became faded or dead looking I made them look like new creations with the Diamond Dyes.

"Just a week ago I took a faded and spotted light gray summer suit that my husband wore last summer and dyed it a handsome dark navy blue. It looks so fresh and new that it attracts the admiration of our friends. My husband's new suit cost but twenty cents; economy, isn't it? If other women made use of the Diamond Dyes they would be quite as successful as I am. I never use the poor dyes; they are dear at any price."

Music Under Difficulties.

Mme. Rosa d'Erina, who sings for St. Joseph's Hospital next week, has had many amusing happenings in the course of her career, and perhaps one of the most amusing, if embarassing, was the following. On one occasion she was engaged to give a recital at the mining city of Joplin, Mo. A handsome grand piano had been sent on from St. Louis, but the shippers had forgotten to send two of the legs. The piano arrived so late in the evening that no other could be got, so the committee procured some stout ropes and slung the piano from the beams or rafters over the stage. Naturally at every forte movement of the performer, the instrument waved and rocked like a ship on the water, with the effect of having the artist rock to and fro to follow it in its vagaries. Finally the committee got some bricks and barrels and propped up the instrument to the no small relief of Mme. d'Erina.

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION STILL A DRAWING CARD.

An All Round Satisfactory Success in Every Respect.

THE ATTENDANCE YESTERDAY OVER FOUR THOUSAND.

The Last Day Promises to Beat the Record—A Good Crowd of Visitors—Completing the Judging—Yesterday's Speeding Events.

Saturday was Farmer's Day at the Central Exhibition, the bulk of the attendance being composed of people outside the town. Though there was a considerable sprinkling of town visitors attracted by the races, which were superior in interest perhaps to the day before.

The success of yesterday in attendance has only been exceeded in two or three opening days, the number totaling about four thousand. That number may not be reached to-day, but by appearances at two o'clock there will be a good attendance at the closing entertainments of the Exhibition.

This morning was largely devoted to the completion of the judging in the horse ring.

An attractive feature was the contest for the special prize of a magnificent silver medal offered by the Bank of Commerce for the best stallion on the grounds independent of class. There were five entries and the prize was awarded to Mr. Levi S. Bowles, whose stallion "Erskine McGregor captured the splendid medal.

The live stock pens were a continued source of interest to the visitors and the hall inside was also complimented with considerable attention.

In the fine arts department it may be pointed out that Mrs. Richor's work is good. She paints with a clean firm touch not often seen in amateur work. Miss Annie Simons painting of a horse is a splendid specimen of animal painting, while her other work is of a high order for an amateur. Miss McIlwain, of Keene, shows two exquisitely painted figure pieces and some landscapes that shows she possesses exceptional talent as a painter. Miss Kate McQuay has two very charming little landscapes on the wall. They are well handled. Miss Goodfellow, of Fraserville, has also got some well executed paintings at the show. Her work is pure in colouring and well-drawn.

In the afternoon there was a magnificent parade of the prize animals held in the show ring. The parade was an imposing one, being about half a mile in length, and therefore extending twice around the quarter-mile track. No county in the province could have provided a parade including more good animals.

The public are generous in their praise of the general excellence of the exhibition.

The live stock exhibit, as intimated yesterday, was this year far superior to that of any preceding year. There were a large number of entries and most of the animals shown were of superior merit. A feature in relation to stock was the exhibition in the office of several photographs of Jersey cattle on their nature heath, brought by Mr. J. H, LeFevre, of Lakefield, who has just returned from a visit to the Island of Jersey.

In Roadsters there was a good exhibition. The chief exhibitors were Geo. There wes a large lot of grades shown by Jas Head, Walter Stocker, N W Maybee, J A Bennett, H Rightmyer, Thomas Redmond, Andrew Cameron, James Baptie, J M White, Fred Staples.

SHEEP.

There was an unusually fine exhibit of sheep, the merit extending to both quantity and quality. Such a good showing was never made at any previous exhibition.

The exhibitors in Leicesters were Allen Bros., James Wood, David Forsythe, Andrew Cameron and Joseph Staples.

Cotswolds were well represented by Booth & Langmaid, Robt Vance, Wm Stillman, Levi Skinner.

The poultry exhibit was unusually good, the number of entries requiring the addition of a large number of extra coups.

SPEEDING IN THE RING.

The races at the driving park were interested by a large crowd and aroused considerable interest, although Looking Glass had things too much his own way in the 2.40 class. The starter was Dr. Dulmage, of Belleville, and was without doubt the best ever officiating on the Peterborough track. He has a good voice, is well up in the rules and has the decision which goes so far towards keeping the drivers and jockey's in thier places. Mr. H. Winch and W. J. English officiated as judges, and Mr. Alex. Gibson, as timekeeper.

In the 2.40 class trotting, the entries were:—Newsboy, owned by G. W. Curtis, of Lindsay; Duke, owned by P. Clunan, Peterborough, and L. G. Bennett's Looking Glass, of Port Hope. In the first heat Looking Glass went off his feet on the first turn and Newsboy went to the front closely followed by Duke. Duke took the lead on a back stretch, but went up into the air on the next lap at the identical spot where Looking Glass broke before. Looking Glass, who had been making up ground fast, now took the pole with Newsboy just behind. On the back stretch Duke came up to the others like a cyclone and passing Newsboy, challenged Looking-glass and gave that game little pacer quite an argument down the home stretch, but was unable to get a lead and finished in second place, Newsboy being third. Time, 2.30.

In the second heat Newsboy was seen to be clearly out of his class, but the Duke pressed Looking Glass to such an extent that the Port Hope gelding had to trot in 2.24½ to win with the Duke only a length behind.

The third heat resulted in the horses finishing in the same order as in the previous heats, although the Duke gave Looking Glass a close call in the home stretch, finishing only a neck behind.

Summary:

Looking Glass, Bennett, Port Hope	1 1 1
The Duke, Clunan, Peterborough	2 2 2
Newsboy, Curtis, Lindsay	3 3 3

Time, 2.30, 2.24½, 2.28.

The half mile dash for the bang tails brought out Old Stonemason of Kingston-Jessie D, of Millbrook, Lizzie W, Princess May and Cheat 'em of town.

Lizzie W and Princess May took the lead at the start, and were never headed although the others were in a bunch close behind. The two black Peterborough mares had a pretty fight around the ring but Princess May won out by a neck Lizzie W getting second place, closely followed by Cheat 'em, and the crowd went wild as the Peterborough horses went under the wire in one, two, three order. Jessie D was fourth and Stonemason fifth.

The horses got away poorly in the second heat, Princess May getting away last, although the pole horse. Cheat 'em went to the front and was never headed, although challenged in the back stretch by Lizzie W.

As Princess May and Cheat'em had each won a heat they ran again to break the tie, when Cheat'em won easily.

SUMMARY.

Cheat'em, P. Clunan, Peterborough	3 1 1

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1898

Mr. Davis, in rising to propose the next toast, that of Our Guest, said we were proud of Canada and we honour her in honouring those who governed the country. The government had not only to perform its routine duties, but had to adopt itself to the constantly changing conditions brought about by the development of the country, which demanded the best services of the Government, in the peopling of its vast territory and the development of its untold mineral riches. He then went on to point out the development that had taken place in the great Northwest, to the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway, giving access to the far east. The grain fields of the Northwest still yearned for development, as well as our vast mineral area, of which we had valuable ones at our own doors. The work that had been done in British Columbia and the Yukon was an encouragement to hope for greater things in the future. Canada, as an important part of the Empire was attracting the attention of the world. Its importance was fittingly recognized by the prominence accorded Sir Wilfred Laurier at the Jubilee demonstration. (Cheers.) It seemed, the speaker said, that the Dominion was on the verge of greater development, demanding the alteration of our Government and people, and a Government that will bring about the desired and possible development. We needed rulers of enlarged comprehension and boundless enthusiasm, great leaders and we had one of these in the person of the honoured guest of the evening. (Cheers.) Amongst men of energy and action he was the most energetic and active. A spirit of progressiveness was part of his nature and the speaker had no doubt that as a result of this energetic spirit co-operation with the work of Hon. Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, the development of the facilities of commerce would result in the completion, at an early date, of the Trent Valley Canal, (cheers,) which the Toronto Board of Trade saw "through a glass darkly." It added to the pleasure of the occasion to welcome a representative of our sister province of Quebec, of our countrymen who speak another language. We are engaged in the same work of building a British nation in the northern half of this continent. He then proposed the toast of "Our Guest," Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works for the Dominion of Canada.

The toast was received with the greatest enthusiasm, the impulsive applause lasting for several minutes, and showing how greatly the genial Minister of Public Works had won upon the hearts of the people during his brief stay in town.

MR. TARTE.

On rising to respond Mr. Tarte was prevented from speaking for some minutes by the tremendous applause by which he was greeted. In opening his address he stated that he understood the gathering was a non-political one and that, therefore, men of all shades of political opinion and suasion were sitting around the tables. He asked to be permitted to say that he liked such an audience—it was a thoroughly representative Canadian audience. (Applause.) He was not present as one of the leaders of a great party, but as a representative of the Dominion of Canada. He was present as a Canadian anxious to take the advice of his fellow countrymen. (Applause.) When he took office he made up his mind that he did not know everything about this fair country, and he thought to be worthy of his position he should take occasion to travel as much as possible. Some trouble had fallen on his political head through this travelling. One charge being that he had made large promises of expenditure, so that when he was invited to speak concerning the Trent Valley Canal, he was afraid he might get into a hole. (Laughter.) Still he of such a hole. (Applause.) He had got out of worse holes than that and proposed to fall into this one with his eyes open, knowing that he would have plenty of good company. (Applause.) He had unbounded confience in the Canadian people, and was not afraid of talking his mind before them, even if it involved an expenditure of money. Everything connected with the transportation question was worthy of the attention of all true Canadians. The transportation question was the question of the day. As he said in the afternoon, if the citizens were in a position to prove that by the construction of the Trent Valley Canal the American trade could be diverted to the St. Lawrence he was ready to stand by them. (Prolonged cheering.) The question was whether the contention was right or wrong. If the question is looked at in the light of experience with other canals, the project may not turn out to be the ditch it is called. The Erie canal is only six feet feet deep and still has been a mighty factor in American commerce. It was quite possible the Trent Canal might in the near future be regarded in the same light. (cheers), and whether some day great fleets of boats might not be running from Midland to Montreal by this route. Canadian boats might then start from Chicago and run down to Montreal. If Canadians were but true to themselves all their waterways would be taxed to their utmost capacity in carrying American as well as Canadian commerce. (Cheers.)

LOOK AT THE LAKES,

continued the speaker, are they not the greatest reservoirs in the world? Forty or fifty million tons of freight pass annually over them. How many millions does Canada get of this? Canada had only to cut into these reservoirs to draw many millions of the traffic through Dominion waterways. The Government was at present engaged in deepening its canals in the hopes of diverting the trade that now goes by the American route. It was a standing reproach to the country that the American route drew not only its own trade, but Canada's as well. Millions had been spent on the C.P.R. and millions more on canals, and yet Canada could not even hold its own trade. Something was wrong, but it was something which could be remedied. By deepening the canals to fourteen feet it would create a revolution in the state of affairs. Many elevators had been erected on the lake ports during the last year in the hope that the canals would be deepened. Much Canadian capital had thus been invested. The speaker again claimed that when the canals were deepened, the revolution would be witnessed. The Trent Canal could not be fourteen feet deep, but it could be eight feet. All that would have to be done was to make cuts to the great lakes, such as this, to see trade flowing through Canada. When he claimed that the Parry Sound Railway would carry millions of bushels of grain annually,

HE WAS LAUGHED AT

by his auditors, yet last year eight million bushels were carried over it. (Applause.) It would cost money to make these cuts into the great lakes, but if money was not spent there would be no trade. How much had the Americans spent—millions on millions. In Boston alone $25 000,000 had been spent in remodelling the harbour and they were preparing to spend fifteen millions more. Canadians at this crisis had to be true to themselves and their country (cheers). The Lake ports were not properly equipped. They required dredging and elevating power. It was an undoubted duty to equip these ports (applause). To obtain cheap transportation there were two things to do to procure highways for commerce from the west to the east and to equip the Moutreal harbour so that the largest ship could come up from the sea to it. All this meant money, but if Canada had six or eight or ten millions of people to carry the load it followed that it would be lighter than if it had to be borne by the present population. He did not advise the waste of money, but considered that money invested to deepen the waterways was money well invested. Canada had summer ports and should have winter ports too. Was Canada to continue to depend on Americans for winter ports? Canada should have her

WATERWAYS INDEPENDENT.

(Applause.) The best way to be friendly with the Americans was to be independently. Fault had been found by some with the extension of the Intercolonial railway to Montreal The speaker was not only in favour of extending the railway to Montreal, but thought it might be advisable any day to continue it further west in order to have the national railway working in connection with the deepened canals and thus compelling the reduction of freights. The country was developing so fast that no one knew what to-morrow might not bring forth. Canada was destined to be a great nation. There were only five millions of a population now, but wonderful progress was being made. (Cheers.) Canadians had worked like beavers, like true Canadian beavers. The Imperial government had shown its appreciation of Canadian worth by only sending one commissioner from Great Britain to sit on the International Conference. The rest of the British representatives were Canadians. There were many questions which had to be settled with the Canadians. Canada had approached them in a friendly spirit, which had been reciprocated. Both were living on the one continent and had many interests in common. It was therefore their duty to do their level best to agree. At present nothing but progress was to be seen everywhere in Canada. Peace and good will was established as never in the past. The province of Quebec and Ontario joined hands. Drawing attention to the speaker stated that in recognizing in such a way his French origin the citizens had not only paid a great compliment to him, but shown that Ontario was a generous and a tolerant province. In closing Mr. Tarte referred to the recent plebescite, stating that Quebec did not roll up such a big majority against prohibition for the reason, as stated by Mr. McLaren, that it was feared that they would thereby be debarred from certain religious exercises, but because it was believed in Quebec that freedom was one of the few things a Canadian must enjoy.

Mr. James Stevenson, ex-M.P., in proposing the next toast, "The Senate, House of Commons and Legislative Assemblies," said that the guest of the evening was, like himself, a Tory (laughter); but for all that he had found him the most genial member of the House, both in and out of House. He was wont "to set the table in a roar and was a host in himself." (Cheers.) The people had struck the right chord in bringing the Hon. Mr. Tarte here to open the exhibition. Referring to the Trent Valley Canal, Mr. Stevenson said a certain placed was paved with good intentions. He had spent many years in advocating the Trent Valley Canal, and until the time of Sir John Thompson there had been nothing but promises. He (Mr. Stevenson) had worn out the patience of the Government in asking for the canal. In concluding he paid a high compliment to Mr. Tarte and said there was no man in Ottawa to whom one could apply with more confidence in having what he wanted done "right off," than Hon. Mr. Tarte. (Cheers.) Mr. Stevenson then proposed the toast, which was heartily honoured.

In replying to the toast Mr. James Kendry, M.P., spoke of the great pleasure it gave him to be present to do honour to the distinguished guest. He had watched him in Parliament and believed that he was the most energetic member of the Government. He was glad to welcome him independently of political considerations. Mr. Kendry then passed on to an eulogy of the House of Commons and a tribute to our legislative system. Referring to Hon. Mr. Tarte's reference to the possibility of his friendliness to the Trent Valley Canal, he "got into a hole," and that if he got into a hole he (Mr. Kendry) was prepared to go into the hole with him. (Cheers.)

Mr. T. Blezard also responded to the toast, and made the happiest and best received speech of the evening. After pleasant references to his political experience he dealt with the Trent Valley Canal, and with a great deal of impromptu humour spoke of a recent visit in a manner that "brought down the house. He was deeply impressed with the importance and feasibility of the work. He paid a splendid tribute to Mr. Tarte, and concluded one of the speeches of the evening amidst hearty applause.

Mayor Morrison, of Trenton, spoke briefly after expressing his pleasure at being present, to honour Mr. Tarte and referring, amidst laughter to the uncertain time of a member of the Ontario Legislature in his seat, went on to speak of what is near the heart of everyone in this district—the Trent Valley Canal, of the possibility of the scheme and of the importance of its completion, which he was sure would be facilitated by the visit of Mr. Tarte and his personal inspection of the work.

Mr. Stratton, who was very heartily received spoke briefly also. He said that he had responded so frequently to the toast just proposed that he could not hope to say anything in response to it that would be of new interest. The directorate of the Central Exhibitition had done a happy thing in bringing Hon Mr. Tarte to formally open the Exhibition. No mistake had been made in taking this course. (Cheers.) The town had always been distinguished for the graceful and hearty hospitality it extended to distinguished guests, and the present occasion in the hearty spontaneity of its enthusiasm would be no exception. As to the Trent Valley Canal, he was sure Mr. Tarte would be pleased when he saw it face to face and would gain a new idea of its importance. He would be surprised at what he would see. Governments were being educated by the people as to the importance of the Trent Valley Canal—that it should not be built as a mere matter of political expediency, but as a great national highway from the Northwest to the seaboard. (Cheers.) He complimented Hon. Mr. Tarte upon the wisdom of his policy in insisting on seeing things for himself. He did not content himself with sitting in his office and attending to the matter of departmental business, but went throughout the country making personal investigation into matters that had been made the subject of deputations and petitions. He (the speaker) was sure that when Mr. Tarte had gone over the route of the canal that he would return to Ottawa and assure his colleague, the Minister of Railways and Canals, that he had been converted to belief in the feasibility and importance of the canal, and would heartily support him in his efforts to complete this great waterway.

who was also named in connection with the toast, opened his remarks by the statements that the Trent Valley Canal not only did not deserve the name of ditch, but even rose above the name of canal, being, as the minister would realize when he went over the route, rather the connecting of a series of lakes, forming a great national highway between the great lakes and the river St. Lawrence. In connection with the canal system, the speaker asked why was it that in 76 grain was carried from Chicago to New York at less than half a cent per bushel, and yet the charge at present from Kingston to Montreal was three cents a bushel? Just such charges as these would be done away with when the grain from the west was transshipped at Midland and taken through the Trent Valley Canal to Montreal.

The advantage of the Trent Valley Canal would be the fact that a great deal of capital would not be needed to build boats to ply on its waters, as smaller vessels could be utilized with equal advantage and carry the grain from Midland to Montreal. It would be the poor man's highway, as was the Erie Canal to day. The Erie Canal was chiefly responsible for the cheapness of freights from Chicago east, although hampered in every way by the influence of the railroads which even extended so far as to get a measure through Congress not allowing a company to operate boats on the canal with a greater capital than $50,000. What was $50,000 to work upon—a mere nothing and it was through such means that the railways tried to crush the canal out of existence, but it could not be done. He would not attempt to shield the late government for the delatory way in which they had continued the work on the Trent canal and was glad to see that party politics had been laid aside in the district, and all were in favour of the canal. On account of the lateness of the hour Mr. Carnegie made no further remarks, and after H. LeBrun had sung the "Marseillaise" in his usual hearty manner, the National Anthem was sung and the banquet was closed with hearty cheers for the Minister of Public Works and the chairman of the evening, Mayor Davis.

MR. J. H. M'CLELLAND

proposed the toast of "Trade and Commerce," referring in the course of his remarks to the flourishing condition of affairs in the Dominion, particularly to the improved condition in agricultural pursuits, the farmer being now in a position to clear off mortgages and be the sole possessor of his property. In trade circles, too, prosperity was evident, reports showing that within the last few years commerce had increased to the extent of fifty millions of dollars annually. In this connection the speaker instanced the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co. and the Ackerman Compahy, who were forced to increase the size of their premises to an enormous extent to meet the requirements of their increased business.

MR. ROBT. JAFFRAY,

of Toronto, in replying, expressed his pleasure at being present to do honour to Hon. Mr. Tarte, and meet the good citizens of Peterborough. Next to Toronto, he felt that he belonged to Peterborough on account of his close relations with Senator C x. He thought that the guest of the evening deserved all the honour which had been paid him. It displayed remarkable shrewdness on the part of the Agricultural Society in inviting Mr. Tarte to open the exhibition, and of the citizens in endeavouring to get him interested in the Trent Valley Canal. If Mr. Tarte thought it advisable to complete the work he would not care to be one of his opponents. One of the strongest claims of the great waterway was the amount of money which had already been expended on it. It only required a united effort to force it through to completion. In referring to the toast the speaker endorsed Mr. Tarte's statement in regard to the desirability of improving the means of transportation from the west to the east. Canadians had it in their power to so improve the conditions of affairs in this respect, and as a whole were so favourable to the scheme, that a wise expenditure of money would be strongly supported.

The Fire Brigade band was present, and during the evening rendered a number of well-played selections under the leadership of Prof. Glidden.

HENRY & CO.,

"While We Live We'll Grow." 341 George Street

When death comes to the door of a strong, rugged, healthy constitution he finds it closed. He is always sneaking around looking for openings through which he can invade happy homes and leave them forlorn and desolate. He looks for weak places and broken doors which can be easily battered down. When a man's vigor and energy begin to weaken and become uncertain, then the door to his vitality grows shaky and there is an opening for the grim visitor to enter.

It is commonly said that people die of this or that particular disease. The truth is they die of constitutional weakness. If more people realized this they would understand why the great "Golden Medical Discovery" invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., cures so many cases of lingering coughs, throat, bronchial, and kindred affections of the air passages. It gives thorough abundant constitutional vitality. It gives the digestive and blood-making organs, where consumption usually begins, power to do their work completely so that no poisonous dregs can get into the circulation to fasten on the lungs and vital tissues.

"I have been troubled with bronchitis for several years," writes Mrs. Orlin O'Hara, of Fergus Falls, Minn. (Box 114). "In the first place I had sore throat; doctored with different doctors and took various medicines, but got no lasting relief. We made up our minds to try the medicine advertised as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After I had taken one bottle we thought we could see a little change. We sent and got another bottle of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also one of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took them alternately, and in a few days I began to see that I was better for certain. I took eight bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two of 'Favorite Prescription,' and, really, I have not felt as well in years. I sleep better than I have in twenty years."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1000 page illustrated book, will be sent free by the World's Dispensary Medical Association for 31 one-cent stamps, to pay cost of customs and mailing only, or a cloth-bound volume for 50 stamps.

SIT ON THE FLOOR.

The Advantages to Be Derived From the Abolition of Chairs.

An eminent English physician, Sir James Crichton Browne, who has wonderful aptitude for making medical subjects interesting to the public at large, announces that men and women would derive great benefit from sitting on the floor instead of chairs. Women would benefit even more than men by the practice.

The position of sitting on the floor or the ground is more natural than that of sitting on a chair. It was once general with the entire human race. It is both healthy and natural.

The exercise of getting up from and down to the floor is beneficial. Through the general adoption of the sitting position among the civilized races many muscles have become stiff or obsolete. Persons who sit on the floor have strong back and thigh muscles. Turks, tailors and shoemakers are examples of this fact.

If you sit on the floor, you can change your attitude as often as you please and can enjoy an endless variety of pose, and, however often you alter it and however you may place yourself, there is never any chance of your falling off. If you sit on the floor, you can achieve all kinds of comfortable positions which it is impossible to obtain even with the easiest of easy chairs. The influx of visitors need never cause anxiety to the well constitutioned mind on the subject of chairs. All he has to provide is a quantity of cushions—cushions of every size and shape. Let guests select any they please, and it will be their own fault if they are not comfortable and happy.

It is of course only desirable to sit on a clean floor.—Exchange.

Baby Eczema and scald Head.

Infants and young chidren are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not properly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

The Umbrella Conscience.

"You may bank on a guilty conscience almost every time when an umbrella is in question," said a New Orleans drummer. "You see this one? Well, it came into my possession quite recently by what they call the 'right of conquest' in a protocol. I was caught out in the rain after lunch and wondering what the deuce I would do when I noticed a chap under an awning trying to raise an umbrella. It was clear he didn't understand the fastening, and as the umbrella itself was not new the circumstantial evidence against him was conclusive.

"So I walked up and said firmly, 'That's my umbrella, sir.' At the same time I took it out of his hand. He wilted at once, stammered something about a mistake and sneaked off, while I walked away proudly, sheltered from a very moist shower. That's what nerve will do. Wonder, by the way, whose it really is."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Pair of Bulls.

A very quaint reason, says a writer in the London Telegraph, was advanced by a domestic servant for thinking that the place she was in was in every way desirable. "Are yez in a good place, Mary?" asked one of her friends. "Oh, a mighty foine place entirely," she replied. "Shure, me mistress is so fioh that all her flannel pettycoats is made of silk!" "Look at that now!" exclaimed the other in amazement.

Here is a bull from the nursery: "That's a terrible noise in the nursery, Molly," said the mistress. "What's the matter? Can't you keep the baby quiet?" "Shure, ma'am," replied Molly, "I can't keep him quiet unless I let him make a noise."

MR. MARTIN'S VIEWS.

British Columbia and the Sealing Negotiations—The Yukon Route Question as It Affects the Province.

Quebec, Sept. 30.—Hon. Joseph Martin, Attorney-General of British Columbia, came to Quebec yesterday to place before the British Commissioners the views of the Government of British Columbia on matters affecting the welfare of that province, now before the joint commission. Mr. Martin holds that the persons who own sealing vessels are not the only ones to be thought of in the event of a decision being come to that would involve withdrawal of Canadians from pelagic sealing. The industry, he says, is quite as important to the men who get their living out of it as to the men who have capital embarked. The practical difficulty involved in the settlement of labor claims by money payments is very great. Mr. Martin admits, as it would be almost impossible to learn who make sealing their chief means of livelihood, and who go fishing merely on occasions when they have no other employment. In reply to a question as to whether he would regard the cession of a port and territory for an all-Canadian route to the Yukon from the head of the Lynn Canal as a sufficient compensation for the surrender of sealing rights, Mr. Martin said: "That is a subject on which I would not care to speak until after consultation with the people of British Columbia and my colleagues in the Government. We already have access to the Yukon by the ports at the head of the Lynn Canal, the only drawback to the value of that access being the difficulties thrown in the way of the exercise of the bonding privilege over the coast strip held by the United States. There has not been much friction this season, chiefly, no doubt, because the trade has fallen off for the time, and is taking the Yukon River route while navigation is open. Our contention that a proper interpretation of the treaty of St. Petersburg would give us possession of Dyea and Skaguay without having to return any equivalent must not be overlooked. Of course, the strong feature in the case of the United States is that we have never exercised authority in the territory now claimed by us, while first Russia and afterwards the United States have been in actual occupation. The freest possible access to the Yukon is important, in my belief, because there can be no doubt that the country has a future as a mining centre; but, as I have said, I am not prepared to express an opinion as to whether we should part with our sealing rights to improve our hold on the means of access to the territory."

Not Overworking Itself.

The Joint High Commission is not killing itself with work. In the last two days it has sat only an hour and a half. The date of the adjournment to Washington has not yet been decided. The Americans are anxious to quit Quebec towards the end of next week, but there is no certainty that they will be able to do so.

CAPTAIN WASHED OVERBOARD.

Steamer Ferallon's Terrible Experience in a Heavy Gale.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 30.—The steamship Ferallon has arrived from Lynn Canal ports, bringing 70 passengers from various sections of Southwestern Alaska.

On Sept. 26 the Ferallon picked up the wrecked schooner Capella in Seaforth Channel and towed her to Bella Della. The Capella sailed from Seattle Sept. 16 for Wrangel, and on Sept. 20, when 100 miles off Cape Flattery, a heavy gale was encountered. The little schooner's boats and hatches were carried away, and Captain Jones Nordland was washed overboard and drowned. H. Lipso, a sailor, was struck by a boom, and had several ribs broken. When the schooner was picked up she was in a water-logged condition, and all the supplies aboard were spoiled.

YOUNG AT SEVENTY.

Indigestion and Stomach Troubles Removed by South American Nervine—Four Bottles Brought Back Health and Vigour.

Mr. Jas. Sherwood, of Windsor, Ont., writes: "For twelve months I was a great sufferer from indigestion and stomach trouble. After trying other remedies without any benefit whatever, I was attracted to South American Nervine through great cures I read of its making, and I decided to try it. After a few doses I felt great relief and benefit. I have taken four bottles, and although I am 70 years old I give this thankful testimony for relief from the great suffering I had. I consider it a great medicine." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

The Ruling Passion.

Poor old Mrs. Skewton of rose colored curtains fame in "Dombey and Son," was equaled in her vanity by old Mrs. Blank who died in a New England village some years ago. She was past 80 when brought to her deathbed, but even then her personal appearance was uppermost in her mind.

One morning her pastor called unexpectedly and after a little conversation he read a chapter and prayed with the old lady. After his departure she was asked if she did not enjoy the spiritual consolation offered her by her pastor.

"Well, yes," she said with an acrid note in her voice, "but I'd enjoyed it a blamed sight more if I'd known he was coming so I could 'a' had my hair crimped and my teeth in!"—Exchange.

Bad Breaks.

"Johnny, Johnny, didn't I ask you once to stop whistling at the table?"

"Yes'm."

"Well, do you want me to ask you again?"

"No'm. I don't want you to make no bad breaks."

"Bad breaks! What do you mean, Johnny?"

"Well'm, you said it was very impolite to ask for things twice at the table."—Baltimore News.

The Praying Wheel.

A recent traveler thus describes the praying wheel of Tibet: "A barrel eight inches long holds 1,400 thin leaves, or each side of which the prayer is printed, say, ten times. This gives 28,000 prayers, all of which are put to the worshiper's credit in the world to come if with a touch of his finger he makes the barrel revolve once."

AN AFFLICTED MOTHER.

NURSING HER DYING CHILD HER HEALTH GAVE WAY.

Anæmia, Followed by Neuralgic Pains, Racked Her System—Her Friends Feared That She Could Not Recover.

From the Enterprise, Bridgewater, N.S.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dichl, who live about one and a half miles from Bridgewater, are highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. Mrs. Dichl has passed through a trying illness, the particulars of which she recently gave a reporter of the Enterprise as follows: "In the spring of 1890 my health gave way. In addition to my ordinary household duties, I had the constant care day and night of a sick child. In the hope of saving my little one, it did not occur to me that overwork, loss of sleep and anxiety were exhausting my strength. Finally my child passed away, and then I realized my physical condition. Shortly after I was attacked with neuralgic pains in the shoulder which shifted to my right side after three weeks and settled there. The pain in my side grew worse and after a few days I became unable to leave my bed. In addition to my bodily trouble I became melancholy and was very much reduced in flesh. My friends regarded my condition as dangerous. I remained in bed several weeks; to me it seemed ages. It is impossible to describe the agonies I suffered during that time. A skilful physician was in constant attendance upon me. He said mine was the worst case of anæmia and general neuralgia he had ever seen. After some weeks he succeeded in getting me out of bed and after a few more weeks I was able to do some light household work. But I was only a shadow of my former self; my appetite was very poor and that maddening pain still clung to my side and also spread to the region of my heart and lungs, darting through and about them like lances cutting the flesh. Every few days I had to apply croton oil and fly blisters to my chest, and had a bad cough. My friends gave up, thinking I had consumption. I, too, really thought my end was near, fearing mostly that the pains about my heart might take me off any day. During all my illness I had never thought of any medicine other than what my doctor prescribed. It happened, however, that in glancing over the Enterprise one day my eye fell upon the statement of a cure made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The case resembled mine in some respects. I read and re-read the article. It haunted me for several days, notwithstanding I tried to dismiss it from my mind. At last I asked the doctor whether he thought these pills would help me. He looked at me a moment and then remarked: "Well, perhaps you had better try them. I believe they do work wonders in some cases, and if they do not cure you they will certainly do no harm." That remark opened to me the door of life, for had he said "No," I should not have used the pills. When I had used two boxes I began to feel better, my appetite improved and there was less of those pains about the heart and chest. The cough too was less severe. I kept on till six boxes more were taken and to make a long story short, I was myself again, appetite good, spirits buoyant, pains gone and I could do my own work with comfort. I have been well ever since and have no doubt Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life and restored me to my family. I am ever ready to speak their praises and in my heart am ever invoking God's blessing upon their discoverer.

Rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration and diseases depending upon humours in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions and renew the entire system. Sold by all dealers or sent postpaid at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not be persuaded to take some substitute.

Plurals of Nouns Ending In "O."

In the formation of the plural of nouns with this ending the general rule is that es is added to the singular, as in potatoes, cargoes, buffaloes, yet the following words add only s: Grotto, junto, canto, cento, quarto, portico, octavo, duodecimo, tyro, solo (all, by the bye, foreign words), and also all nouns ending in io, as folio, folios; or, in fact, whenever o is immediately preceded by a vowel, as cameo, embryo, etc. A notable peculiarity is to be observed with regard to nouns substantive ending with the sound of o. If they be words of more than one syllable, they for the most part end simply in o, but if only of one syllable, they take an e after the o, thus, canto, potato, quarto, hero, but doe, foe, roe, sloe, toe, woe, etc. Yet other monosyllables, not nouns substantive, have no final e, as so, lo, no.—Literature of Typography.

DR. NANCY GUILFORD.

A Montreal Detective Identifies a Photo of Her as Identical With Mrs. Wilbur Who Sailed for Liverpool.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—Chief of Detectives Carpenter has settled beyond any doubt the question of the identity of the woman who sailed from this port on the Vancouver on Saturday, the 17th inst., under the name of Mrs. Wilbur. It was Mrs. Nancy Guilford, wanted at Bridgeport, Conn., for the killing of Emma Gill.

While some thought that Mrs. Wilbur and Mrs. Guilford were one and the same person, there was nothing positive known until now. Mr. Carpenter received a photo of Mrs. Guilford last evening and it was identified beyond the slightest question as that of the woman who was at the Place Viger Hotel on Friday, the 16th. She purchased a second-class passage on the Vancouver at 6.30 p.m., and later in the evening went on board.

The charge upon which Mrs. Guilford will be held is manslaughter, not murder, as has been supposed. There is no law upon the Connecticut Statute Books under which she can be tried for murder on the charge against her in connection with Emma Gill's death. The maximum penalty for the crime is $1,000 fine and ten years in the State Penitentiary.

Dr. Nancy Guilford disappeared from her home, No. 51 Gilbert street, Bridgeport, on Tuesday, Sept. 13, the day following the finding of the trunk of Emma Gill's body, and arrived in Montreal on the night of the 15th.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 19—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co. tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that today I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

ASSURANCE CO.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & CO.,
17 to 27 King St, East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, same policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

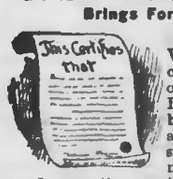
THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.



BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 6 boxes for $2, at Druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

RECENT INVENTIONS.

An improved horseshoe is formed of two halves hinged at the toe and drawn together at the rear by a bolt to cause the lugs at the side to clamp the hoof, no nails being used.

A Virginian has designed a safety stirrup for horseback riders which is formed of a supporting yoke suspended from the saddle, on the lower end of which a flat plate is pivoted to receive the foot of the rider.

Envelopes are being manufactured with an auxiliary back, which can be addressed by the sender in order that the receiver may reverse it to cover the front of the envelope and return it to the address already written.

Surgeons' tools, razors, etc., can be disinfected after use by a newly patented apparatus in which supports are provided in the top of the cover to hold the tools, while a disinfectant is discharged into the chamber by an atomizer.

An Illinois woman has designed a simple burglar alarm in which a clock mechanism is fastened to the wall, to be set off by cords running to the door, window and transom when these entrances are opened, the clockwork carrying a cord which ignites a lamp set on a bracket near by.

OFFENSIVE EVEN TO MYSELF.

Was My Catarrh—Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Dethroned it After Twenty Years' Reign.

F. A. Bottom, druggist, Cookshire P.Q., says: "For 20 years I suffered from catarrh. My breath was very offensive even to myself. During that time I tried everything that came in my way which promised me a cure. In almost all instances I had to proclaim them no good at all. I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. I got relief instantly after first application. It cured me and I am free from all the effects of it. I am a thorough believer in its curative powers." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Manners Outside the Navy.

The ordinary seaman's respect for rank and station when not connected with his beloved vessel is decidedly meager. When the president of the United States visits one of our men-of-war, he is received at the gangway by the admiral, commanding officer and all of the officers of the ship, in full uniform, the crew at quarters for inspection, the marine guard drawn up with the band on the quarterdeck, the national flag is displayed at the main, the drummer gives four ruffles, the band plays the national air and a salute of 21 guns is fired. The same ceremony also takes place on his leaving.

On one occasion the president visited one of the ships informally, dispensing with the salute and ceremony, when one of the men rather indignantly asked another who that lubber was on the quarterdeck that didn't "douse his peak" to the commodore.

"Choke your luff, will you," was the reply, "that's the president of the United States."

"Well, ain't he got manners enough to salute the quarterdeck, if he is?"

"Manners! What does he know about manners? I don't suppose he was ever out of sight of land in his life." – "On a Man-of-war."

DYING BY INCHES!

But Dodd's Kidney Pills will Yet Renew Life.

Thousands of persons die in the prime of life because doctors think Bright's Disease and Diabetes incurable. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them both. They have cured thousands of cases.

These diseases and other Kidney complaints are as common as ordinary colds. But people don't realize that they are afflicted till the disease has eaten deep into the system. Even then, Dodd's Kidney Pills will positively cure.

Thousands of people are dying on their feet, but do not realize it. They notice one or more of these symptoms: shortness of breath, loss of memory, failing sight, ravenous appetite, pale or reddish urine, with brick-colored deposit, scalding when urinating, constipation, nervousness, pains in the loins. Their only hope is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They won't fail. They never do.

EARLY USES OF GLASS.

Known First to the Egyptians, but Brought to Perfection by the Romans.

In an interesting article on "Ornamental Glass In All Ages" in The Woman's Home Companion Orlena L. Shackleford has this to say of the antiquity of glass: "The Egyptians used glass ornaments largely for personal decoration. Necklaces, bracelets, beads, scarabei, etc., of exquisite beauty have been discovered in their tombs. It also served to bedeck clothing, and innumerable domestic objects were made of it for daily use. Indeed this accommodating medium was adapted by them to an infinity of purposes, being blown, cast, rolled, wrought or cut, as the worker willed, whether into statues of their gods or as glass eyes for the sightless sockets of their mummies, to express the wish of the soul to arrive safe and whole at the end of its journey. The Romans excelled the Egyptians as extensive users of glass. It served them for decoration to walls and floors, for all sorts of domestic vessels, cinerary urns and coffins (the Egyptians buried Alexander the Great in a glass coffin), for ornaments, toys, dice, draughts, chessmen and water clocks. We read of a table of solid emerald that was carried off by the Goths when they sacked the Eternal City, but it is now considered not to have been of precious stone, only fine green glass or jasper, yet deemed sufficiently valuable to be set with pearls and mounted in gold.

"These great builders, the most practical of antiquity, were not slow to realize the value of this transparent medium as a means for transmitting light into their palaces and temples, but their window panes were only from 7 to 10 inches square, and the glass was more green than white, lacking the crystal clearness of our modern productions. Glass mirrors were known to the Egyptians and Romans. Specimens have been found in the tombs of the former, and documentary evidence from Pliny, Seneca, Lucretius and others undoubtedly proves their possession by the latter. Glass was used for lamps in Pompeii, but we have no evidence of its being applied to such a purpose in Egypt, where it was appropriated more largely to ornamental and decorative rather than domestic purposes."

BLOOD BUILDING

Is the Process Carried Out by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They Make New Rich Blood which Makes Men Strong and Healthy—Banish Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The world has no use for weak, puny, useless men. The weakest must go to the wall.

The battle of life, the struggle for existence, the race for wealth, can never be won by bilious, querulous, complaining cranks.

The race is to the swift, the battle to the strong.

Waterloo was not won by bilious dyspeptics. The bullet swept heights of Alma were not stormed by thin-blooded, pale invalids. Khartoum was not taken by men who were suffering from indigestion. The charge of the Light Brigade was not made by men who were martyrs to Dyspepsia.

The soldiers who made the world gaze with astonishment on their heroic deeds, were strong, sturdy, robust men.

So it is in every walk of life. Health is absolutely necessary to success. If the digestion be perfect, good health follows, as naturally and as surely as day follows night.

If the stomach is sick, the digestion is poor, the blood is thin, weak and scanty.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets make the digestion perfect; they tone and strengthen the stomach; stimulate the secretion of an abundance of gastric juice, and so ensure a plentiful supply of rich blood.

Don't be a poor, pitiable weakling! Be strong! Be healthy! Be able to take your own part and win your own place. To this end you need only take one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after every meal.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets make new, rich blood. You'll be strong and healthy if you use them. You'll have no Dyspepsia, no Indigestion; no Biliousness if you do. Try a box and be convinced. They'll convince you and make you strong at the same time.

Irish Point Lace.

Let it not be supposed that this lace is simply an imitation of the Italian model. At first the stitches were few, but with time and practice some hundred new ones have been invented, and these so complicated that it is almost impossible to rip them. Consequently this lace, which looks light as gossamer, has great durability and grows more valuable with the lapse of time. It stands wear and tear and can be washed and made up without detriment. It is often compared to the finest old Brussels point, which it more nearly resembles now than the Italian point, from which it sprang. But what between the number of new stitches invented by the lacemakers, the variety of designs and the perfection to which the work has been brought, the Irish point has a right to its name as an original fabric, though "it only came into existence as an Irish industry within living memory."

It is made entirely with the needle and demands the greatest skill and care. The finest is very costly, rising to £80 a yard for deep flounces, £30 for a handkerchief and £50 for a fan.—Chambers' Journal.

Wash Your Hands.

It has recently been claimed that cases of infection that could be accounted for in no other way have been explained by the fingers as a vehicle. In handling money, especially of paper, doorknobs, banisters, car straps and a hundred things that every one must frequently touch, there are chances innumerable of picking up germs of typhoid, scarlatina, diphtheria, smallpox, etc. Yet some persons actually put such things in their mouths, if not too large.

Before eating or touching that which is eaten the hands should be immediately and scrupulously washed. We hear much about general cleanliness as "next to godliness." It may be added that here in particular it is also ahead of health and safety. The Jews made no mistake in that "except they washed they ate not." It is a sanitary ordinance as well as an ordinance of decency.—New York Ledger.

True Hospitality.

In a New Hampshire village many stories are told of a former resident who had a warm heart, but a tongue that did not always utter his real meaning.

One cold winter day he opened his door to see the minister, looking chill and tired, wading home through the snow after an hour spent with a needy but unpleasant parishioner.

"Come in, parson, come right in!" he called cheerily, waving his arms with hospitable intent. "My wife will make a rousing fire to warm you up. It's well started already, parson. She'll make it so hot you can't stay in the house 15 minutes!"—Youth's Companion.

The Catarrh Clutch

This Disgusting Malady is at the Throat of 900 of every 1,000 of our Country's Population.

This Is Not Hearsay. It is Borne Out by Carefully Compiled Statistics of Diseases Most Prevalent. Its Development is Watched Carefully Because it is so Sure a forerunner of Consumption if Neglected. Most Catarrh Cures Contain Cocaine, which is a Dangerous Narcotic, and Prof. Heys, of the Ontario School of Chemistry and Pharmacy, says:—

"After an examination made from samples procured on the open market, I declare that there is no COCAINE contained in the preparation of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure." Most astonishing results are daily coming into Dr. Chase's office of the cures made. Here are a few in condensed form. We ask you to call or write to the following parties if at all sceptical:

OSWALD BURKHARDT, 159 PORTLAND STREET, TORONTO, suffered from Catarrh for nine years, and was cured by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

MR. J. PALMER, HAIR DRESSER, 673 QUEEN STREET WEST, TORONTO, could not sleep for years on account of the mucus dropping into the throat; cured by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

MR. WHITCOMBE, OF THE METHODIST BOOK ROOM, TORONTO, suffered for two years; cured by one box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

MRS. COWLE, 467 QUEEN STREET EAST, TORONTO, thirteen years ago was attacked with Hay Fever. Never knew what it was to have any relief until she used Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. If anyone troubled with Catarrh calls on Mrs. Cowle she will give her endorsation as to her cure.

THE TATTLER.

Residents of Bellows Falls, Vt., have been much amused lately to see Mrs. Hetty Green walking the streets leading a tiny Skye terrier that weighs but three pounds.

Mrs. Emmons Blaine's gift of $250,000 to the University of Chicago to establish a college for teachers will be put to use at once, and the new department will be opened Oct. 1.

Miss Edith Shaw, who was commissioned by the Toronto common council to prepare the resolution of condolence to the widow of the late W. E. Gladstone, has completed her work.

Mrs. Kathleen Blake Watkins, who was married in Washington the other day to Dr. Theodore Coleman, is better known to newspaper readers as Kit, the woman who reported the war for a Toronto paper.

Mrs. Whitman of Boston has contributed a beautiful piece of woman's work in the Greek window lately put up in the Harvard Memorial hall. The window is large and has been placed opposite the main entrance of the hall.

Eldress Dorothy Durgin, whose death was recently announced from Concord, N. H., was probably the most widely known Shaker among the 18 societies in America. She came to the Shakers at Canterbury when she was only 8 years old.

Mrs. Clara P. Bourland has been elected president of the Woman's club of Peoria, Ills., for the fourteenth time. She also received a club pin set with diamonds, a gift from the members, in appreciation of her faithful service as their president.

Mrs. E. Spencer Largo of Tokyo, Japan, has been appointed by the world's executive committee of the Woman's Christian Temperance union as a resident missionary. Mrs. Large is the wife of the Rev. F. A. Large, who was murdered in Japan in 1890.

Following the example of daughters of several other prominent military and naval officers, Miss Lillian Young, daughter of a Santiago hero, General S. B. M. Young, has turned to the stage as a profession and will soon appear at one of the San Francisco theaters.

Mrs. Maria Lane of Napavine, Wash., who was fatally injured in an accident in that town recently, was one of the state's pioneers and had written a story of her life which was said to have contained a valuable history of Lewis county, but when her home was destroyed by fire not long ago the manuscript was burned with it.

Mrs. Mary Doullut, wife of Captain Doullut, a boatbuilder of New Orleans, has passed a brilliant examination as a steamboat pilot and is a member of the American Association of Masters and Pilots, having been admitted unanimously on a high rating as to knowledge and bravery. Mrs. Doullut has been married 14 years, and most of that time has been spent with her husband on the water.

After coughs and colds the germs of consumption often gain a foothold.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites will not cure every case; but, if taken in time, it will cure many.

Even when the disease is farther advanced, some remarkable cures are effected. In the most advanced stages it prolongs life, and makes the days far more comfortable. Everyone suffering from consumption needs this food tonic.

THE TRYST.

Alone I wait in the old beechwood,
At our tryst by the ruined mill,
And the only sound that greets my ear
Is the note of the whippoorwill.

The silent shades of the August eve
O'er the shadowed ruins fall,
But the only sound that comes to me
Is the whippoorwill's sweet call.

I wait in vain for a sound more sweet,
A note that is far more dear.
'Tis a signal which says one I love is high.
A whistle soft and clear.

The fireflies gleam in the old beechwood,
Where I wait by the ruined mill,
But naught I hear in the silent night
Save the lonely whippoorwill.

—Rose VanB. Speece.

Crabs and Earthquakes.

For some time previous to the day upon which the great Chilean earthquake occurred swarms of crabs of an unknown variety were seen in the bay of Payta. They all appeared to be greatly excited and were literally climbing over each other in their efforts to escape the impending calamity. There were millions of them, and "ten days after the earthquake the dead crabs were thrown upon the beach in a wall line 8 feet or 4 feet wide along the whole extent of the bay."

"To the Lamppost."

This is a mistranslation of "A la lanterne!" There was no lamppost. The lamp was hung over the middle of the street, in the center of a cord, which passed over pulleys at the sides of the street. The lamp was let down, the person to be hanged was substituted for it, and the ends of the cord pulled.—Notes and Queries.

The humming of telegraph wires is not caused by the wind, for it is heard during perfect calms. It has been conjectured that changes of temperature, which lighten or loosen the wires, probably produce the sound.

BABY'S SORE HAND

Raw Sore From Finger to Palm. Physicians and Medicines No Avail. Cured by Cuticura.

When my little boy was two years of age, dry spots commenced to appear on different parts of his body. Last winter it seemed to go to his hands, and I was obliged to keep his first three fingers done up all the time, as it was a raw sore, beginning to extend down toward the palm of the hand. We consulted three different physicians, each a certain length of time, to see a benefit of their medicines. I think now, after using CUTICURA, that some of the salves that I used did more injury than good. A gentleman (who sat next to me in church) asked me the matter with my boy's hand. I took off one of the cloths and showed him, he told me he had been in a hospital in Boston, where for all skin diseases they used CUTICURA REMEDIES. I immediately purchased CUTICURA SOAP, CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, put aside what I had been using, and began with them. Well! they cured that hand. I was afraid that this winter it would break out again, but no, it is all cured, and I have not had to have a cloth on it this winter. MRS. DIAMOND, Jan. 29, 98. 161 Bronson Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Co'y. He never does things by halves. He believes that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well, and his enterprise in showing so interesting a display of buggies, sleighs and other rigs was a practical proof of his thoroughness. His exhibit was held in a large circus tent, just west of the main building, and was the leading feature of that section. There was shown one platform spring phaeton of new design, large and roomy, with high spring back, furnished with small dash rail in front, side lamps and silver-plated dash rail and other silver-plated mountings. This handsome rig was sold to Rev. Father Casey. A "Jubilee" buggy, in a perfect piano box, was also shown, one of the most complete, substantial and stylish outfits ever put on the market. The body is trimmed in dark green leather, rubber top, with silver-plated seat handles and rails, dash rails and hub bands; gear painted in dark green and handsomely striped, and body in black, with dark olive green panel and imitation wicker seat. A young man's buggy was a stylish, light, roomy rig, with a full-width solid-back seat. A Buffalo road side bar buggy was shown, and a Corning road Queen; also an Ontario side spring jump seat buggy, which attracted considerable attention. The jump seat combination is quite a novelty. It makes a compact one or two seat vehicle for parties who do not wish to afford both a buggy and a Surrey, the combination being so arranged that comfortable seating room can be made for two or four. A canopy-top Mikado shown was an elegant family rig. It was finished in sycamore panels with the gear and wheels grained to correspond. It was sold to a merchant in Little Britain. A good design of road cart was shown, being as fine looking rider as one would desire. Two comfortable cutters were shown in plush trimmings, elegant in design, substantial in construction, artistic painting and finish, full trimmed with silver tipped shafts and new adjustable cutter dash. Mr. Succee is prepared to guarantee his goods. The name plate of his goods, The Canada Carriage Company, is sufficient as to quality of work, while the styles and finish speak for themselves. Special guarantee on wheels, axles and springs. Mr. Succee also showed a solidly built, well finished farm waggon and several sets of harness, showing the new rubber trimmings, so serviceable for ever purpose.

ROY'S HIGH-CLASS PHOTOGRAPHY.

Lovers of the fine art enjoyed a treat in a remarkably fine exhibition of high class photography by Mr. R. M. Roy. His artistic posing, rich and delicate toning and superb finish were reflected very strongly. Particular mention is made of two grand photos, in both of which the very finest effects in temperament are brought out. There was also an interesting display of groups, including the 57th Batt. Band, the members of the County Council, Nicholls Hospital Nurses, the Peterborough (Colts) hockey club. Very fine samples of enlarged work were shown, one of a Montreal society lady, in 24x36 gilt frame; also enlarged coloured photos of Kivas Tully, Esq., and a happy snap of a cute little child. An exquisite photographic effect on porcelain was shown—a new branch of the business, which Mr. Roy has also mastered. A number of local views were given, taken by Mr. Roy's wonderful new camera, the Alvista, the only one of the kind in Canada. The well-arranged display of cabinet photos showed the work of a painstaking and thorough artist in every day work, as well as an enthusiast in his profession. It is a pleasure to give credit to such excellent work from a local studio. Mr. Roy stated in an interview that he was not content with a mediocrity of success in his profession, and confidently asserted that his work could not be excelled.

NOTES.

Dr. Willoughby stated that the best yearling on the grounds yesterday was sired by Pat. Clunan's "Duke."

After judging the light horses yesterday Dr. Willoughby made the statement that in the class of 15¼ hands and under every horse shown was worthy of a prize. The quality was the best he had ever seen in a prize ring, but many of the horses were not broken properly.

If These = HATS =

FIT—IT'S YOUR CHANCE.

Did it ever occur to you how systematic nature is in cleaning up the remnants of one season to make room for the blossoming of another? She always employs the sharp blasts of winter to cut loose the Autumn leaves, rather than have them on the trees to be pushed off by spring buds. Shall we be less enterprising and allow summer Hats and Caps to remain until pushed aside by the heavy stock of Fall and Winter goods? No indeed! So here they go.

These Hats and Caps are the remaining summer stock; fine for fall, because present styles are very much like them, all the difference is most of the Summer Hats are a little lighter in weight and colours, but, we offer all $2.50 qualities for $1.25, all $2.00 qualities for $1.00, all $1 50 qualities for 75c. These prices stand for more hat-goodness than we ever offered at the price before—cost is not considered.

A BIG LOT of YACHTING and GOLF SUMMER CAPS with Leather Peaks, choice now for 25c, worth 50c; also All-Linen Golf Caps now 15c, worth 25 and 30c each; a few Linen Hats left to clear for 15c, worth 40 to 50c each.

SECURE THESE AT ONCE as they can't last long.

We have a full line of Best-to-be-had Headwear fo Fall, new Styles, new Colours.

This is no boastful statement. You can look around and make your own enquiries to verify these facts.

THE KNIFE that the tailor guided in cutting out the Clothing for Gough Bros. is not the only one that has been used, for we have employed a KEENER BLADE than that in cutting down prices.

THE U. S. INTEREST IN CHINA.

Brother Jonathan Sends Warships to Tien Tsin—Admiral Dewey Ordered to Send a Portion of His Fleet to Near the Chinese Capital—Other News by Cable.

Shanghai, Oct. 4.—The Dowager Empress has issued an edict in the name of the Emperor, declaring that Kang Yuwei, the Cantonese reformer, headed an attempt on the life of the Dowager Empress, and conspired to subvert the Manchu dynasty, in both of which he has been detected and his plans foiled. Therefore he and his partizans were traitors and worthy of death.

Emperor Tried to Escape.

London, Oct. 4.—The Pekin correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing on Sept. 29, says that the Emperor vainly tried to escape from the Palace, but was arrested by the Dowager's people. The correspondent also says that Chou Shu Chao, Vice-President of the Board of Punishment, has been appointed to succeed Chang Hsun as director of the Board of Mines and Railways.

UNITED STATES INTERESTED.

Two of Dewey's Cruisers to Be Sent to Tien Tsin—The Legation Requires the Guard.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The State Department has received the following telegram from Minister Conger at Pekin: "There is no serious danger yet, but considerable anxiety for the future. The foreign fleet is assembling at Tien Tsin. Some of the Ministers are ordering marines to Pekin for Legation guard."

Admiral Dewey to Send Two Warships to China.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Secretary Long, upon advices received at the State Department showing the existence of threatening conditions in China, has ordered Admiral Dewey to send two warships immediately from Manila to a point as near the Chinese capital as possible for a warship to approach. The vessels selected for this undertaking are the Baltimore and Petrel. It is expected that the Baltimore will not be able to get beyond the Taku forts, at the entrance of the Pang Hes river, upon which Pekin is situated, but the Petrel, being of smaller proportions, may be able to reach Tien Tsin, eighty miles above the mouth, and about the same distance below Pekin. The officials keenly regret that there is not now on the Asiatic station a light draught gunboat of the Helena class which could ascend the river as far as the Chinese capital.

A German Warship for Taku.

London, Oct. 4.—A special despatch from Shanghai says that telegrams from Pekin have been detained two days. The last telegram received, according to this despatch, announces that the foreign Ministers had held an emergency meeting. The German warship at Kiao Chou, it also stated, had started hurriedly for Taku the day before.

The Pekin correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, telegraphing Saturday by way of Shanghai, says:

"A mob is menacing foreigners. The wife of the Italian Minister was attacked yesterday while on her way to church, and several Americans coming from the railway were wounded by stones. The foreign Ministers have sent a collective note to the Government asking for the suppression of these outrages and the punishment of the culprits.

Praising Uncle Sam.

London, Oct. 4.—The Times, the Morning Post and the Daily Mail this morning editorially praise America's characteristic promptitude in despatching warships to Pekin and welcome the prospect of joint Anglo-American co-operation in China.

FRANCE AND FASHODA.

France May Claim to Be the Open Door Champion in Africa.

Paris, Oct. 4.—Major de Brazza, the well-known French explorer, speaking Sunday at a meeting at Bordeaux to welcome M. Liotard, who has just returned from Congo, said that Major Marchand's mission had just crowned a work that had been pursued for 11 years. France was thereby enabled to assist in settling the Nile question. He instanced the neutrality of the Congo waterway which had been regulated by the intervention of the powers.

M. de Brazza proceeded to glorify the act of Berlin, which, he said, had inaugurated the principle of the new law founded on freedom of trade and free navigation of the great rivers of Africa.

The speech is important, as it suggests that France will profess to be the champion of the "open door" in Africa, as England has done in China.

THE PEACE COMMISSION.

American Commissioners Said to Have Made a Serious Demand.

Paris, Oct. 4.—Yesterday's session of the Peace Commission lasted until 4 o'clock, at which hour the commissioners adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock next Friday afternoon, such interval being desirable and necessary to allow separate consideration by each commission of matters requiring such course before being presented to the joint commission. The interval will thus be filled with work by each commission, the ultimate results so being facilitated.

It is believed that the American Commissioners made a serious demand for the cession of the entire Philippines. The Spanish Commission build great hopes on Gen. Merritt, who is said to believe that the Filipinos are incapable of self government.

Knocked Spaniards Silly.

Madrid, Oct. 4.—The reported intention of the United States Government to retain the whole of the Philippine Islands has created almost a state of stupefaction here, and it is semi-officially announced that the Spanish Government has resolved vigorously to combat any such action, which, it is claimed, the terms of the peace protocol preclude.

CROW'S NEST PASS RAILWAY

Will Reach Kootenay Lake by To-Night—Connection With Nelson.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—The management of the C.P.R. announce that the Crow's Nest Pass Railway will be completed to the shore of Kootenay Lake by to-night. It appears that it is not the intention of the company to go on with the work any further at the present time, but a service between the terminus of the line on Kootenay Lake and Nelson will be maintained by a steamboat service which is now in readiness to go ahead. The management state, however, that the line to Nelson will be completed within the time stipulated in the contract with the Government.

Cyclists Want Equal Rights.

Quebec, Oct. 4.—Mr. W. J. Ritchie, representing the Cyclist Association of Canada, is in town to urge upon the members of the International Conference the increase of the tariff on cycles from 30 per cent., as it is in Canada, to 40 per cent., as it is now in the United States.

Henry George Has Declined.

New York, Oct. 4.—Henry George has declined the nomination for Governor on the ticket placed in the field by the Chicago Platform Democrats and the committee had authority to fill the vacancy and nominated Henry M. MacDonald of the County of New York for the place.

Col. Du Paty de Clam in Rome.

Rome, Oct. 4.—The Tribune maintains that Col. Du Paty de Clam, prominently connected with the Dreyfus matters, has been in Rome for some days.

Chaplain Drowned Himself.

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—Advices from Japan bring the news of the death of the Rev. Thadeus F. Freeman, chaplain of the U. S. warship Baltimore at Nagasaki. From all accounts Freeman committed suicide while in a state of mental depression consequent upon his failing health. He jumped overboard from the transport Zealandia, and was drowned before any assistance could be rendered him.

Crow's Nest Grievances.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—The Canadian Pacific Railway has sent out a statement of its case in the matter of the alleged cruelty to workmen on the line. The company affirms that, so far as it is concerned, there was no cruelty or injustice; that many men not used to hard manual labor went to work and, naturally, failed, and then claimed a grievance against the company.

MARK STREET CHURCH RE-OPENING.

Services Held on Sunday—Description of the Improvements Made.

On Sunday the religious re-opening services in connection with Mark street church were held. In the morning and in the evening the sermons were preached by Rev. Mr. Joliffe, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and in the afternoon Rev. S. J. Shorey, Chairman of the District, occupied the pulpit. All the sermons were listened to by large and attentive audiences.

On Monday evening tea was served in the new basement from 6 to 8, after which an adjournment was made to the auditorium of the church, when a meeting was held, the pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., occupying the chair, in the enforced absence of Hon. Senator Cox, who was expected to be present, but was suddenly called to Chicago. He showed his interest in the work, however, by sending a check for $25 to assist the building fund.

A basement has been put in under the church, and the auditorium has been entirely renovated. The seats are new and very handsome and comfortable. The ceiling and walls are papered, and a chancel has been made at the back of the church for the choir. This not only gives more room, but is otherwise a great improvement. The tower which has been erected at the front of the church adds greatly to its good appearance, and when the outside is painted, as it will be at once, the appearance both outside and inside will be very pleasing.

The hearty thanks of the congregation are due and tendered to the visiting clergymen, who so ably assisted. In the matter of finances no one excels the genial Rev. A. Campbell, of Belleville, and he and Mr. Joliffe will be always welcome at Mark street. We were also much pleased to have with us Rev. Mr. Shorey and Rev. Mr. Potter, both of whom expressed their pleasure at being present, and at the success of the undertaking.

Mark street church is now as comfortable, convenient and attractive as any church in Peterborough for its size, and should continue to grow and flourish. The President of Conference paid a deserved compliment to Rev. Mr. Moore when he spoke of him as a faithful worker in the cause of the Master. Any one who has not been at Mark street for a few years would hardly recognize the place now, so many changes and improvements have been made.

Services are held every Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., at which all are welcome. The Sunday school meets at 2.30 in the basement, and the E. L. meets on Monday evenings at 8 in the same place. The Wednesday evening prayer meeting at 8 o'clock is open to all. The Women's Missionary Society meets the first Wednesday, and the Ladies' Aid the third Wednesday in each month. At the ladies' meeting all ladies are always welcome, and everybody is cordially invited to all the other services. Credit is due to all concerned for the work that has been done, and a bright future opens up before the Mark street Methodist church.

Rev. A. Campbell of Belleville, had charge of financial matters, and at each service solicited subscriptions to cover the debt incurred by the alterations and improvements. The total cost was $1,467, and to cover this $1,601 were subscribed, including the collections, proceeds of the tea, etc. This sum will be sufficient to cover both the principal and the interest, and all concerned are to be congratulated on the success which has crowned their efforts.

As the time was limited the addresses were made very brief, a few remarks being made by Revs. Joliffe, Shorey, Potter, Campbell and Moore.

The congregation is well pleased with the new church, and with having the entire debt fully covered.

The work has been done by Mr. W. J. Johnstone, who has done a first-class job. The furnace was purchased from Mr. Micks, and the organ from the Peterborough Music store.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

Villagers Petition against being made fun of in Effigy.

Ashburnham Council met last night. Present, Reeve Adams and Councillors Craig, Johnston, Rutherford and Morgan.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received from Cor. Sec. Citizens' Committee, Merriton, re asking for relief in connection with the late disaster in that place.—Received.

A petition signed by the following: A. McArthy, I. Dormer, D. Hopkins, T. Mitchell, James Telford, To J. Wood, Clerk: We, the undersigned, do strongly protest against the action of our chief magistrate and officers in sanctioning the putting up of effigies and slanderous mottoes personally slandering respectable ratepayers of the village of Ashburnham and further we give you notice that we will prosecute any officer who fails to do his duty in allowing such immoral notices and effigies to hang up before the public view.—Received.

An agreement in duplicate between the Grand Trunk Railway and the village re. lowering railroad crossings on certain streets and diverting a portion of the drainage—Approved.

The treasurer presented his statement from September 4th to 30th inclusive:

Expenditures	$ 204 12
Receipts	278 33
Balance on hand	450 06

Moved by Messrs. Johnston and Morgan that the contract between G.T.R. and corporation of Ashburnham be approved of, and that the reeve and clerk be authorized to sign the same and have the corporate seal affixed thereto.

RE DISTURBANCES, ETC.

Councillor Craig contended that the village constable had not done his duty. Mr. Johnston also spoke of occasions when ladies were insulted on the streets. They thought it was a disgrace to the village that such a state of affairs should exist, as that during the past week in connection with the old house on Elisabeth street. Councillors Morgan and Rutherford thought that the constable had done his duty. No complaints had been laid. Action will be taken in reference to the ladies who were insulted. It was decided to make an example of the boys who are in the habit of playing cards in the cricket field on Sunday.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Morgan, that the amount of fifty dollars be granted toward the work being done on the boundary line between Douro and Ashburnham, according to agreement, and that the treasurer be instructed to pay to Mr. A. Fitzgerald the said amount.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr. Craig, that the dog tax of Mrs. D. O'Brien be remitted for 1898, the dog being dead.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Johnston, that in view of the decision the village solicitor has given in reference to Mr. Hamilton's rent, that the rents of Mr. Kerr and Mr. Maniece be $50.00 per year, the same as Mr. Hamilton's, and that they be refunded the amount they have paid over said sum.—Carried.

Pain in the Back.

Being troubled of and on with pains in my back, caused by constipation, I tried several kinds of pills I had seen advertised, and to put the truth in a nut shell, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the only pills that have proved effectual in my case. I can heartily recommend them.

GRAND TRUNK STANDING.

The Half Yearly Report Shows an Increase in the Net Traffic Receipts and in the Net Revenue.

London, Oct. 4.—The half yearly report of the Grand Trunk Railway, just issued, shows the net traffic receipts for the six months ended June 30 to be £627,850 and the net revenue £780,672.

As a matter of comparison, for the same period in the previous year the respective amounts were £559,928 and £654,895.

Adding a small balance of £15 to the surplus of the past half year leaves the total amount available for the purposes of dividend, £106,667.

The directors on this favorable showing recommend payment of the full half year's dividend on four per cent. guaranteed stock, absorbing the sum of £104,395, leaving a balance of £2,272 to add to the next half year's accounts.

The passenger traffic, as compared with the same period in 1897, shows a decrease of £25,656, attributed to the cutting of rates necessitated by the actions of competing roads. The mail service, express, freight, live stock and miscellaneous show combined an increase of £115,103. The number of passengers carried for the six months shows a falling off of 61,382 as compared with the first half year of 1897.

The working expenses were £1,943,883 or 68.46 per cent. In the half year of 1897 they were £1,196,618, or 68.12 per cent.

The re-arrangement of the international bridge at Buffalo will be renewed at an early date.

Referring to the president's recent visit of inspection to Canada, the report says the Canadian Pacific dispute being settled, there are no valid reasons why the local passenger fares reduced by the company should not be restored and the differences in the North Bay line lease settled.

Negotiations are in progress to submit the points of difference to arbitration.

The result of the past half year's operations show improvements costing £103,493. Several bridges between Montreal are to be removed and also on the Southern division.

It is expected that the Victoria bridge new double track will be opened on January 1.

Dr. Nancy Guilford Gets a Remand.

London, Oct. 4.—Dr. Nancy Guilford, the midwife of Bridgeport, Conn., or the woman suspected of being Dr. Guilford, was remanded at Bow Street Police Court here yesterday for a week. The prisoner listened unmoved to the evidence presented against her.

SWISS ARBITRATORS' DECISION

Expected in a Day or Two in London—The Stand England Takes.

London, Oct. 4.—The decision of the Swiss arbitrators in the Delagoa Bay Railway matter is expected in a day or two. It is understood the award to be paid by Portugal to McMurdo Concessionaries will run into millions sterling, and as Portugal cannot find this money, she must sell something. England will no doubt provide Portugal with money in return for a long lease of the railway. The origin of the idea of a joint Anglo-German guarantee seems to have been abandoned in favor of a solely British financial operation.

THE PALACE CAR BONANZA.

Railroad Commissioners of the U.S. Are Looking Into It.

San Francisco, Oct. 4—The railroad commissioners are beginning their work upon the Pullman Palace Car Company. The expert accountant, Col. Polk, who is employed by the commission, has made an examination into the affairs of the Pullman Company, and the most startling disclosures have resulted.

It is safe to say that the returns of the Pullman Company exceed those of any railroad corporation in the country.

The commission will attempt to bring about a reduction of rates, using the report of Mr. Polk as a basis.

Making Their Last Round.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 4.—The British naval squadron in Newfoundland waters is engaged in making a last round of the coast, visiting the French fishermen off the treaty coast and gathering data regarding the fishery for the use of the Royal Commission.

Commodore Bourke on his flagship, the cruiser Cordelia, will have a series of consultations with the commissioners on returning here on Oct. 10.

For Using State Funds.

Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—District Attorney Graham yesterday afternoon stated that warrants had been issued charging United States Senator Quay, his son, Richard R. Quay, ex-State Treasurer Benjamin J. Haywood and Charles R. McKee, with conspiracy with the late John S. Hopkins, formerly cashier of the People's Bank, to make use of the State's funds in stock speculation.

British and Canadian Day at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 4.—A telegram from Ottawa states that Hon Clifford Sifton, Canadian Minister of the Interior, and Charles W. Spears of the same department, and other distinguished Canadian statesmen will come to Omaha on October 15 to celebrate British and Canadian day at the exposition.

Cyclone Victims Now Number Five.

St. Catharines, Oct. 4.—Just at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the death took place at the hospital of James McCarthy, the young man so badly hurt in the Merritton cyclone. He was very greatly respected and a general favorite, being just 20 years of age. This swells the death list to five in the late cyclone.

Held Up the Stage Coach.

Empire City, Ore., Oct. 4.—About 4 o'clock Sunday morning the Roseburgh-Myrtle Point stage coach was robbed about one mile west of the latter place by a lone highwayman. The robber secured the registered mail sack, containing between $800 and $1,000.

A HARD RAILROAD TO BEAT.

One Man Is Double Distilled Ill Luck Found It So.

The Southern Pacific is about the worst road in the wide, wide world to fool in the matter of transportation. The Southern Pacific has such a plain monopoly of California business that it is not necessary for it to look for favors, so it closes down very tight. Even the tickets which the scalpers succeed in getting are so hedged about with precautions that it is like taking a civil service examination to beat one of them.

The favorite is a long slip which is designed to be punched to fit the description of the purchaser, so that by no means can it be used by another than the rightful owner. When one of these tickets appears in a scalper's stock, it looks like a porous plaster, being punctured for the color of the eyes, the hair, stature, weight, complexion and other details of the physical make up.

Once Jim Crawford of Laramie found himself stuck in San Francisco with $4 and a fearful hunger for home. But $4 was as nothing to the fare back over the desert. While he was worrying his soul with regrets he came upon a neatly folded slip of paper which had been lost, doubtless by some hurried tourist. It was one of those pieces of organette music representing a ride back to Ogden.

Jim read it over, printed matter, punches and all, and rushed for a drug store. He bought dyes for his hair, a stain for his complexion, got a pair of blue goggles and ran a concealing bandage over his chin. A barber took off his mustache, and for a dollar a cheap oculist made his eyes blue, so that the goggles were re-enforced with corroboration. It took all his money but 40 cents. Then he climbed aboard the train.

He had reached Port Costa when the conductor came around and gave one hurried look at the ticket.

"This thing expired a month ago," he said tersely.

The telegraph poles were pendulous with blue and brimstone for two weeks after Crawford had finished his walk back to Oakland.—Chicago Record.

"NO BOXES SOLD HERE."

A Sign Displayed In Shops Which Guard Carefully Their Reputations.

"No Boxes Sold Here" is the sign that hangs in one of the principal jewelry establishments in the city. The sign made its appearance after the shopping of one Christmas season. But there is no time of the year in which the demand for boxes is quite discontinued, and the sign serves its purpose always.

The demand for boxes was prompted by the amiable desire to deceive some friend or relative into the belief that the article presented to him came from the best establishment in the city. Similar attempts are made at the well known glass and china shops, at one of the well known French confectioners and at all of the establishments which have made a reputation in some particular field.

Nearly all of these answer such applications with the words of the sign, "No Boxes Sold Here," but there are some few which sell them as regularly as they do other objects of merchandise and are quite indifferent to what becomes of them so long as they get their rather high prices for the empty boxes bearing the name of the firm. Similar indifference is shown by a well known English pickle factory, which allows its labels to be sold here and pasted over any sort of stuff that the purchaser of them happens to concoct.—New York Sun.

The Nose Lasts Longest.

Bone and cartilage enter so largely into the structure of the nose and determine its characteristics that it undergoes little perceptible change, as a rule, with the lapse of years. The brow becomes wrinkled, and crows' feet gather round the eyes, which themselves gradually grow dim as time rolls on. Cheeks lose the bloom which cosmetics cannot replace and lips their fullness and color.

The chin, dimpled in youth, develops angularities or globularities, as the case may be, and the eyebrows become heavy with the crop of many years' growth. The nose shows no mark comparable to these familiar facial indications of the approach of old age and practically enjoys immunity from the ravages which time makes on the other features of the face. Next to the nose, probably the ears, as a rule, show the fewest and least obvious signs of old age.

A Curious Sight.

In Japan the traveler sees many curious sights. One of the strangest of which is the population washing itself at the corners of streets toward evening. In Yeddo the citizens frequent large bathing establishments. The street doors of such resorts stand open, and a striking spectacle, to say the least, is presented by the inmates sitting washing themselves with the utmost unconcern. This is a general custom, and nothing whatever is thought of it. Such an apparent want of modesty is difficult to comprehend and is not reconcilable with the advanced state of civilization of the Japanese. In many other of the manners and customs do the Japs offer a striking antagonism to those accepted by us.

ASSURANCE CO.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & Co., 17 to 27 King St., East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,920.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,080 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, same policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endownment at the end of the Investment period.

Bring a few dollars to prove that you mean business, and we will arrange any reasonable terms for the balance. Advise with your family and decide where you wish to buy, what price you can afford to pay, how much you can pay down and how you can pay balance. FLOODED BRUNSWICK.

A Thousand Houses and Stores Damaged in a Georgia Town—Seventy Miles of Wrecked Country.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 4.—The Morning News correspondent at Brunswick, Ga., has filed the following bulletin at Baxley, Ga.:

"Brunswick and its vicinity flooded and inundated; a thousand houses and stores damaged; one-half million property loss and list of dead, now small, is increasing. Three thousand people sought refuge from rising waters and 30 blocks in heart of city were under six feet of water for 12 hours. I left on special train with two operators and instruments to tap wire. Struck an opening here and believe I am the only newspaper man that got out of Brunswick with story of greatest flood since the Sea Island affair. Seventy miles of wrecked country just passed through."

Biggest Strike in History of Typographical Unions Imminent.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 4.—The Post yesterday says: One of the biggest strikes in the history of typographical unions is an event of the near future. It will be a concerted move for a working day of nine hours, and will evidently be fought to a finish. Word was received in Pittsburg on Saturday by the local Typographical Union to be ready for the strike in the near future. The prevailing opinion among the trade seems to be that it will be called on or before Oct. 10.

Will a Strike Result?

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 4.—November 1 is the day set by the local Typographical Union for the concerted movement looking to the nine-hour day in book and job offices. It is hardly thought that a general strike will result, but in anticipation of the unexpected, an assessment of one per cent. is being levied on the printers' wages as a defence fund.

Feathers to Stockings.

Economical Suggestions for Women and Girls.

The hat and bonnet, with its trimmings of feathers, ribbon or velvet, the silk neck scarf and tie, the cape, jacket, blouse, waist, skirt, and stockings, are all outward articles of feminine attire costing considerable money and demand close attention, so that daily neatness and good taste be maintained from day to day.

When articles of everyday wear such as we have mentioned become faded and dingy, they are usually cast aside by the inexperienced and careless, who forget that the garments are still whole and yet serviceable. A few economical suggestions at this time will be useful.

Thrifty, wise and economical women and girls know just what to do when confronted with such a problem. They have a full knowledge of what can be done with the wonderful Diamond Dyes, those marvellous money savers, and they act accordingly. They use Fast Black Diamond Dyes prepared specially for feathers, which give a deep, rich and lasting black, making the feathers equal to new ones. The frayed and lifeless silk ties, scarfs, sashes and gloves are quickly made new creations by the Diamond Dyes. The faded jacket, cape, blouse, skirt and stockings are easily transformed to suit the taste of the wearer.

Wise women know well that failure is impossible when the popular Diamond Dyes are used, as the manufacturers have a special black dye for feathers, and special dyes for silk, wool, all cotton, and for goods made of mixed or union goods.

IN THE DUMPS.

A Big Increase in the Visible Wheat Supply Causes Depression in the Wheat Markets—Prices.

Monday Evening, Oct. 3.

Weaker cables, large primary and Northwest receipts, an unexpectedly big increase in the visible supply, a falling off in the cash demand, and dropping cash prices at Minneapolis and St. Louis all combined to exert a depressing influence on Chicago wheat quotations to-day, but there was a firmer feeling towards the close, futures making a net gain over Saturday's final figures of ⅛c to ⅜c per bushel

Liverpool wheat showed no strength to-day, futures declining ¼d to ½d per cental.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has increased 1,955,000 bushels, that of corn has increased 1,754,000 bushels, and that of oats has increased 693,000 bushels.

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 34,143,000 bushels, against 28,828,000 bushels a week ago and 46,044,000 bushels a year ago.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—There were about 700 head of butchers' cattle, 40 calves and 2100 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, and there was good bidding for the best cattle, but all other kinds were dull of sale and brought lower prices.

Mr. Martel bought seven choice cattle at 4½c per lb. Pretty good stock sold at from 3¾c to 4c per lb. Common dry cows and thrifty young stock at from 2¾c to 3¼c and the leaner beasts at from 2c to 2½c per lb. There were several persons purchasing stockers for the Buffalo market. They paid from 2½c to 3c per lb. for stockers and heifers, and from 2c to 2½c per lb. for small bulls. Calves sold at from $1.50 to $17 each, and from 3c to 5c per lb. Sheep sell at from 3¼c to 3½c per lb. Lambs at from 3¾c to 4¼c per lb. Fat hogs are still declining in price, and sold to-day at about 4¾c per lb. for fed hogs.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 3.—Cattle—Offerings, 225 loads, including 95 loads of Canada stockers. The weather was very hot, and in consequence the market opened slow on all but the most desirable grades of butchers and the scarcer kinds. There was little or no export demand, and, with about 12 loads on sale, the market ruled 10c to 15c lower and prices weak. The early sales of the best fresh cows were at $2 to $3 per head higher and quite strong, and springers were strong at last week's prices. Late in the day springers dragged and cows were weak. Calves were in fair supply, moderate demand and lower than last Monday. Stockers were in too large supply and ¼c lower. Good to best smooth fat export steers, $5.25 to $5.40; good to best, $4.85 to $5.15; common to good butcher bulls, $3 to $3.25; heifers, good to best fat, $4 to $4.25; fat cows, good to best, $3.50 to $4; stockers, choice to extra quality, $4 to $4.20; common to good do., $3.50 to $3.90; fresh cows, choice to extra, $50 to $65; good to choice, $45 to $50; springers, good to extra, $35 to $50; calves, choice to extra, $6.50 to $6.75; good to choice, $6 to $6.50; calves, heavy, $3 to $4.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervous ness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? In Death. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

The Hospital Concert.

To avoid delay and confusion at the doors it would be well for all those holding reserved seat tickets to have them marked off on the plan at Lynch's drug store before the evening. Indications point to a crowded house to-morrow evening, and the Sisters earnestly appeal to their many friends in the name of Him who said: "Forasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me." No charity appeals more strongly to the general public than the work of St. Joseph's Hospital and its annexes of House Providence for the aged poor and Asylum for Orphans. It is only by means of concerts and the like and the voluntary offerings of the generously inclined and those who remember that "The poor ye have always with you," that these several noble works can be carried on, and the committee in charge confidently expect a full house. Rosa d'Erina will sing, and this fact alone should ensure a large attendance. Mayor Davis has kindly consented to act as chairman. The opening chorus will be quite new to Canada and is said to be magnificent. 1d

VICTORIA MUSEUM.

The Museum Committee Secures Mr Bicome's Magnificent Natural History Collection.

A meeting of the Victoria Museum Committee was held yesterday afternoon. At this meeting the negotiations with Mr. E. Bicome, taxidermist, for the possession of his splendid collection of natural history specimens, were brought to a gratifying issue. It was decided to purchase the collection and install it as speedily as possible in the Victoria Museum.

The committee has for more than a year been working to the end of securing a collection of this kind. The lion in the path has been the expense. But this obstacle has been overcome, and the work of the committee has been rewarded by acquiring possession of one of the best collections of Canadian beasts and birds in the Province. This collection is not only entertaining but instructive as well. It embraces the entire fauna of Ontario—which includes that of nearly the whole of Canada. The specimens are splendidly preserved and mounted, and labelled with the popular as well as the scientific names.

The expense of acquiring this collection, which is of a value approximating $400, exclusive of cases, has been large. The committee has assumed the responsibility, and naturally expects the public to assist them.

The following is an inventory of the Natural History subjects procured by the committee:

No.	Name of Subjects.	Cases.	No of Subjects
1—3	cases small birds, 30x40	3	125

[The delay in opening the museum has given the public the idea that the committee has been slow or remiss in prosecuting the work. But the results indicated above show that it has been quietly at work. It must be remembered that the committee has been hampered, especially in the matter of securing the Elcome collection by lack of funds. In spite of this drawback the members have patiently and persistently plodded and brought matters to the point of securing the coveted collection. They have assumed the responsibility and it is to be expected that the public will stand by and support the committee. The work is done in the public interest and the public will have its opportunity of free access to the museum, therefore it is only natural that the public should be looked to to extend some of the financial assistance needed, as well as to further embellish the museum by contributing or loaning, or procuring the contribution or loan of rare objects of interest.

TWO FIRES.

A Barn Containing Two Cows was Burnt in Ashburnham.

In the fire which occurred yesterday afternoon on the premises of Mr. John Carlisle, Ashburnham, his barn, containing two cows was entirely consumed. Ther was also a buggy and a cutter in the barn, which were lost. There was no insurance whatever on the building or contents and Mr. Carlisle figures his loss at about $300.

The fire originated, it is thought, in a pile of oat sheaves which were in an open shed in the rear and becoming wet by recent rains heated up yesterday and broke out into flames.

Mr. Carlisle desires to thank the employees of Mr. Curtis, who stopped work and rallied to his assistance with such good-will as to confine the flames to the barn, although the house was only fifteen feet distant.

The alarm this morning was caused by a blaze breaking out in the ruins of an old barn on Aylmer street, near Hunter, belonging to Mr. T. Bradburn. It was on fire last week.

BRAVERY WAS REWARDED.

GEORGE WALLACE AND JOHN ALEXANDER RECEIVE TESTIMONIALS.

The Royal Canadian Humane Association Parchments Presented by Mayor Davis Last Evening.

At last evening's meeting of the council Messrs. George Wallace and John Alexander were made the recipients of testimonials from the Royal Canadian Humane Association for an act of great bravery performed in conjunction with Mr. William Miller, in an endeavour to save young Switzer last winter at the mouth of Bottle Creek.

The testimonials were presented by Mayor Davis, who read the following address in connection with the presentation:

GENTLEMEN,—Before we proceed with the business of the council this evening, I have a pleasant duty to perform. I have been asked to present to three gentlemen, Messrs. George Wallace, John Alexander, honorary testimonials of the Royal Canadian Humane Association for conspicuous courage in going to the rescue of two drowning men in Lake Ketchecum on the 20th of March last. At the mouth of Bottle Creek, Henry Switzer broke through the ice, and his brother, who went to his assistance, also broke through into the water. A third brother shouted for assistance, and the gentlemen we have the privilege of honouring this evening, in the face of the danger they knew lurked for them in the treacherous ice, rushed to the rescue. Soon all were struggling in the water, and it was only by heroic efforts that they saved their own lives and that of one of the Switzer brothers. Mr. Miller being conspicuous in the company of courageous men for his brave actions in assisting his companions in danger. It is right that such heroic conduct should be recognized. The Royal Humane Association does not pretend to reward acts of courage such as this. Men who have such love for their fellows that they will imperil their own lives to rescue others do not look for and would not accept rewards. But it is right that such courageous and self-sacrificing conduct should be recognized, and I am glad that in Canada such a society as this Association exists and that there are thoughtful men who, with that admiration for heroism that everyone shares, are ready and willing to give time and trouble to bring the facts properly before the Association. It gives me great pleasure on behalf of the association to present these testimonials to these gentlemen. Mr. Wallace and Mr. Alexander are old citizens of our town, and we are pleased to do them honour.

On behalf of the Royal Canadian Humane Association, therefore, I present you, gentlemen, with these honorary testimonials, and at the same time assure you that all who have heard of your heroic conduct at Lake Ketchecum unite heartily in the terms of prise which the Association has inscribed on the parchments.

Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, who was present, also made a few remarks upon the invitation of the Mayor. As to his interest in bringing the matter to the attention of the Royal Canadian Humane Association, he thought any Canadian would have done the same, as Canadians loved to see bravery recognized, especially in this era when there was comparatively little of it seen. Since the world began it had been the custom to reward brovery and so far as Mr. J. B. McWilliams and himself were concerned they had been only to happy to render whatever assistance laid in their power.

ALL SAINTS CHURCH.

Highly Successful Celebration of the First Anniversary.

Events have justified the bright hopes entertained upon the opening of All Saints church a year ago. The year has been one of progress and the celebration of the first anniversary yesterday was in every way successful.

At all the services the attendance was good. At the early celebration of Holy Communion there was a large attendance, as also at the morning service, when Rev. G. C. Mackenzie, of Grace church, Brantford, preached an excellent sermon. At this service the Te Deum was Hopkins' and the offertory anthem Simper's "Break Forth Into Joy."

An interesting Sunday school service was held at three o'clock.

At the evening service the church could not contain the worshippers, many having to turn away. Rev. Mr. Mackenzie again preached an excellent sermon and the music was unusually good. Plummer's evening service was sung and the offertory anthem "Praise the Lord," by Sir George Elvey, was well sung, the fugue passages being taken with fine effect. The offertory during the day amounted to nearly $60.

The services throughout were very successful and the energetic and faithful curate, Rev. W. Leslie Armitage, and his congregation, which gives him such hearty co-operation, are to be congratulated.

Councillor J. M. White and Hamilton moved that the last clause be referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to report.—The amendment was carried and the report was adopted, with the exception of the clause referred to.

THE STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE reported as appended, through its chairman, Councillor Dawson:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee received a petition from property owners on the south side of Charlotte street, asking that the granolithic sidewalk be constructed on that side of Charlotte street, from George to Bethune streets, as a local improvement to be paid for in accordance with Section 678 of the Municipal Act. We examined the petition and found it sufficiently signed. We recommend that the sidewalk be built from George to Aylmer streets, eight feet wide, this year and that Dolan & Sheehy be instructed to construct that portion on the same terms as their present contract, provided they will drop the Water street section of their contract if the town so desire, and that the balance asked for in the petition, from Aylmer to Bethune streets, be constructed next year.

2. We recommend that the town furnish the crushed granite for the Government contractors for the repairs of the sidewalk at the post office.

3. That the street inspector be instructed to repair the sidewalk on Aylmer street from the railway to Antrim street.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

ADAM DAWSON,
Chairman.

Peterborough, Oct. 3rd, 1898.

Councillor Dawson thought that it would be hardly fair of the council to ask the pavement contractors to drop the Water street contract, as this was a portion of the work on which they expected to make some profit, not having areas, etc., to contend with. He moved the adoption of the report, with the exception of the words referring to the dropping of the Water street portion of the work.

Councillor Langford stated that over 2,000 feet of walk had been given the contractors more than they expected in the Charlotte street contract. The committee had grave reasons for deciding not to go on with the work on Water street at present.

Councillor Dawson on learning this withdrew his objection and the report was adopted.

Councillor Best brought up the matter of the neglect of the contractors to set the gratings over the areas on George street.

The inspector will be asked to call the attention of the contractors to this clause of their contract.

THE FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE, reported as follows through its chairman, Councillor J. M. White:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen:—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That tenders be asked for sleighs for the hook and ladder truck.

2. That the drivers and engineer of the fire engine be provided with winter suits, and that the committee be authorized to ask for tenders for them and purchase them.

3. That the spare hose be kept in the old hose wagon and that a tarpaulin be purchased to cover them.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

J. M. WHITE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE SEWERAGE COMMITTEE

through its chairman, Councillor Best, reported as follows:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen:—Your Sewerage Committee beg leave to report that they have engaged Mr. Logan, as inspector of the sewers at $3 per day and recommend that he be paid on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

H. BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE

reported as appended through Councillor Langford, its chairman:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Joint Committee beg leave to report as follows:

Your committee met with a committee of the council of the County of Peterborough on Aug 25th last to consider the reflooring of the Hunter street bridge. Tenders for the planking were received, and the tender of M M Boyd & Co, of Bobcaygeon, at $11 per M f o b, Peterborough was accepted. The work was placed in the hands of the County Engineer for completion, and has been carried out. The flooring of the Locks bridge, recommended by the County Engineer, was also ordered to be done.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. LANGFORD,
Chairman.

THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE,

to visit the Pigeon Creek and Mud Lake bridges, consisting of Councillor Langford, reported as appended:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I beg to report that, as instructed by the council, I visited the Mud Lake and Pigeon Creek bridges with representatives of the county, and at the Pigeon Creek bridge also met the Warden of the County of Victoria.

The Mud Lake bridge escaped serious damage from the going out of the ice this spring, the thaw not being accompanied by the custom, ary high winds. The apron approaches, some of the rail guards and the anchorage only required to be repaired and readjusted. The flooring, however, was badly worn and found unsafe for travel, and the buoyancy of the bridge is quite insufficient. It was decided, however, to make the repairs required to make it safe for public travel for this year, and it was estimated that this would not cost more than $275. Instructions were given to Mr. Kelly, and he has so far maintained the bridge in safety for travel.

Pigeon Creek bridge in like manner suffered little from the going out of the ice, and for the same reason. It was decided that a pier, as suggested by the County Engineer, be constructed during the winter in the required position and for which tenders should be invited, also that repairs should be executed to the flooring of the entire bridge with 2-inch plank, such as may be necessary for the immediate requirements of safety, it being considered that these repairs would answer until the entire bridge should be refloored, and that 2-inch plank would wear out the present old 3-inch plank with which the bridge is floored. It was also decided as an experiment to lay, say 100 feet, in length, of the bridge with 3-inch plank laid longitudinally, and for eight feet in width to test its wearing resistance as well as its bonding capabilities, and to add some floats where the bridge is at present weak in buoyancy. It was further resolved that the bridge had been in such a worn and dilapidated condition, requiring extra care and attention from the caretaker, Mr. Flood, his salary for this year should be increased by $12.

Both of these bridges are in a condition that will require next year large expenditures to keep them in a safe condition for traffic.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. LANGFORD.

Councillor Langford further explained that the town's share of the expense would be 3-10 of the expenditure on the Pigeon Creek Bridge, or $75, and half of the cost of repairing the Mud Lake bridge, or $125.

The report was adopted.

Councillor Dawson objected to the expenditure on the Mud Lake bridge. He thought the town had enough to do to keep up its own bridges without going out into the country.

Councillor McWilliams pointed out that when the Mud Lake bridge was closed the traffic from the north country would be diverted to Lindsay.

THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE

reported as appended through its chairman, Councillor W. H. White:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee asked for tenders for forty tons of coal for the town buildings and received the following tenders:

The Stevenson Coal Co	$ 5 10 per ton
R J Wolstenholme	5 25 "
The Rathbun Co	4 95 "
The Peoples Coal Co	4 75 "
T Fitzgerald	5 35 "

2. We recommend that the contract be given to the People's Coal Company at $4.75 per ton, the coal to be of first class quality according to sample, to be weighed on the market scales and to be delivered in the town buildings.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W H. WHITE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

BYLAWS.

Councillor Denne introduced the bylaw renewing the franchise of the Bell Telephone Co., on the same terms as formerly. It received its several readings and was passed.

Councillor J. M. White brought in the bylaw authorizing the partial exemption of the manufacturing establishment of the Peterborough Light and Power Co. It was read, signed sealed and passed.

Councillor W. H. White objected to exemption being granted the company, stating that the building had to be erected on the Peterborough side of the river, in any event, as there was no place suitable in Ashburnham.

Councillor Denne introduced a bylaw granting partial exemption to the Geo. Matthews Co. It received its several readings and was passed.

A bylaw to prevent the discharge of firearms inside of the town limits was also introduced and passed.

Before the introduction of the bylaw authorizing the purchase of a steam roller the three agents present, representing the Harrisburg, Russell and Buffalo-Pitts rollers, were given ten minutes each to address the council. Each of the councillors took as much more with the result that the meeting was prolonged until twelve o'clock, at which hour the council went out of session as the new day began. Motions were made to the effect that new tenders be called for, to be opened at the next meeting of the council and also that the agents present be given five minutes in which to prepare new tenders. Both motions were lost and the question of the purchase of a roller now stands as it did before the meeting.

It is probable the Hon. John Dryden will be selected as the candidate.

An evidence of Hon. Mr. Tarte's kindly remembrance of friends of former days is afforded by the fact that when he learned that Mr. Jos. Picard, of the firm of H. Le Brun & Co., was a school mate of the minister's at Lanorais, Joliet County, the latter called upon Mr. Picard, and spent a plaisant quart d'heure with his old school chum.

Purest and Best for Table and Dairy

What mother does not wish to be proud of her children? What mother does not want them to be healthy, happy, laughter-loving and able to withstand the ordinary illnesses of childhood?

Any woman may insure the health of her children who will take proper care of her health in a womanly way. The health of her children depends almost entirely upon her general health, and particularly upon the health and strength of the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity. A woman has no right to disregard her own health, comfort, ease and happiness, she certainly has less right to condemn her children to a life of suffering or an early death. That is what she does if she neglects the health of her special womanly organism. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an unfailing remedy for all disorders of this description. It strengthens and invigorates the sensitive organs concerned, and is the best preparation for the trials and dangers of maternity. It insures the well being of the mother and the health of the child. Its use is a guarantee of a bountiful supply of nourishment for the little new-comer. Many women who once bore children only to speedily lose them, are now mothers of healthy, robust children as the result of the use of this medicine.

Barbra A. Mudd, of Indian Creek, Mo., writes: "I am very thankful for what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did for me. I was all broken down from nervous prostration, but since taking your medicine I have had more relief than from all the doctors. Your 'Favorite Prescription' did me a world of good."

Many women have told their experiences, and given their names, addresses and photographs in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This book is free, and will be sent to any address upon receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Favorite Prescription" is for sale by all dealers and no honest man will urge a substitute.

HE SQUANDERED MILLIONS.

The Wildly Reckless Financial Career of Baron Albert Grant.

One of the most dramatic if not actually one of the largest failures, so far as the liabilities were concerned, was that of Baron Albert Grant of "Emma mine" notoriety. Grant was the uncrowned king of the financial world of his day and generation. He made millions almost as deftly as the late Mr. Barney Barnato, and he spent them right royally. He bought Leicester square and presented it, a free gift, to the people of London. He gave a dinner to nearly a thousand city magnates at a cost which was popularly reputed at the time to have exceeded 100 guineas a head, and which, in any event, undoubtedly established a record in extravagant dinner giving which has yet to be beaten.

And he started out to build a palace in Kensington which should "knock spots off" all other private residences, past, present or to come. Everything was got up regardless of expense. The ballroom walls were inset with panels of pink Italian marble, costing 800 guineas each. In the entrance hall were four pillars of porphyry, worth £4,000.

The building was scarcely finished when the crash came, and it remained for long a brick and mortar white elephant on the hands of the trustees in bankruptcy. Eventually most of the interior fittings and decorations were disposed of piecemeal. The grand staircase, which had cost to build some £40,000, being acquired by the representatives of the late Mme. Tussaud for a trifle over a fourth of that sum. It now forms the main approach to the upper and principal suit of rooms of the new exhibition buildings in the Marylebone road.—London Mail.

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boys pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

Cats of Other Days.

The lot of the average nineteenth century cat does not compare favorably with that of its ancestors. Everybody knows that the early Egyptians held the cat sacred, and any one injuring a sacred animal was liable to severe punishment. Among the ancient laws of Wales was a statute which prohibited the slaughter of a cat under a curious penalty. The owner of the slaughtered animal held it by the tip of the tail, with its nose touching the floor, and the slayer had to give him, by way of compensation, as much wheat as would bury the entire animal out of sight. The grain was supposed to represent the amount that the owner would lose through the depredations of vermin by being deprived of the cat.

Saxony, Switzerland and other European countries also had laws enacted for the protection of cats, which were regarded of economic value. Now, however, pussy is simply a decorative domestic adjunct.

SAVED BY A DREAM.

A THRICE REPEATED WARNING THAT WAS LUCKILY HEEDED.

How Two Men Narrowly Escaped Assassination In a Western Ontario Inn—The Reality Was a Perfect Reproduction of the Vision of the Brain.

Miss Mabel Willoughby, writing in the Toronto Globe, relates this strange story:

"Many years ago my great-uncle, a magistrate of Niagara district, had occasion, as he often had, to make a journey on horseback through some of the more unsettled parts of western Ontario. As those were the pioneer days, many parts of Ontario now thickly settled and prosperous communities were almost unbroken stretches of forest, intersected by roads, passable only by equestrians. The only places of public accommodation were small taverns or inns to be found at intervals of many miles along these trails or roads. My uncle and his father-in-law, who accompanied him, carried large sums of money with which to buy grain and cattle from the settlers.

"One afternoon, toward nightfall, as they were nearing the small inn where they intended stopping for the night, they heard the sound of horses' hoofs close behind them, and, turning in his saddle, my uncle saw that the strangers approaching him were a dark visaged pair of men whom he had noticed at the dinner table with him at the last hostelry. They, however, saluted my uncle and Mr. H., his father-in-law, in a very civil manner and returned the compliments of the hour.

"The party soon reached the inn, and, to uncle's surprise, the two strangers trotted on past the only resting place there was for miles. But he concluded that they were hunters or settlers living farther on, and so for the time thought no more of it.

"Our two grain dealers took their supper and shortly afterward retired comfortably for the night. Not long after going to bed Mr. H., feeling thirsty, rose and went down to the barroom for a drink of water. (No laughter here. He was a local preacher and stanch adherent to the Methodist church.)

"On entering the bar he was greatly surprised to see stretched out on the wooden benches the guests of the dinner table and traveling companions of the early evening. However, he troubled very little about the matter, as he thought that they had been overtaken by night and turned back. On returning to the bedroom he found my uncle dozing, and so made no mention of the uncanny pair in the barroom, and in a few minutes fell asleep also.

"After a short sleep uncle awoke and almost started out of bed, having had a most vivid and frightful dream, in which he saw one of those men advancing toward him with a dark lantern turned upon his face and a drawn knife in his hand. But, finding the room perfectly quiet, uncle persuaded himself that his dream was the result of some slight apprehension he had had concerning the two men, and so fell asleep again, but only to have the horrible vision repeated.

"He began to feel that the dream, so vivid and persistent, might have the nature of a presentiment, so put his hand under the pillow to see that his pistols which he carried were safe. But as everything continued perfectly still he allowed himself to fall into a light doze, which was again interrupted by the same dream, like a midnight specter.

"Now thoroughly alarmed and feeling that his dream was sent as a warning, he roused the old gentleman by his side and told him of it. Mr. H. then told him of the men in the barroom. This increasing their apprehension, the two men decided to watch by turns, Mr. H. taking the first watch. Not five minutes had elapsed before a footstep just outside their door caught the ear of both men.

"In a moment the door opened very softly, and a man stealthily entered and crept toward the bed, while the two in the bed prepared for immediate defense when the villain had come close enough to be seen distinctly, kept perfectly quiet. When within about two yards of the bed, the intending assassin, by the manipulation of his lantern, which until this time had remained perfectly dark, threw a clear light over the supposed sleepers and revealed to them the reality of the vision—the same man, knife and lantern, with his murderous intention hideously written on his fixed countenance.

"One glance at his intended victims and his expression changed to amazement and fear and he stood like one paralyzed as he met my uncle's steady and white face, who, with pistol presented, waited but another move on the part of the villain to kill him on the spot. But the man didn't move. All was perfectly still, except for a smothered prayer from the old gentleman. Uncle was the first to speak, demanding what he wanted. No reply was given. Uncle then, threateningly advancing his piece, ordered him to leave the room at once on pain of death. In obedience to this the robber, without turning his face or changing his attitude in any way, backed as steadily from the room as he had entered it and was seen no more."

Every household should have on hand a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The diversity of uses to which it can be put and the many doctor's bills it saves warrant it in taking first place in the family medicine chest. All dealers sell and recommend it.

FUN IN THE FOOTNOTE.

A Popular Librettist Couldn't Withhold a Joke on Prospective Bride.

W. S. Gilbert does not retain all of his humor for use in his librettos.

In the early days of his success, when Gilbert and Sullivan were considered by managers as the "sure winners" in the comic opera field, a young woman who was a member of one of the "Pinafore" companies wrote to Gilbert telling him of her approaching marriage with a young man of good position and family.

Gilbert congratulated the young woman and expressed the hope that her future might be prosperous and happy.

Only a little more than a month passed, and another letter from the same girl reached him, in which she stated that her engagement with the young man had been broken and that she had accepted another suitor.

He replied that he had every confidence in her judgment and again expressed his hearty wishes for her welfare.

It was almost two months after that that Gilbert received a third letter from the same girl, who informed him that young Lord —— had proposed and that she had accepted him after breaking her engagement with No. 2.

Gilbert's humor could no longer withstand the temptation, and he wrote, "I desire to congratulate you on your approaching marriage with"— Here he placed an asterisk and in a footnote added:

"Here insert the name of the happy man."

This is probably as characteristic a piece of humor as any that appears in his "Bab Ballads" or in his works for the stage.—New York Press.

Wonderful Pumping Engines.

The standard attained by the performance of modern pumping engines is pretty high, as was illustrated by an incident which occurred not long ago here in New York, where some large pumping engines that had recently been set up and were working at rather high speed and almost absolutely without noise were inspected by an expert in such matters who hailed from an interior city. He remarked, "Well, those engines work very nicely now, but wait until you get to pumping water at that speed and then you will hear something from them probably."

His astonishment may perhaps be imagined when it was demonstrated to him that they were at that moment pumping water and had been continuously doing so for 48 hours.—American Machinist.

They Help One Another.

A singular custom prevails among the Tartars or Kurds. If a man gets into difficulties—that is, loses his cattle or other movable property—he pours a little brown sugar into a piece of colored cloth, ties it up and carries one such parcel to each of his friends and acquaintances. In return he is presented, according to circumstances, with a cow or sheep or a sum of money. He is thus at once set on his legs again. The same method is adopted when a young man wishes to marry, but is not in a position to satisfy the parents of his intended bride in the matter of the "baahlyg"—that is, marriage dower. Only in this case he does not go round himself, but sends a friend or a servant.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not properly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

Doan Cures a Manitoba Man.

CONTRASTS IN NAPLES.

Only a Step From Royal Magnificence to Crowds of Half Naked Workers.

One of the strangest contrasts in Naples is to walk from the royal palace, with its fine marble staircase, up the new Corso Re d'Italia and to climb into the steep streets around the Church of San Soverino e Sosio.

These streets are the dwelling places of the dyers, and one steps from regal magnificence into a crowd of seminaked people, who are busily dipping great hanks of cotton or wool into seething caldrons. As elsewhere, the work is carried on in the street, and little streams of water—red, yellow, brown and black—pour over the rough stones and gather in multicolored pools, while on low benches against the walls women are washing clothes, standing in the dirty, soapy water that splashes over from their tubs.

The passersby walk heedlessly through the dye and soapsuds, while the children find pleasant occupation in throwing mud of every variety of color at anybody who chances to be wearing light colored garments. It is a veritable feast of color from the merely spectacular point of view, but a visit to these streets leaves a bodily as well as a mental impression.

Very often in the depths of these sordid alleys one comes across a forgotten old palace, built when carriages were unknown, its great court of honor crowded with booths, its vast halls filled with a heterogeneous collection of men, women and children, fowls, goats, sheep and occasionally a donkey, all living together in the happiest proximity. The massive old walls are hidden beneath centuries of dirt; the woodwork has, for the most part, disappeared; the rooms that once knew the revels of Angevin nobles now shelter the haphazard existence of lazzaroni.—Ludgate.

Parson and Bunker.

On the St. Andrews golf course there is a bunker known as "hell," says Scottish Life and Humor. A parson who was playing got into this bunker one day and could not get out of it. In the midst of his efforts a telegram arrived for him, and a returning caddie was asked if he had seen him. "Oo, aye," was the reply; "I've just left him down in hell, damnin an swearin maist awfu'l!"

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Signed, ANNIE E. GAUNTLEY,
King Street, Berlin, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

OVER MILES OF WIRE

WAVES OF LIGHT NOW CONTROLLED LIKE THOSE OF SOUND.

Selenium's Strange Quality—You Can Now Gaze on the Living Portrait of Some Fond Friend or Relative Who May Be at the Antipodes—Dussaud's Telescope.

The recent declarations of a Polish schoolmaster that he had been able to transmit pictures at a great distance by means of a wire and a current of electricity, have been received with some discredit among scientific people, because of the neglect of the inventor to make any rational explanation of his process. The French scientist, M. Dussaud, however, now comes to the front with a method by which he says he is able to accomplish the purpose. He calls it the teleoscope. His claim has the advantage of having upon it the stamp of approval, because it comes from one whose position as a scientist is assured.

The working of this apparatus is described by M. Armengand in La Nature as follows:

To the left of what is called the transmitter stands the person whom it is desired to see at a distance, and whose movements it is desired to follow. At B is a camera which rights the images and the back of which is formed of the following parts: (1) of a movable shutter, C, containing apertures arranged in a spiral, and (2) of a peculiar system of selenite plates. At E there is a battery, of which the current passes through the selenite plates and the wire of an induction coil, F.

The person in motion forms a movable image at the back of the camera, as in a photographic apparatus, and the different, more or less luminous, parts of this image strike in succession the selenite plates, D, in measure as the movable shutter, C, presents its apertures. This shutter is actuated by a clockwork mechanism, G, analogous to that of the Hughes telegraph.

Selenium opposes itself more or less to the passage of electricity, according to the quantity of light that it receives. Therefore, according as the shutter, C, uncovers the more or less luminous parts of the image, currents of varying intensity will pass through the coarse wire of the induction coil, F. These, according to a well-known law, cause proportionate currents in the fine wire of the coil. This fine wire ends on the one hand in the earth, and on the other goes to the receiving station, where the currents of varying intensity that traverse it cause the vibration of the disk of a sort of very sensitive telephone, H. This disk acts upon an opaque plate, K, provided with transparent lines, and displaces it more or less in front of an identical but stationary plate, L. These plates are protected against external disturbance by glass. The result is that a pencil of parallel light, M, produced by a lamp, N, with crossed carbons, and obliged to pass through the two opaque plates, is more or less diminished throughout its whole extent, according to the currents that pass through the fine wire. But, thanks to a shutter, O, identical and synchronous with C, this variation in intensity is projected upon the screen by an optical system, P, only at the plate corresponding to the part of the image which, at a transmitting station, has the same intensity. Since the two shutters, C and O, make one complete revolution in one-tenth of a second, all the parts of the image act successively upon the selenium during this time, at the transmitting station, and give different intensities to the current at the receiving station, and thus project luminous intensities that correspond to their respective intensity.

Any observer, then, at the receiver station sees upon the screen the person placed at the transmitting station, by virtue of the persistence of luminous impressions, which is one-tenth of a second, and by the fact that it suffices to have all small surfaces more or less light in order to reproduce a portrait.

Dussaud is responsible for many inventions, and one of the most useful is a microphonograph, which increases the volume of sound, which instrument is in daily use in Europe for teaching the deaf and deaf mutes the use of words.

DYING BY INCHES!

But Dodd's Kidney Pills will Yet Renew Life.

Thousands of persons die in the prime of life because doctors think Bright's Disease and Diabetes incurable. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them both. They have cured thousands of cases.

These diseases and other Kidney complaints are as common as ordinary colds. But people don't realize that they are afflicted till the disease has eaten deep into the system. Even then, Dodd's Kidney Pills will positively cure.

Thousands of people are dying on their feet, but do not realize it. They notice one or more of these symptoms: shortness of breath, loss of memory, failing sight, ravenous appetite, pale or reddish urine, with brick-colored deposit, scalding when urinating, constipation, nervousness, pains in the loins. Their only hope is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They won't fail. They never do.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Too Much For Watson.

Only once did Watson, when a captain, never fail to punish a man for intoxication. This was in the summer of 1893 at Boston, when the San Francisco took the Massachusetts naval militia on its first practice cruise. Among the regular crew was old Alexander Parker, sailmaker's mate, who was never known to remain sober when there was liquor to be had. When the naval militiamen came on board a witty boatswain's mate, while no officer was near, sang out in an authoritative tone:

"All you men having whisky on board lay below and turn it in to the sailmaker's mate for safe keeping."

Many amateur sailors took the bait, and in a few minutes old Aleck, sitting down below decks in his sailroom, was surprised to have a vast collection of flasks passed to him. He received all these as gifts with many thanks. He was found a day after sound asleep in his sailroom, literally covered with empty bottles of every size and shape. He was finally taken before the captain, to whom was told the circumstances. "Parker," said he sternly, "I have no words with which to discuss your case. Go forward."—New York Times.

On the Hot Spell.

Old Glory hung as still and limp
As if benumbed in every crimp.

The people glanced up at the flag
And saw with grief its hopeless sag.

"Dear, dear," they said, "what can it be
That ails the banner of the free?"

And ready tears in trickles fell
For that dear flag they loved so well.

Alas, alas, could it have told
It would have said with every fold:

"I've waved and waved all o'er the land,
But this hot wave I cannot stand!"

Tale of Sorrow.

While standing at a street crossing waiting for a cable car to pass young Hankinson saw a pin on the ground. Young Hankinson had read of persons who had laid the foundations of a successful career by picking up a pin.

He stooped impulsively to pick up that pin.

There was an ominous sound.

And with a look of agony on his face young Hankinson hurried into a tailor shop.

He had split and ruined a pair of tight trousers.—Chicago Tribune.

Life today, with all its glory,
Has its drawbacks to my mind,
For the old time brought us pleasures
Children now don't seem to find.

Always in a tidy suit!
But he never licks the kettle
When his mother puts up fruit.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment...

Endorsed by Dr. C. M. Harlan of the American Journal of Health

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE....

He says:—Among the proprietary medicines recognized is Dr. Chase's Ointment, compounded by Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, as a remedy for Piles, Eruptions and Eczematic Skin Diseases, for which it has been used with marked success and has effected remarkable cures. It is not the practice of the Medical Profession indiscriminately to use proprietary medicines, but there are hundreds of physicians throughout this country who are using Dr. Chase's Ointment in their practice. We handed out during the last month 2,700 boxes of free samples of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the thankful results have been something astonishing. Here is what one of the cures says:

MR. O. P. ST. JOHN, 246 Shaw St., Toronto, in his letter states: I suffered for some years from Itching Piles, at times being unable to sleep for the annoyance caused by them. After trying almost every remedy known, I was induced to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and can say one box entirely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of it, and have recommended it to several of my friends, all whom have been cured by its use.

HORSES' ACTIONS IN BATTLE

Some Keep Their Heads In the Mad Rush; Some Lose Them.

A man seldom cries out when hit in the turmoil of battle. It is the same with a horse. Five troopers out of six, when struck by a bullet, are out of their saddles within a minute. If hit in the breast or shoulder, up go their hands and they get a heavy fall; if in the leg or foot or arm, they fall forward and roll off. But even with a foot cut off by a jagged piece of shell a horse will not drop. It is only when shot through the head or heart that he comes down. He may be fatally wounded, but he hobbles out of the fight to right or left and stands with drooping head until loss of blood brings him down. The horse that loses his rider and is unwounded himself will continue to run with his set of fours until some movement throws him out. Then he goes galloping here and there, neighing with fear and alarm, but will not leave the field. In his racing about he may get among the dead and wounded, but he will dodge them, if possible, and in any case leap over them. When he has come upon three or four other riderless steeds, they "fall in" and keep together, as if for mutual protection, and the "rally" on the bugle may bring the whole of them into the ranks in a body.

A horse which has passed through a battle unwounded is fretful, sulky and nervous—the same as a man—for the next three or four days. His first battle is also the making or unmaking of him as a warhorse. If the nervous tension has been too great, he will become a bolter in the face of danger, and thereby become a danger in himself. If the test has not been beyond him, he will go into the next fight with head held high and flecks of foam blowing from his mouth as he thunders over the earth.—Washington Post.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 19—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co. tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that today I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

The Usual Clean Sweep.

"Who is the hero?"
"Retired commodore."
"And his wife?"
"Daughter of an admiral."
"And all those young fellows?"
"Naval lieutenants."
"And the pretty girl?"
"Christened the latest battleship."
"Great Neptune! But you must make an exception. That shrieking professional tenor?"—
"Is on the high sea."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mandamus.

I did a verse quite simply write,
With ornament not too bright;
They surely would be pleased with it
Because it was so simply writ,
But back it came; they'd have it not,
Because, they said, 'twas simply wrot'.
—New York Truth.

Severely Practical.

"'Tis love that makes the world go round," she blithely sang.

"Then how do you account for the action of the moon and stars?" asked the young man from Boston in his severely practical way.

And he doesn't know to this day how much he missed by taking such a prosaic view of the matter.—Chicago Post.

THE BEEHIVE.

Look out for robbers when the honey harvest becomes scarce.

The way to get wax of a light yellow color is to let it cool slowly.

Do not expect many swarms and a large honey flow at the same time.

The best time to introduce a queen is the middle of the day when the greater part of the bees are at work.

If a colony becomes queenless and it is not diseased, unite it with another and give it a brood frame from another colony.

Second swarms may be controlled by taking out all cells but one after the first swarm issues, as second swarms rarely issue unless there is a plurality of queens.

If frames of clean comb are given to newly hived swarms so that they can go to work at once, there is not much danger of the bees leaving the hive and swarming out.

To raise comb honey to the best advantage there should be good, populous colonies, and when they are in this condition swarming is likely to occur often.—St. Louis Republic.

The Pains and Aches all Driven From His Back by

Doan's Kidney Pills

The peculiar position that a shoemaker has to sit in while at his work is hard on the kidneys. They get cramped and strained by the constant bending over. Then the back begins to ache. No use trying to take out the aches with liniments and plasters. You must get at the kidneys, which are the cause of the trouble.

The best remedy for sick kidneys is Doan's Kidney Pills. The best remedy for all kinds of bad backs—lame, weak and painful backs is Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. Thos. Calladine, the well known shoemaker has found this out, and here's what he says about it.

"Some years ago I was attacked with pain in the back, which has constantly grown worse, and was especially severe in the morning.

"Since taking Doan's Kidney Pills I am perfectly cured. I have no more trouble with the pain and am greatly improved in general health."

Doan's Kidney Pills are the only remedy in the world for backache, Bright's disease, diabetes dropsy, urinary troubles, rheumatism, lumbago, puffiness and dark circles under the eyes, urinary weakness in children, female complaints, severe headaches, feeling of languor, etc. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail on reciept of price 50 cents a box or 3 for $1.25. The public can always count upon a magnificent display of farm machinery by the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company. And this year was no exception. The display, which was in charge of Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, was quite up to the high mark of this company, and elicited the warm admiration of interested farmers. Their splendid collection included the Hamilton light steel binder, with roller bearings, noted for its light draft and perfect working. A machine of this kind, that can be drawn by one good horse, as has been done, and that combines first-class results in working, is what the farmers want and what they are after. The new Hamilton No. 5 front cut mower is the most perfect, up to the present, machine of its kind made. It has roller bearings and is light but strong. A feature is the foot lift for elevating the five foot, extra-strong, steel-ribbed cutter bar, which is done by the foot alone, leaving the hands of the driver perfectly free. This foot lever make a floating bar, and can be arranged to make it specially suitable for pea harvesting. The Rival rear cut mower, with roller bearings and other points of advantage was also shown, as was also the improved Tiger rake. But perhaps the most perfect machine of the collection was the "New Leader Pressure Drill and Broadcast Seeder." Feature of this perfect drill are that both wheels drive the distributing machinery. It is very easily operated and acts equally well with grain or grass, sowing with unerring evenness. There are only two levers, one for zig-zagging, and the other lever which alone suffices for raising the feet or applying pressure when required on hard ground. This machine is extremely popular with the farmers. The other exhibits consisted of a superior elastic spring tooth cultivator, a collection of ploughs, gang ploughs and scufflers, combined and single root pulpers, with roller bearings. Ensilage cutters with 15 inch and 13 inch mouths and roller bearings, roller-bearing straw-cutters, etc. No farmer in the district need go any further than the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company for the best farm machinery made—from the breaking of the soil to the reaping of the harvest. Patronize home industry, especially when home industry provides the best that is made.

BIRDSALL'S HIGH-BRED STOCK.

The name of Birdsall & Son has for years been favourably associated with the high-grade cattle exhibits at the Peterborough Central Fair. Bellevue Stock Farm, Asphodel, has captured prize after prize for its Jersey and Durham stock. This year the exhibit of Birdsall & Son was worthy of all the commendation it received from judges and stock breeders. Their fine herd of seven Jersey thoroughbreds was led by their celebrated Jersey bull, "Royal St. Lambert," bought from Mrs. E. M. Jones, of Brockville. In this class they took three first prizes, three seconds and one third, as well as first prize for best herd. In thoroughbred Durhams they showed eleven head, conspicuous among which was their magnificent Durham bull, which is one of the best in America for breeding purposes. They also entered a pen of fourteen of the finest Oxford Down sheep. At the head of the flock was a magnificent ram lamb imported from Mr. E. Haskell, of England, which was a winner of the prize for best ram and ewe lambs at the Royal Exhibition. Messrs. Birdsall & Son are justly proud of their stock and they had many other admirers and critics, who were loud in their praise.

ONTARIO WIND, ENGINE AND PUMP CO.

How to make dollars out of wind and and save hard work is one of the sciences of modern farming. Until late years it has been thought that labour alone was essential to good farming, but many farmers are awakening to the fact that it pays to save and use wind—mills—more.

The Ontario Wind Engine and Pump Co., of Toronto, had an exhibition on the show grounds in charge of their energetic representative, Mr. Geo. W. Stone. They exhibited one of their galvanized windmills and several different force and lift pumps. This is one of the oldest firms in Canada, and their products are to be found in use on the very best properties in the Dominion. The C.P.R. has in use twenty-five of these mills, which ought to furnish one of the best guarantees of their efficiency. Chas. Good, grain merchant, of Toronto, has several erected, one of which may be seen at the Millbrook elevator. F. W. Hodgson, of Guelph, Secretary of the Farmers' Institute, finds his mills an indispensable requisite. And such well-known Peterborough men as Mr. H. P. Kennedy has two of their mills on his farm in Otonabee, Mr. Milburn, of Smith, and Messrs. Wilson and Wm. Reid, of Otonabee, are using the Ontario Company's windmills for some time.

Paine's Celery Compound Saves a Life After Failures With Other Medicines.

Mr. McMullin Says : "Paine's Celery Compound Worked Miracles for Me."

The Only Safe Medicine for Sick and Diseased People.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.

Gentleman :—For over four years I have been in poor health, and received treatment from two doctors besides using seven kinds of patent medicines. I also sent to New York and got a month's treatment of a special medicine, but no good results came from it. I was run down, suffered terribly, could not rest at night, and every morning had a severe pain in my back, dizziness in my head, and vomitted bitter green matter, and had no appetite. I heard of Paine's Celery Compound and decided to give it a trial, and am happy to report that it worked wonders. The pains are all gone, I rest well at night, my appetite is good, and my health is now splendid. Paine's Celery Compound has worked miracles for me. I recommend it to all sick people as the best medicine.

NO PART OF ALASKA CEDED.

Quietus Put on Rumors Growing Out of Conference Negotiations.

Quebec, Oct. 4.—(New York Tribune Special.)—It was reported that the Canadian Commissioners were demanding the cession of the territory from Jakitat Bay to Dixon's Entrance, including the cities of Skaguay and Dyea, thus extending the Canadian boundary line to the Pacific Ocean between the places named, this cession being given in return for the surrender of all British rights to the seal fisheries in the Behring Sea. It is quite possible that such a proposition has been made by the Canadian Commissioners, but it is stated upon official information that the matter has not been considered by the Joint Commission in a conclusive way, and that no proposition whatever has been accepted. Views on both sides have been submitted, but no adjustment has been reached.

WANTS HER CHILDREN BACK.

Mrs. Bonn of Chatham Fighting the Children's Aid Society.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—Application was made before the Chief Justice yesterday on behalf of Mrs. Matilda Bonn of Chatham for the recovery of her three children from the Children's Aid Society. Some three or four years ago Mrs. Bonn's husband left her, and her children were given over to the Children's Aid Society of Kent County, by Judge Woods of Chatham, on account of the woman's inability to keep them properly. She now comes to court to set aside the writ of habeas corpus by which they were transferred, but this will be a difficult matter, as they have in the meantime been let out to foster homes. The Deputy Attorney-General appears for the Children's Aid Society. The suit will be watched with interest.

Free and easy expectoration immediately relieves and frees the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm, and a medicine that promotes this is the best medicine to use for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all affections of throat and chest. This is precisely what Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is a specific for, and wherever used it has given unbounded satisfaction. Children like it because it is pleasant, adults like it because it relieves and cures the disease.

DRYDEN A SURE THING

South Ontario Liberals Thoroughly United Upon Him.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

They Are Unanimous for Their Old and Tried Standard Bearer, the Minister of Agriculture—A Strong Resolution of Confidence—With Ranks Closed Up the Party Determines to Win.

Whitby, Oct. 5.—The Liberals of South Ontario, despite the most unfavorable weather, assembled here to-day in response to the call for a mass meeting to nominate a candidate for the Legislature in the bye-election which has been rendered necessary by the unseating of Mr. Charles Calder. The proceedings were of the most harmonious nature, not a note of discord was heard throughout, and the choice of the convention fell unanimously upon the tried and honored veteran who has for many years represented the riding and has so acceptably filled the office of Minister of Agriculture. The meeting was most enthusiastic and was characterized by a determination to redeem the mistake of March last, when apathy and indifference, coupled with and fostered by confidence in the strength of the Hon. Mr. Dryden, allowed the enemy, by means which were exposed in the courts, to temporarily capture the seat. To-day, with ranks closed up again, the Liberals of this historic riding, smarting under a sense of the fact that they were deprived of the seat in March last by means which have dragged the reputation of this fair riding in the mire, entered upon a campaign which they are firmly determined shall only terminate by the well-deserve rebuke to those who have sought to corrupt the constituency involved in the return by an overwhelming majority of Mr. Dryden.

The president of the association opened the meeting at 2.30, and after a few remarks, called for the nomination of candidates.

Mr. Robert McLaughlin of Oshawa at once stepped to the front and nominated Hon. John Dryden as the man who should be their candidate in South Ontario, and the man above all others best fitted to occupy the post of Minister of Agriculture of this province.

The nomination was seconded by Mr. William Ross of Port Perry.

There being no other nominations, a standing vote having been called for, the entire assembly rose and ratified the nomination with enthusiastic cheers.

A strong resolution of confidence in the Government of Hon. Mr. Hardy, and in Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, was then passed.

Mr. Dryden accepted the nomination in a speech that roused enthusiasm. He discussed at length the constitutional question of holding office while deprived of a seat in the Legislature, by what the court has decided was the corrupt election of Charles Calder. Mr. Dryden closed with an earnest appeal for an expression of honest opinion from the electors of South Ontario.

Speeches were also delivered by Hon. E. J. Davis, Provincial Secretary, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Mr. G. P. Graham, M.P.P. and ex-M.P.P. Joseph Haycock, the latter as a Patron saying he would vote for Dryden, whether he was a Liberal or Conservative, because he was the best man in the province for Minister of Agriculture.

The meeting, which was very enthusiastic, broke up with the usual cheers.

A WASHINGTON PEG-LEG.

Supposed to Be the London Murderer—Notice of Capture Received.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—A communication was received yesterday by the Attorney-General's Department from County Crown Attorney Magee of London, giving the information that the peg-legged murderer of Constable Twohey has been captured in Washington, D.C. However, no definite identification has been made, consequently no action taken, although Washington authorities notified here of the detention of the prisoner, and photographs received. Persons who saw the peg-leg on the night of the murder recognized him from these. When the authorities are satisfied as to the identity of the prisoner he will be sent for should he waive extradition proceedings.

EAST LAMBTON PROTEST.

Judges Ready for Business—North Bruce Venue Changed.

Sarnia, Oct. 5.—The trial of the East Lambton election protest case was commenced here yesterday before Judges Ferguson and Osler. Owing to the late arrival of the judges, no important evidence was taken and the court adjourned until this morning.

The motion to change the venue for the North Bruce election trial from Southampton to Wiarton, came on before the judges. On the opening of the court, Mr. W. D. McPherson appeared for the motion; R. A. Grant, contra. An order was made changing the venue as indicated, the petitioner abandoning his claim to the seat.

ANGLO-AMERICANISM.

Key Note to the Great Feeling of Brotherhood Struck at Quebec—Major Hutton's Speech.

Quebec, Oct. 5.—Beautiful autumnal weather favored the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts on the occasion of their formal welcome to the capital yesterday. Previous to the parade on the terrace, the ladies accompanying the Ancients were serenaded by the Laval University students by "Vive La Canadienne," "Canada," "Marseillaise," and other well-known French songs were given, closing with "God Save the Queen." Colonel Supplee of Baltimore then sang the "Star-Spangled Banner," and was loudly cheered.

The company formed upon the terrace at 11.30 o'clock, and accompanied by the band of the 8th Royal Rifles and the Voltigeurs of Quebec, marched to the Citadel. The company made a brave show as they passed along the streets and were greeted by hundreds of people. A peculiarity of the organization is that each member is allowed to wear the uniform of the corps in which he has served. At the Citadel the company was formally received by Major-General Hutton, with a guard of honor from "B" Battery and Garrison Artillery, under Col. Wilson.

The Major-General then addressed the visitors as follows: "As general officer commanding the Canadian army, I have the happy privilege on behalf of my comrades of all ranks of extending to you a hearty welcome upon your arrival on Canadian soil. Here in the Citadel of Quebec, with its historic memories surrounded by so much that reminds us of the gallant deeds of that British army of which Canadian troops are part, the national army of Canada greets your presence with a peculiar satisfaction. You are here in the cradle of the Canadian nation, and on this appropriate spot we as British soldiers welcome you as the representatives of the power of our kinsmen of the United States."

In reply Capt. Duchesney of the Artillery said that they had long desired to see the city, but had never been able to do so until now. He hoped the friendship between the United States and Great Britain would endure forever.

His Excellency the Governor-General then arrived on the parade ground, and was greeted with a general salute; the bands played "God Save the Queen," and a salute of nineteen guns was fired. Lord Aberdeen then inspected the company, and delivered a felicitous address of welcome.

A NEW RUSHING ORDER.

The Perfected Freight System Adopted by the Canadian Pacific.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—The Canadian Pacific Railway has introduced a new system of marking loaded freight on its line, by means of which the movement of freight trains will be facilitated, and shippers, as a result, obtain better service. The new system will also facilitate the making up of trains and the switching in yards.

It is an extension of the present system, by means of which red, green and white cards on the freight cars show whether the freight is rush, fast or ordinary. In future every loaded car will have a colored card affixed, red meaning rush; green, fast, and white ordinary freight. The railway system, however, has been divided into districts, and on each card will be placed in large figures the number of the district to which the car is going. By this means in making up a train it will not be necessary to wait for the waybills, as the card on each car indicates plainly its destination. This, in itself, will save considerable time at making up points.

ANOTHER FEARFUL STORM.

Island Off the Coast of Georgia Swept Out of Existence.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 5.—Complete details from Brunswick and the surrounding country are impossible because of the prostration of the telegraph and telephone systems. Campbell Island, 12 miles from Darien, on the Altamaha River, is said to be completely swept away, and only three persons succeeded in getting off the island.

A GLOOMY SPANISH FORECAST.

Spanish Commissioner Predicts That When Peace Is Complete Americans Will Attain an Unwelcome Importance in European and World National Issues—Latest From China—News by Cable.

Paris, Oct. 5.—At the session of the American Peace Commission yesterday, General Merritt detailed his personal views and those of Admiral Dewey regarding the situation in the Philippine Islands.

The Spanish Peace Commissioners were received in the afternoon by President Faure. Immediately afterward the American Commissioners were presented by Gen. Porter, who also handed to President Faure a cable message from President McKinley, tendering a friendly personal greeting and his assurance of the appreciation of the courtesies extended to the American Commissioners. President Faure made a courteous reply.

A SPANISH FORECAST.

The Americans Will Attain an Unwelcome Importance.

Paris, Oct. 5.—La Patrie last evening prints an interview with General Rafael Cerreo y Saenz of the Spanish Peace Commission, in which he is represented as saying:

"Peace between Spain and the United States will complicate all the Eastern questions. The day upon which the preliminaries are signed the first chapter in the new history of Europe will be commenced, as the United States will henceforth play a prominent role in events of which different parts of the world will be the theatre.

"It has been pretended that Spain wanted war, or, at least, allowed herself to be dragged into it. This is a mistake, since the United States have long coveted our colonies. They introduced Separatist and autonomic ideas into Cuba, ideas which were not shared by a majority of the inhabitants of the island. Influences of all kinds have been brought into play to excite risings and hence ensued a war, the consequences of which may be prejudicial to ourselves and may affect all European interests.

"The North Americans, on their side, will be compelled to create at once the naval force demanded by the situation brought about by events. The stronger the United States are the more their friendship will be sought after, and the more also their rivalry will be feared by all European nations.

"Look at the extreme Orient, where France, Russia, Germany and England are powerful rivals. If the Americans instal themselves in the Philippines, the situation will be greatly modified, and they will not hesitate to seek the friendship of Japan and England, to the detriment of all other nations. This will be for Americans a truly privileged situation, but the diplomatic role will be rendered proportionately more difficult."

Will Maintain the War Tax.

Madrid, Oct. 5.—The Cabinet decided yesterday to maintain the war tax, but to abolish the tax on exports.

HUNDRED PASSENGERS DROWNED.

Ferry Boat Capsizes While Crossing the Indus.

London, Oct. 5.—A special despatch from Bombay says that a ferryboat was capsized yesterday while crossing the Indus at Mittun-Kote, a town of the Punjaub, on the west bank of the river, and 100 of the passengers were drowned.

Is the Chinese Emperor Dead?

London, Oct. 4.—According to a despatch from Shanghai the Pekin correspondent of the Mercury of that city asserts that the Emperor of China intended to remove the Empress Dowager from his path, and entrusted his plans to an adherent. The latter proved a traitor. The Empress Dowager, on learning of the plot, sternly upbraided the Emperor and invited him to drink the contents of a cup to which she pointed. He swallowed the fluid in a gulp.

It is impossible, however, according to this correspondent, to ascertain whether the Emperor is actually alive or dead.

Thirty Cossacks and thirty English marines arrived at Pekin yesterday.

Alleged Anglo-Russian Saw-Off.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The London correspondent of the Journal des Debats announces that Great Britain and Russia are about to sign an agreement giving the former preponderance in the Yang Tse Valley, and the latter preponderance in Manchuria.

Kruger Is Seeking Allies.

London, Oct. 5.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

"Great Britain, it is reported from Johannesburg, will take over the Delagoa customs, railways and telegraph about the middle of the month

"The Transvaal Volksraad is now discussing the law binding the Congo Free State and the Transvaal to mutual military assistance in the event of an attack from the outside. This is attributed to a fear of complications arising out of the Delagoa Bay deal."

The Princess Chimay's Pictures.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The Berlin Civil Courts and the Leipsic Court of Appeals differ in the matter of the Princess de Chimay's photographs.

The Berlin courts say that the photographs of the Princess in fleshings are no more objectionable than nude or seminude statuary. The Leipsic court regarded the photographs as not artistic, as the form is too fat. The pictures will be suppressed and another order from Leipsic was issued.

Duke of Teck Very Ill.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. JOHN LA PAGE, 240 Church St., Toronto, Ont.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & Co., 17 to 27 King St, East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15 payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,000.00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280.00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,080 26

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, and policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

Bring a few dollars to prove that you mean business, and we will arrange any reasonable terms for the balance. Advise with your family and decide where you wish to buy, what price you can afford to pay, how much you can pay down and how you can pay balance. THE ISSUES IN NEW YORK

In Even State Elections Are Those Championed by the National Republican Party of 1896.

New York, Oct. 5.—Col. Roosevelt was officially notified yesterday of his selection as the candidate of the Republican party for Governor of New York State.

In accepting the nomination, Col. Roosevelt said, in part:

"National issues are paramount this year. It is no more possible to conduct a State election now without regard to national issues, than it was possible so to conduct one in 1861 or 1863. As it then was, so it now is, the interests of the nation as a whole are of vital and absorbing interest to each citizen.

"Then, as now, the Republican party was forced to find new issues, to confront new problems. Then, as now, it was forced not to follow, but to make precedents. In 1861 we had to preserve the republic for its great destiny, in 1898 we have taken a long stride towards the accomplishment of that destiny. The Republican party, therefore, in its State platform, does well to reiterate the promises under which it was possible to elect a Republican President, pledges which made it possible to restore prosperity to our country, and to put the nation where it is possible to work out the glorious future which is now before a reunited nation.

"The issues for honest money, for protection to American industry, for the upbuilding of a merchant marine adequate to carry the commerce of the world, and to form a naval militia in times of war, are as vital this year as they were in the great contest which was so successfully fought in 1896.

"We must further strengthen our navy and build up our army, so that they may be equal to any demand made upon them, as we work out our destiny. Hawaii and Porto Rico are ours, and in the East and West Indies the interests of the nation shall be safeguarded."

Van Wyck Stuck to State Issues.

New York, Oct. 5.—Judge Augustus Van Wyck last night received the official notification of his nomination for Governor by the recent Democratic State convention. He made a brief address to the committee that waited upon him and accepted the nomination. Judge Van Wyck confined his remarks entirely to State issues.

BETTER THAN GOLD MINE.

Pullman Company, Capitalized in 1867 at $100,000, Now Earns Over 12 Per Cent. on $36,000,000.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—The examination by Col. Polk into the finances of the Pullman Car Company shows that the capital stock of the company is estimated at $36,000,000. The statement for fiscal year ending July 31, 1898, is as follows:

Gross earnings, $8,974,881.31; operating expenses, $3,511,868.69; net receipts from operating, $5,463,019.59. Other expenses figure up $812,169.15, making the net earnings $4,650,50.44, or nearly 13 per cent. on its present capital stock.

A dividend of 8 per cent. was paid, which in the aggregate amounted to $2,880,000, leaving a surplus of $1,770,850.44. The income from the surplus account of July 31 amounted to $25,247,648.34.

When it is considered that the company started with an original capitalization in 1867 of $100,000 the enormous and unnatural profits of the company will readily be seen.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Decision in the Eddy Appeal Given—Privy Council Appeal Must Be Heard Within 12 Months.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—The fall term of the Supreme Court was opened yesterday morning, the Chief Justice, Sir Henry Strong, presiding. Other judges present were: Hon. Justices Ladouard, King, Gwynne and Sedgewick.

The first business was a motion in the case of Eddy v. Eddy, a case in which Mrs. Bessey, nee Eddy, sued her father for a sum of money and retention of certain lands claimed by the daughter under her mother's will. The appeal entered in this court was from a judgment of the Court of Queen's Bench. Gormally, Q.C., moved to postpone Mrs. Bessey's appeal to the Supreme Court until after the appeal which Mr. Eddy has made to the Privy Council is heard. Mr. Eddy's appeal goes to the root of the matter. Brooks opposed. The court granted the motion, on an understanding that the Privy Council appeal be brought to a hearing within 12 months, the appellant in the Supreme Court having leave to appeal if the case is not duly prosecuted.

In the St. Scholastique murder case, where Madame Poirier is convicted of having, in company with Sam Parslow (who awaits trial), murdered her husband, Belcourt, for the prisoner, made a motion for an appeal against certain admissions made by her after her arrest, being admitted as evidence against her. Latchford, for the Attorney-General of Quebec, offered no objection. The motion was allowed, the appeal being set down for argument at the foot of the Quebec list. The Quebec list was then taken up.

Early Delivery Wheat Sells Below December Option for the First Time This Season—Prices.

Tuesday Evening, Oct. 4.

Wheat news was again bearish to-day. Brastreet's returns showed an increase of 7,000,000 bushels in the world's visible supply for the week just ended, and the day's primary receipts were extremely large. Another break occurred in the cash article at Chicago, and for the first time this season the current month's delivery is quoted under later options. The net decline in October wheat for the day is 1⅜c per bushel, and in the remote futures ¾c to ⅞c. The market showed some steadiness at the close.

Spot wheat in Liverpool eased off 1d to 2d to-day, futures closing ½d to ⅝d lower than yesterday. Paris wheat advanced 15 to 20 centimes for the day, with flour up 30c to 55c.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

Mr. W. T. Abbot, market gardiner, Smith, has left at the EXAMINER office a bunch of perfectly ripened Shefer raspberries, the second crop this season. Our Lady of the Snows has a crow to pick with Kipling or the weather clerk. July temperature on the 4th of October, with falling leaves and ripened raspberries in the open air is a tribute to the benignity of our climate. Mr. Kipling might divert his complimentary hit of our Lady of the Snows to England where at present they are having sharp frosts.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN,—Your committee beg leave to report and recommend that the matter of appointing janitor for the Central School be left over for one month.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. J. McBAIN,
Chairman.

Report adopted.

SUPERVISION COMMITTEE.

Dr. Caldwell, chairman of the Supervision Committee, presented the following report:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education,—

Gentlemen, —Your Supervision Committee beg to report that with regard to the communication of the Collegiate Institute, Ottawa, requesting the Board to join them in asking for legislation to amend the Act respecting High Schools and Collegiate Institutes, we recommend that no action be taken at present.

The committee in conjunction with the additional members appointed by the Board, investigated the complaint made by Mr. Geo. McCrae in his communication to the Chairman of the Board, and in which he stated that the scholarship granted at the Entrance Examinations had unjustly been awarded to Miss Pearl Pratt, and that his daughter Maud was entitled to it instead.

The Examining Board, the headmasters of the Central and South Ward Schools and Mr. McCrae were invited to meet the committee, and all were present.

The Board of Examiners informed the Committee that they had investigated the matter, and had ascertained that no impropriety had taken place, and no injustice done.

The incidents complained of were fully explained and it was clearly shown that they did not affect the standing of the pupils with regard to the scholarship. These explanations and the statements made by Mr. O'Brien, who presided at the examinations complained of, were satisfactory to the committee in every particular.

Mr. McCrae, after hearing the facts, also expressed his satisfaction, and said that if he had known the facts he would not have made the claim.

WM. CALDWELL,
Chairman.

Dr. Caldwell, in moving the adoption of the report, said the committee had dealt with the matter as fully and fairly as possible, with a desire to do full justice.

Mr. McCrae, who was present, was heard. He intimated that the chairman and committee had undertaken the work of investigation with preconceived intentions, on the part of three of the teachers, to stand by the examinations of which had complained. He also made intimation of other circumstances which led him to expect that there would not be a square deal in the matter. He intimated that the chairman had made some of the statements that led him to this conclusion.

Dr. Caldwell declared that he had been greatly misrepresented and went on to show that the intimations made by Mr. McCrae were without any justification in fact. He went on to show what pains he had taken to get at the facts with the idea of satisfying Mr. McCrae that justice had been done in the matter of which he had made complaint.

Mr. McBain, in seconding the adoption of the report, said he had understood that Mr. McCrae accepted the finding of the committee as satisfactory and he could not understand his complaint that evening.

Mr. Hartley also justified the course of the committee and showed that every effort had been made to do justice to Mr. McCrae in the matter of which he complained.

Mr. Hill pointed out that the trouble had, it seemed to him, largely arisen from the indiscretion of a teacher in his general conversation upon the subject.

Dr. Caldwell wished to correct Mr. Hill's impression by pointing out that the teacher in question had only communicated his views of the matter to the proper persons. He mentioned this as a simple matter of justice to the teacher meant.

The report was adopted and the Board adjourned.

LAKEFIELD WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Lefevre and Mr. G. E. Atwood Tuesday Afternoon.

A fashionable wedding took place at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Lakefield, on Tuesday, when Miss Clemence Belfield LeFevre, second daughter of H J. LeFevre, Esq., was united in marriage to Mr. George Evans Atwood, of Montreal, and son of Mr. C. Atwood, of Lakefield.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Warren, the incumbent, assisted by Rev. A. W. Mackenzie.

The floral decorations in the chancel were very beautiful, palms, ferns, smilax, salvia, gladioli and rowan berries were mingled with other Autumn flowers and and foliage in rich profusion. A beautiful arch of evergreen with a floral bell was placed in front of the chancel.

Although the rain come down in torrents yet a great many came out to see the marriage.

Shortly after one o'clock the first guests appeared on the scene, and for the next half hour the carriages followed one another in quick succession.

The ushers were Messrs R A Cockburn, E R Tate, Melville Strickland and A Sibbald. The groom was attended by Mr. H. Lampriere.

The bridesmaids were Miss LeFevre and Miss Louise LeFevre, sisters of the bride, and Miss Annie Atwood, sister of the groom. They were attired in white organdie over yellow and green, wearing black velvet picture hats and carrying bouquets of pink roses.

The appearance of the bride caused all attention to be centered on her, as leaning upon her father's arm she passed up the aisle; and a winsome bride she was in her magnificent gown of white corded silk. She wore the conventional white veil (which, by the way, had been worn by her grandmother at her wedding) which was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. A slender spray of orange blossoms in her corsage and a shower bouquet of white roses formed the other noticeable features in the elaborate toilette of this charming young bride.

The organist, Miss Atwood, played the wedding march while the bridal party went into the vestry and signed the register.

After the ceremony a reception was held at "Uplands," the residence of the bride's father, and heartiest congratulations were offered to the bride and groom.

An excellent wedding breakfast was served. Mention must be made of the magnificent display of wedding gifts, her trousseau being a gift from friends in England.

The happy couple drove to Peterborough and took the train for Toronto on a bridal tour and thence will go to Montreal, where they will make their future home.

The bride was one of our popular Lakefield girls, being a member of the choir of St. John's church, and a teacher in the Sabbath school and will be greatly missed by her large circle of friends.

The visitors from a distance were Mr. and Mrs Green, Miss Rogers, Peterborough; Miss Reid, Ashburnham; Mrs. Blackwell, Peterborough; Miss S. Tully, Toronto; Miss Chassels Strickland, Toronto; Mr. H. Osler, Toronto; Miss Stewart, Ottawa; Miss Thompson, Toronto; Mrs. Lingwood, Kingston.

SOLID FOR DRYDEN.

That the Liberals of South Ontario are solid for Dryden was amply proven yesterday, when, despite the most unfavourable weather, they gathered in force at Whitby to participate in the mass meeting which had been called to nominate a candidate for the Legislature, which has been rendered necessary by the unseating of Mr. Charles Calder.

The proceedings were of the most harmonious nature, not a note of discord was heard throughout, and the choice of the convention fell unanimously upon the tried and honoured veteran who has for many years represented the riding and has so acceptably filled the office of Minister of Agriculture. The meeting was most enthusiastic and was characterized by a determination to redeem the mistake of March last, when the apathy and indifference, coupled with and fostered by confidence in the strength of the Hon. Mr. Dryden, allowed the enemy, by means which were exposed in the courts, to temporarily capture the seat. Yesterday, with ranks closed up again, the Liberals, smarting under a sense of the fact that they were deprived of the seat in March last by means which have dragged the reputation of the riding in the mire, entered upon a campaign which they are firmly determined shall only terminate by the well-deserved rebuke to those who have sought to corrupt the constituency involved in the return by an overwhelming majority of Mr. Dryden.

Hon. E. J. Davis, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Geo. P. Graham, M.P.P., and Jos. Haysock, ex-M.P.P., spoke, as well as Hon. Mr. Dryden.

It was after ten o'clock when the men "fell in," and so pleasant was the evening made with toasts, songs, recitations and stories that midnight was upon the company before they knew it. As may be supposed a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Mrs. Williamson, president of the women's Auxiliary, diocese of Toronto then addressed the gathering, setting forth the objects at which the the Auxiliary ought to aim, and pointing out in a very interesting and effective manner the qualifications needed to be applied to give success ; these were zeal, prayer, knowledge and patience. Asthma Permanently Cured.

Mr. R. N. Hume, the well-known C.P.R. engineer of the western division, writes : "I have been a great sufferer from asthma in its worst form for over 12 years, and never succeeded in getting anything to help me permanently until the C. P. R doctor prescribed Clarke's Kola Compound for me in December, '95, when two bottles have entirely cured me ; at least I have not had even a slight return of the asthma, and have no hesitation in recommending this wonderful remedy to all asthmatic sufferers. I am personally acquainted with at least six cases in my own town who have been completely cured." Sold by Ormond & Walsh. If your druggist does not keep it, ask him to procure it from his wholesale druggist. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. MISSION BAND CONCERT.

Held in St. Andrew's Last Evening—A Most Interesting Programme.

Notwithstanding the very threatening weather last night, a large number turned out to the concert under the auspices of St. Andrew's Mission Band. The Rev. Mr. Potter occupied the chair and expressed delight that so many had shown their interest in the work of the Mission Band.

Misses Aggie Van Every and Ethel Tully gave a piano duett, showing marked ability in its execution.

Mrs. R A Hamilton rendered in a very pleasing manner and with much effect, "Break the News to Mother." Her singing throughout was exquisite.

Miss McCollum's powers as an elocutionist were very vividly portrayed in "All by my Lonesome," which everyone enjoyed.

Mrs. T. W. Martin's solo, "A Winter's Lullaby," by De Koven, (Chicago), was very beautiful, and it was sung with such taste and expression as to prove that Mrs. Martin is accomplished in her art.

Mr. C. N. Brown showed himself a master of the Irish. In the selection she gave last night every body was delighted, and both young and old enjoyed them thoroughly.

Miss Falconer's singing of "Annie Laurie" called for another Scotch selection, "Scots Wha Hae." In both she sang with clear, strong voice and the latter in a spirited manner.

The chairman, on behalf of the Mission Band, expressed deep gratitude to all who had taken part in the programme, and closed his remarks by reading Longfellow's "The Arsenal at Smithfield,"

The concert was concluded with the doxology and the benediction.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Co-workers in Christ Jesus, with holy awe we approach this place, realizing, as all must do, that we stand on consecrated ground and in expectation of a rich out-pouring of the Holy Ghost. A cry has been ascending to Heaven for a double portion on every delegate on Peterborough—on the whole Dominion. Are we ready to receive? Is that the prime object of our coming together? The coming days will reveal! Emerson said :—"The roses under my window make no reference to former roses, nor to better ones. They are what they are. They exist with God to-day." This expresses in a wonderful way what we have tried to make this Conference. Others have had the benefit and aid of noted workers, but our desire has been to cultivate and develop the gifts which God has given us, and our constant prayer has been that all the days of our allotted time here—be they working days, waiting days, or suffering days—may be spent with Him, for, to exist with God will make them heavenly days. I am glad that Emerson chose the rose for his simile that day, because it fits in well with our ideal, "The rose of Sharon." Love to Him, is the basis of at least one association represented here. Love to Christ. Yes, before everything, Christ. The world is His. He made it. He died to save it. And rose again—To boast that He was the great deliverer? No! To speak of His agony? Never! Or tell the price? No arithmetician has succeeded in adding up that purchase. To the Triune God alone is that known. Such depth of love, to hide it from us. "What does love mean?" asked a Chinese woman of a missionary. "We have no such word!" The explanation was difficult and perhaps not very satisfactory, yet some time after, when Christ had become a living bright reality, she returned saying with beaming countenance, "Now, I know what love means—it is Christ inside. I don't see Him, but I know He is here," pointing to her heart. 'The love of Jesus what it is, none but His loved ones know." And we maintain that only those who have it can attract others to it. Woman's love and faithfulness drew her to that rocky tomb. Heaven had a message for the earth that day, and "the angel of the Lord" had descended to give it. The heavenly messenger awaited the coming of an earthly one. Mary came and to her it was committed. "Go quickly and tell the disciples that He is risen from the dead" ; and on the way she met the risen Lord, when He too availed Himself of her assistance. Has that fact no significance for us? We think it has viz., that woman should do her share in the great work which He was so soon to commit to others. In belief of this, we who are privileged to do it place Jesus first, undertake all in His name, do all for His glory. Individual effort has always been blest, and Young Women's Christian Association work adapts itself wonderfully to all who are His. Every sanctified gift can be utilized in it, and the poor and the rich, the weak and the strong, may all find something to do, and wherever there is a young woman to be helped, try to reach her for the sake of Him who died to save her, and for the benefit that she in turn will be in showing to those around her the power of His redeeming love.

EVENING SESSION.

In the evening a large number of those interested in the movement were present, although the unpleasant weather doubtless prevented many from coming who would otherwise have been in attendance. Rev. J. C. Davidson, of St. John's church, was in the chair and after the conducting of devotional exercises by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's, the chairman expressed the privilege which he felt had been conferred upon him in being asked to preside. He felt that the citizens would expect him to offer the warmest of welcomes to the delegates. Addressing himself to those who were unacquainted with the work of association, he stated that the object for which the members were banded together was for the promotion of the physical, mental and social position of those whom it could reach. Speaking of the number of young women from the country who found themselves working in the cities without protection, he stated that the age demanded that efforts be made to meet the needs which was thus created. The Y.W.C.A. was striving, and with most commendable success, to meet this need.

Mrs. McDougal was then introduced by the chairman, and in giving an address on the work of the Y.W.C.A. from ocean to ocean, opened by stating that objection had been taken to the use of the word "home" in connection with the boarding houses established by the Association. The expression, it had been said, implied that charity was being conferred. The "homes" were not a charity, but were places of safety—such places as the delegates present would all depart for to join their families when the session adjourned. These homes were needed for young girls in every walk in life who, being suddenly thrown on the world, sought to make a living. In referring to girls who sought situations, the speaker dwelt for some time on the defective education which was given these girls in their own homes. Many of them had attended colleges and ladies schools and yet could do nothing towards earning a living if the breadwinner of the family was suddenly taken away. In the Y.W.C.A. homes they could be taught the duty of the housewife. It was not the object of the association to make men out of women, but to make useful women out of girls who knew nothing of the duties of a wife. There were new avenues opening up to women in the world, but the effort was always tried to first teach them to be home makers. Women who could not make a home were blots on creation. Many hardships were encountered by the association from ocean to ocean. The chief obstacle in the path was the indifference felt by so many in making the young feel that there was an object in life for them. Before closing her address the President expressed the opinion that the Young Men's Christian Association should open its doors to make a home for the boys from the country. The colleges could make homes for the students inside the precincts and why not the Y. M. C. A.? After allowing the boys to spend their evenings in the rooms the doors were closed on them at the worst hour of the night and they were turned adrift. Living apartments should be opened up in connection with the work.

Miss Botterell, General Secretary of the Association, also made a brief address before the close of the session, speaking of the benefits to be derived from connection with the Y. W. C. A., particularly when separated from friends. Speaking of the Travellers' Aid branch of the work, as practised in England, she urged that efforts be made along this line in Canada.

Before the session was adjourned for the purpose of holding an informal reception, Mrs. McDougal announced that at the recent world's conference stress had been laid on the fact that much misery was caused in the homes by poor cookery. She, herself, attributed much of the home disagreements to bad manners. In this connection she intended to offer a prize of $20 for the best paper on "Manners," which will be presented at the next conference.

Rev. Mr. Davidson and Rev. Dr. Torrance consented to receive these papers and adjudicate upon them.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

The conference re-opened at 10 a.m., Miss McDonald of Toronto University, presiding.

After singing, the conference was led in prayer by Miss Doyle of the Women's Medical College Toronto, followed by a short prayer on the need of the Holy Spirit through prayer, by Miss Chown, of Toronto University.

At 10.15 Mrs. J. McDougall, president of the Dominion Y.W.C.A., took the chair. A question box was then opened—questions to be answered at the beginning of each session.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were then read.

Two new societies were then presented that have affiliated lately with the Dominion Y.W.C.A.—namely, the Y.W.C.A. of Winnipeg, and the Y.W.C.A. Guild of Toronto.

Reports were then read from Mrs. Learmont of Montreal, Miss Fleming, Toronto University ; Miss Bennet, McGill College, Montreal ; Miss Doyle, of the Women's Medical College, Toronto.

This was followed by an hour in Bible study, led by Miss Minnie McDonald of Toronto, on "The Power of the Holy Spirit."

A PETERBOROUGH BOY BACK FROM SANTIAGO.

MR. GEORGE GRAHAM SAW ACTIVE SERVICE IN CUBA.

He is Home on Furlough Until Oct. 24th, When he Will Rejoin his Regiment and go to the Philippines.

Mr. Geo. Graham, son of Mr. Hugh Graham, formerly of Ashburnham, who has been in the United States for the last seven years, is home on a visit, and his coming is fraught with considerable interest, as he is fresh from the battlefields of Cuba.

On April 26th, the day after war was declared, Mr. Graham enlisted in the 33rd Michigan Regiment, and was soon after ordered with his regiment to Virginia, afterwards going into camp at Newport. The regiment got orders in June to embark for Cuba, and on arriving there immediately went into action before Santiago, and was actively engaged for about three hours, when the members were ordered to the rear, as being equipped with Springfield rifles, they were unable to use smokeless powder, which is such an aid in modern warfare.

Mr. Graham states that on account of the denseness of the underbrush the men were forced to fight in skirmishing order all the time, never being able to form up.

For about five weeks the regiment was encamped on the mountain side outside of Santiago, and were subjected to great hardships on account of the faulty manner in which the commissariat was managed. Many of the troops were sadly depleted in number by fever, which Mr. Graham fortunately escaped at the time, though contracting it after his return to Detroit.

The reception accorded the 33rd on arriving in Detroit was evidently a sight worth witnessing. Five bands turned out and for hours the line of march was blocked by the enthusiastic citizens. The soldier boys had to give up everything they possessed in the way of souvenirs many of them actually losing all the buttons off their tunics.

The men have been granted leave on furlough until Oct. 24th, when it is expected that the regiment will be ordered to the Phillipines.

That Mr. Graham comes of good military blood is evinced by the fact that he is a grandson of "Mexican" Joe Graham and a nephew of Mr. Thos. Graham, who participated in crushing out the Northwest rebellion.

Strike Quickly.

"On the instant when a lion shows his temper" said a famous lion tamer "cut him quickly over the face. Don't wait until he springs at you." This is equally good advice for treating the lion of disease. Many an attack of dangerous illness would be headed off if at the first premonitory symptoms the victim would strike quickly.

Those severe coughs, bronchial affections and wasting diseases which merge into consumption would never get their savage teeth into the constitution if their early signs were headed off by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It provides such an abundance of rich nourishing blood that tuberculosis germs have no chance to get any lodgment in the lungs. It clears the skin and purges all the impurities from every organ. It invigorates the liver to expel all bilious poisons from the circulation. It creates healthy tissue, vitalized nerve fiber and gives solid strength.

"I have thought for a long time," writes Mrs. Rose Petty, of Lockville, Chatham Co., N. C., "that I would not do you justice if I did not write and tell you how I was cured of that dreadful disease called consumption, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I had measles and pneumonia both at the same time, and came near dying, and as soon as I was able to go out I was taken with grip, and then followed consumption. My physician did all he could for my relief but I received none. I tried everything that I could hear of that was good for a cough but grew worse, and would have died soon had I not commenced using the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I felt improved before the first bottle was finished. I took six bottles, and after that I felt better and stronger than in ten years before. That was six years ago, and to-day do not feel any symptoms of a return of the disease. I remain cured, and I think I am the cause of a friend being cured by using the same medicine. He was afflicted as I was, and after every thing failed to cure him he took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and was cured."

THE USE OF PERFUMES.

Scents Which Should Be Eschewed by Refined Persons.

A woman never makes a more emphatic self-revelation than in the use of perfumes. From the time of the Queen of Sheba down to the new woman's day, exquisitely rare and precious perfumes have been valued as a royal gift or possession, but the time has come when ten-tenths of the ill-smelling "extracts," so-called, were better poured into the sea than used to besprinkle the toilet of a lady.

One is constantly mystified and amazed at the bad taste shown in this matter by women who move in good circles, who have discrimination in dress and are conventional in manners. And yet when we analyze her more closely we invariably find that the woman whose presence is heralded by highly concentrated perfumes is not a creation of very fine calibre or quality.

As an adjunct of the bath, certain distilled waters, like lavendar, Florida water or eau de cologne, are delightfully refreshing and sweet, but no liquid decorations whatsoever of scented alcohol declared to be the extracts of flowers, are fit to come near the handkerchiefs, laces and lingerie of the truly refined woman.

They do not smell like any known flower of the earth, and, indeed, are made from an animal, not a floral, product. The basis of them all is musk and alcohol, and when the latter evaporates the musk still holds its power to suffocate till sometimes, in a crowded public place, a theatre or church, one is almost overcome by it.

But while it is true that too many women of fair opportunities for social culture are guilty of the crudest taste in this matter of perfumes, there is another class whose fastidiousness of choice is as graceful as the other is distasteful. Far better, of course, to utterly abjure the slightest trace of perfume about one's belongings than to use the rank sort, but a certain other sort seems to envelop one in an atmosphere of indefinable elegance.

Two women were in a store one day, and had to wait for a wealthy shopper to make way for them at a silk counter. As she left the one who moved into her place whispered, "Did you ever smell anything so wonderfully sweet? I wonder what it was; she had no violets?" "That's the smell of money," the other one laughed, who was less susceptible. But it was not the smell of money, it was the smell of fresh Florentine orris powder imported from Italy, the only thing in the world that really and truly does smell like dewy violets newly gathered, and the woman who adopts that and nothing else individualizes herself in the minds of her friends and to the public as a personification of Rossetti's ideal of woman in his sonnets, "To be a Sweetness."

There is nothing that retains the faint violet whiff of orris like lace or veiling, and it is pleasant to have it replace the kid odor of one's gloves, but the knowing woman's sachet never reposes among her writing paper and visiting cards.

HARTY HOLDS HIS OWN

Sudden End of the Kingston Election Trial.

DR. SMYTHE CAPITULATES.

Each Party Will Pay Its Own Costs—Many More Particulars Filed Than Evidence to Substantiate Them—The Broken Reeds Dr. Smythe Relied Upon—Mr. Harty Heartily Congratulated.

Kingston, Oct. 4.—The Kingston protest, which was so long on "particulars" and so short on evidence to substantiate them, came to an abrupt and rather ignominious termination this morning, when the Conservatives threw up the sponge and asked that no costs be imposed. The result did not surprise those who followed the case closely, as it was clearly apparent that the bulk of the charges were based on mere hearsay and had no more foundation in truth than that paragraph which charged the Ontario Government with organizing a central bribery fund. Hardly an examination was held which did not develop into a roving inquiry which had to be curtailed by the court. In 90 per cent. of the charges gone into the particulars did not begin to agree with the stories developed under oath, and Dr. Smythe found when in court that he had placed dependence upon men who had no regard for truth.

How the End Came.

"Dismissed," registered the court in a perfunctory manner as charge 18 was found wanting. The court room had been buzzing like a hive for an hour, and a sudden cessation of the sound caused the reporters to turn. Dr. Smythe was in close communion with Mr. Harty, the judges had their heads together and the lawyers were watching the chief actors in the drama. There were sundry nods and gesticulations, and the parties directly interested retired with their lawyers to consult together.

"Well," said Dr. Walkem, when the lawyers returned, "we have had a consultation, and under the circumstances it is perhaps better to come to a conclusion at once. My learned friends and I have come to the conclusion that, although we have been able to prove one of these cases, and might be able to prove others, yet we can hardly hope to establish a sufficient number of cases which would justify the voiding of the election. Were we to seek an adjournment there is no possibility of the case being tried within a reasonable time, and it is therefore better for all parties that the matter should be disposed of. We have therefore agreed to drop the matter."

Dr. Jock Harty Exonerated.

Mr. Justice Ferguson intimated that the court could make no record of the settlement.

Dr. Walkem then admitted that the Conservatives could not hope to succeed, and Mr. Britton intimated the willingness of the respondent not to ask for costs.

"I was asked to state," added Dr. Walkem, "in regard to the charge against Mr. Harty's son, Jock, of assisting in impersonating a voter, that I have seen the affidavit of Skelton, the person who was said to have personated, and he absolves Mr. Harty, and we accept that statement in the fullest way, and so we withdraw the charge."

The withdrawal was recorded by the court.

Then the court formally dismissed the case in the following words uttered by the Chancellor: "With reference to this election petition, which we are here to try, we are told by the petitioner's counsel that, having given a certain amount of evidence, they have no more to offer, and that up to this point there is nothing to affect the seat. The effect of that statement is that there is no further evidence in support of that petition, and it will be dismissed. The respondents say that under the circumstances they do not ask for costs, and therefore we make no order, as far as the costs are concerned. We will, as usual, report to the Speaker such cases as we may think should be reported. That ends this contest."

Mr. Harty was immediately surrounded by his friends and heartily congratulated. Later in the day he was in receipt of congratulatory messages from Premier Hardy and other members of the Ontario Cabinet, as well as from friends at Brockville, Ottawa, Toronto and other points.

LINCOLN ESCAPED.

A Vain Attempt to Inoculate Him With Smallpox In 1861.

During the exciting period of 1861 great fears were entertained for the safety of the president, and every precaution was taken to insure his personal protection.

One morning there appeared at the White House a woman, closely veiled, demanding an immediate interview with Mr. Lincoln. Approaching Messenger Perkins, who guarded the door of Mr. Lincoln's private office, the visitor make known her request and pleaded earnestly that she be admitted to a personal interview. The doorkeeper's orders were, however, very strict, and finding her eloquence all in vain she finally compromised by confiding her message to the courteous but firm employee. Taking him to one side, the veiled lady seized both his hands in hers and tenderly rubbed them as she extracted a promise that he would immediately deliver her request to the president. Perkins was almost overcome by a most peculiar odor that appeared to emanate from his companion and hastened to get rid of her without creating a scene.

No sooner had he accomplished this than he confided to one of the official household the effect produced upon him while in conversation with the importunate visitor. A physician who was present promptly divined the truth and instituted a search for the woman, when it was learned that she had driven rapidly away in a carriage, and all trace was lost. Perkins was immediately ordered to return to his home and await developments.

Within the usual period he was taken ill with one of the worst cases of virulent smallpox on record, and for weeks lay at the point of death. Upon his recovery the faithful messenger, whose devotion to duty doubtless saved the life of the president, was appointed by Mr. Lincoln to a permanent position on the clerical force of the war department.—Washington Post.

One of the Mean Ones.

A worthy old Gentleman in the Country, having employ'd an Attorney, of whom he had a pretty good Opinion, to do some Law Business for him in London, he was greatly surprised on his coming to Town, and demanding his Bill of Law Charges, to find that it amounted to at least three Times the Sum he expected; the honest Attorney assured him that there was no Article in his Bill but what was fair and reasonable: Nay, said the Country Gentleman, here is one of them I am sure cannot be so, for you have set down three Shillings and four Pence for going to Southwark, when none of my Business lay that Way; pray what is the Meaning of that Sir; Oh! Sir, said he, that was for fetching the Chine and Turkey from the Carriers, that you sent me for a Present, out of the Country.—"Joe Miller's Jest Book," 1739.

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boys pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

DUNCAN & GREY

DEED OF A MANIAC.

Mother Kills Her Four Little Ones and Then Sets Fire to Her Home—A Terrible Scene.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—News reached Montreal from Tring Junction yesterday that is full of harrowing details. In the parish of St. Severin, six miles from Tring Junction, there was enacted on Sunday morning a tragedy that for horror bids fair to outclass even the Nulty affair. Six years ago Mr. Joseph Cloutier, a respectable farmer, married Miss Mary Vachon, a young girl of 18 years, the daughter of a widow lady of the neighboring village. Life for them was complete happiness, and four sweet children added to the joy of their home. The parish is two miles away, and Mr. Cloutier sang in the choir. Mrs. Cloutier is a handsome woman and bears the highest reputation.

Mr. Cloutier went to church as usual, and during the service chanced to look out of the window toward his home, where his wife and little ones were, when he was horrified to see in that direction flames, indicative of a house on fire. He immediately gave the alarm. The priest announced the fact and the congregation was dismissed in short order.

The distance was quickly covered by strong men, and the fire was found to be at the home of Mr. Cloutier himself. The house could not be saved, but they saw in the burning ruins the bodies of the four children, the eldest of whom was five years and the youngest but four weeks. Their death was not the work of the flames, but of violent hands. It was a sight to chill one's blood. The murderer's knife had done its work. The bodies of the innocent little children were found fearfully mutilated. Their throats were cut, their limbs and bodies lacerated. It was a shocking sight.

The perpetrator of the deed, it afterwards transpired, was the unfortunate mother. Mr. Cloutier believed at first the mother and children had escaped, but the sight of the four little bodies in the blazing house showed him that there was no hope. Every attempt was made to rescue the remains, but, although in plain view and bathed in blood, it was impossible. As yet there had been no sign of Mrs. Cloutier, but she suddenly appeared from a small outbuilding, which had been spared, and, going up to her husband, told him that she had killed the children and set fire to the house. The unfortunate woman was evidently insane, and it is feared that the husband will also lose his reason. The tragedy has created the greatest excitement over the whole countryside.

A Martyr to Diarrhoea.

Tells of relief from suffering by Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

There are many people martyrs to bowel complaints who would find Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry a wonderful blessing to them. It not only checks the diarrhœa but soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated bowel, so that permanent relief is obtained.

Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Houghton, Ont., sends the following letter: "For the past two or three years I have been a martyr to that dreadful disease diarrhœa. I tried every remedy I heard of and spent a good deal of money trying to get cured but all failed until I happened to read of a lady who was cured by using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I purchased a bottle and commenced taking it according to directions and was cured in a very short time. I cannot praise the remedy too highly for what it did for me."

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves tired, listless, dyspeptic and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these Pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St., Glencoe, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

OMENS ON WARSHIPS.

SUPERSTITIONS WHICH GOVERN OLD SALTS OF THE NAVY.

Hoodoos and Spells Which May Work All Sorts of Evils on Board and Which Must Be Carefully Guarded Against. The Tattooing Habit.

The most picturesque superstitions of the seas are those which govern a modern man-o'-war. Every old salt in the navy believes in hoodoos and spells which may work all sorts of evils on his ship and must be carefully guarded against.

The powers of a ship's hoodoos commence before the ship has entered the water. It is a generally accepted superstition that if the first blow which is struck the keel brings sparks the ship is destined to suffer from a raking fire from the enemy.

The old time practice of stealing a piece of wood and imbedding it in the prow for good luck is, of course, impossible in the case of steel ships, though it is considered lucky to have a piece of stolen wood on board.

Another old superstition is satisfied by placing a silver coin in some crevice of the fighting top of the mainmast or some place below decks where it touches the steel mast. Originally it was a very common custom to imbed a silver coin, and preferably a Spanish coin, in the wooden steps near the mast.

Figureheads have been in high favor with sailors from remote antiquity. Originally they were carved to represent some god or saint. Even today a sailor would hesitate to sail on an ironclad without such protection.

The ceremony of launching a ship is merely a concession to an old superstition. The various formalities of ship christening have been followed with little variation for centuries.

In the early days of shipbuilding it was the custom for the captain and the crew to eat their first meal stowed away in the mold loft. Their meal invariably consisted of eggs and sulphur. From this custom has come the present day practice of providing cakes and wine for the crew. And the old libation which the priests used to pour over the prow of the ship as she slipped into the water has been replaced by the breaking of a bottle of champagne.

The modern man-of-war dashes into the water with flags waving from every masthead. In order to gratify this old superstition it has been necessary to expend hundreds of dollars for the christening of a single ship. But no one begrudges this extravagance. In a way it is necessary.

The good or ill luck of certain days is still a belief among the sailors. Friday is a day of ill omen, and Sunday is usually a lucky day.

A superstition about women is a relic of the old belief in witchcraft. It is thought that a woman by throwing sand in the air on shipboard can produce violent storms. Not many years ago some women who traveled on English warships were tortured during a storm to make them quiet the waves.

These barbaric beliefs, however, are partially compensated by the superstition which sailors have held for centuries that beautiful children bring a blessing to a ship. The Neck was a handsome boy with golden curls. It is said that he is always accompanied by a black lamb and carries with him a golden harp. Our old salts have especial confidence in a ship which is christened by a child.

The average sailor is superstitious about the ringing of the ship's bells. In olden times the bells were blessed before they were used. At present, if a mistake is made in striking the hour, the sailors insist that the bells at once be struck backwards to break the spell, and if by any chance the wind should catch the bells and swing them all the way around, or if they strike nine bells, it is believed that it will be the last of that ship.

All good warships go to the "shores of Fiddler's Green" as a final resting place. Just where this mythical harbor is situated no geographer has yet decided. It is in every way the antithesis of "Davy Jones' locker." A warship which goes down in battle with her flags flying, as occurred several times during the civil war, goes to "Fiddler's Green."

The tattooing habit is, of course, very common in the navy. It is believed that an arm or a leg decorated with the design of a gun or a sword or some such design will never be lost in battle.—San Francisco Call.

APPALLING DEATH

From Kidney Disease Prevented by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? It means that the kidneys are either rotten, or rotting; the blood is full of poisonous, death-dealing corruption; that the Kidneys can't do their work; that the victim is a walking charnel-house; that his hours are numbered; that the victim MUST take Dodd's Kidney Pills if he does not want to die.

Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

DR. FRANKLIN IN FRANCE.

The American Envoy Was Received With the Highest Honors at Court.

Mr. H. A. Ogden writes of "A Great Republican at Court" in St. Nicholas. After telling of the arrival of Benjamin Franklin in France Mr. Ogden says:

He was then over 70 years of age, and his fame as a printer, editor, inventor, philosopher and statesman—for the old gentleman was a many sided genius—was well established. The learned societies of the civilized globe were proud to enroll his name among their members. The French people, from the nobles down to the servants, all were familiar with his quaint and witty sayings, as translated from "Poor Richard's Almanac," as well as with his love of liberty and his broad sympathy with his fellow men. Silas Deane, the agent of the American congress, then living in Paris, afterward said, "Here is the hero, philosopher and patriot who at the age of 74 risks all dangers for his country."

To show that the enemy fully realized his power as an advocate for the cause of independence, the Marquis of Rockingham, one of King George III's advisers, remarked that he considered "the presence of Dr. Franklin at the French court more than a balance for the few additional acres which the English had gained by the conquest of Manhattan Island." This was said not long after the battle of Brooklyn, whereby General Howe had secured possession of New York.

Shortly after his arrival in Paris the doctor was invited to make his home at Passy, then one of the little towns outside of the city, though now it is inside of the fortifications. Here on a hill overlooking the river Seine as it flows past villages, chateaux and palaces, stood the Mansion Valentinois, the owner of which insisted on Franklin's sharing his apartments with him without cost, saying, "If your country is successful in the war and your congress will grant me a small piece of land, perhaps I may take that as payment." Wherever the doctor went crowds followed him. He was cheered in the streets or at the opera. His sayings were quoted, and engravings, miniatures, medals, snuffbox lids and souvenirs were made to bear his kindly features. He wrote home to little Benjamin's mother that they had "made her father's face"—by which, of course, he meant his own—"as well known as that of the moon."

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action and yet is is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Modern Chivalry.

Sir Walter Raleigh's cloak has been a symbol of chivalry for many years, but the little street boy's cap in the following story, from The Sunday Magazine, deserves an equally honorable place:

The best story I know of an Edinburgh street boy was told me by a lady who witnessed the incident. There was a Christmas treat given to poor children at a mission hall, and hundreds of little ones were assembled at the doors in advance of the hour of admittance, many of them barefoot.

Among the number was a sweet faced little girl, who seemed less hardened than most to the cold, for she shivered in her poor jacket and danced from one foot to the other on the cold, hard stones. A boy not much older watched this performance for a few minutes and then, with a sudden impulse of protection, took off his cap, put it down before her and said:

"Ye maun stand on that."

Animals and Music.

Tarantulas do not dance to the sound of the violin, but let the people they bite do the dancing. Scorpions, however, enjoy fiddling, according to The Quarterly Review, and lizards go crazy for music of any kind. As for serpents, the boa constrictor and python are senseless to melody, but the cobra is fascinated by the flute and still more by the fiddle. Polar bears enjoy the violin, so do ostriches. Wolves will stop in the chase to listen to a cornet. Elephants are fond of the flute, especially the upper notes. Tigers, while appreciating violin and flute, cannot stand the harmonium, while the musical seal shows no emotion on hearing any instrument, not even the bass drum.

A REPRESENTATIVE PIRATE.

Captain Kidd Was Utterly Without Any Sense of Honor.

It is said that Kidd showed no repentance when he was tried, but insisted that he was the victim of malicious persons who swore falsely against him, and yet a more thoroughly dishonest rascal never sailed under the black flag. In the guise of an accredited officer of the government he committed the crimes he was sent out to suppress. He deceived his men. He robbed and misused his fellow countrymen and his friends, and he even descended to the meanness of cheating and despoiling the natives of the West India islands with whom he traded. These people were in the habit of supplying pirates with food and other necessaries, and they always found their rough customers entirely honest and willing to pay for what they received, for as the pirates made a practice of stopping at certain points for supplies they wished of course to be on good terms with those who furnished them. But Kidd had no ideas of honor toward people of high or low degree. He would trade with the natives as if he intended to treat them fairly and pay for all he got, but when the time came for him to depart and he was ready to weigh anchor he would seize all the commodities he could lay his hands on and without paying a copper to the distressed and indignant Indians he would gayly sail away, his black flag flaunting derisively in the wind.

But although in reality Captain Kidd was no hero, he has been known for a century and more as the great American pirate, and his name has been representative of piracy ever since. Years after he had been hung, when people heard that a vessel with a black flag—or one which looked black in the distance—flying from its rigging had been seen, they forgot that the famous pirate was dead and imagined that Captain Kidd was visiting their part of the coast in order that he might find a good place to bury some treasure which it was no longer safe for him to carry about.—Frank R. Stockton in Century.

A MOTORMAN'S ESCAPE.

How Benjamin Bacon Escaped From a Terrible Position.

Toronto, Sept. 19—Mr. Benjamin Bacon, motorman, No. 150, in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway Co. tells the following story of his escape from a situation in which death menaced him daily.

"I have, for a year past been a great sufferer from severe pains in my back. My doctor told me I had the first stage of Bright's Disease. He could not help me, nor did the many advertised medicines do me any good. At length, I gave Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result is that today I am a new man, sound and well and strong in every respect."

Why Was He an Idiot?

There is a story told of a very talkative lady who met with a well deserved rebuke at a social gathering not long ago. Her husband is a man of high standing in the world of science, but the lady regards him as a dreamer of impossible dreams. "Do you know," she remarked, "that genius and imbecility are twin brothers? The world regards John as a genius. Now, there are times when I believe him to be an idiot."

A painful silence followed, broken by a blunt old doctor who had overheard the remark.

"Are we to understand, madam," he said, "that Professor Y., though your husband, is so lightly esteemed by you?"

"I say what I think," she retorted. "At times John is unmistakably an idiot."

"Merely because he is your husband?"

"Sir!"

"Oh, very well," was the grim rejoinder. "We will put it another way: He is your husband because he is an idiot. Will that do?"—Pearson's Weekly.

PAYNE'S DESERTED TOMB.

Reminiscences of the Author of "Home, Sweet Home."

The old Christian cemetery at Tunis is one of the strangest sights in that strange town. Just off a busy thoroughfare, under an ancient archway, is a heavy wooden gate, much worn by the lapse of time, thickly studded with fantastic nails and provided with a prodigious knocker. The latter, however, is not needed, for the gate yields to an energetic push, and you find yourself in a large, walled inclosure, half garden, half graveyard, where an Italian woman is hanging out clothes among the gaunt white tombs. It is 12 years since any one was buried here, and the place is beginning to look neglected. The modern cemetery is now outside the walls, and its guardian told me that many people came to him to inquire for the monument of "an American poet" or "an American consul," and he had to send them to the old graveyard. The monument in question is that of the author of "Home, Sweet Home," and it bears the following inscription upon its sides:

"In memory of John Howard Payn, author of 'Home, Sweet Home.' Born June 9, 1791; died April 9, 1852. Erected A. D. 1855."

[American Arms—eagle surmounted by motto "E Pluribus Unum."] "Died at the American consulate in Tunis. Aged 60 years and 10 months."

"In the tomb beneath this stone the poet's remains lay buried for 30 years. On Jan. 5, 1883, they were disinterred and taken away to his native land, where they received honor and final burial in the city of Washington June 9, 1883. 'Then be content, poor heart.'"

"Sure when thy gentle spirit fled
To realms beyond the azure dome
With arms outstretched God's angel said,
'Welcome to heaven's home, sweet home.'"

There is a certain appropriateness about the fact that the author of the exile's most pathetic anthem should have died so many thousand miles away from home.—London Sketch.

FURS!

"There's not another such a collection of Good, Reliable and Fancy Furs in Ontario," said an enthusiastic spectator who was looking over our stock on Saturday last. We don't know how true it is—you may see for yourself.

In Furs we have built up an enviable reputation; we know this because with each year our Sales Increase.

One Factory Supplies Us--OUR OWN.

The impossibility of getting good, well-made Furs from Wholesale makers sent us into the business of making our own Fur goods. Now they are as well put together and as carefully selected as Human Means can make them, and without any Middle Man's profit to pay. If you deduct the wholesale man's profit you get at our prices—neverless we have aimed at Quality first, prices afterwards. We invite you to see our stock, now complete.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS MET YESTERDAY.

DELEGATES FROM THE DISTRICT ASSEMBLED TOGETHER.

Many Instructive Papers and Interesting Discussions in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

The fourth annual convention of the Epworth Leagues of the district of Peterborough was held in the lecture room of the Charlotte street church yesterday. There was a good attendance of delegates representing the societies in the different parts of the district.

Very unfavourable weather detained a large number however, who would otherwise have been present.

Mr. G. H. Williamson, President, presided at the session, and at the opening conducted a conference on "The inner life of the worker."

This was followed by reports from societies. A fair degree of progress was reported—especially along missionary lines—in connection with the "forward movement."

Rev. Mr. Clarry, of Millbrook, conducted a very helpful open parliament on "Christian Endeavour methods," taking the place of Mr. Gardiner, who was detained at home.

Rev. Mr. Drew, of Bethany, gave an excellent outline on the Junior Department, and what it should be, which was followed by a discussion.

The concluding address for the afternoon was given by Rev. A. C. Crews, the general Epworth League Secretary, on the "Literary Department."

The executive reading course for the year was presented and highly recommended.

Reports of officers and the report of the Nominating Committee concluded the session.

In connection with the reports Mr. Fred Stubbs, of Lakefield, gave an excellent paper on the literary work of the district.

The evening session opened at 7.30 with a song service, led by Rev. D. O. Crossley, the popular pastor of the Charlotte street church.

Rev. J. E. Moore gave an address on "Personal Effort," and was followed by Rev. W. D. Harrison, of Bridgenorth, who spoke on "The League and Bible study.

Rev. R. Emberson, of Victoria College, a student of the forward movement in missions, gave a spirited address on that subject, and as a result of his work during the year in the district, the convention decided to unite with the Cobourg district in the entire support of a missionary. This means that the societies of the two districts will attempt to raise $700 during the year for missions.

Rev. A. C. Crews spoke briefly on League work and conducted the question drawer, which brought out many helpful points.

The convention closed with a brief consecration service.

During the evening Miss V. Belleghem sang "Will he not Come Back?" and Miss L. Pascoe sang "Jerusalem." Both selections were much appreciated. Mrs. Campbell presided at the piano during the convention.

The following are the officers for the ensuing year:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. S. J. Shorey.
Pres.—Mr. W. F. Stubbs.
Sec.—Mr. J. G. Brown, Lakefield.
Treas.—Miss Nugent, Millbrook.
Conference Representative — Rev. E. Dove, Selwyn.
Vice-Presidents:
C. E. Department—Miss Maud Mason, Peterborough.
Literary Department—Miss L. Thomas.
Social Department—Mr. S. R. Payne, Warsaw.
Missionary Department — Rev. C. H. Coon, Cavan.
Junior Department—Miss Sherin, Lakefield.
Executive Committee—Rev. N. D. Drew, Bethany; W. J. Gardiner, B. A., Millbrook; Rev. W. D. Harrison, Bridgenorth; Mr. W. Sharpe, Ida; Miss Minnie Hamilton, Ashburnham.

FATHER AND THREE SONS CURED OF ITCHING RASH

I take pleasure in letting you know how much CUTICURA REMEDIES have done for me, my father and two brothers. In the fall of '96, I began to be afflicted with an itching rash under my chin. It kept spreading until it was all over my body. I could not sleep but was compelled to lie awake and scratch all the time. My father and two brothers were afflicted with the same thing, at the same time. We all suffered terribly for a year and a half, trying in the meantime all the remedies we could find, but received no benefit. I happened to see CUTICURA REMEDIES advertised and how they had cured others from itching skin diseases, and we thought we would try them. I bought three cakes of CUTICURA SOAP and three boxes of CUTICURA (ointment) and they cured the four of us completely. Any person doubting the truth of this statement can write me. RICHARD ANDERSON, Feb. 22, '98. Geneva, Box Elder Co., Utah.

ECZEMA FOR YEARS CURED BY CUTICURA

I had an attack of Eczema several years ago and found myself in the clutches of a monster whose business it was to torture me and make life miserable. CUTICURA REMEDIES were recommended to me by my druggist, Mr. T. P. Van Winkle of Hartford City, Ind. I used altogether three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with frequent baths with CUTICURA SOAP, and the use of the CUTICURA (ointment), and in four months found myself cured. Feb. 23, 1898. DAVID COLE, Roll, Ind.

SPEEDY CURE TREATMENT FOR TORTURING, DISFIGURING HUMORS.—Warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP, gentle anointings with CUTICURA (ointment), purest of emollient skin cures, and mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood purifiers and humor cures.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston.
"How to Cure Torturing Skin Diseases," free.

Riverdale, Douro and Indian River, gave a brief address, outlining the work done during the summer.

The Park street church choir then gave another selection, after which Rev. V. H. Cowsert, B.A., of Belleville, was called on. He took for his theme, "An up-to-date preacher from the standpoint of a pew." He wittily dealt with the qualifications a preacher would require if he would meet the unreasonable demands of some church members.

The meeting was concluded by singing the doxology, the Rev. Mr. Wolverton pronouncing the benediction.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

It will Meet in Peterborough on October 25th, 26th and 27th.

The executive officers of the Sunday School Association of Ontario have secured a number of strong names for the programme of the thirty third annual convention which will be held here on 25th, 26th and 27th of this month. The names of the speakers and the subjects to be discussed show that the convention will be a most profitable one for all engaged in Sunday School work, and will at the same time be very interesting for the public generally.

Prof. H. M. Hamill, Field Worker of the International Sunday School Convention, a gentleman who has made a life study of Sunday school work, and who is known throughout America on account of his success in Normal work, will take part in several sessions. Marion Lawrence, General Secretary of the Sabbath School Association of the State of Ohio, another whose name is well known among Sunday school teachers of America, will also be present.

In addition to these prominent speakers from the United States, there will be a strong delegation of Canadian speakers, including Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, Rev. John Potts, D.D., Rev. W. H. Withrow, D.D., F.R.S.C., Mr. J. J. Maclaren, LL.D., Q.C., Rev. B. D. Thomas, D.D., Rev. James Henderson, D.D., Mr. Thomas McGillicuddy, Mr. Alfred Day, General Secretary of the Provincial Association, Toronto; Rev. John Sims, Elora; Mrs. McLeod, Vankleek Hill, and a number of others from different parts of Ontario.

Special attention will be given to the primary department, and there will be an exhibition of appliances used in this department.

This great convention will draw to Peterborough hundreds of Sunday school teachers and officers from all parts of the Province, and the local Sunday schools are now at work securing homes for these delegates while they are here. Peterborough has a good reputation for hospitality, and on this occasion there is no doubt that that reputation will be handsomely maintained.

ANNIVERSARY TEA.

Held in Connection with the Park St. Baptist Church on Monday Evening.

A very enjoyable time was spent by the members and friends of the Park street Baptist Church, the occasion being the Anniversary Tea and Social. Tea was served from 6.30 to 8.00 o'clock, and the hospitality of the ladies of the church was taxed to its utmost as during that time between two and three hundred were served. After the tea the program was proceeded with, the pastor of the church presiding. After the usual devotional services, the chairman, on behalf of the church, extended a hearty welcome to all who were present. The choir of the Park street church, under the leadership of Mr. Jas. Steers, gave the opening selection. The Rev. N. Wolverton, M. A., who for the past six years has been principal of Bishop's College, at Marshall, Texas, was introduced. In a jocular manner he referred to the loss, the audience would sustain in not hearing an address which he had prepared for this occasion, but which he would not deliver as the pastor had requested him to speak of the work he had been engaged in among the colored people of the south. Mr. Wolverton then described his experience in preaching to a large congregation of colored folk for the first time. Hearty laughter was evoked as he told of the peculiarities of the colored people in their religious exercises, and the embarrassment they occasioned him. The condition of the blacks, except where white influences prevail, was deplorable. All that can be done is to educate the brightest of the young men and women and send them as missionaries to their own people.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wolverton's address the Murray street church choir rendered an admirable selection. Rev. J. J. Reeves, B.A., who was the first student-pastor in charge of mission work in the south end, was then called on. His address was of a congratulatory nature. Years ago, while in charge of the work, he had a vision, of which this present meeting was a complete fulfilment—except in one particular. Development had taken place on all lines. He wished the church God-speed.

After another selection by Murray street church choir, Mr. Thos. H. Cornish, a student of McMaster University, who, under the auspices of Park street church has been engaged in mission work at QUEEN VICTORIA IN DANGER.

Horses of the Royal Party Bolted With Her Majesty's Carriage and Coachman Lost Control.

London, Oct. 6.—Queen Victoria, her daughter the ex-Empress Frederick of Germany, and Princess Adolphe of Schaumburg-Lippe, had a narrow escape while driving at Balmoral, Scotland, on Monday. The horses of Her Majesty's carriage bolted, the coachman lost control of them, and a serious accident was only averted by the horses turning into the woods, where the carriage stuck between the trees. The members of the royal party were severely shaken and much alarmed, but were not injured.

Anglo-American Entente.

London, Oct. 6.—The Daily Chronicle publishes this morning an interview with New York State Senator Frank D. Pavey, and the Daily News one with Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian statesman, both of whom dilate upon the growth of the Anglo-American entente as a genuine and enduring sentiment, Sir Charles Tupper testifying to the feeling as affecting Canada.

UNABLE TO REACH AGREEMENT.

Spaniards Say They Couldn't Leave and Americans Insisted.

Havana, Oct. 6.—At the joint session yesterday of the United States and Spanish military commissions the Spaniards, according to a report, declared it was impossible to evacuate the island immediately, while the American commissioners insisted that their instructions called for an immediate evacuation. After two hours' conference on the subject, the joint commissions were unable to reach any definite agreement. The American commissioners, on their return to headquarters at the Trotcha Hotel, Vedado, were busily engaged in translating the stenographer's notes, and in sending code messages to Washington.

To Head Off the Powers.

Madrid, Oct. 6.—The Imparcial yesterday declared that the naval demonstration which is beginning in Chinese waters is not only a menace to France and Russia, but implies an Anglo-American understanding to prevent the powers from opposing American designs in the Philippine Islands. This act, the Imparcial adds, will influence the Paris deliberations.

The Paris Peace Commission.

Paris, Oct. 6.—The United States Peace Commission held its usual session yesterday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The commissioners continued their conference with Major-General Merritt and practically concluded an extended canvass of the Philippine situation.

He will leave to-day for Washington.

$62,000 STOLEN.

Molsons Bank at Winnipeg Is Minus That Amount—Police and Bank Officials Will Not Talk—A Mystery.

Winnipeg, Oct. 6.—The robbery of $60,000 from the Molsons Bank here took place between September 28th and yesterday, when it was discovered. The vault had certainly been opened by some one with good knowledge of the combinations. The bank officials and the police are puzzled. The report of the robbery was kept practically a secret until two o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The bank officials and solicitors are very reticent in regard to the matter, although they do not deny that the bank has been robbed. The details of the affair are kept from the public.

Mr. T. B. Phepoe, manager of the bank, left yesterday morning for Russell on a shooting trip and Mr. F. McBeth, accountant and acting manager of the bank during Mr. Phepoe's absence, was seen by a reporter. His statements were extremely guarded. For any inquiries of such a nature, he said, I must refer you to the bank's solicitors, under whose direction I act during the absence of the manager. The robbery was not discovered until Tuesday at noon, so that it can safely be inferred that the safe was not broken into, or any evidence left in the building by the robbers.

In fact, it is asserted that the vault was opened by the regular combination. This adds much to the mystery, as only one man in the bank knows the whole combination, each clerk who uses the vault locking a portion. It is said that the money stolen was in bank notes, and the robbery is believed to have taken place since Sept. 28.

It is not impossible that arrests will be made before another day goes by. The absence of any official statement is partially accounted for by apparent lack of authority on the part of both acting manager and solicitors to give out any information. They both declare that they have no authority to make anything public.

Mr. Wolferstan Thomas of Montreal, general manager of the Molsons Bank, confirms the report of the robbery. He was notified early this morning that $62,000 had been taken. Out of this $25,000 was in unnegotiable notes, so that $37,000 is the real loss of the bank. Manager Phepoe has been communicated with and was to be back in the city last evening.

Instructions, in consequence of the robbery, have been issued from the head office of the bank in Montreal, to the various branches, to keep a man on guard at night over the vaults until further notice.

Judges' Report in the South Ontario Election.

THE EAST LAMBTON TRIAL.

Many Charges Have Failed—One Charge Is Reserved for Judgment—Only Four Cases Remain for Consideration—Liberal Circles Well Satisfied at the Evident Collapse of the Case.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—The Judges who tried the South Ontario election trial, Messrs. Justices Osler and Ferguson, in their return report seventeen men for corrupt practices. This will cause them to be disqualified for eight years. The names of those reported are Ed. Baker, John Shearhan, Patrick Shearhan, Fred. McLean, William Hayes, James McGrail, Austin McGrail, John McGrail, Arthur Stapleton, W. J. Luke, W. H. Thomas, David Lockwood, William Beer, Aaron Harmon, Stewart Bruce, George H. Banberry and W. F. Jones.

MANY CHARGES FAILED.

The East Lambton Election Trial Is About Ended.

Sarnia, Oct. 6.—As thickly as the leaves on the trees outside the Court House swirled down to the sward in yesterday's wind have fallen the charges in the election petition against H. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P. for East Lambton. Messrs. Nesbitt and McPherson, without attempting to justify them, abandoned seventeen cases at the day's sitting of the court, and after more or less show of trying to prove thirteen others they too were crossed off the list of particulars. Fifty-seven counts went to make up the corpulent typewritten volume of charges when the court opened on Tuesday. One case has been reserved for judgment, that in which Mr. Montague Smith is alleged to have given Samuel Dew of Forest a load of wood when Dew was out of work and in actual want. Four cases remain to be heard to-day; three have yet to be concluded after having been begun yesterday. The remainder will be abandoned to-day with the exception of the four just mentioned. Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, the senior counsel for the petitioner, left for Toronto last night, and in Liberal circles there is much satisfaction at the evident collapse of a case, which, if report be true, would never have been gone on with if the same counsel had been concerned in it for the petitioner as now have charge of it. By noon to-day the hearing will in all probability have been concluded. Mr. Pettypiece is receiving many congratulations.

West York Election Protest.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—The hearing of the West York election protest has been set for Nov. 3 before Justices Street and Falconbridge. Mr. J. W. St. John, through his solicitors, has notified Mr. H. E. Irwin that he disclaims the seat, so that, in the event of Mr. Hill being unseated, the election will be fought over again.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR THREATENED.

Van Wyck Receives a Very Pointed Letter From General Collins.

New York, Oct. 6.—General C. H. T. Collins sent a sharp letter to Mayor Van Wyck yesterday concerning the alleged fraud in the old Department of Public Works, and the Mayor made an equally sharp reply. The letter from General Collins reads:

Robert Van Wyck, Mayor of the City of New York:

"Sir: I concede your right as the executive of this municipality to expose any malfeasance in office which comes to your knowledge, and as a citizen I will commend you for it, but if directly, or by innendo, and without foundation, you give pain to those who are near and dear to me, I will seek my remedy by the nearest possible course. (Signed) Charles H. T. Collins."

The Mayor read the letter just before a meeting of the Board of Estimates. Then he said: "Regardless of the threat contained in this letter from Mayor Strong's Commissioner of Public Works, the present Mayor of New York will continue to do his duty in reference to the rottenness in the old Department of Public Works, and in reference to every other matter that may come officially before him."

IN DANGER OF VESUVIUS.

Miss E. Stephenson's Narrow Escape From Death in the Lava Beds.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The Times-Herald yesterday says Miss Elizabeth Stephenson, who was recently selected by Governor Schofield to christen the battleship Wisconsin, has had a narrow escape from death in the lava beds of Mount Vesuvius. Miss Stephenson, accompanied by her sister, Miss Harriet, Miss Charlotte Holmes of Menominee, Mich., and Mrs. Frederick C. Austin and Miss Marion Austin of Chicago, were visiting in Naples. They started toward the volcano early in the afternoon, and en route engaged three Italians who represented themselves as official guides. The Italians proved anything but guides, and the party lost their way. All night they wandered, frequently having narrow escapes from a terrible death in the boiling streams of lava coming from the crater above. At daybreak they got back to the road and reached their hotel almost exhausted. All the ladies are said to have been painfully scorched and almost exhausted from inhaling sulphurous gases.

Sufferers from any disease caused by impure blood should never be discouraged about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla because other medicines have failed to give relief. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Read this statement:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs:—I think it my duty to let you know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was suffering with severe headaches daily and also with catarrh. One day a paper was left at my house and in looking it over I read of your great medicine's value to my fellow sufferers. I reasoned that if it cured them, why would it not cure me, although I must own I had some doubts about it, as I so-called cures which had failed even to relieve me. At last I procured a bottle and after taking all the medicine the headaches had left me and my catarrh trouble was much better. A FEARLESS CONVICT.

STEADMAN'S DARING ESCAPE FROM SAN QUENTIN PRISON.

One of the Most Remarkable Cases of Jail Breaking on Record—Accomplished by a Feat Which Almost Bordered on the Miraculous.

It is one thing to catch a thief and it is another thing to hold him. During a meeting of the chiefs of police of all the larger cities of the United States and Canada, which occurred at Milwaukee, there were reminiscences of remarkable captures and of escapes which bordered closely upon the miraculous.

"The most remarkable escape from prison that I can recall," said William A. Pinkerton, "was that of Frank Steadman from the San Quentin prison. But I'll not tell you about it, for here is John Glass, who caught Steadman and sent him back to San Quentin."

Chief Glass pinched the brown imperial on his under lip reflectively for a moment before he responded to the looks of inquiry bent upon him by those not familiar with the story.

"The escape to which you refer, Pinkerton, was made after I sent Steadman to San Quentin and not before. I was not the fortunate one to get him after that last wonderful break. And to tell the truth, I have never taken to myself much credit for taking him the time I did, for it was to a considerable degree a matter of good fortune. You see, we were just at that time keeping our eyes open for a bank robber by the name of Barnes, who had gone into one of the banks out there, covered the one man who happened to be alone in the place at the time, locked him up in the vault, and then coolly walked out of the bank and out of sight with all the funds he could get his hands on.

"One day a man answering closely the description we had of Barnes stepped off the train at Los Angeles. We took him in tow at once, but found we did not have the bird we were after. However, we managed to hold him long enough to find out that he was Frank Steadman, who had become notorious even at that time as a successful jail breaker. He had four or five escapes from prison in southern Indiana credited to him, had got away from Joliet and had still seven years to do at the Illinois prison; had also been at San Quentin, and had escaped from there with five years unfinished.

"Steadman was a machinist by profession, and a burglar by inclination. When he was sent back to San Quentin to finish his time, he was put to work with other convicts in the engine room. It was here that an idea came into his brain that for absolute daring and fearlessness was typical of the man. He had noticed that every evening at the time the men working in the engine room were lined up to be marched away, the machinery was stopped at exactly the same moment. He had observed as well that a window leading to an adjacent roof was not far from the top of the big driving belt of the engine. From that roof it was possible to reach the outer wall of the prison. Beyond the wall was freedom. He had escaped so many times that his mind reverted again and again to the window high up on the wall of the engine room. Apparently it was beyond all possibility of being reached. No ladder was to be obtained. Had such a thing been even standing in place against the wall, to break from the line and scale it with catlike dexterity, although the work of but a few seconds, he well knew would be futile, possibly fatal. Bullets travel faster than legs, and the guards were not bad shots. But desperate deeds demand desperate means. Some minds may work with an ingenuity born of despair, but Steadman's was of a different caliber. His plans were the outgrowth of steadfast optimism.

"One day there came to him as if by inspiration the thought that the big belt might be the means of carrying him to his goal. He found that it was impossible to count the revolutions of the driving wheel, but there were lacings in the broad belt, which he was able to distinguish as a sort of blur as it passed a given point. For days and days he counted, and in his cell at night he spent his time in calculations. He discovered the exact number of revolutions the wheel made per minute. He learned also by constant observation just how many times the belt went round after the engine was shut down.

"One evening, when the line had been formed as usual at the close of the day's work and as the big wheel began to lose its momentum, suddenly a convict sprang from the line, leaped to the belt, with outstretched arms grappling both edges of the broad leather. He had calculated well the strength that would be required, for the terrific wrench did not loosen his grasp. Outward and upward he swung until he reached the topmost point of the circumference. The nicety of his calculation had reaped its reward. The belt stopped. He leaped to his feet, sprang through the window and was gone before convicts or guards had recovered from their astonishment. He caught up a guard's coat and hat, dropped from the wall and got away in the dusk of the evening. I am inclined to believe that as a mathematical proposition that was about as perfect a piece of work as any man ever accomplished."

"And did he get away without recapture?" some one asked.

"No, I am almost sorry to say, he did not," answered the Los Angeles chief, "for that ought by rights to be the denouement of such a story, which combines so much of daring and cleverness. Steadman was taken again in a short time and put to work at his old job. There are bars over that high window above the big drive belt now. Not long after this Steadman cut and nearly killed one of the other convicts and is now serving out an additional sentence for attempted murder at the Folsom prison, which is situated some 28 miles from Sacramento."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz:

1st to take the value of the Policy in Cash $5,000.00

2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for 8,280.00

3rd, or take the profits in cash 2,050 28

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, one policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

CHARGES AGAINST SENATOR QUAY.

He and His Son Alleged to Have Misused State Funds.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 6.—The hearing of United States Senator Quay, his son, Richard R. Quay, and Charles H. McKee of Pittsburg, on the charge of using State funds in the People's Bank for speculating purposes for their own profit, was begun before Magistrate Jermon yesterday. The room was crowded with prominent politicians, lawyers and others. It was the general expectation that a hearing would be waived and the cases be disposed of in a few minutes. This, however, proved to be an incorrect theory, as counsel for the defendants made a hard fight, on the point of insufficient evidence to establish a prima facie case, and combatted the prosecution at every point.

District-Attorney Graham called Receiver Barlow and Teller Tabor of the People's Bank, who testified to having found certain letters and telegrams in the department of Cashier Hopkins after the latter's suicide, which documents, it was claimed, implicated the defendants in a conspiracy with the cashier for the use of the funds.

Certain memoranda of Cashier Hopkins was presented, and against the admission of this evidence defendants' counsel made strong objection.

The District-Attorney finally presented as evidence the letters and telegrams. The first letter presented was one from State Treasurer Haywood to President McManes of the People's Bank. The letter was dated July 25, 1896, and informed President McManes that the State's deposit in the bank would be increased from $500,000 to $600,000 the following week, provided Richard R. Quay was permitted to borrow $100,000.

A telegram, dated a week later, from Haywood to Cashier Hopkins, was next presented, which notified the latter of the letter to the president of the bank. Evidence was presented to show that the loan to Richard Quay had been made. Cross-examination elicited the fact that the loan had been cancelled since the bank had gone into liquidation, which was in March last.

Other letters and telegrams were read, some of which were from Mr. Quay to Cashier Hopkins, directing him to buy or sell certain shares of stock, and giving directions relative to the transfer of other stock through the broker firm of George A. Hubn of Philadelphia.

It was shown that the promised deposit referred to by State Treasurer Haywood was made on Aug. 3.

At the conclusion of the hearing Senator Quay, Richard R. Quay and Charles H. McKee of Pittsburg were held in $5,000 bail each to answer at the next term of court on the charge of conspiring and using the State funds deposited in the People's Bank for their individual profit.

FIGHT WITH INDIANS.

Bear Island Redskins Kill Some of Uncle Sam's Regulars—A Hot Battle—Indian Losses Unknown.

Minneapolis, Oct. 6.—A battle took place yesterday between United States regulars, under Gen. Bacon, and Bear Island Indians, in which four soldiers were killed and nine wounded. How many Indians were killed is not at present known. Gen. Bacon had gone to Bear Island to enforce the authority of the United States marshal in that district. The marshal had arrested several Indians for various offences, but the other Indians on the reservation rescued their brethren and would not give them up.

Gen. Bacon, with his force of 100 regulars, who were on small river steamers, reached a point close to Bear Island early yesterday. During a halt, and while preparations were being made for dinner, the Indians opened fire on the regulars. The Indians were concealed in the bushes, and the soldiers at once sought shelter themselves. The firing at once became general.

A body of Indians to the number of 150 or 200 made a rush towards several deputy marshals, who had two prisoners in their possession, but the regulars' heavy fire beat them back. Six Indians were seen to fall during the rush.

The Indians then ran to the shore and fired volley after volley at the steamers that had carried the troops. Inspector Tinkler, who was on the tugboat Chief, was shot through the leg, and the steersman of the Jennie was shot in the arm.

Later the reports say the regulars are entrenched, and will make no further move until reinforcements arrive.

A Startling Rumor.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 6.—An unconfirmed rumor has reached here that the soldiers and General Bacon have been massacred by the Indians at Leech Lake.

Typhoid at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—At the Military Division Hospital there are now 44 cases of typhoid and four at the Port Hospital. The total number on the sick list in the two hospitals is 408.

WHEAT CABLES FIRMER.

Futures Recovered About a Cent a Bushel—Northwest Receipts Small—Cash Article Higher—The Prices.

Wednesday Evening, Oct. 5.

Liverpool wheat futures were weak early in to-day's session, but firmed up and closed ½d per cental higher than yesterday.

Paris wheat closed 15 to 30 centimes higher than yesterday, with flour up 10 to 35 centimes. Antwerp unchanged.

Cables to the above effect, together with a good export demand at New York, lighter receipts in the Northwest and an appreciation in the cash article at outside points, lent the Chicago market a stronger feeling to day, and at the close all deliveries stood ⅝c to ⅞c higher than yesterday's final figures.

Canadian Apples in Demand.

Canadian fruit, especially apples, is in great demand in the Old Country, as can be seen from the action of the steamship companies, who have increased the freight rate on apples owing to the enormous rush. The advance is from 1s 9d to 2s from Montreal to Liverpool, and another increase will be likely made.

Both railroad companies, as a result of the splendid steamship business, are busy carrying apples from all places in Canada to Montreal.

Peterboro, Ont., Oct. 5.—At the cheese sale, held here to-day, about 4000 colored cheese were offered, being the last half of September make. The first offer made was 8⅞c, and quickly went to 9c, made by Whitton. Many of the salesmen were inclined to adjourn, not being satisfied with the price offered. Finally the president decided to call off those factories named by the buyer, giving them an opportunity to sell or not, as they considered best. The calling resulted in the following sales: Whitton, in round numbers, took 2000; Rollins 800, Cook 600, all at 9c. Two or three factories were offered the same price, but would not accept. The balance—about 1200—not receiving satisfactory offers, remained unsold at the close of the board. The board adjourned for three weeks. Buyers present: Whitton, Cook, Wrighton, Rollins, Fitzgerald and Sanderson.

A Curious Old Law.

A curious old law has been discovered in England which if literally enforced might prevent cyclers from using the highway. This act prohibits under penalty the drivers of any wagon, cart or other carriage of any kind from being used without having some other person on foot or on horseback to guide the same, with the exception of such carriages, carts, etc., where the draft animals are driven with reins. Like a good many other laws which still encumber the statute books and have become obsolete, it is not likely that our English friends need fear the enforcement of this curious enactment.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL CHARITY CONCERT.

SUBSTANTIAL AID TO ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL.

An Excellent Programme Presented by Madame Rosa D'Erina, Mr. Vontom and Local Talent—A Large and Well Pleased Audience—Notes of the Concert.

That the people of Peterborough warmly respond to the call given in the sacred name of charity, is shown by the large audience that crowded the opera house last night to assist at the highly successful concert given in aid of the funds of St. Joseph's Hospital and associated charities. The programme presented was one in every way worthy of the grand object of the occasion, and was introduced by Mayor Davis, who occupied the chair, and prefaced the programme with a few pertinent remarks as to the object of the entertainment, and of warm commendation of the noble charities it was intended to assist.

The opening number was a grand chorus by Paolo Giorazs, "Regina Cœli," presented by the choir of St. Peter's cathedral, directed by Mr. G. R. Vontom. This excellent choir is composed as follows:—Miss K. Hurley, organist; soprani, Mrs. Ball and the Misses Dunn, Mahoney, McCabe, Begley, O'Connell and Weir; contralti, Misses L Hurley and M. Dunn and Mrs. Lynch; tenori, Messrs. Ball, McPherson and Duranceau; bassi, Messrs. Mahoney, Weir, Picard and Pope.

In this selection the incidental duet was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ball, and the solo by Miss Lilly Hurley, Duettists, soloist and choir acquitted themselves admirably in this selection. Petite Miss Carrie White achieved so great a triumph in her recitation, "The Little Dancing Girl," that she had to respond to an encore. She was followed by Miss Lillie Simons, who gave a splendid recitation entitled "The Gypsy's Story" with much dramatic fire and good effect. She also had to answer an encore which she did with a capital humourous selection. Madame Rosa d'Erina made her first appearance in the aria (and chorus by the Cathedral choir) of Zingarelli. In the exacting aria of this production Madame d'Erina showed that she had lost none of the rare vocal skill that had charmed thousands during her concert career. Nor, though she suffered severely from a cold, did her voice show deterioration. Its ring was as vibrant and true as possible, and she gave a charming interpretation of the number in which she was helped effectively by the choir.

A duet, "The Minute Gun at Sea," received most effective treatment at the hands of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ball. Their voices blended finely and they reproduced the spirit of the selection with artistic fidelity. A repeat was warmly demanded, but doubtless Mr. Ball's well-known Single Tax principles made a double appearance inconsistent.

The second part of the programme was contributed entirely by Madame Rosa d'Erina and Mr. Vontom. This was a reproduction of their famous Song Lecture-Recitals, as given by command before the Prince and Princess of Wales, and over fifteen hundred times in the principal cities of Europe and America, in which the following programme was presented:

"Echoes from Erin."

"God Save the Queen."

In this part of the entertainment Madame d'Erina showed that she was an accomplished instrumentalist as well as brilliant vocalist. Her reproduction of Irish airs put electricity into the feet of the audience, and her singing of an Arditi Waltz Song, followed by one of Lover's serio-comic songs, "How to ask and Have," showed that her versatility was as great as her ability as a vocalist. The duet from Il Trovatore with Mr. Vontom, while not appealing so strongly to popular interest, was one of the musical gems of the evening.

Mr. Vontom's comic song, "Phil, the Fluters Ball," was so charmingly given that he was heartily recalled, and responded with a comic recitation, which he mated with another capital comic recitation in response to the recall he earned by his splendid singing of "Annie Laurie," a number that exactly suited his voice, and to which he did splendid justice.

Madame D'Erina' singing of "Home, Sweet Home" and "The Harp That Once" were pathetically grand.

The entertainment, and a most enjoyable one it proved, was brought to a conclusion by the singing of "God Save the Queen." It was worthy of note that this was one of the rare occasions when the National Anthem receives justice. It was sung by the full choir of St. Peter's, and the audience remained respectfully standing to the close, instead of, as is too often the case, chattering, donning wraps, and rushing for the door as if under the influence of a fire alarm.

Miss K. Hurley performed the accompaniments with her usual efficiency and good taste.

During the evening Mayor Davis made the statement that Madame D'Erina gave her distinguished services in the cause of charity without remuneration. He said also that the Sisters of St. Joseph desired to thank the people for their splendid patronage, though the Mayor thoughtfully added that the thanks should come from the audience for the splendid concert they had enjoyed.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Clara Reynolds and Mr. Alex. Waters Last Evening.

A quiet wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. Samuel Milliken, Dublin street, when his neice, Miss Clara Reynolds, daughter of the late Benjamin Reynolds, was united in marriage to Mr. Alex. Waters, of Pembroke, formerly of town.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, the bride being given away by Mr. Milliken.

Miss Reynolds was handsomely gowned in a brown cloth tailor made costume trimmed with braid and buttons, and carried cream roses. She was assisted by Miss Lizzie Graham, who was similarly gowned and carried pink roses.

The groom was supported by Mr. Chas. Winslow, of Campbellford.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding dejeuner was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Waters left on the midnight train for their future home in Pembroke.

A large number of most handsome presents were received.

BATTALION INSPECTION

It Took Place Yesterday Afternoon in Howden's Field.

The Battalion turned out for inspection yesterday and at two o'clock marched from the drillshed to Howden's field at the terminus of the street railway, just opposite the Agricultural Grounds.

The inspecting officers were Lt.-Col. Otter and Lt.-Col. Montizambert, the former taking the general inspection and the latter inspecting the companies and the armouries.

After two hours spent in the performance of the various evolutions customary on such occasions the Battalion marched up town at four o'clock and was dismissed for the season.

The Rangers turned out as follows:
Lieut.-Col. Bell commanding officer.
Major Edwards.
Staff Officers:
Major Langford, Quartermaster.
Capt. Dennistoun, Paymaster.
H. A. Morrow, Adjutant.
Rev. J. C. Davidson, Chaplain.
No. 1 Co.—Capt. Stevenson and Lieuts. Ames and Allen.
No. 2 Co.—Capt. Clegg and Lieut. Richards.
No. 3 Co.—Capt. Hill and Lieuts. Bennett and Eastwood.
No. 4 Co.—Capt. McGill and Lieuts. LeFevre and Bell.
No. 5 Co.—Capt. Miller and Lieuts. Matthews and Hounsell.
No. 6 Co.—Capt. Hayes and Lieuts. Mills and Walker.

The total number in the ranks was 181, the scarcity of men being due to the late date of inspection, many who participated in the summer drill having left town.

In the evening the officers entertained Lt.-Col. Otter and Lt.-Col. Montizambert at the quarters, a few other guests being also bidden to partake of their hospitality. Speech, song and story were the order of the evening, and several hours were passed most pleasantly.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES HELD IN ALL SAINTS.

VEN. ARCHDEACON ALLEN, OF MILLBROOK, DELIVERED THE SERMON.

The Church Prettily Decorated With Grain, Fruit and Flowers for the Occasion—Special Music Prepared by the Choir.

The interior of All Saints' church was most beautifully decorated last evening for the annual harvest thanksgiving service. Long festoons of grain were looped across the church over the aisle and the electric light fixtures completely hidden from view by harvest spoils. Over the windows were arranged pretty trailing vines and at the base of the great roof rafters were showers of grain. The chancel and altar were indeed artistically beautified by flowers and vegetables and the end of each pew was decorated with a miniture sheaf of grain.

Rev. W. L. Armitage and Rev. Mr. Bushel took the opening service and the sermon was delivered by Ven. Archdeacon Allen, of Millbrook, who spoke from the 12th and 13th verses of Psalm cxvi., "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits towards me." "I will take the cup of Salvation and call upon the name of the Lord." The psalm in the speaker's opinion was very evidently written as an expression of Thanksgiving to God. It was a recognition of the hand of God in human life. The psalmist is here thanking God for a particular blessing—for having delivered his soul from death, his eyes from tears and his feet from falling. We are also thanking God for a particular blessing—the blessing of a bountiful harvest.

Canada was blessed with having regular seasons and many were becoming so accustomed to having the dew, the rain and the sunshine when needed that they forgot it was all due to the hand of God. It was well for those present to thank God for the harvest, but they should also take thought, like the Psalmist, to thank Him for all His benefits towards them. In the darkness of affliction and of adversity David ever recognized the hand of God. In returning thanks he did so by taking "the cup of salvation," otherwise the cup of the Holy Eucharist—the sacrament. It might seem odd to thank God for blessing by by taking more, but God is thanked when man enjoys—when he enjoys and remembers the Divine Giver, but no oblation can be laid on the altar of God so acceptable to him as the sacrifice of ourselves.

In concluding Archdeacon Allen urged that opportunity should be given the children earlier in life to become confirmed. A child might be considered fit to decide the most momentous questions of this life and yet be considered by its parents not fit to take upon themselves the vows of religion.

Special music was rendered by the choir during the evening, giving evidence of careful preparation.

THOSE INTERESTED IN YOUNG WOMEN.

Instructive Discussions in the Y.M.C.A. Hall.

CAREFULLY PREPARED PAPERS.

The Convention Adjourns This Evening—Executive Meeting in the Morning—To-night's Programme Will be Most Interesting.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Ruth Rouse lead a general discussion, in the College Conference, on "The Possibilities of the Young Women's Christian Association in Colleges." Miss Oliver, of the Women's Medical College, Toronto, followed in a paper on "Bible Study," and Miss Flemming, of Toronto University, spoke on the "Missionary Study Class."

The City Conference was presided over by Mrs. J. S. Mitchell and was opened by a discussion on "The Relation of the Broadway Home to the Association," led by Miss Scott, president of the Ottawa Association. Miss Learmont, of Montreal, afterwards gave a most interesting paper on "The Reasons for, and Methods of, Junior Work This was followed by the appended most interesting paper on "Educational Work," by Mrs. Stevenson, president of the Montreal Association:

We get the word "education" from a Latin word meaning "to educe, to draw out." So that you see to educate is not so much to pour knowledge into a person, as to evolve or to develop what was there in embryo all the while.

Possibilities are developed into actualities, and a process of evolution set in motion, which is to continue throughout life, forever widening and increasing in the life beyond. Thus if our beginnings are small their issues are infinite, nor can we afford to think lightly of what must so deeply affect the condition of those for whom we work.

But now to begin at the very beginning, and to take the lowest rung of the educational ladder, (and I make no apologies for doing this, because I know that there are young associations here eager to profit by the experience of the older), we must have a place on our programme for the most elementary branches of learning—the three R's, as they are called, reading, writing and arithmetic, to which should be added lessons in orthography, language and composition in its simpler forms. And do not for a moment suppose that these are unnecessary. Experience shows us that many a young woman fails to obtain a situation by her ignorance of arithmetic, her faulty spelling, her excruciating treatment of the Queen's English. Just to take one instance: A young girl come into our educational classes only able to go as far as multiplication. She worked with us for two years when she left us she understood fractions, and she is now in New York training as one of the hospital nurses.

Such girls thankfully avail themselves of the quiet opportunity these evening classes (they must be evening classes as the girls are occupied during the day) afford to gain the knowledge in which they are deficient. We ought to find it quite possible to obtain voluntary tuition for them. It has been our habit to make no charge for attendance, beyond a small sum (say 25 cents) deposited as entrance fee, and refunded if the attendance equals 90 per cent. Just here I may say that we adopted a few years ago the plan of an associate membership and have found it to work excellently, both for the young women and for the Association. Any self-supporting young woman of good moral character can become an associate member by the payment of 50 cents per annum, and she is then entitled to many privileges not conferred upon outsiders.

In the Montreal Association we have over 100 associate members, and it has been the means of promoting much esprit-de-corps amongst the girls, besides the good which they receive from the classes. This will be evident as I continue my paper.

But now we have still a large part of a girls necessary education entirely untouched. I mean that which is to fit her for her domestic life—the art of home-making and of housekeeping. To their honour be it said, the Young Women's Christian Associations were the first to feel and to assert the importance of making domestic science a part of their educational curriculum They had not studied the needs of the young women without finding out where their deficiencies lay. Every Association should have at least the nucleus of a school of domestic science, in cooking, laundry and sewing classes, and if possible some attempt should be made to train that pre-eminently untrained class of our community—domestic servants. I think even those who have been inclined to look askance at our work and to disbelieve in Young Women's Christian Associations would form a different opinion if it could send out a class of certificated trained domestic servants, and indeed I am sometimes tempted to wish that we could send out trained domestic mistresses too. When I think of how young ladies leave school with a good deal of undigested learning concerning algebra and geometry in their heads, and not the first idea of how to cook a joint or boil a little porridge for their own breakfasts, my heart burns within me. I am delighted to say that this year we are giving domestic science science lectures free to our associate members, and cooking classes for ten cents each.

But not to linger too long even on this most necessary subject, we must remind ourselves that when Y.W.C.A's first had their birth their effect was "to promote the social, physical, intellectual, moral and spiritual welfare of young women." To this trust I hope we shall prove more and more faithful as the years go on. And this brings me to the last and highest step of the ladder, or perhaps I should say to the three last steps. I must pause for a moment on the subject of physical education, as I feel it to be of the utmost importance that young women should know something of their physical structures and how to care for them. They need to be taught the great lesson of reverencing the body. It has been found to answer well to devote some time and thought to medical and health lectures and I would strongly recommend that some well known and well trusted women doctor should have some good plain talks with the girls and show them how the evils may be avoided, which have cost many women their lives, or at all events, have been the progenitors of life-long delicacy.

Then as to the social and recreative department we cannot well over-rate its importance. Social recreations these youthful natures crave. If they cannot get what is healthy and elevating, then they will fall back on the more corrupt and degrading forms of amusement. To those who think that their social evenings are of little consequence, or can be left to take care of themselves, I would say that no branch of Association work needs more careful thought and attention. Music and art, poetry and pictures, lime light views, recitations and the like, all that can interest, and elevate and refine must be brought into requisition here. A girl's moral nature grows and expands under such influences, and she will be less likely to go back to small, mean, lowering ideas if she gets her whole nature elevated to a higher platform.

In the moral training we have found what is called "Practical Talks" exceedingly useful and helpful The hall is usually crowded on one of these evenings. If you ask, how these are to be managed, I would say, choose a list of attractive subjects, such as the following:

The wisdom of conventionalities.
What is true independence.
Country versus city life.
Do circumstances make happiness.
What are cranks, and how should we treat them?
Obstacles and helps.
What women make the best wives.
The pen versus the needle.
What books should we read?

Get some bright intelligent cultivated woman to take up these subjects, let her meet the girls as much as possible on common ground, and at the end of a half hour's talk pass round the question box. If your experience tallies with mine you will be surprised at the acumen and appropriateness of the questions and remarks which which will come up for discussion. These you must endeavour to dispatch in the remaining half hour, and then will come a little light refreshment and social talk in which the girls will learn to know each other better, and perhaps to approach you with the idea that you are altogether their friend. A friend to be looked up to, to be believed in, and whose advice is likely to be asked and followed on many serious and important occasions.

I have left myself but a few minutes to speak of the last and highest and most important step in the ladder—the religious education offered by the Young Women's Christian Association.

Perhaps some of you may have looked over this little circular, and you will see Bible classes, prayer meetings, King's Daughters Circles and Mission bands, and all the helps to a religious life which an active association will rightly and necessarily have in operation. But all these and many more than these will not prove effective unless we ourselves can reach the girls in a close personal endeavour to help their highest needs. Our own hearts must first be brought into touch with the great Divine Teacher, and then we shall diffuse His influence on the souls with whom we are brought into contact. Each of us must chose our own way of communication—the great thing is that we should be charged with the divine afflatus. Virtue must flow from us in such a case, even our very silences may be made a means of blessing.

It is difficult to give any direct advice as to how best to fulfill this sacred responsibility. I may say that one means I have personally found helpful has been to go and take evening prayers with the girls every now and then. We can speak very freely and directly at such times to their deepest needs. It is well to afford them afterwards an opportunity of seeing you quietly and privately. In that way I am persuaded much good may be accomplished.

What we aim at is the development of the girls whole character; body, soul and spirit; nothing less ought to satisfy us. But can there be a more beautiful or inspiring work?

Perfected character is the bliss of the redeemed in heaven, and we can desire nothing more for ourselves, nothing more for those amongst whom we work than that grace may be given us to achieve so glorious a consummation.

We begin the development here and endeavour to implant "the knowledge of God, the fear of God, the love of God, the worship of God, the service of God," but this is only the "day of beginnings," a beginning which shall have no end. That knowledge, that love, that service shall forever unfold, forever develop, forever grow, for this is what we mean by eternal life.

MISS ROUSE,

the travelling secretary of the Students' Volunteer Movement, in her very interesting and instructive address explained the great need of the student Christian movement. Students live the same life, think along the same lines, and any message spoken to one body of students is flashed with great rapidity to the uttermost parts of the earth. The students are the coming men and women of the day, and Christian people cannot afford to have the foremost men in the ranks of church and state become indifferent and antagonistic to the world's spiritual improvement. The inauguration of the Students' Christian Federation, has been the means of uniting 500 college associations, with the conversion of over 30,000 students, the enrollment of 12 000 in a regular weekly Bible study, the entry of 35,000 into the Christian ministry, and the volunteering of over 4,000 for foreign mission work.

Ten years ago there were student Christian movements in Canada and the United States only, while now there are eleven National Federations affiliated with the one common bond—the love of Christ and the desire—the evangelization of the world in this generation. The students' Christian movemene has a three-fold object in view—1st, town students to become Christians; 2nd, to deepen the spiritual life, and 3rd, to call them forth into active service for their Master.

IN THE MARVELLOUS GROWTH

of this movement within the last twelve years those who have been most deeply interested in its development have been led to see most clearly that God has worked in a most distinct manner, and that its success has been entirely due to the guiding of His hand. The awakening of the students of one land has in every case been traced to the very special prayers of the students of another land, who have remembered their fellows very earnestly before the Father's throne; so that God has been pleased to work from student to student, from land to land, until to-day the globe is encircled by an electric band of active Christian students.

The watchword of the Federation, which, seven years ago, was sent by a conference of 600 Japanese Christian students to a similar gathering of Americans, from thence to Sweden, where a few earnest students were troubled about the question of bringing the student into active service, has been "Make Jesus King."

One by one the more conservative of the European nations, such as Scandinavia and Finland, have been led to see the great need of an active student movement and men and women have been enrolled in the ranks of those who desire to promote the three-fold object of Federation.

The bringing into the federation of the Universities and Colleges of Australia may be directly traced to a series of special prayers sent up by a few Scotch students, whose hearts had been touched with a desire to bring the students to a united Christian effort. The effect was marvellous and almost instantaneous, by an awakening of a spiritual enthusiasm among the students of the University of Melbourne; and in the first conference which was held about three years ago, there was a gathering of 265 students, of whom 60 at once volunteered for foreign mission service. This inter-collegiate movement has spread to the oriental countries where students, who have lost faith in the heathen religions are groping about for some faith to substitute for the darkness of Atheism, and these in turn have become missionaries to their fellowmen, and to other heathen lands. Among the student ranks of India, China, Japan, may be found this progressive student movements working together and for the same object as those of western lands.

The results of this great inter-collegiate and world wide federation of Christian students have been the establishment of 1176 unions in Universities and Colleges, with a membership of 55,350. By the union of forces there has been a broadening of ideas and scope of work, a widening of knowledge among students who are far distant from one another, until to-day the Christian student of China knows more of the student of Africa than the student of Oxford ten years ago knew of the student of Cambridge.

Since the institution of this movement, there has been a great spiritual awakening among the students of every land, and more students have been won for Christ than ever before. It is particularly noteworthy that those in the scientific and philosophical departments, where it has been thought that atheistic views are apt to be fostered, have been especially susceptible to the influences of the movement.

The federation has united the world into a union in which the weak may help the strong in the example they show of zeal and self-sacrifice, in which racial and denominational differences have been lost in the effort to become one in Christ—in which there is a powerful objective work, a work which is first given altogether to Jesus Christ, and is then given back by Him to be used for others.

Following Miss Rouse came Miss Botterell who supplemented Miss Rouse's talk and told of the need of a Y.W.C.A. in India. There is, she said, a class in India who through European marriages and other such causes have lost caste, these women, about one half million in number, are the factory girls and shop girls of India. Through their Eurasian nature they are considered as European and nominally Christian, but they are really outcasts belonging neither to the Indian people nor to the Christian religion. It is to this class of women that the Y.W.C.A. comes in India.

Twenty-three years ago the Association movement reached India and since that time it has made haste slowly. In 1894 an American young lady, Miss Martin, was sent as a Y.W.C.A. secretary to this centre and having examined carefully and prayerfully her field she started a Drawing Room branch; interesting the Christian English women in their less-favored sister students. She established a home in Madras, where the working women may be sheltered from many of the temptations to which they are exposed and where they can receive the training which will enable them to push on this good work. More lately Miss Norman has established a Drawing Room Branch in Calcutta. The Y. W. C. A's. in Canada are interested in Miss Norman, more particularly as they have been responsible for one-half of this lady's salary. There exists in this country, which we are accustomed to consider the centre of heathenism, eighty-five branches, of which number thirty six are English and the remainder, forty-nine, native. Miss Botterell's address appealed so strongly to the audience that at the mere suggestion of a collection a lady arose and moved, so that the society become responsible for the other half of Miss Norman's salary, promising a fixed amount from the society she represented. Needless to say the motion was seconded and unanimously carried. After this the plate was passed and a liberal collection was received.

Miss Eva A. Bradshaw, Physical Director Y.W.C. Guild, closed the session with a paper on "Physical Work."

No wonder some women feel as if the disease which constantly pursues them is just a malignant devil dooming them to endless misery. Thousands of women who could get no relief from any other source have written grateful letters to Doctor R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., telling him of the benefits received from his wonderful prescriptions and the careful professional advice which he sends by mail without charge.

A lady living in West Eaton, Madison Co., N. Y., Mrs. Mattie A. Walker, in a recent letter to Dr. Pierce, says "I write to inform you what your remedies have done for me; but they have helped me so much that I know not where to commence or where to leave off, as I had such a complication of ailments. For three years I had such bad spells I thought that if dying was only just a sleep I did not want to wake and suffer again; I would be glad to have death come any night. I got so discouraged it seemed as if I could never be well and happy again. I had asthmatic spells towards morning. Sometimes I felt as if I could not get breath enough to live; had dreadful pains in the top of my head, and was so nervous I felt as if something dreadful was going to happen—I could not tell why either. I could write a dozen sheets full and not tell all the dreadful things I suffered, from female weakness, constipation, asthmatic spells, and rheumatic neuralgia.

"I advise all who are suffering not only to use Dr. Pierce's medicines, but to get his advice also, for it has helped me so much I cannot say enough in praise of both the advice and the remedies. I look on your medicines as being a God-send, and will ask God to guide suffering humanity to the right relief."

For nervous troubles and ailments peculiar to women Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only proprietary remedy designed by a regularly educated physician. For bronchial affections and digestive difficulties his "Golden Medical Discovery" is the one permanent cure. His "Pleasant Pellets" are the most effective natural non-griping laxative for constipation.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of the "People's Medical Adviser." For paper-covered copy enclose 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

WELL-KNOWN FOOTBALLER DEAD.

A Serious Accident From the Explosion of a Coal Oil Lamp.

Kingston, Oct. 5.—Hilton Bissell, cheese buyer for Alexander & Co., Montreal, died in the General Hospital from pneumonia. He was six days ill. Deceased was a son of Howard Bissell, the well-known Brockville cheese buyer, and had been in Kingston for six months. He was 21 years of age and a keen footballer. He was a member of the Granites and was among the fifteen first selected to play on Saturday in Montreal. Last summer he was a member of the Brockville Football Club.

A serious accident occurred last evening at the home of Charles E. Orenshale, Albert street, principal of the Kingston School of Art. His daughter Annie was carrying a lighted lamp from one room to another, when the lamp exploded. Instantly she was surrounded by flames that threatened her destruction. The accident was witnessed by a younger sister, who hastened to offer assistance, and in extinguishing the flames was also badly burned. The fire was put out before it had done much damage to the dwelling. The two young ladies injured are about 22 and 24 years old respectively.

THOSE YUKON SCANDALS.

After the Quebec Conference Rises the Government Will Probe Them.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—The Free Press says last night: As soon as the several members of the Government, now engaged at the Quebec Conference are freed from their duties, their attention will be devoted to the stories of official scandals in the Yukon. The matter has come to a point that the Government will probably feel it essential to make some open enquiry. Anyone can then prefer a definite charge or charges, such as have up to the present been wholly wanting. The Government authorities have not been idle since the first report gained publicity. They have availed themselves of every means to follow the statements to their origin. But this has only gone to prove how small is the real evidence.

Lou Brophy, auctioneer, is confined to his residence by a charge of buckshot in the leg below the knee, that he got while out duck shooting. It was wholly accidental, and is supposed to have been done by a man named Colemann.

MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Wisely Pin Their Faith Firmly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The motormen and conductors in the Toronto Street Railway Company's employ are a most intelligent, shrewd and respectable body of men. It is no easy task to impose upon them in any way.

When these facts are considered, it will at once be seen that the evidence of these men, regarding the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, must carry the very greatest weight. A great many of them have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after all other medical efforts had failed. There is no wonder the boys pin their faith so firmly to "Dodd's."

Lehmann and His Style.

"Mr. Lehmann," remarks a Bostonian, "will never again get a crack at Harvard, for when he departed his system went with him. There is no doubt but college oarsmen owe Lehmann something, and perhaps in the end his visit will have done more good than a victory. There never was so much good will and courtesy between college oarsmen as during the time Mr. Lehmann was in this country. He, more than any other man, was responsible for the good will and good feeling. He made the spy system a thing to be dreaded. He gave the rival crews and coaches every opportunity to watch Harvard at work, and the other fellows responded in kind. It was an era of good feeling, and even the rowing authorities rather loosened up and became courteous in their treatment of visitors. That in itself was really worth the price of Mr. Lehmann's two visits to this country."

AWKWARD BEGINNERS.

Something Which the Cycle Novice Should Know.

DO NOT BE AFRAID OF A FALL.

Germany Thinks That Cycling Is Too Undignified For Her Stately Chancellor American Manufacturers Building Motor Carriages as a Side Line.

While speaking of the troubles that confront the novice in cycling an expert dwells upon the fact that it is often difficult to impress upon the pupil the importance of avoiding the great desire to watch the front wheel. The pupil becomes able to ride for a few yards, but the moment the gaze is diverted from a direct course nine chances out of ten the bicycle takes the same course. A pupil may be riding along very well, but it may be a barrel or vehicle attracts the attention on the opposite side of the path, and there at once appears to be an uncontrollable desire on the part of the rider to run into the object which attracts attention. The best way to overcome this difficulty is to allow the pupil to run into an obstacle and then impress upon the pupil's mind the importance of holding a direct course, and the rest will come in a naturnl way as the rider becomes more experienced.

It is difficult to lay down a prescribed rule for a position owing to the various lines on which bicycles are constructed and the proportions of the riders. As a rule, on a diamond frame a very correct road position can be obtained by adjusting the saddle so the legs will be slightly bent. In this way the rider gains sufficient leverage. The arms should hang naturally, almost gracefully, with the hands resting on the grips of the handle bar. If the arms are not within easy swinging distance, the rider does not have perfect control of the machine. The handle bar should be adjusted in such a manner that a gentle inclination of the body forward will bring it within gripping distance. An upturned bar is the most desirable for touring and road riding, as it can be adjusted so as to permit the free use of every muscle.

It is also often hard to impress upon the pupil the fact that a fall will not be serious. A pupil should bear in mind that the feet are never more than 12 inches from the surface of the road, and that a serious injury is impossible. As a rule, the beginner grips the handle bar when aware that the control of the machine is lost, and then he is thrown to the ground with the machine. In doing this there is danger of breaking the machine and injury to the rider. If the pupil realizes there is going to be a fall, the foot on the side that the machine is going to fall should be dropped to the ground, and at the same time the hold on the handle bars should be released, allowing the machine to fall by itself. In this way many a hard knock may be avoided and at the same time damage to the machine.

In propelling the machine the power should come from the knee, with the ball of the foot on the pedal, the saddle being adjusted so there is a slight kink in the knee. This is liable to give the pupil more confidence in the first lesson. As the pupil advances and becomes more expert the saddle should be raised so that with the limb extended the heel will rest flat on the pedal.

Several Berlin and provincial German papers having declared that the chancellor of the empire, besides being about to retire from his post as the kaiser's chief adviser, was also addicted to bicycling, solemn notices have been published on consecutive days, first, to the effect that the stories about the chancellor's impending resignation were mere idle legends, as similar ones have been hitherto, and, secondly, that he does not belong to the number of those who practice the sport of wheel riding. Why a serious German journal like the semiofficial Norddeutsche Zeitung should think it necessary to correct a popular error on a point of this kind can only be imagined by persons who have had relations with public men in the fatherland. Sports are considered good enough for young people, but for responsible ministers of the crown they are considered a symptom of levity wholly inexcusable.

No less than 20 concerns in the United States have taken up the manufacture of motor carriages. Several of these are bicycle makers who are glad of the opportunity to utilize their plants for other purposes. In most cases the actual building of bicycles does not occupy the factory's time for more than six months each year. The rest of the year is dead loss unless some side line is resorted to to keep the machinery busy. Motor carriages seem to fill the bill nicely, and as soon as they become as popular in America as they now are in European countries, such factories as are making them will not be idle throughout the 12 months of the year.

TELEGRAPH TO THE KLONDIKE.

Double Line to Be Constructed to Dawson City by English Capital.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—Last session Parliament granted a charter to a body of English and Canadian investors, empowering them to construct a telegraph or cable line from the coast of Alaska through to Dawson City by way of the valleys of the Yukon and its affluents. The charter has fallen into new hands, and Mr. James Roche, a member of the British House of Commons, is now putting the scheme through for a number of English capitalists. The plan is to construct a double land line from Skaguay via Lake Tagish and Fort Selkirk to the Klondike. The work will be begun forthwith, and the line is expected to be in operation by the first of January. As soon thereafter as possible a cable will be laid to connect Vancouver with the land line at Skaguay.

The promoters of the old Brockville & Westport Railway ask that their lapsed subsidy be re-voted.

Her Suspicious Death.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—William Delorme of 118 Pine street appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of murdering his wife. He was remanded until Friday next. Mrs. Delorme was partially paralyzed, and died suddenly. Some of the neighbors said that Delorme had come home shortly before she died and struck her. An inquest was held and the jury gave an open verdict owing to the contradictory evidence. Delorme is 70 years old.

The War Investigation On.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 5.—The War Investigation Committee began taking testimony yesterday, and Major-General Joseph Wheeler was on the stand the greater part of the day. There was a full attendance of the commission. General Wheeler's testimony covered the case of the soldiers at the two important points of Santiago and Wikoff. He exonerated General Shafter from any blame.

St. Catharines, Oct. 5.—William Jepson, aged about 45 years, a conductor on the merchandise train between Toronto and Niagara Falls, while standing on top of a freight car at Merritton yesterday morning which was being shunted, was thrown off on to the track and fell across the rails. One car passed over him, cutting off both legs below the knee. He died about 10 o'clock. His home was at Niagara Falls, Ont. He leaves a wife and family.

Athletics at Yale.

There is some talk of establishing a director of athletics at Yale. Keene Fitzpatrick's successor has not yet been selected, although several competent men are available. "The scheme to hold Olympian games under the auspices of the Paris exposition in 1900, to which all the amateur athletic associations of America will be invited to send representatives," remarks a Yale man, "has met with considerable favor at Yale. Yale, however, does not have much money to spend on athletics, and it has been practically decided that the university would not be able to send a team to the games. It is likely, however, that some of Yale's crack athletes will go to Paris under the auspices of some of the big athletic clubs of the east."

New Fighting Weight Wanted.

Those who contend that there should be a championship weight between the feather and light weight classes are again agitating the matter. Some of them contend that there should be a 126 pound championship. Still others, who like the idea of another championship, assert that 126 pounds is too near the twelve weight limit. They want 122 established as an additional championship haven.

JOAQUIN MILLER'S FUNERAL PYRE.

Poet of the Sierras Builds One on the Heights Back of Oakland, Cal.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Joaquin Miller, poet of the Sierras, who recently returned from a year's sojourn in the Klondike, has just finished at his home on the heights back of Oakland a funeral pyre on which he has ordered that his body be burned after death. This pyre is a solidly constructed rectangular piece of masonry, covers 100 square feet and is eight feet high. It is made of 630 boulders of various sizes set in cement. At the top of the pyre is a coffin-shaped depression, in which the poet has left orders that his body be placed and cremated and the ashes then flung to all points of the compass.

Nearby a granite boulder, which weighs two tons, will form the poet's tombstone. No name is carved on it, but in white letters has been painted, "To the Unknown." Miller talks as though his death was near, but he looks hearty, though his Klondike experience aged him. He expects this winter to put some of his experiences in Alaska into verse. Those who have talked with Miller since his return declare that if he can put his descriptions on paper they will surpass any of his other poems.

Stabbed Him With a Pocket Knife.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 5.—While two lads named Walker and Stoakes, aged about 14 years, were out on a nutting excursion yesterday, they quarrelled in the vicinity of the Rideau Stock Farm and Walker stabbed Stoakes twice with a pocket knife, cutting him in the back and left side. The last mentioned wound between the lower ribs is a dangerous one.

Creditors Got None.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—William Taylor, father of the deceased Charles Taylor, whose insurance policy of $2,000 in the Maccabees was claimed by his creditors, has been declared the sole beneficiary of his son, who died insolvent. The Master-in-Ordinary gave the judgment yesterday morning. The decision will be of interest to holders of life insurance policies.

Mr. E. S. Massey, Belleville, Ont., tells how Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Increased his Weight and Restored his Health and Strength.

When you find yourself losing in weight, feel weak and miserable, you're in a serious condition. It's time for you to start taking some remedy that will restore your lost flesh, tone your nerves and give you back your old time health and vigor. Nothing will do this so quickly and effectually as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Read the following statement made by Mr. E. S. Massey, foreman at Capt. Allen's Coal and Wood Yard, Belleville, Ont.:

"For two years I suffered greatly from nervous prostration and was greatly run down and debilitated. In addition to this, severe headaches annoyed me greatly. My heart would throb, my nerves seemed completely unstrung, and I gradually lost flesh as a consequence. All I could do in the way of doctoring and using patent medicines seemed to do me no good. Finally I got Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I have used two boxes, and am now better than I have been in a long time. I have gained 20 pounds in weight, and am now strong and healthy."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure Palpitation, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Dizzy Spells, etc. Price, 50c. a box, or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists.

James Clark, Commanda, Ont., says:—"Some time ago I was greatly troubled with headache and constipation. One bottle of Laxa-Liver Pills helped me more than any medicine I ever took." Price 25c.

The feeling of buoyancy produced by the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is remarkable. One feels bright and active, energetic and full of snap and vim. Rich red blood fills the veins, and the nerves tingle with the sensation of youthful life and vigor.

TREMBLING HANDS AND SHAKY MEMORY. A HAMILTON MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH A NEW MEDICINE.

DEAR SIRS,—

I have spent half a fortune in doctors' bills, all to no avail. These Pills seemed to reach the seat of disease at once, and they also seemed to possess a remarkable influence over me. The violent palpitation of the heart, the trembling of the hands, the loss of masculine vigor, the frightful dreams, the loss of memory and general collapse of the entire system, have yielded to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Great were the results from the use of four boxes of these Pills. I am enjoying the very best of health. I fully believe they are able to do for others as much as they have done for me. Before using them I was a miserable wreck. To-day I am a well man.

Yours truly,
THOS. FLYNN, 51 Elgin St., Hamilton, Ont.

STAGE HOPES ARE HIGH

Managers Make Great Plans For the Coming Season.

FAITH IN COSTLY ATTRACTIONS.

Several Fascinating Importations From London and Paris—A Judicious Mixture of New Plays and Old Favorites—Leaders Among the Stars.

Theatrical managers are proverbially optimistic, and therefore their declaration that the season of 1898 9 is destined to be the best within recent years must be taken with a grain of salt. However, keen observers who are not inclined to look perpetually at only the rosy side of affairs are very much of the same opinion. One thing is certain, and that is that the coming season—at least so far as this city is concerned—will have an exceptionally strong list of offerings at the principal theaters.

GLEN MACDONOUGH, PLAYWRIGHT.

The Empire, the home of Charles Frohman's excellent stock company, will open with William Gillette in his farce "Too Much Johnson," which will remain one week, to be followed by the same author in his high grade melodrama, "Secret Service," to which three weeks has been assigned. John Drew will go into the house on Sept. 26 for a run in the imported English play "The Liars," which has had considerable vogue in London. When Mr. Drew leaves, the stock company will come in and will probably remain during the balance of the season. Several new plays will be presented, but the names have not yet been announced. The only change of importance in the organization will be in the position of leading lady, which will be filled by Miss Jessie Millward, formerly co-star with the late William Terriss during his tour of this country.

Miss Millward, as is generally known, takes the place in the Empire company of Miss Viola Allen, who has been with the organization in the capacity of leading lady almost ever since it was established. Miss Allen, however, has decided to branch out for herself as a star and will probably make her debut in that capacity in this city at the Lyric theater, only a few blocks away from the scene of her former triumphs. The vehicle selected is a dramatization by Hall Caine of that peculiar but brilliant author's novel, "The Christian," in which Miss Allen will of course enact the role of Glory Quayle. I understand that the termination of the play is materially different from that of the book and that numerous other changes have been tried in the effort to make the play as strong in dramatic interest as possible.

The Casino is prospering with Hugh Morton and Gustave Kerker's absurdity, "Yankee Doodle Dandy." This piece will probably last until well into the fall, and may be succeeded by a new comic opera with a prominent prima donna in the stellar role, but as "Yankee Doodle Dandy" is doing exceedingly well no definite plans for its successor have yet been made.

The main production at the Herald Square theater will be "The Hotel Topsy Turvy." This is a French extravaganza in which it is said that the proprietor of the Herald Square theater, Charles G. Evans, known to fame some years ago in conjunction with Old Hoss Hoey in Hoyt's first great success, "A Parlor Match," will appear. "The Hotel Topsy Turvey" is announced to have run to enormous business during two entire seasons in Paris, and as it has been thoroughly overhauled to conform to the American taste by Edward E. Rice it is more than likely that it will enjoy a long vogue at the Herald Square. Prior to the production of this extravaganza, however, the Herald Square theater will be devoted to a short revival of "The French Maid," the piece which occupied the stage at this house for a good portion of last season.

The Broadway theater will, as usual, continue to be the home of comic opera. The initial production at this beautiful house will occur on Sept. 19, when Francis Wilson will present "The Little Corporal," the book of which is by Harry B. Smith and the music by Ludwig Englander.

The following attraction will be Jeff De Angelis, who will make his second stellar venture under the management of Ben D. Stevens, De Wolf Hopper's former pilot. The name of Mr. De Angelis' new opera has not yet been announced, but it is generally understood that it is the work of Stanislaus Stange as librettist and Julian Edwards as composer.

The Manhattan theater, which last season after Brady & Ziegfeld took hold of it had but one attraction and that a phenomenally successful one, "Way Down East," will stray into new pastures. Its opening attraction will be an American adaptation of a French extravaganza entitled "The Turtle." It is rumored that Sadie Martinot will have the protean role in this piece, and Aunt Louisa Eldridge has also been engaged for it.

James J. Corbett, who was at one time supposed to be a pugilist by some persons and has since been supposed to be an actor—by himself—will be seen in a comedy especially written for him by Henry Guy Carleton.

The American theater will continue the experiment of cheap opera presented by a first class company which proved so successful last season, while the Academy of Music is slated for a run of "Sporting Life," an English melodrama in which Leonard Boyne, the English player who was over here with "The Prodigal Daughter," is said to have made a great deal of money on the other side, and the Fourteenth Street theater will be given up to "Devil's Island," a melodrama dealing with the Dreyfus case.

De Wolf Hopper will open the Knickerbocker theater with "The Charlatan," a new opera by Charles Klein and Bandmaster Sousa. He will give way to Nat Goodwin, who will present "Nathan Hale," a serious play by Clyde Fitch, which was quite successful last season in Chicago.

Charles H. Hoyt's latest effort, "A Day and a Night," will be put on at the Garrick theater for a run, and in case it should not last through the season it will be followed by farces of a similar type.

Stuart Robson will open Wallack's theater in a new comedy, the name of which has not yet been announced. Alice Neilson, in a new opera by Harry B. Smith and Victor Herbert, will follow Robson, and she will in turn give way to Julia Arthur, who after a short season in "A Lady of Quality," her success of last year, will make a number of Shakespearean revivals.

"A Greek Slave" will be the initial attraction at Daly's theater, and then the regular company, including Miss Ada Rehan, will present a number of new French and German comedies adapted by Mr. Daly. It is also probable that there will be several Shakespearean revivals and at least one of the great bard's plays which has never before been presented at this house.

Sam Bernard will open the Bijou in Glen McDonough and "Chimmie Fadden" Townsend's musical farce, "A Marquis of Michigan." It is said that the backer of his enterprise is May Irwin, who, by the way, will follow Bernard at the Bijou in another Glen McDonough farce entitled "Kate Kip, Buyer."

Richard Mansfield will tempt fate at the Garden theater with "Cyrano de Bergerac." This play has enjoyed great success in Paris and moderate success in London. Its one great drawback to success in this country, however, is that it is really a long poem in which action is subordinated to words, and it has been a difficult matter to find any one in this country who could preserve the beauty of Author Rostand's lines in a translation, which necessarily will also have to be something of an adaptation.

"A Brace of Partridges" will be the initial attraction at the Madison Square, and the Fifth Avenue will open with "The Royal Box," in which Charles Coghlan made a success at the same house last season.

The Lyceum will open a trifle later than usual, of course with E. H. Sothern, who will have a new play and who will be followed by the Lyceum company in several of the names of which not yet been divulged.

OCTAV COHEN.
New York.

Sleeves of the Immediate Future.

There is probably no danger that sleeves will become unpleasantly tight in the immediate future, for the autumn models, if anything, decree more fullness than the up to date summer gown shows, but it is possible that women enjoy showing their shoulders again, says the New York Tribune. A good carriage undoubtedly improves the appearance of any gown, but the large sleeves covered a multitude of sins in this respect. However, shoulders are not yet quite uncovered, for the popularity of deep collars and fichu effects prevents this.

The "mitt sleeve," which leaves bare the top of the arm and covers the rest to the fingers, is seen on some high necked dresses destined for daytime wear. The sleeve of the mitt style is only half attached to the armhole, and the top is bordered by the ruching. Another odd sleeve used on summer gowns has the top of the sleeve of the stuff and the lower part of lace, after the manner of an undersleeve. This is a nice way to make a foulard.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action and yet is is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Watching Plants Grow.

Procure a little collomia seed. Take one of the seeds, and with a razor cut off a very tiny slice, place it on a slide, cover with a glass and place under the microscope. The instrument must be in a vertical position. When it is well focused and lighted, moisten it with a drop of water. The seed will absorb the moisture and throw out a very large number of spiral fibers, giving the appearance of veritable germination. Beginners will find it easier if one applies the moisture while the other looks through the instrument.—Microscopical

CENTREVILLE SHOW SCORES A SUCCESS.

THE SHOW THIS YEAR RATHER ABOVE THE AVERAGE.

A Large Attendance of Visitors—Excellent Exhibits of Live Stock—Improvement in Both Quantity and Quality.

The weather threatened trouble for the Centreville show held on Wednesday, but the rain held off and the directors and members had the gratification of presenting and enjoying a good show.

In the department of live stock especially there was an improvement over former years, and in almost every other department the show was up to the average.

HORSES.

The exhibitors in draft horses were: John Hutchison, year old cold; J W Hall, 2 year colt; Alex. Anderson, sr., pair of horses in harness and two year colt; Robt. Shaw, one year colt, two year colt and mare and foal, and J Halligan, two year colt.

Exhibits were made in the general purpose class by William McKnight, one year colt and two year colt; J J Heron, mare, foal and two year colt; J W Hall, two year colt; Thos McCamus, pair horses in harness, two year colt and mare and foal; Alex Anderson, sr, two year colt and pair of horses in harness; Jas L Fair, two year colt; Peter Dawson, two year colt and one year colt; Hilliard Dawson, two year colt; Jas Byers, mare and foal; William Russell, two two year colts; Wm Stewart, one year colt; Robt Fisher, mare and foal; Robt Shaw, mare and foal and two year colt; Jas Byers, one year colt; Jas Halligan, mare and foal, and Jos Christie, two year colt. Carriage horses were shown by J and W Davidson, team in harness, single horse in harness and single horse three year old; Wm McKnight, two year colt; R Dyell, three year driver; J L Fair, single horse in harness and mare and foal; Geo Brown, two pairs of ponies in harness; W T Donaldson, two year colt; W H Hutchinson, one year colt; Thos Wood, mare and foal and one and two year old colt; Joseph Byers, single horse and one and two year old colt; Wm. Stewart, jr., one year colt; T H Hassard, three year driver; Fred Staples, mare and foal, two year colt, three year driver and single horse; Wm McAllister, single horse; Ira Natrass, single horse; Jas Byers, one year colt; Isaac Gillespie, single horse in harness.

HORNED CATTLE.

The show of cattle was excellent, an innovation consisting in the addition of some fine Jerseys to the entry list.

Durhams were exhibited by David Wood, two year bull; Thos Redmond, ten heads of of various ages; Wm Rutherford, yearling bull, bull calf and one year heifer; A Dawson, bull calf and milch cow; Peter Dawson, two year bull, milch cow, one year heifer and heifer calf; Wm Stewart, aged bull.

Grades were shown by R Dyell, David Wood, Thos Redmond, Wm Rutherford, Geo L Fair, Wm Campbell, Peter Dawson, Malcolm Morrison, Hilliard Dawson and Fred Staples.

A new feature in the stock was exhibits of Jerseys, of which Joseph Staples had a fine herd of eight head. Ayrshires were also a rare feature, of which Hilliard Dawson had five head and Fred Staples eight head.

Sheep were also represented, the following being exhibitors: A E Meadows, Wm McKnight, David Wood, Thos M Willan, Wm Rutherford, R L Holdsworth and Jas Wood.

SWINE.

The competition in swine was keen—better than has been presented at other exhibitions.

In the large breed class, exhibits were made by Jos Clarke, Thos M Willan, Wm Rutherford, Geo L Fair, Jos Burns, R L Holdsworth, Jos Staples, R Stewart.

Small breed animals were shown by R D Allen, J J Heron, Wm Rutherford and R L Holdsworth.

There was an excellent exhibit of poultry.

THE INSIDE EXHIBIT.

The show of grains was fine for a township exhibition and roots were vere creditably represented. Dairy products were not very well filled and fruit was excellent in quality and abundant. The ladies' department of both domestic and fancy work was excellent and not much short in quantity of the Central Exhibition in this department. Fine arts was also very creditable.

Peterborough merchants were rather liberal in the donation of prizes, among them being the following:—Gough Bros., A. Mercer & Co., H. LeBrun & Co., Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Co., B. Shorbly, Grafton & Co., Fairweather & Co., R. Fair, Golden Lion, J. C. Turnbull & Co., Richard Hall & Son, R. H. Kells and C. B. McAllister.

MRS. HOOPER ESCAPED.

Because She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills and so Cured Female Weakness

Norwich, Ont., Oct. 3.—Mrs. J. S. Hooper, wife of Mr. J. Stanley Hooper, of North Norwich township, is a living proof of the unapproached value of Dodd's Kidney Pills, in the treatment of diseases of women.

Mrs. Hooper was a martyr to Female Weakness and Kidney Disease for twelve years. Norwich, Detroit and Buffalo physicians treated her unavaillingly. She then tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. Four boxes cured her thoroughly and made her as healthy, strong and vigourous as she ever was. Dodd's Kidney Pills are women's best friends.

REFORMERS IN CHINA

Are in Danger of Losing Their Lives For the People's Sake.

KANG YUWEI TELLS HIS STORY.

The Emperor Tried to Carry Out the Reforms Suggested by the Cantonese, But They Came to Naught Through the Dowager Empress' Power —She Is Now in Full Command.

London, Oct. 7.—The Hong Kong correspondent of the Times telegraphs the substance of a long interview he has had with Kang Yuwei, the Cantonese reformer, in which the latter recounted his history of the crisis. Kang Yuwei said that on June 16 he had a two hour's audience with the Emperor, who, anxious about the Russian encroachments, was ready to listen to any plan to secure the integrity of the empire. The Times' correspondent continues:

"Kang advised replacing the conservative ministers by young progressists and the employment of Englishmen and Americans to effect suggested reforms. He advised the Emperor to study the progress of Japan and western methods. The Emperor admitted the cogency of his arguments, but expressed his regret at being unable to remove high officials, because of the Empress Dowager.

"Kang then urged His Majesty to strengthen his friendship with foreign powers and particularly to seek an alliance with England. The Emperor said he realized that foreign countries were no longer insignificant states, and observed that it was a pity that his ministers had not averted the impending trouble. Kang says the real power at Pekin is held by Li Luen Yan, a sham eunuch, and that the Dowager's illigitimate son, Chun Ming, will probably be made Emperor.

"In the morning of Sept. 18, Kang received two letters from the Emperor, dated respectively Sept 16 and Sept. 17. The first represented the difficulties of his position, the Empress Dowager's anger and his fears that he would be unable to protect his throne, and commanded Kang to consult with his colleagues as to how to save the Emperor.

"In the second letter His Majesty said: 'I have commanded you to superintend the establishing of an official organ. It is strongly against my wish. I have great sorrow, which I cannot describe with ink and pen. You must proceed immediately outside to advise means to save me without a moment's delay.'

"The letter concluded with an expression of gratitude for Kang's faithfulness, warning him to take care of himself and an expression of hope that matters would mend ere long. Kang promptly visited the American missionary, the Rev. Timothy Richard, whom he asked to call upon the British and American Legations. Sir Claude Macdonald (British Minister) was at Pei Tai So, and the American Minister (Mr. Conger) was at Si Shan. Ominous rumors were in circulation that day, and Kang fled. He was astonished that England protected him, and he urges the British Government to take prompt action to save the Emperor."

DOWAGER IN COMMAND.

The Restoration of Retrograde Regency Is Complete.

London, Oct. 7.—The Pekin correspondent of the Times, telegraphing on Tuesday, says: The restoration of the regency is complete. The Empress Dowager receives the Cabinet daily, seated beside the Emperor, openly, and not, as formerly, behind a screen. The Government is more retrograde and reactionary. The Russians welcome the change as increasing their influence. The immediate exciting cause of the change was the impending edict ordering officials to abolish the queue and to adopt foreign dress.

HIS LIFE FOR OTHERS

Splendid Heroism of a Railway Laborer in Scotland.

London, Oct. 7.—A despatch from Edinburgh brings news of wonderful heroism on the part of a workman, who gave his life to save a passenger train on the Wick & Inverness line Tuesday afternoon.

A road gang was repairing a part of the railway near Altnabreac when a train was heard approaching. A huge tool box lay across the rails and the gang of eight struggled to remove it. As the train drew near all but one of them ceased their efforts and fled, panic-striken. The hero, John Morrison, a giant in strength, remained, laboring with superhuman effort, and finally shoved the box from the track. Before he could straighten up the locomotive struck him and he was ground to pieces.

The embankment at this point is very steep, and had the train struck the box, death would have resulted for scores of passengers.

DEATH OF DR. GEIKIE.

Well-Known Religious Commentator and Historian Passes Away.

London, Oct. 7.—Rev. Dr. Cunningham Geikie, the well-known religious commentator and historian, is dead.

Dr. Geikie, who had been living quietly at Bournemouth since 1890, when he retired from his pastoral work as vicar of St. Martin Palace, Norwich, was born in Edinburgh, Oct. 26, 1824. He was the second son of Rev. Archbishop Geikie, former minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canaan, Conn. He was educated at Edinburgh, receiving the honorary degree of D.D. from Queen's College, Canada, in 1871, and of LL.D., from Edinburgh University in 1891. Ordained in 1848, he served in Canada and Nova Scotia for 13 years. His later clerical work was as vicar in important parishes in Paris and England.

WINNIPEG BANK ROBBERY.

Bank Officials, Police and Everybody Else at Sea — No Explainable Theory of the Robbery.

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—Interesting developments in the Molsons Bank robbery were expected yesterday morning by the hundreds of citizens who have been startled by the magnitude of the affair and lost in the mystery that surrounds it. These have not been forthcoming, however, and the public remains as much in the dark as before. The public are not the only persons mystified, but the bank officials and the police working on the case are entirely at sea. No theory seems capable of explaining as to how any one could have gained admission to the well-guarded treasury, let alone carry off its entire contents. An effort is being made to get the numbers of all the notes of the Molsons Bank that are in circulation in the hope of ascertaining the sums of stolen bills, as such information will be of great assistance in tracing them. The money was in the treasury on Wednesday, Sept. 28. At least, when the treasury was opened that afternoon the clerks saw that the money was intact, as to its bulk, although they did not count it. Tuesday afternoon last the treasury was opened for the purpose of making a deposit, and the compartment was found to be empty.

To open the compartment five combinations had to be known, and a key possessed. Moreover, two men slept in the bank at night, for the express purpose of guarding the money. The lock combination and the vault itself presented no signs of having been forced in any manner, and whoever committed the robbery must have known the combinations.

Chief Constable McRae was immediately notified. Each member of the bank staff was carefully questioned, and each firmly protested that he knew absolutely nothing of the crime. It seems almost impossible that the bank employes could have been concerned in the robbery, for there were five combinations to be mastered, and none of the employes knew more than one combination.

Besides the five combination locks, one key lock has to be opened to enter the treasury. The final door opening into the compartment has two combination locks. Two men are required to open this door. One of the combinations is supposed to be known only to the bank manager, and the other to the accountant, or, in the absence of either, to some one appointed by the manager.

Since Sept. 19th two clerks have slept in the bank every night. It is said that this is in consequence of a warning received by Manager Phepoe from a well-known private detective, that an attempt would be made to rob the bank. The man mentioned by the detective was at that time in jail, and it would be impossible for him to be concerned in the present robbery.

Manager T. B. Phepoe left on a shooting trip on Tuesday, but was recalled and came back to Winnipeg Wednesday night. Mr. E. McBeth, accountant, was acting manager in his absence.

When Mr. McBeth was seen yesterday morning at the bank he would answer no questions. Being asked whether there had been any plumbers at work in the building he said that one well-known plumber had been there fixing the sanitary apparatus, but that he (Mr. McBeth) saw him come in, saw him while he was working, and saw him depart, the whole time he was there being only a few minutes.

Further enquiries elicited nothing. Mr. McBeth referring the interviewer to the general manager.

Mr. Nellos, the teller, courteously but firmly refused to make any statement or answer any questions.

No arrests have yet been made in connection with the robbery and the mystery is yet unsolved. When Manager Phepoe returned Wednesday night a meeting of all persons connected with the bank was held upon his arrival, but investigation revealed nothing. Inspector Corning and the detectives are at work. The money taken would nearly fill a bushel basket.

A Boy's Tragic Death.

Bradford, Oct. 7.—Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock Fred. Coates, son of Mr. Albert Coates, a boy about 15 years old, was cleaning a gun, with the intension of going shooting. After he got through he loaded the gun and then placed his left eye to the muzzle, when the gun went off and blew the side of his head away. Death was instantaneous.

FORCE ANNIHILATED.

Indians Massacred Gen. Bacon and His 80 Troops.

A USELESS SACRIFICE OF LIFE.

The Company Were Caught With Their Rifles Empty and Their Ranks Were Decimated—Three Newspaper Correspondents Killed or Prisoners in the Hands of the Desperate Redmen.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—Arthur P. Pegler, the staff correspondent of the Journal, wires yesterday from Walker, Minn.:

The force of eighty men, under General Bacon, have been annihilated. I got in very late from an expedition on the Flora. We started out to carry supplies and rations to the troops. It was very dark off the shore, and we signaled for an hour. No answer to the signal of any kind was received.

At a later date I am going to tell the whole truth about this expedition. I never know of such gross mismanagement, or witnessed such criminal obstinacy as has been exhibited here. The men of Bacon's command were taken out under conditions that would disgrace a militia sergeant were he responsible for them. Every life that has been lost here is a useless sacrifice.

Origin of the Trouble.

Walker, Minn., Oct. 7.—Indian Agent J. H. Sutherland sent the following despatch to Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones: "The trouble at Leach Lake originated in consequence of an arrest made by a Deputy United States Marshal of an Indian on a warrant. The Indians overpowered the marshal and rescued the prisoner. Troops were sent here to assist the marshal in arresting the rescuers. I have been here a week doing my best to get the Indians to give themselves up and save trouble, but they would not. To day the troops and Indians had several battles. The United States Marshal has called for more troops.

Three newspaper correspondents, Brill of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, Beaton of the Minneapolis Tribune, and Kappen of the Minneapolis Times, are known to have been in the fight, and one report is that they were killed, while another says they are now prisoners in the hands of the Indians.

TRAPPED BY INDIANS.

Account of the First Brush With the Bear Island Redskins — A Desperate Fight.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—The Globe's staff correspondent at Walker, Minn., telegraphs as follows: Company B of the 3rd U. S. Infantry, commanded by Major Wilkinson, Lieut. Ross and under charge of General Bacon, was trapped by ambushed Pillager Indians at Bear Island. The attack was a complete surprise to the troops, and on the first volley four of the men were stricken down.

There were several Indians seen about the few log houses on the shore, but when the troops landed through the surf all but one disappeared in the woods. On landing, the soldiers proceeded to the house in which Bog-Ahe-Ma-Go-Shik resides when at home, but the chief, who had threatened to kill the soldiers in case they should be sent after him, was not at home. Marshal Sheehan, however, found Mah-Quod, a Pillager Indian, who was one of the twenty-two who rescued the Pillager chief some weeks ago, and placed him under arrest.

Mah-Quod put up a desperate fight, although the company of soldiers were drawn up in front of the place. It required the assistance of four soldiers to subdue the prisoner and put the handcuffs on him. After Mah-Quod had been placed in the bow of the steamer Flora the troops formed columns of two and marched around the peninsula.

A number of the leaders were talked to by General Bacon and Marshal O'Connor, and they professed friendship for the soldiers, and promised to do what they could to have the members of the tribe wanted to give themselves up. Several Indians were seen walking about with rifles in hand, but they were always at a distance, and made no demonstrations. Two hours and a half were spent by the troops and the marshals visiting the several settlements, and then the party started back for the landing place. Just in front of Bog-Ahe-Ma-Go-Shik's hut a young Indian was arrested by Deputy Sheehan. The fellow answered to the name of Musestrande, and made no objection to his arrest.

The company, minus a few guards on the steamer Flora, lined up with their backs to the lake, and were put through a few evolutions by Major Wilkinson. The last order of the commanding officer before the massacre commenced was to unload pieces. This was obeyed, and, as the men rested arms, a signal shot was heard. This was followed an instant later by a second one, and then a fusilade of shots was fired from the bushes and small timber by the Indians who were in ambush. When the first shot was heard, it was supposed one of the company, in unloading his rifle, had accidentally discharged it. The second shot created surprise, and then a volley was fired by the Indians from their points of vantage. Then the voice of General Bacon was heard cautioning the men to keep cool and steady. Major Wilkinson repeated the remark, and the soldiers sought shelter at every spot. Volley after volley was fired by the Indians, whose location could only be determined by the smoke from their rifles. The company, at the command of Major Wilkinson, deployed as skirmishers, and poured volleys into the brush from their Krag-Jorgensens.

For the first five minutes the Indians fired with much regularity, but afterward only when there was a chance to do execution, when a soldier showed himself. At 12 o'clock the Indians turned their attention to the two steamers, and took particular pains to practice on the pilots. They were very skilful and Marshal O'Connor, who was on the Flora, gave orders to put out in the lake and head for Walker. This was done, and the last seen of the soldiers and marshals they were crouched under the shelter of the bank of the lake.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1898

MR. WHITNEY AS A LEADER.

The vacancy in South Ontario in the Provincial Legislature caused by the unseating of Mr. Calder, the Conservative member-elect, has once more brought Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Ontario Opposition, into prominence. THE EXAMINER has always conceded Mr. Whitney's energy in his official capacity, but as to other qualifications, circumstances show that his regard for moderation in his treatment of public questions sadly impairs his fitness for the position in other respects.

We are all aware of the violence and extreme character of his public utterances. An example is afforded by the report of his remarks in opening the campaign in South Ontario at Whitby. At this place Mr. Whitney is reported as saying:

> "If anything more than another is surprising it is the monumental cheek, the colossal impudence of the Ontario Government and the Globe newspaper and the penny whistles all over the country who dare to speak of the corruption that was prevalent in the South riding of Ontario on the part of the Conservative party. Why, as I understand it, they proved the expenditure, if their words be true, of some $50, $60 or $70 in the whole of this South riding. And they have nothing else to go upon, and I am sure, and I believe that they would not have that to go upon if it had had not been, mayhap, that these corrupt practices which were brought out before the court were the product and the result of a conspiracy on the part of the Grit party themselves, and that the men who did the corrupt acts were in reality the agents and heelers of the Grit party in South Ontario."

Mr. Whitney is perhaps the first public man, not to say leader of a great party, in Canada to condone and practically justify the most flagrant and barefaced boodling. When a leader publicly and practically approves of corrupt practices in the interests of his party and tries to cast the responsibility upon his opponents he adopts a line of policy that is as entirely unique as it is astonishing, and one that has never been adopted by the most depraved of our public men.

Mr. Whitney is not dignified nor self reliant, nor confident in the strength of his cause. If he were he would not bear the air and employ the tone of bravado and bluster that too much characterizes him. Not to speak of what he was going to do in the way of smashing the Government before the session of August, his bravado in speaking of the election trials is made absolutely absurd by the results.

He only wanted a chance before the election courts to demolish the Government. What has been the result?

In South Ontario Mr. Calder, a supporter of Mr. Whitney, is unseated, on account of the most unblushing bribery, which was so flagrant that even Mr. Calder gave up the fight and surrendered his purchased seat after the hearing of only a dozen out of the 140 charges entered.

Dr. Lackner, of North Waterloo, another of Mr. Whitney's supporters, is in danger of losing his seat—his case being reserved by the judges—that is if we judge by the evidence published.

Now as to the protests against the return of Liberal members.

Hon. Mr. Harty's case collapsed most ingloriously, the petitioner abandoning the case after several days "fishing for evidence" as the Chancellor put it, without finding even one little fish. Hon. Mr. Harty is confirmed in his seat.

The trial against Mr. Pettypiece, of East Lambton, another Liberal, after the examination of a large number of witnesses, resulted in every charge brought being dismissed, and yesterday the trial was postponed till Oct. 15th, to secure the attendance of witnesses who will probably be as valueless for the petitioner's purposes as the others.

The account stands thus at present: Two of Mr. Whitney's supporters gone—one positively and the other in all probability. Two of Hon. Mr. Hardy's supporters confirmed in their seats—one positively and the other in all probability.

And yet Mr. Whitney has the "monumental cheek and colossal impudence" to condone the bribery that was proven in South Ontario and inferentially in Waterloo, and to say that it was "a Grit conspiracy." Mr. Whitney will have to adopt some other style and some respectable tactics. The treasury benches cannot be carried by assault, loud talking, and vituperative blustering. Mud-slinging will not bring down the walls nor prove anything but a miry way and slough of despond en route to the coveted place of office.

THE TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was amply justified in declaring that one of the most important problems for the Government to solve is the transportation problem. He has practised what he preached in providing for the deepening of the St. Lawrence and other canals, to furnish an outlet for, principally, the agricultural products of Ontario and the Northwest. These will increase so greatly as the years go by, that even the enlarged Welland Canal route will be inadequate, and we must look to other means of transportation. In this regard the Trent Valley Canal assumes prominence, and Hon. Mr. Tarte's remarks when speaking in Peterborough in reference to transportation and canals, is worthy of more ample publicity than was possible in the newspaper summaries of the day following his remarks. Speaking at the banquet at the Oriental Hotel on October 2nd, Mr. Tarte said, as reported verbatim:

A fleet of iron boats had been built for the Erie Canal, which start from Chicago and go right straight through to New York. The question is why Canadian boats should not go through to Canadian seaports in the same manner. Canadian bottoms should, he held, be just as good as American. He predicted that Canadian waterways will be taxed to their utmost capacity to carry the trade that will flow to the sea if the waterways are improved. At some length Mr. Tarte spoke of the great lakes which form one of the greatest reservoirs of trade and commerce in the world, and which furnish from 40 to 50 million tons of trade each year; and of this, he asked, how many millions of tons went to Canadian ports in the past? Canada has only, he argued, to dig cuts to that reservoir to draw to the St. Lawrence route many millions of that trade she has lost in the past. (Applause.) The canals are being deepened to 14 feet in the hope of taking by the St. Lawrence route a portion of the trade that has flowed to American ports in the past. Was it not, he asked, a standing reproach to the Canadian people that they had not only not drawn any of that American trade to our waters, but had not kept our own? They had built the C. P. R., spent eighty millions of dollars in building our canals, and still have scarcely carried any Canadian trade to our own Canadian route. This showed there is something wrong, something that can be remedied.

He had expectation that by deepening the canals to 14 feet they would create a revolution in the carrying trade, and in support of his expectations he pointed to what has taken place during the last twelve months. New elevators have been erected at Owen Sound, Fort William, Collingwood, Goderich, one is going up at Prescott, two at Kingston, and Port Hope has built one also. In other words, the knowledge that the Government would deepen the canals and equip the St. Lawrence route has caused private capital to increase the elevator capacity by ten or twelve million bushels. (Cheers.) The Trent Valley Canal will not be 14 feet deep, but it can be eight feet deep and there will be such a current of trade in the future that the Trent Valley and other Canadian canals will be fully occupied in carrying the trade that is flowing through Canadian channels. As illustrative of the fact that the channels develop and attract trade, he referred to the fact that when he suggested to the Montreal Board of Trade, a year and a half ago, that the Parry Sound Railway would carry to the port of Montreal 15 million bushels of wheat, he was laughed at, but since this spring the road brought to Coteau over 8 million bushels of wheat. (Cheers.) But improved facilities, he pointed out, meant the expenditure of money; and our American neighbours had spent large sums in improving the harbours at Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Portland, $25,000,000 alone having been spent in Boston, whereas Canada had spent hardly anything. Speaking for himself, he held it to be our undoubted duty to equip these ports and our Canadian route. He also referred to the necessity of improving the harbour of Montreal, and of the growing importance of St. John as a winter port.

"IN all questions of imperial policy the Canadians ought to be regarded as our teachers," said Miss E. L. Faraday, one of the most brilliant essayists at the recent meeting of the British Association in Bristol. And the audience said, "Hear, hear," which meant a good deal in a sober gathering of British scientists.

ACCORDING to the latest statistics there are in Canada only 4 divorces to each 10,000 marriages; in the United Kingdom, 11; Queensland, 18; South Australia, 44; New Zealand, 58, and Victoria, 71. In France, where the reasons for divorce are various, the proportion goes up to 180; in New South Wales, to 180; in Roumania to 204; in Switzerland to 432, and in the United States to 612. Therefore, in the matter of social morality Canada leads—as she does in many other things—the world. The temperate habits of the people are better in Canada, at least in Ontario, than in any other country in the world. In the matter of the sacredness of the marriage tie, which is the very bond and soul of the social fabric, we are far ahead of any country in the world.

Because She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills and so Cured Female Weakness

Norwich, Ont., Oct. 3.—Mrs. J. S. Hooper, wife of Mr. J. Stanley Hooper, of North Norwich township, is a living proof of the unapproached value of Dodd's Kidney Pills, in the treatment of diseases of women.

Mrs. Hooper was a martyr to Female Weakness and Kidney Disease for twelve years. Norwich, Detroit and Buffalo physicians treated her unavailingly. She then tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. Four boxes cured her thoroughly and made her as healthy, strong and vigourous as she ever was. Dodd's Kidney Pills are women's best friends.

G. WALTER GREEN.

The Enterprising Pump Manufacturer and Wind Mill Dealer who has Leased White's Foundry.

Immediately after the destruction by fire of Mr. G. Walter Green's pump factory on Dickson's race, he set to work looking for new premises. His business had been growing and new branches were being added which demanded considerable more iron work and foundry supplies. After some delay a lease was secured of the large premises known as Whyte's foundry, on McDonnel street west, well known for years all over the country. Here he has been located ever since, and the energy which he has put into the business is now being shown in a largely increased trade. In addition to his regular force and lift pump, wind mill, cattle-power pump, tank and cistern business, he turns out a lot of lumbermen's supplies; also the "Ideal" fanning mill, the "Maple Leaf" grain crusher, washing machines, and other labor-saving machines. He is very busy in his foundry and machine shop, turning out castings, plough points and other heavy work. He now devotes special attention to the repairing of agricultural implements and has facilities for turning out good work. Mr. Green never fails to satisfy the purchaser of his goods. The Brantford wind mill, for which Mr. Green is the district agent, is a sample of splendid workmanship and should be in the possession of every farmer. It economizes labor and runs easily. With its roller and ball bearing fittings it runs with less power than any other machine manufactured. The mill is perfectly safe in any storm. Every part of the mill is galvanized. The grinders that are used with the mill are also supplied with roller and ball bearings. Mr. Green's pumps are well known throughout the Midland district, where they are generally in use.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

John Hewie left on Tuesday to spend a term at the Guelph Agricultural College. John is bound to be a scientific farmer.

Mr. Wm. Nelson of the Toronto police force, who has been renewing acquaintance here, met with a painful accident while riding a wheel. He was descending a hill, when the wheel got beyond his control and finally landed him in a stump fence. His face and arm were badly cut, but it is fortunate that Mr. Nelson escaped as well as he did.

Miss Minnie Nicholls, of Burnt River, is the guest of Mrs. English.

Mr. Sam Mather has moved into his spacious new house on the hill.

Will McCauley made a record run on his wheel on Thursday last, when he rode from Keene to Toronto in twelve hours, including stoppages for rest and refreshments. Seeing that Will has not ridden any since July 1st, this is a wonderful run.

The Indians of Alderville, who have been camped on Sugar Island, their new camping ground lately purchased from Mr. J. Lang, have broken camp after a very successful season of rice gathering. They report the rice has been an exceptionally bountiful crop this year.

A DAUGHTER'S HEROISM.

How Sir John Cochrane Was Saved In Scotland's Dark Days.

In the troubled times of Scotland Sir John Cochrane was condemned to death by the king. The death warrant was on its way. Sir John was taking leave of his daughter at the door of his prison. "Farewell, my darling child. I must die tomorrow." His daughter replied, "Oh, no, father; you must not die!" "But," said her father, "the king and the law are against me, and the death warrant will be here tonight. My dear child, do not deceive yourself. I must die at dawn." His daughter answered resolutely as she left him: "Father, you shall not die. Pray! Pray to God for your life!"

At dark on the moors of Scotland a young knight stood hidden in a thicket by the wayside, waiting for the mail carrier bringing Sir John's death warrant. The knight as the postman came by suddenly sprang at him, threw him and with superhuman strength wrenched the mail pouch from the surprised man and disappeared with it in the darkness.

Fourteen days were thus gained for the prisoner, during which time his father confessor was pleading for his pardon, and before the two weeks expired it came from the king. The door of his prison swung open, and Sir John went forth free. All day at home he was surrounded by rejoicing friends, congratulating him. At night when he was alone the young knight appeared at his door desiring admittance. Sir John gave orders to admit him at once. The knight, entering, said, "Here are two documents, Sir John; read and destroy them." Sir John read them and grew white to the lips. They were his death warrants! Shivering, he threw them into the fire. "But," said he, "who is this brave stranger that has saved my life at the risk of his own? Who are you?" The knight threw off helmet, cloak and jerkin, and, lo and behold, his own daughter stood before the astonished Sir John, "Gracious heaven!" he cried, "my child! My savior! My own precious daughter!"—Exchange.
